Thank you for your email today regarding your son Mr. Cordell's tenancy at 109 Burncroft Avenue. I did attend site with the Surveyor this morning to look at the low water pressure situation at the block. We were only able to gain access to one of the two other flats and the surveyor suggested we knock at Mr. Cordell's on the off chance that someone was home. I honestly didn't expect anyone to answer as I had understood from you that no one was available. I am sorry if I misunderstood this and that you actually meant that you wanted to be present too. I will certainly try to take this into consideration in future. As I am sure that you may appreciate that for the Council to try and resolve this matter, we had to access three flats and to try to identify the cause it would assist in this process to access the three flats on one day if possible. Mr. Cordell did answer the door and very kindly did give us access so that the Surveyor could assess the pressure of water into his flat. Unfortunately, the visit was inconclusive as to the cause of the issues regarding the water supply to the block so the Surveyor is going to liaise again with Thames Water to try and move this forward. I would like to reassure you that we are just trying to resolve the issues related to the water pressure/supply to the block in the interests of all the residents affected by this including your son, Mr. Cordell.

Dear Sarah Fletcher
After the call you made to me on the 22/02/2017 and I told you the date of the 24/02/2017 was not a suitable date to attend my son's home, in regards to the ongoing low water pressure issue in the block, you then said you would call me back on the 23/02/2017 with a date after you had spoken to the inspector, as to when you and the inspector could attend. The dates I gave you that were not suitable were the 24/02/2017 and the 27/02/2017. And the 28/02/2017,
01/03/2017 and the 02/03/2017 would be fine for you to attend with the inspector. On the 23/02/2017 you did call to give me an update, you said that you did not have an update as to a date, due the inspector not being in all day on the 23/02/2017, and that you was still going out to number 113 and 117 on the 24/02/2017 and that once you spoke to the inspector on the 24/02/2017 you would call me with an update as to what date you could attend with the inspector to my son's home. Why did you therefore go to my son's address on the 24/02/17 when you were told it was not convenient? The reason I said the dates were not suitable was that no one could be there with my son, and due to ongoing issues, which you are well aware off, I did not want my son there on his own when the council attended his home address. This has also been said to the council before, so why did you even go to my son's home when I told you it was not suitable? Could you please explain to me why? I was shocked when I got a call from my son today saying you had been to his home. From what my son also said to me today when he called, the inspector has also said the low water pressure issue in the block is not coming from his flat, can you also please confirm this via email.

Outgoing call
Metropolitan Police introduction
Police Officer: Hello Metropolitan police what is your reason for calling.
Simon: hello I have a few reason's to call I have general questions to ask yourself, hum, basically my name and I Mr. Simon Cordell and I would like to find out, I put in to cad number recently on the 16th and the 11th I believe in regards to asking an Ian RAFIEAL, who is the Sergeant of Edmonton police station to call me in regards to his officers that he is in charge of and notes were put down on the cad and I still have not revived a call back within 24 hours and it has been three days now and I still have not revived a call back in regards to this, so I was just wondering if you could put another cad in again asking him to call me again, because I have yes still to get his call and can I get a Cad number for this call please
Police Officer: yes of course you can Simon: that is possible? all so I have another question I would like to ask.
Police Officer: yes, go on.
Simon: I have been put on bail conditions no on conditions for my Asbo for an Asbo that has illegal been put against me it is forged and put against me basically I am being held for eight years in my house on well seven years on the Asbo two years on the injunction and five years for the Asbo in total that is seven years the maximum sentence and this was under the raves bill the maximum sentence that any one should get is six months in prison and a 20 grand fine but somehow I am riding eight years more than what most paedophiles and murders would get, hum I am quite upset about this but in my bail condition it says that I am not a loud on no industrial estate or that I am not a loud to do nothing of this nature now I would like to go to warehouse I would like to go out, I have not been a loud out for four years, I have not been allowed to go to out to anything, I would like to go to warehouse night club and I want to find out if I attend warehouse night club with my girlfriend then will I got to prison is that an arrest able offence
Police Officer: sir what I would advise you to do is speak to Simon: Ian Rafael
Police Officer: yes, Ian Rafael

Simon: yes, he is the new one.
Police Officer: he won't contact me back because he understands what is going to happen to the officers he is supposed to be in charge of, when Jane Johnson was in charge of them who was the last sergeant, she as a gold member team allowed access in to the police computers and allowed information to be forged, she was transferred straight away once I recorded her conversation and was transferred to royal diplomatic protection in Westminster but she basically has walked away from her duties of responsibility that she had at the time to the officers and to make sure there paper work was correct and now he is in charge of it, these officers are still on active duty I do not feel like I can leave my house I cannot even walk down my street because I feel that these officers are going to attack me and further manipulate the truth and I am going to end up with a sentence because they would rather that to happen to me rather than lose their mortgages or pensions and face up to what they have really done them self's in fraud paper work the fraud paper work in my Asbo
Police Officer: sir, can I, just can we just record some details yes.
Simon: yes, that want to do.
Police Officer: silence
Simon: hello
Police Officer: sir, I am all on the I am just typing away, just give me a minute and I will just see if I can get some answers for you.
Simon: thank you.
Police Officer: ok then
Simon: they should have just dropped it under the trespass, and I would have just forgot about the corruption, they never proved trespass in the buildings they had another chance
Police Officer: who is the person dealing with your case.
Simon: well Steven Elsmore is the developer of the application he has done that under the order of Police Officer: no, no, from a police perspective
Simon: yes Steven Elermore who is a pc and he has been told to create the application develop it under Sir Hogan Houle's Bernard the commissioner of England and Wales which is Sir Hogan Howl, his told him to do it, he has told Jane Johnson to tell Jane to tell her officers to do it, Jane has told her officers to do it then Steve Elsmore created it then Steve Elsmore went to the civic centre and he spoke to Steve Elise and Steve Elis signed the forged paper work that Steve Elsmore created and they put the application against me I went to court under the grounds that trespass had not been proved under none of the incidents sighted in the application and basically I technically I won the case of what the applicant, what the respondent had put against me, Hum and when I walked out and went back home somehow it got advertised in the newspaper that I was found guilty for the organisation of illegal raves I had not even been arrested for some think that was illegal so I was quite shocked that this had happened to me and then basically at the end of it Steve Elsmore used a loud of cad paper work his used hum sergeant Chile's Miles his used Inspector Sergeant Skinner paper work loads of them a DOGLUS SKINNER the list to them is endless to them and basically they forged all of the time stamps and added CADS in because all the call centre like the 999 call centre time stamps say cad five hundred happens every day and that has a time stamp of ten 0 clock cad five hundred and twenty five cannot have a time stamp of nine 0 clock earlier than the five hundred this happens continuously thought my paper work and then what made it even worse than that is that there is an inspector Hamill inspector Hamill actually went out side of the site of Progress he made ten he went there ten different times because his grid reference number has been put in there and he made ten different calls to 999 used his own personal mobile number and basically he created the cad outside now you can see if you look at the time stamps to the CADS and you actually look at the X TO Y location correspondents you can see that each ten of these are in accurately the same place but out of the ten different ones, ten different cad numbers that he created to set me up one of them they forgot to block his name out and it says inspector Hamill calling on duty now he made that and let's say one of the calls he made that at 1;59 and he was at grid number so, and so, now if you look at the other cad papers two minutes before that accurately the same grid reference number another call was made from that actually same place so basically he made a phone call put the phone down two minutes later he made another phone call to 999 of his mobile unless he, some one body was standing on his toes and made this other phone call and did not speak to him the evidence that I have is over whelming to the true facts to what really happened hum the time cannot go backwards and trespass has to be proved in side of a building and under the licensing act when you are inside of a building then it should be proved that a communal building is being run none of these police officers went to none of the building owners but I gave them my cv of all the good work that I had been doing in the community lock to lock festival kids with Cerebral Palsy, Enfield the list is endless I was the manager of my community hall and they went to every one of these places rather than go to a building owner and follow the true lines of investigation and they darkened all of my contracts and my work now I cannot get no work with these people again and I am sitting her upset that there is not even a building owner in side of the whole application

Simon: hum I have got the folders what I got set up for is ten different events and I knew that I had not committed them and I was not the organizer to them so what I done at the time I copied, I went to all of the Face book profiles of the true organisers and I copied there whole face books so I have eight different folders here right now that I have never handed to yourselves and it of all the true organisers face book yes but I am not a super grass and I do not want to do the officers lines of investigations

Police Officer: Simon

Simon: yes

Police Officer: what I have

Simon: hello

Police Officer: what I have done is hum I have sent this through so hopefully someone will be calling you back shortly.

Simon: I would appreciate that I do not even want.

Police Officer: muttering

Simon: can I just get a cad number please I do not want your name I would just like a cad number to this call please if that is possible.

Police Officer: yes

Simon: I have got to ride another four, I have ride four years of it I have got to ride another four years, I cannot even go out to a night club, I cannot do anything, I cannot do anything right now I went to court and I did not attended a few times just to give them time to do the right thing because I have respect for the officers I have respect for all police officers I used to have good communications with them all until this happened like I would save them I have got pictures of me on you tube at Notting Hill watching a loud of officers two woman officers getting attacked I had to run over and offered them over and told ever one if they throw another bottles I have done so much for the officers when the time the crunch has hit it I have done the right things

Police Officer: ok your cad reference number is 060194/24 Feb 17

Police Officer:

Simon: thank you sir and I will be accepting a call back in 24 hours supposedly.

Police Officer: I have notified the correct department and made them aware of your complaint and that you're requesting call back within 24 hours.

Simon: ok thank you.

Police Officer: ok you welcome.
Simon: ok hope you have a good day sir.
Police Officer: bye for now
Simon: bye

6. On 6th August 2016, the Defendant threatened and shouted abuse at Mr. and Mr. Mathiyalagan tenants of 117 Burncroft Avenue. He aggressively, demanded money from him and threatened to beat him up. The Defendant also repeatedly swore at Mr. Mathiyalagan's wife, called her a 'witch1 and tried to stop the Mr. Mathiyalagan from going up the stairs to his flat by standing in front of him and blocking his advance by placing his hands on the staircase railings. Mr. Mathiyalagan has already provided a witness statement in support these proceedings to confirm that this incident happened. A file note of this report is exhibited at pages 28-30 of the exhibit bundle LN1.

7. On 8th August 2016, Mr. Mathiyalagan reported that the Defendant aggressively banged on his front door, shouted abuse at him and his wife and accused them of making noise. Mr. Mathiyalagan reported to us that he believes that the Defendant used a screwdriver to damage the lock on his meter cupboard and removed the fuse box thereby cutting off their electricity supply. Mr. Mathiyalagan reported this incident to the police and was given reference number CAD 7934/August 2016. A file note of this report is exhibited at pages 28-30 of the exhibit bundle.

8. On 27th September 2016, Mr. Mathiyalagan reported that the Defendant confronted him as he returned to his flat with his wife and young daughter and threatened and swore at him and demanded money from him. A file note of the report is on pages 28-30 of the bundle.

and his wife. The Defendant also aggressively demanded money from Mr. Mathiyalagan. A file of the report is at pages 28-30 of the exhibit bundle.

10. On 11th November 2016, my former colleague, Sarah Fletcher interviewed an elderly resident who wished to remain anonymous. He said that the Defendant approached him as he came out of his flat and started to shout abuse, swear at him and threatened to bum down the elderly neighbour's flat. The report continued that sometime around mid-September 2016, one of the Defendant's neighbours reported that the Defendant confronted him outside his block as he was going to the local park and started to shout abuse and threats at him and said to him "I can get you over at the park, I know you go for a walk". This incident led to his arrest and to the matter being referred to the Magistrates Court. A file note of the report is exhibited on page 31 of the exhibit bundle LN1.

11. I had meetings with Mr. George Quinton, one of the Defendant's neighbours on 16th December 2016 and 11th January 2017. He reported that he was experiencing problems with the Defendant's behaviour, and that on 4th October 2016, the Defendant aggressively banged on his ceiling and accused him of making noise. The Defendant then went to the neighbour's flat upstairs and started kicking and banging on the front door and was swearing and shouting at. him. The Defendant later went downstairs, dragged the neighbour's motorbike from where it was parked and started to hit it with a piece of wood. A file note of the report is at pages 32-34 of the exhibit bundle.

12. On 22nd November 2016, during a telephone conversation with my former colleague Ms. Sarah Fletcher, the Defendant was heard saying to his mother, who was present with him, 'I'm goanna do her over, I'm goanna take her job just for fun' referring to Ms. Fletcher. A file note of the incident is at page 34A of the exhibit bundle.

13. I hereby attach a case history detailing incidents of reports from Mr. Mathiyalagan about the abuse, threats and persistent intimidation by the Defendant. The case history is at pages 35 to 40 of the exhibit bundle LN1. It shows that Mr. Mathiyalagan reported incidents too numerous to set out in this statement about abuse, threats, attempts to extort money and intimidation by the Defendant. Examples are that the Defendant banged on his front door while his wife was alone at home with their young daughter and shouted abuse at his wife and asked her to turn off the bathroom taps. He also removed his electricity fuse thereby

14. Other examples of aggressive and anti-social behaviour reported by Mr. Mathiyalagan were that on 21st January 2017, the Defendant aggressively banged on his door, swore and shouted abuse and threats at him and his family and accused them of making noise.

15. On 9th June 2017, the Defendant attacked Mr. Mathiyalagan's cousin in the communal hallway as he returned from work late at night by grabbing him on the arm and neck thereby causing bruising to his arm and neck. The Defendant also snatched his mobile phone from him as he tried to record the incident.

16. On 16th June 2017, the Defendant confronted Mr. Mathiyalagan's wife as she was exiting the main entrance at 11:55am and said to her that he had her bank and personal details. He also reported that the Defendant told his wife that he wanted her and her husband to pay him some money.

He also reported that as they left the block, the Defendant ran after them swearing and shouting abuse and demanded that he must pay him money if he wants him to leave him alone. The Defendant also said to him that he has all their personal details. A report of the incident is at page 40 of the case history.

20. Case history notes exhibited at pages 41-46 show reports of similar aggressive and intimidating behaviour displayed to Mr. Mathiyalagan was being experienced by another tenant who wishes to remain anonymous because of fear of reprisal from the Defendant.

21. Similarly, further case notes exhibited at pages 47-52 show that another tenant who wishes to remain anonymous was being subjected to the Defendant's antisocial behaviour. She had to be moved from the block because of the harassment from the Defendant and because she suffered from mental health problems and was particularly vulnerable and unable to deal with the threats and harassment from the Defendant.

22. On 7th February 2017, the Defendant approached the leaseholder of 117 Bumcroft Avenue and his plumber outside the block as they were attempting to resolve low water pressure issues affecting the flat. The Defendant informed the leaseholder that there were problems between him and his tenants but did not give specific details. The leaseholder explained to the Defendant that his tenants were experiencing low water pressure in their flat and that they were trying to fix the problem. The Defendant said to the leaseholder, "you will not resolve the problem as I am restricting their water supply". The leaseholder later asked the Defendant to increase the water pressure and the Defendant stated, "I cannot do anything at the moment, I will sort it out later". A report of this incident is at page 55 of the exhibit bundle.

It also appeared that the Defendant may have removed the wall between his kitchen and living room thereby creating an open plan living space. 24. On 8th May 2017, the Claimant's officers, Ms. Fletcher, a Neighbourhood officer who has since left the Council and Mr. Steve Stirk, a surveyor visited the Defendant's block of flats following reports of low water pressure to flats 109, 113 and 117 Bumcroft Avenue. While the Claimant's officers were outside flat 113, the Defendant came up to them and started to complain about his perceived victimization by his neighbours, the police and the council. While the Defendant was talking to the officers, Mr. Mathiyalagan came down the stairs and the Defendant said to him, "I'm going to the police station now with my evidence about you and I'm going to ruin your life". A file note of this report is exhibited at page 58 of the exhibit bundle and an email from Steve Stirk is at page 59.

25. On 14th May 2017, yet another neighbour who wishes to remain anonymous reported that the Defendant aggressively banged on her door, shouted abuse and threats at her and falsely accused her of making noise and coming into his flat to attack him. The neighbour stated that the Defendant later followed her to her car as she was leaving the block shouting abuse and wanting to know where she was going. The neighbour also reported that the Defendant allowed his dog to roam freely in the communal area of the block without a lead. A file note of the report is at page 60 of the exhibit bundle LN1.

26. On 28th May 2017, the Defendant was issued with a first instance Harassment letter by the police following allegations of harassment and threatening behaviour made to the police by his neighbour. A copy of the letter and the PC's statement are at pages 61-62 of the exhibit bundle LN1.

22. I have made attempts to engage with the Defendant, but he has not been cooperative and has continuously displayed abusive and threatening behaviour towards the Claimant's members of staff and his neighbours. A Notice of Seeking Possession has been served on him and possession action is being considered. However, in the meantime, this injunction is required to ensure that the other residents are not subjected to further intimidation and harassment by the Defendant. This application is being made without notice because if the Defendant were given notice, he would intimidate the witnesses in an attempt to prevent the order being made.

File Note

Simon Cordell — 109 Burncroft Avenue, EN3 7JQ
Further to ongoing issues related to water pressure/supply to the block at 109 - 119 Burncroft Avenue particularly to the right-hand supply affecting 109,113 and 117, I visited the block on Monday 8th May 2017 at 11am with Steve Stirk, surveyor, and .an MCP locksmith.
The purpose of this visit was to gain access to 113 Bumcroft Avene so to assess the water pressure/supply to this property. Several attempts had been made previously to do this but the tenant was not there to give access so a 'forced' entry was made and the locks subsequently changed (the tenant had been notified previously that we would be taking this action if he did not provide access).

We entered the property so that Steve Stirk could test the water taps in the kitchen and bathroom. There was no flooring laid except for a rug in the living room (the kitchen was accessed through here) and the floorboards made a significant amount of noise as we stepped on them.
The resident from the property underneath, Mr. Simon Cordell, heard us in the property and came upstairs. Steve Stirk and I were outside the property at this point as the locksmith started to undertake the work to install new locks on to the door (he was inside the hallway).
Mr. Cordell proceeded to 'rant' at Steve Stirk and me about his perceived victimisation by his neighbours. He was very agitated and loud - recounting his experience with the police, previous housing management, a previous partner, a previous neighbour and allegations of anti-social behaviour made against him-
Steve Stirk tried to explain that we were there to deal with a specific issue and that this was not the time or place to address these concerns. Mr. Cordell did not want to listen and became fixated on Steve Stirk being 'dismissive' towards him (Mr. Cordell's words). He went on at length about his upstairs neighbours, both past and present on first and second floors, 'banging' hammers deliberately above his head.
He continued to go on, in his agitated state, about how he had been treated by the police and previous housing managers who had promised him that they would re-lay the floor of flat 113 but had not done so. At this point the resident from 117, Mr. Mathiyalakan Markandu, came down the stairs on his way out of the building. As he came down past us Mr. Cordell focussed his attention on him and said to him: 'I'm going to the police station now with my evidence about you and I'm going to ruin your life'. Mr. Mathiyalakan Markandu did not respond and proceeded to walk past and go down the stairs and out of the building.
Both Steve Stirk and I commented to Mr. Cordell that the way he had behaved was threatening in nature and was not acceptable. Mr. Cordell responded, 'it's not a threat it's a fact'. He then continued to repeat his history with the police and previous housing management.

I asked Mr. Cordell to calm down and tried to explain that some of these issues could have been addressed by attending the meeting that Lemmy Nwabusi in the CSU team had tried to convene with him. He. said that he was not prepared to attend such a meeting but wanted to speak to me, his housing officer, now. I explained that as Steve Stirk had already said that we could not address his issues there and then I suggested that a meeting could be convened with both the CSU and neighbourly teams to look at some of the issues with Mr. Cordell. He indicated that he would be willing to do this if we came to his home to do so.

Subject: 109, BURNCROFT AVENUE, ENFIELD, EN3 7JQ
Further to my conversation today please note the following I carried out a joint with Sarah back in January regarding low water pressure to 117 While on location the following was noted
Kitchen internal wall has been partly removed
3 large industrial type printers found with assorted inks and cleaning liquids Internal gate installed to front door
While all these items could be used in normal day to day interests the tenant made claims he was actively involved in planning and conduction events and the equipment was used to produce marketing leaflets and posters
This Monday we has reason to attend 113 to carry out a full lock change given accusation from the tenant that his lock had been glued so was unable to gain access the tenant claim the damaged was caused by 109, (this cannot be confirmed) as the tenant did not attend both Sarah and myself did go in and while there was confronted by the tenant from 109, the tenant for about twenty minutes would not leave us alone and became increasingly aggressive despite attempt to explain to him that we had not come to see him or indeed were able to comment of any of his accusations on how Enfield had ruined his lie were putting him in danger by leaving him in his flat, during this confrontation the tenant from 117 passed through the passage and the tenant from 109 stated he was going to 'ruin his life and generally became more irate towards the tenant.

It is clear that we are unable to allow this to continue as the body posture from 117 was defensive and did not wish to reply or get into any form of conversation with this tenant
Given that two members of staff were present and the confrontational attitude towards not only us but the other resident I believe we need to action this event to try and stop any further escalation from this tenant
Lastly I would recommend that we need full access to 109 to assess what is the true cause of the low water pressure to the flats above given the items found in the flat as well these need to be removed as does the internal gate please advise so I can carry out a full inspection as this is a complaint from the lease holder as they have very little water flow in the fiat above and given the nature of the conditions and life style of 109 we are unable to show if he has caused the issue, on a housing point the internal wall that has been partly removed needs to be put back as it is a breach of fire regs

The Defendant said to the leaseholder that there were problems between him and his tenants but did not give any specific details. The leaseholder explained to the Defendant that his tenants were experiencing low water pressure in the flat and the Defendant said to him 'you will not solve the problem as I am restricting their water supply'. The leaseholder later knocked on the Defendant door and asked whether he would increase the water pressure and the Defendant stated '! cannot do anything at the moment, I will sort it out later'.	. 07/02/2017 . 24/02/2017 . 17/03/2017 . 05/05/2017			12

Simon Cordell - 109 Burncroft Avenue, EN3 7JQ Following reports of continued low water pressure/supply to 117 Bumcroft Avenue (second floor) despite information from Thames Water indicating that they had attended and that supply to the block 109-119 Burncroft Avenue was of a sufficient bar pressure, I tried to coordinate access to all flats on the right-hand side of the block- potentially affected by the issue: 109, 113 and 117. I wrote and hand delivered letters to all 3 of the properties requesting access for the Council Surveyor to visit and assess the water pressure in each on Friday 24th February 2017 between 10am and 12pm. I spoke by telephone with Mr. Irving, the leaseholder of 117, who had instigated the water pressure complaint who agreed that he would attend and give access.

I spoke by telephone with Mr. George Quinton, the tenant of 113, who agreed that he would give access.
I spoke by telephone with Lorraine Cordell, mother of Simon Cordell, the tenant of 109 who said that no one was available to give access.
I attended with Steve Stirk, surveyor, on Friday 24th February 2017 at 10am. We were given access to 117 and Steve Stirk investigated the water pressure to the taps in the kitchen and bathroom.
We were unable to gain access to 113 as the tenant was not home -1 called and left voice mail messages for the tenant but did not get any further response.
Steve Stirk suggested that we knock at 109 just on the off chance that someone was home. Mr. Simon Cordell answered the door and, once Steve Stirk had explained that we were investigating the low water pressure/supply issue to the block, he allowed us into the property. While Steve Stirk checked the water pressure in the kitchen, I introduced myself to Mr. Cordell, File then became quite agitated and proceeded to regale me with the same issues that he had relayed to me during our previous telephone conversation including issues about his neighbours, the police and the Council conspiring to ruin his life as well as his work arranging community music events. Fie did not give me much of an opportunity to respond and kept talking over me when I tried to do so. Steve Stirk then went and checked the bathroom taps which he discovered were all already open (water running in wash basin; water running in bath which was full and going down overflow). We then thanked Mr. Cordell for his time and left the property.
Outcome: It is unclear whether Mr. Cordell running all of the taps constantly is linked to the issue of low water pressure as he is on the ground floor and 117 is 2 floors up (we had been unable to check the pressure in 113). Steve Stirk to liaise again with Thames Water about the issue and to consider separation of the water supply to the ground floor flat.

I made some observations whilst in Mr. Cordell's property, 109 Burncroft Avenue which are of some concern:
There is a security gate installed on the inside of the front door.
There were 3 large 'industrial' matrix type printers in the property (1 in the hallway and 2 in the living room;
Mr. Cordell talked about running 'events
A non-standard kitchen re. a wall seemed to have been removed between the kitchen and the living room creating an open plan effect: No fire door

Simon Cordell - 109 Burncroft Avenue, EN3 7JQ
Further to ongoing issues related to water pressure/supply to the brock at 109 - 1 1 9 Burncroft Avenue particularly to the right-hand supply affecting 109 113 and 117, I visited the block on Monday 8th May 2017 at 11am with Steve Stirk, surveyor, and an MCP locksmith.
The purpose of the visit was to gain access to 113 Burncroft Aver, je to assess the water pressure/supply to this property. Several attempts had been made previously to do this but the tenant was not there to give access so a 'forced' entry was made and the locks subsequently changed (the tenant had been notified previously that we would be taking this action if he did not provide access).
We entered the property so that Steve Stirk could test the water taps in the kitchen and bathroom. There was no flooring laid except for a rug in the living room (the kitchen was accessed through here) and the floorboards made a significant amount of noise as we stepped on them.
The resident from the property underneath, Mr. Simon Cordell, heard us in the property and came upstairs. Steve Stirk and I were outside the property at this point as the locksmith started to undertake the work to install new locks on to the door (he was inside the hallway).
Mr. Cordell proceeded to 'rant' at Steve Stirk and me about his perceived victimisation by his neighbours. He was very agitated and loud - recounting his experience with the police, previous housing management, a previous partner, a previous neighbour and allegations of anti-social behaviour made against him.
Steve Stirk tried to explain that we were there to deal with a specific issue and that this was not the time or place to address these concerns. Mr. Cordell did not want to listen and became fixated on Steve Stirk being 'dismissive' towards him (Mr. Cordell's words). He went on at length about his upstairs neighbours, both past and present on first and second floors,
'banging' hammers deliberately above his head.
He continued to go on, in his agitated state, about how he had been treated by the police and previous housing managers who had promised him that they would re-lay the floor of flat 113 but had not done so. At this point the resident from 117, Mr. Mathiyalakan Markandu, came down the stairs on his way out of the building. As he came down past us Mr. Cordell focussed his attention on him and said to him: Tm going to the police station now with my evidence about you and I'm going to ruin your life'. Mr. Mathiyalakan Markandu did not respond and proceeded to walk past and go down the stairs and out of the building.
Both Steve Stirk and I commented to Mr. Cordell that the way he had behaved was threatening in nature and was not acceptable. Mr. Cordell responded, 'it's not a threat it's a fact'. He then continued to repeat his history with the police and previous housing management.

I asked Mr. Cordell to calm down and tried to explain that some of these issues could have been addressed by attending the meeting that Lemmy Nwabusi in the CSU team had tried it to convene with him. He said that he was not prepared to attend such a meeting but wanted to speak to me, his housing officer, now. I explained that as Steve Stirk had already said, 'that we could not address his issues there and then* I suggested that a meeting could be convened with both the CSU and neighbourhood teams to look at some of the issues with Mr. Cordell. He indicated that he would be willing to do this if we came to his home to do so.

Outgoing call
Metropolitan Police introduction
Simon: hello
Police Officer: is that a Mr. Simon Cordell
Simon: Yes, Mr. Cordell speaking whom I speaking to Police Officer: Sergeant Miller
Simon: Miller
Police Officer: yes, from Edmonton police station
Simon: how are you doing
Police Officer: I am calling in regards to a complaint that you have made
Simon: yes basically in 2000 and it is quite its quite over reached by now in 2013 I was put on I was arrested for burglary I had a police officer come to my house and they found a gazebo in my garden handling stolen goods and put it down as burglary I was on bail conditions for the whole of the year 2013 to 14 I had to give my passport to uses lot I was not a loud to leave the country I had to sign on at the police station every day at eight 0 clock plus I was on a house bail conditions I was not a loud to leave my house yes the conditions were endless I was barred from central London and so forth and after a year of being on bail and having to stick to all of these conditions I finally one the case I got released and I walked out side of my front door as I walked out side of my front door I meat a new partner and so forth like that Simon: one day I was in my house and a loads of police officers knocked at my front door I asked them what they wanted through my front door being closed and they explained to me that they just wanted to speak to me, so I opened my door slightly a jar and they tried to force a massive folder through my front door I closed the front door and I did not let the folder in my house and I said to them I am not letting them put stuff inside my house, they throw the folder on the floor outside of my house and walked of I phoned my mother and asked my mother to come and get, collect the folder and she could not come till the next day, she come to my house the next day and picked up the folder she photo copied it her, herself and then she went to the police station and handed it into Edmonton police station, she got a recite that I have yes, with a stamp on it from Edmonton police station and it is in my name, the property of Mr. Simon Cordell that has never been found, yes and now I have got that receipt and it got put in lost property and now that is true and this property is an Asbo application now it only ever had four witness statements CFS callers in it witness statements saying that they were keep up overnight, now somehow since through the ongoing of the case getting dragged on since 2014 I have gone to go and get this folder and it has been stolen out of Edmonton lost property, now I am quite concerned about it being stolen because the property room was only burnt down a couple of years ago because of police corruption so I am quite shocked that it disorganized that stuff can still be stolen out of it by over officers so I would like to know where my folder is and I have got the recite for that now the reason that I would like the folder is because it proves that the police fraudulently added an extra ten witness statements into the folder since the time that it has been going on now

Police Officer: is it not that this complaint being dealt with by sergeant Thomason
Simon: no police officer has tried to deal with this or any of my complaints I continually keep phoning you lot up and recording I have a bout years' worth of recordings I am even recording this conversation right now
Police Officer: I am sure you have
Simon: I am recording this conversation
Police Officer: honestly it does not matter you can record what you want I am jut calling in regards to your complaint `
Simon: this is not the only part of my complaint this property has been stolen by officers out of there
Police Officer: yes, yes, I no
Simon: what my further concern was
Police Officer: go on
Simon: I was I went I looked at the Asbo case and I knew that there was ten incidents in it and that I had not committed none of these incidents I was not the organizer to any if these events so I wouldn't be I felt as if in the police were trying to force me to be a super grass yes and using the paper and fabricating the paper work to turn me into a super grass I looked at the laws that I represent from the land that I live off and I went to court and I said look trespass has not been proven inside none of these buildings, yes for under the raves bill trespass must be present, yes 1994 so I won the case applicants case any way but somehow she said because you had a nitro s oxide bottle on you at one of these days which is an ADR road traffic offence and it ant a traffic offence because it is not illegal to carry it she gave me a five year Asbo I had already been riding two years prior to that to the injunction so that is seven years plus I done a year for the other case the gazebo which I won that is eight years the maximum sentence under the raves bill is six months and a 20 grand fine so I do not understand why I am riding eight years and my eight years don't get cut in half, now it said I was also further upset because it says the organisation of illegal raves now if some this is illegal I should have been arrest yes so I should have been arrested I should have been a loud to have my interview I should have been a loud to go through it with my solicitor's and the cps should have took my case yes from there now this has never happened but somehow I seem to have a criminal recorded no I do not have a criminal record but somehow basically what they continue to say in the Asbo was this will not have an effect on my abilities of running my company objectives so I wrote to every other council borough there are thirty three boroughs so I wrote to the other thirty two wrote and they basically write back to me and said these council are lying and these police are lying this has a massive effect of the running abilities of your company because every council has a different licensing department yes and that I have to go there and because it says an illegal offence

Police Officer: Police Officer:

Simon: massive effect of the running abilities of your company because every council has a different licensing department, yes and that I have to go there and because it says an illegal offence yes, I have to basically have to go to a special committee with them and that I have to explain the Asbo which is un fair on me and it stops me working with the other thirty-two boroughs yes now I have been in my house.

Police Officer: can I just stop you there it is frustrating because what you are saying rings a bell one of my colleges you spoke you spoke to one of my colleges on 13th of February.

Simon: yes, that is very possible.

Police Officer: yes, on cad 440

Simon: I have them all on recording so that I know that the, I do not know them all of my heart, but I have got them all recorded.

Police Officer: ok that is just fine I am just telling you that you did because it is recorded here.

Simon: and they have told me that they cannot do anything the only person that can do some think is yourselves a sergeant from the police station.

Police Officer: yes

Simon: sorry for being rude but I explained to them that if I phoned them now as a CFS caller call for services and I said to them look I know someone I just see some body still a chocolate bar out of a shop they would send a patrol car to me and to that shop over a chocolate bar being stolen I have clear corruption here and I have got evidence of it and that I have been set up and that I am riding four years and I would like a police officer sent to my house so that

Police Officer: mutter

Simon: go on.

Police Officer: hum I am calling because we only deal with initiation service recover, now obviously your complaint we cannot deal with the initial serves recovery because it is they hum protracted in bits providentially protracted in investigation that needs to be done hum on the 13th of February on cad 440 which is our reference it has been marked up as sergeant Thomson is aware of your matter and he is dealing with it and now that is a sergeant that works in the professional standards department office at Edmonton police station so he deals with all the ongoing protection standards issues and if there any complaints ongoing complaint he deals with them and so I cannot assist you at the moment because I am the wrong department for that but since he is aware of it I am going to send him an email now to tell him that you have called and that you want an update regarding this issue because hum he is looking in to it

Simon: I would like a meeting with him so that I can sit there and show him the evidence that I have of the corruption and the fabricated evidence.

Police Officer: that is fine.

Police Officer: I will tell him to contact you directly and hum you can speak to him about it.

Simon: and if I do not receive a phone call back from none of your selves as like seems to have happened for the last three years or two years of this case now then what actually what actually happens then what should I phone you up again phone up the 02071212 again and then put the same complaint in again and hope that somebody contacts him again like how because no one want to investigating these officers.

Police Officer: I am sure that you have been contacted from the last time from Sergeant Thompson
Simon: I have got recordings of me phoning up 999 and speaking to sergeants from ccc bow.
Police Officer: yes, yes you might call up a few times.
Simon: cc bow is basically said to me they have been one of the main officers in cc bow and that in all of their life that of them working there I have got it all on recording she has never seen the time stamps go backwards on the CADS she said that this is clear corruption, and this was months ago.
Police Officer: what do you mean that the time stamps go backwards.
Simon: basically, I got given an Asbo yes and on the Asbo in the Asbo paper there's say 50 CADS in there yes and them 50 cad every day Cad number 500 happens now I wrote to storm and Met ccc and I have been told that it is fraud.
Police Officer: you are talking about things that I do not have a clue about yes so, I a m not the right person to see to give you the advice on that Simon: but you are dealing with a cad system right this second
Police Officer: yes
Simon: right now, as I call you
Police Officer: you are talking about CADS being amended as far as I am concerned CADS once they have been "mutter" the time frames cannot be changed on the cad because it does not give us an opportunity
Simon: yes
Police Officer:
Simon: but what I am saying is that someone fraudulently, they gone and made the paper work out of the computers because basically I have got cad say cad
Police Officer: if you are saying that then someone has got to investigate that, and it will be as I said it will be the bloke at the professional standards department
Simon: what is even worse than that is say like if you the CADS say if you look at all of the CADS a lot of the information like the call recorder is blocked out the call location everything is blocked out yes adapted now, they forgot to take the X TO Y locations out yes so now when I put them into Google it shows it shows like five six miles away it shows the other side of this place the other and they covered it all other and forged it to be that
Police Officer: sir I have got to stop you their sir I have got to stop you there I appreciate you have got all of this information, and I cannot assist you with that, but I am telling you that I am going to email the professional standards
Simon: and what is his name again.
Police Officer: Sergeant Thomson
Simon: Sergeant Thomson what Thomas what
Police Officer: Thomson
Simon: and what is his other name a badge for him.
Police Officer: err sixteen YE.
Simon: do you have a direct email yourself that I can contact as well.
Police Officer: his email yes, I can give you that one minute.
Simon: they said the only reason that they want to carry this Asbo on is because that of the amount of money that they have spent on this case they do not care about me as person it is all about money to them yes and it has had a large, huge effect on my way of life and on everything and it
Police Officer: OK
Simon: his err email address is Arran.Thomason@met.pnn.police.uk

Police Officer:
Simon: well thank you for contacting me today and I am sorry that it has been on such a negative thing
Police Officer: I am sure he is because it says he is I am sure that he is aware of hum this but I will send him an email now
Simon: with this phone number and ask him to contact me back like this as well
Police Officer: yes, yes with this cad number that I rang you on
Simon: OK
Police Officer: but Obviously he will get back in contact with you
Simon: OK thank you, you have a good day sir.

Metropolitan Police introduction
Police Officer: hello police what is your reason for calling
Simon: hello I have got important information that I need to tell somebody I would like to speak to a sergeant he is the only person that I will talk to is that possible please
Police Officer: no, I am sorry that is not possible I am afraid
Simon: why is it not
Police Officer: err you can speak to a police officer which is what I am
Simon: is there not a is it not possible is there not always an YF inside the police
Police Officer: there is always a what sorry
Simon: is there not like an YF or yah or y1 or something like that that is always behind you or something
Police Officer: I am a bit I am a bit confused sorry
Simon: so, you have, like a ye2 or a CEX SC police officer
Police Officer: you have called 101
Simon: no, I called 0207230 this is the call centre no
Police Officer: yes
Simon: and you are Met cc and Met cc has always has like a superior officer who is in charge of you lot normally or something like that a yah or something like that is it not
Police Officer: no, no
Simon: so, it is just yourself will you deal with
Police Officer: I think what you acutely trying to say from my own experience of being a police office did you say ye2 I take it that you live in Enfield
Simon: yes, that is correct
Police Officer: yes, so what ye2 would be is the petrol sergeant at in Simon: yes, in Edmonton
Police Officer: in Enfield
Simon: and I accept that
Police Officer: the borough of Enfield
Simon: but normally the 999 call centres have a manager a duty manager that is of a higher rank to yourselves yes, it does not matter if you can deal with what I want then you can do that
Police Officer: I am pretty show that I can deal with it
Simon: well basically my name is a Mr Simon Cordell and who am I speaking to
Police Officer: PC WILLIAMS

Simon: PC WILLIAMS how are you doing basically I phoned up yesterday and I tried to speak to a lady and I put I asked for a cad number in regards to having an investigation put in against police officers I basically I quite upset with what has been going on I have been held hostage in my house because the police tried to set me up a PC Steve Elermore under a Jane Johnson who is a superintendent and there is a couple of others I have their pictures here and the rest of it there is a Douglas Skinner and you had a sergeant Chile's Miles now they throw an Asbo application outside of my front door this was for the applicant case or the respondent case basically was for the organisation of illegal raves it clearly states that they are illegal I was never arrested for something that is illegal it got taken to court under civil proceedings under a standalone Asbo and basically a standalone Asbo is for civil proceedings now basically it has different rules to here say
Police Officer: did you say your name was Simon
Simon: yes, that is correct that is a Mr Simon Cordell
Police Officer: Simon just, hurrah, fuck
Simon: to cut a nut shell to cut it in a nut shell
Police Officer: I need you to be a bit more process
Simon: to cut it in a nut shell I basically put loads of CADS in regards to like when I got the folder, I noticed loads of corruption within the folder and it is not silly corruption its serious corruption and it is holding me hostage in my house I have been given eight years
Police Officer: how can, what is holding you hostage in your house
Simon: all right basically this is what happened in say for instance in America you have freedom of speech when you go outside when you walk outside of your house in this country are human rights are very different we only we have you can cause a public offence in the public if you do something like that yes but in our own home we have the maximum extent to our own ability if we swear in our own home we are a loud to do that and we can ask a police office to leave for instance, with the raves bill this is a very slimier thing the raves bill 1994 that was put against me in side your own home or inside a place of residence trespass must be proven yes now or a commercial business must be proven to make it so that the raves bill can take place inside of somebody's house or place of residence now this was never proved on none of the accounts that I was accused of basically what I have got I went to court and I stood up for my rights just under them grounds and the principles of the laws and I one the case the respondents case but they gave me an Asbo for five years and I had already done a two year injection prior which is seven years that I had to ride
Police Officer: well, if you won the case
Simon: well what happened is that they advertised in the newspapers that I was found guilty so they set me up I have got the transcripts of the court case proving from the magistrates proven that I was not found guilty now they have refused to listen I went home because I was so upset because of what they had done to me and I looked into the case papers even more knowing that I never committed the offences now when you call 999 let's say when you get 15,000 calls a day yes now you will get at 12 0 clock you will get the first person get number one next person gets number two and they all run in numeric order now and they all have time stamps besides of them each card number will now say cad number five hundred happens every day you can have a time stamp of ten 0 clock now cad number five hundred and forty, 50 latter cannot have a time stamp of nine
Police Officer: Simon sorry Simon
Simon: why are you explaining to me how the 999 call centre works
Police Officer: what are you trying to report today

Simon: because I have got paper work here right now that says pc
Police Officer: what has that got to do with any thing
Simon: what it is if I stole if I told you right now or I told you that someone is stealing a mars bar or a chocolate bar from a shop you would have to send a police officer out to arrest that person for theft for such a minor offence I am telling you that right now that police officers have manufactured and developed evidence and they have put it into a folder and now that folder
Police Officer: what is it you are trying to report today
Simon: I put loads of CADS in regard to loads of corruption loads of police corruption what are on your police computer now I have been told that they cannot be investigated because at the time I had an ongoing case and it would cause produce towards that case that case is now over and what I want is a police officer to come as if I am calling about a mars bar being stolen a criminal offence and I want them to go over the evidence that I have here and do their lines of investigation into these police officers not only like what I was saying cad number 500 every day has a time stamp of ten 0 clock
Police Officer: police officer is not going to come to your house to review evidence that you have collated in regards to these police officers
Simon: no it is evidence they have wrote and what the problem is if a time stamp is five says five hundred and it has a time stamp of ten 0 clock it is impossible for the cad number five hundred and fifty to have nine 0 clock I am recording this conversation Mr PC WILLIAMS
Police Officer: that is OK
Simon: because I have been doing this for a little while because I am up set and I am going to make it all go public and how you lot how certain other members of the public have protected me in the police force how they have failed to protect me should I say
Police Officer:
Simon: now what upsets me even further is that the police have mg11 forms yes which is a witness form
Police Officer: yes, they do
Simon: now them witness forms have statements of truth at the bottom of them yes and now I have got sixteen witness statement form things saying that members of the public were keep up at progress way now each one of them witness statements are not signed
Police Officer: Simon, please give me your point to why you are calling me right now
Simon: because I would like I am in a case of fraud the 2006 act in regards to a police officer and I would like you to come here under the allegations of fraud and I would like the police officer to be arrested under fraud and under harassment to and abuse of power, now these laws exist for crimes actually the same `as what I am explaining to you
[00:07:27] Police Officer: Simon
Simon: yes
Police Officer: "Mutter"
Simon: pardon
Police Officer: from what you are saying is the police
Simon: set me up and I have got the evidence of that here right now and I am stuck in my house doing eight years because of what they have set me up for Police Officer: what do you mean eight years you have not been in your house for eight years

Simon: I ha e been in my house for four years I have been in here since I was thirty one I am now thirty six and I have not been a loud to go out to any shops to no Mac Donald's I am not a loud to give my friends an amp personal or other wise
Police Officer: Simon, Simon stops right there stop talking Simon stop talking
Simon: personal is personal and otherwise is business
Police Officer: are you saying that you want to complain about their police
Simon: no, I am saying that I would like the police officers arrested and I would like to put a line of investigation in about fraud act
Police Officer: that is not going to happen
Simon: why will that not happen if it was a normal person and I told you that they are making fraudulent paper work under the fraudulent act 2006 for their own gain illegal you would come out and arrest that person what makes a police officer so different
Police Officer: silence
Simon: hello
Police Officer: silence
Simon:
Police Officer: right
Simon: what makes a police officer so different no go on
Police Officer: silence
Simon:
Police Officer: I am not going to commit on that Simon: I have got sixteen different witness statements here right now in front of me
Police Officer: I am not going to answer that question what I will tell you
Simon: are you going to protect me
Police Officer: silence
Simon: I from these police officers I cannot even walk down my own home town streets right now because these police officers know that I have this evidence here right now and that I believe that they are going to grab me and set me up even further than they have already set me up
Police Officer: Simon, Simon, Simon, Simon,
Simon;
Police Officer: Simon if you are not going to listen, I will just clear the line
Simon: I do not want you to just do that I just want somebody to help me and remember why they signed up to be police officers in the first place under there codes of conduct
Police Officer: Simon you have got two ears you should listen twice as much as you should speak
Simon: yes, go on ok I will accept that one I will accept that 100% "giggle"`
Police Officer: `
Simon: but I am a man that will listen to reason
Police Officer: silence
Simon: hello
Police Officer: from what you are saying to me you have some sort grievance with the police members of the police because they have taken you to court previously correct yes or no
Simon: no, no, no, what I have got a grievance against the pole are is that they decided to collaborate and fabricate evidence for their own self gain and then
Police Officer: Simon, Simon, Simon
Simon: so that they can have an effect on my way of life and my human right

Police Officer: Simon, Simon
Simon: breaking the 1961
Police Officer: Simon stops talking
Simon: come on you know that I am real
Police Officer: silence
Simon: I cannot walk down my own town street because of these coppers
Police Officer:
Simon: yes, it is not fair
Police Officer: Simon, Simon
Simon: yes, if they were working for me at a festival and they started to do this to other people in a festival I would stand up
Police Officer: I am going to have to clear the line
Simon: Williams you cannot clear the line I am talking to you about something that is important ``
Police Officer: listen to me
Simon: I am asking for you to send a police officer to my address do you know what they done Williams can I explain even further what evidence I have
Police Officer: listen no, no, no, no you can't explain even further what evidence you have because I am telling you if you are trying to, if you wish to complain about police, which you did yesterday didn't you
Simon: but I asked for a cad number yesterday I have done this sense 2013 I have got the recordings and I was pro missed that the second that the case is over that I can make this phone call now and that you will pick up the CAD numbers on that computer now that are saying that there is a waiting complaint of investigation against the coppers to happen and I want you to follow them now
Police Officer: Simon, Simon do you wish to make a complaint
Simon: I have already made about seven complaints and I have been promised that is I make this phone call once again once this case is over then someone will get sent to my house and these police officers will be investigated
Police Officer: no, no, no, body will be sent to your house
Simon: ok so what have I got to do come to the police station and recorded what is happening there as well and with the evidence that I have got now
Police Officer: Simon, Simon, Simon
Simon: go on
Police Officer:
Simon: I have always liked these officers
Police Officer: are you going to are you going to
Simon: yes
Police Officer: are you going to listen, Simon
Simon: yes, go on
Police Officer: you are claiming that there is corruption in the police force yes or
Simon: yes
Police Officer: just slimily yes or no
Simon: yes
Police Officer: right
Simon;
Police Officer: and you want to complain about pacific officers yes or no

Simon: I do not want to complain I just want a line of investigation followed against the Police Officer: which means you have to complain
Simon: no, I have already complained
Police Officer: silence
Simon: if you check your police computer right now write; 109 Burncroft Avenue in to that computer
Police Officer: Simon, Simon, Simon
Simon: into that computer and see how many times s that has been promised to me
Police Officer: Simon, stop talking and listen to me
[00:11:58] Police Officer: in order for an investigation to take place against police there needs to be a complaint first
Simon: there already is a complaint I have got the CAD numbers and every think for it and I have been promised and I have got the recordings right here like I am recording right here saying the second that it is over the second that my court case over that it will be investigated and if you check my address 109 Burncroft Avenue its Police Officer: Simon I am going to release the call in a minute
Simon: it's on the computer check at 109 Burncroft Avenue and see if there is already a complaint in place
Police Officer: silence
Simon: hello
Police Officer: ok
Simon: check `my address
Police Officer: talk to the person that is dealing with your complaint
Simon: pardon who is the person dealing with my complaint I have been told that they will send a person to my address `
Police Officer: no, no, no,
Simon: once the case is over
Police Officer: no stop no
Simon: so how am I going to meet these police officers? or met yourselves or met somebody that is going to deal with my complaint all the letter I have got loads of letters that have gone in to the MP's I have had to show the doctors all the doctors are saying that they have seen the case papers and they are saying that it is clear fraud
Police Officer: Simon
Simon: every person that has looked at it has said
Police Officer: Simon
Simon: has said that it is fraud
Police Officer: stop talking I just need you to answer yes or no
Simon: ok then I will make a fresh complaint with yourself now then
Police Officer: silence
Simon;
Police Officer: look we got there in the end OK fantastic
Simon: I do not see why a fresh complaint has to go in
Police Officer: silence
Simon: I have always known these coppers since I was a kid PC shin nick and that they went outside progress way and added like fifteen 999 calls they messed up they covered up Steve Elsmore covered over their names like when it says call ordinary yes and then it says the name then it will say the Police Officer: look Simon stop talking, can I just confirm your date of birth is the 26th Jan 1981

Simon: yes, and I am doing more than talking I am about to go public
Police Officer: dead
Simon: and they're going to lose their mortgages and `there carers unless some police officer deals with this behind closed doors with me
Police Officer: what will ever make you happy
Simon: pardon
Police Officer: your dead
Simon: yes, I will I have lost half of my life because of what they have done my hole estate has had to go through this for the last four years and there are no real witness statements they made them up none of them police
Police Officer: what is your address
Simon: pardon
Police Officer: what is your address
Simon;109 Burncroft Avenue my whole estate has got to go through this for the last four years and the next four years
Police Officer:
Simon: I went to court the other day and I said to them I will not bring up the corruption if they drop it under the grounds of trespass which is right
Police Officer: phone put down

Dear Dionne Grant
Thank you for the information you sent regarding the subject access request. Sorry for the time it has taken for me to get back to you but I have been having work done in my home so have had no access to my main computer which hold all my emails, and have been working from my mobile which is not the best option. And I won't have access to my main computer till most likely Monday as work is still ongoing. I do however feel that all the data has not been supplied that I have asked for, this was the same in March of 2016 I knew then we did not get all the data we asked for and an email was writing in regards to this but no one got back to me. Also, in the data you have sent there is hardly any dates or times, that complaints were put in why does Enfield Councils system not include dates and times information was recorded? There is no call data. No meetings data that government body's had meetings regarding Mr. Cordell, the list goes on. I asked for all data that Enfield council holds, so all data should have been included and all audio call data and police data and meetings held and any other information that Enfield Council holds in regards to Mr. Cordell. All police data and any letters that have been sent from police or to police. You seem to have asked for Mr. Cordell health records who was this asked from and who gave the data?
There seems to be a long list of information that is missing both from the request in March 2016 and the request that was submitted on the 24/11/2016. Can this please be looked into and if you are withholding any data for any reason could you please let me know this and what data it is and why you are withholding it. There is also a lot of incorrect data that is being held and it seems that Enfield Council has chosen to put Mr. Cordell as the perpetrator, by the ASBT there is lists of emails that is missing that I have sent in regards to complaints as to what the neighbours was doing to Mr. Cordell, I have also requested all my phone records as it seems there is no lists of all the calls, I made on behalf of complaints regarding Mr. Cordell's neighbours. As it also seems there is missing calls that Mr. Cordell made himself regarding what his neighbours was doing to him, lucky for me I do keep all emails, but it seems Enfield Council does not and to try and get themselves out of trouble due to not doing what they were meant to this data is missing. I will give 14 days for this to be corrected and if it has not, I will have no other option but to go to the ICO.

Lorraine Cordell

Dear Concetta Nobile
Thank you, for the update and information you will need I have my driving licence but since 08 June 2015 the paper part is no longer needed so I do not have this so do not have both parts only the card. I have bills to show my address dated within the last 3 months so that should not be a problem. As for the information I have asked for it is all the information that is held by Enfield Council within all departments. This would not be limited to just things that I have put in this would also include any data that the police have passed to Enfield Council about me. Any meetings that were held with police and any other body and Enfield Council about me. and any other government body that has passed information to Enfield Council about myself. The minutes from the meeting that was held about me by Enfield council on the 15/12/2016 with regard to the formal complaints that was put in. I did request minutes were taken when I was told I could not attend. Any phone calls made by myself or my mother on my behalf to Enfield Council All that were put in for Enfield Council to address this would include all comments made on any such report such as I have removed all my piping for my heating system. All my housing benefit and anything to do with my rent account and council Tax. Any complaints that have been put in about me this would include any neighbours or police or any other body that Enfield Council has received about me, I do understand that some sections names would need to have redaction added for names and addresses but the date and body of the complaint should be kept. and if it a governing body such as the police names or IDs should not need redaction. If Enfield Council has any data, I want this subject access request to cover this data and if any data is going to be withheld, I would like to know this and the reason why it is being withheld.

Hello Ms. Cordell,
Thank you very much for your email, the content of which is very illustrative. I can confirm I have made contact with Mr. Jenkins and can also confirm according to Mr. Jenkin's recollection the officer did not mention their being tools in Simon's van. Regarding the officer's notebook, as you're aware the officer did make use of one on the day in question, of course its content will form part of my investigation. Going forward, I note that in their appeal findings the IPCC made direct reference to a transcript in your possession concerning a phone call between Broadsure Direct and KGM. Can you please send me a copy?

Dear Jamie Newman,
Thank you for the below email. I believe you have spoken to Martin Jenkins, and he has confirmed with you that when Mr. Cordell was spoken to by the police officer, Mr. Cordell used his phone to call Martin Jenkins and Martin Jenkins confirmed he told the police officer Mr. Cordell was insured to drive, and also the police officer never said anything about any tools to him on that phone call. I also made calls that day as my son also called me what was going on. I have asked many times to see a copy of the police officer note book, as until I saw the report from Jeanette Reilly, and it was confirmed the police officer did in fact have a note book, Mr. Cordell always said he took notes but the police officer even said in court he never and it was only the ticket he had used that day. The reason for asking for a copy is due to the fact of the name my son give and it is stated in his note book a name was given, then it seemed to change to Mr. Cordell saying he was homeless, but the police officer would have done checks of the name given, which I believe the note book proves my son give his correct name as there was no reason for him not to have done as he never done anything wrong. and this would have been confirmed when the police officer done his police checks. There is also one other issue and that is when Mr. Cordell asked for an inspector to be called due to what the police officer had said to the insurance company. Mr. Cordell was telling the inspector that the police officer had lied to his insurance company about tools being in the vane, all it would have taken was for the inspector to check the van at that time, he would have then seen something was really wrong as there were no tools and would have seen this, and this could have been addressed there and then without the need for my son to have been arrested. If there is anything you need for me, please let me know.

Lorraine Cordell

I will look at the attached document today but do believe you have had contact with Martin Jerkins and he confirms that the Police officer did not say about any tools or Mr. Cordell going around doing odd jobs on that call. As the police officer did when he made the call to KGM.

You are correct, I am to re-investigate the matter. I look forward to working with you to bring this matter to a satisfactory conclusion. Early in December I wrote to Mr. Cordell though received no reply. I wrote to him again in early January though again received no reply. If you're dealing with this matter on his behalf then that explains it. Am I to assume I'm to communicate with you going forward?
I've attached the letter I sent to Mr. Cordell. I'd appreciate it if you could respond to my request at your earliest convenience. Any questions please do ask.

I said to the lady how can we give you dates there is to many of them, far too many for us to remember as this is going back over 23 years of data we have requested, as we want all data that is held about us by police. This is when the lady said that she will send me a letter stating I had to update my request. Could the lady please be asked who called me today if this letter can be sent via my email. I have spoken to the ICO explained what has been said and even the lady cannot believe I am being asked to supply 23 years of dates, and can it also be confirmed if this is a refusal of the 4 subject access request that have been submitted. Outgoing call.
Metropolitan Police introduction.
Simon: hello.
Police Officer: is that a Mr. Simon Cordell.
Simon: Yes, Mr. Cordell speaking whom I speaking to.
Police Officer: Sergeant Miller.
Simon: Miller.

Police Officer: yes, from Edmonton police station.
Simon: how are you doing.
Police Officer: I am calling in regards to a complaint that you have. made.
Simon: yes basically in 2000 and it is quite its quite over reached by now in 2013 I was put on I was arrested for burglary I had a police officer come to my house and they found a gazebo in my garden handling stolen goods and put it down as burglary I was on bail conditions for the whole of the year 2013 to 14 I had to give my passport to uses lot I was not a loud to leave the country I had to sign on at the police station every day at eight 0 clock plus I was on a house bail conditions I was not a loud to leave my house yes the conditions were endless I was barred from central London and so forth and after a year of being on bail and having to stick to all of these conditions I finally one the case I got released and I walked out side of my front door as I walked out side of my front door I meat a new partner and so forth like that
Simon: one day I was in my house and a loads of police officers knocked at my front door I asked them what they wanted through my front door being closed and they explained to me that they just wanted to speak to me, so I opened my door slightly a jar and they tried to force a massive folder through my front door I closed the front door and I did not let the folder in my house and I said to them I am not letting them put stuff inside my house, they throw the folder on the floor outside of my house and walked of I phoned my mother and asked my mother to come and get, collect the folder and she could not come till the next day, she come to my house the next day and picked up the folder she photo copied it her, herself and then she went to the police station and handed it into Edmonton police station, she got a recite that I have yes, with a stamp on it from Edmonton police station and it is in my name, the property of Mr. Simon Cordell that has never been found, yes and now I have got that receipt and it got put in lost property and now that is true and this property is an Asbo application now it only ever had four witness statements CFS callers in it witness statements saying that they were keep up overnight, now somehow since through the ongoing of the case getting dragged on since 2014 I have gone to go and get this folder and it has been stolen out of Edmonton lost property, now I am quite concerned about it being stolen because the property room was only burnt down a couple of years ago because of police corruption so I am quite shocked that it disorganized that stuff can still be stolen out of it by over officers so I would like to know where my folder is and I have got the recite for that now the reason that I would like the folder is because it proves that the police fraudulently added an extra ten witness statements into the folder since the time that it has been going on now.
Police Officer: is it not that this complaint being dealt with by. sergeant Thomason.
Simon: no police officer has tried to deal with this or any of my complaints I continually keep phoning you lot up and recording I have a bout years' worth of recordings I am even recording this conversation right now.
Police Officer: I am sure you have.
Simon: I am recording this conversation.
Police Officer: honestly it does not matter you can record what you want I am jut calling in regards to your complaint. `
Simon: this is not the only part of my complaint this property has been stolen by officers out of there.
Police Officer: yes, yes, I no.
Simon: what my further concern was.
Police Officer: go on.
Simon: I was I went I looked at the Asbo case and I knew that there was ten incidents in it and that I had not committed none of these incidents I was not the organizer to any if these events so I wouldn't be I felt as if in the police were trying to force me to be a super grass

yes and using the paper and fabricating the paper work to turn me into a super grass I looked at the laws that I represent from the land that I live off and I went to court and I said look trespass has not been proven inside none of these buildings, yes for under the raves bill trespass must be present, yes 1994 so I won the case applicants case any way but somehow she said because you had a nitro s oxide bottle on you at one of these days which is an ADR road traffic offence and it ant a traffic offence because it is not illegal to carry it she gave me a five year Asbo I had already been riding two years prior to that to the injunction so that is seven years plus I done a year for the other case the gazebo which I won that is eight years the maximum sentence under the raves bill is six months and a 20 grand fine so I do not understand why I am riding eight years and my eight years don't get cut in half, now it said I was also further upset because it says the organisation of illegal raves now if some this is illegal I should have been arrest yes so I should have been arrested I should have been a loud to have my interview I should have been a loud to go through it with my solicitor's and the cps should have took my case yes from there now this has never happened but somehow I seem to have a criminal recorded no I do not have a criminal record but somehow basically what they continue to say in the Asbo was this will not have an effect on my abilities of running my company objectives so I wrote to every other council borough there are thirty three boroughs so I wrote to the other thirty two wrote and they basically write back to me and said these council are lying and these police are lying this has a massive effect of the running abilities of your company because every council has a different licensing department yes and that I have to go there and because it says an illegal offence.

Police Officer: Police Officer:

Simon: massive effect of the running abilities of your company because every council has a different licensing department, yes and that I have to go there and because it says an illegal offence yes I have to basically have to go to a special committee with them and that I have to explain the Asbo which is un fair on me and it stops me working with the other thirty two boroughs yes now I have been in my house.

Police Officer: can I just stop you there it is frustrating because what you are saying rings a bell one of my colleges you spoke you spoke to one of my colleges on 13th of February.

Simon: yes, that is very possible.

Police Officer: yes, on cad 440.

Simon: I have them all on recording so that I know that the, I do not know them all of my heart but I have got them all recorded.

Police Officer: ok that is just fine I am just telling you that you did because it is recorded here.

Simon: and they have told me that they cannot do anything the only person that can do some think is yourselves a sergeant from the police station.

Police Officer: yes.

Simon: sorry for being rude but I explained to them that if I phoned them now as a CFS caller call for services and I said to them look I know someone I just see some body still a chocolate bar out of a shop they would send a patrol car to me and to that shop over a chocolate bar being stolen I have clear corruption here and I have got evidence of it and that I have been set up and that I am riding four years and I would like a police officer sent to my house so that.

Police Officer: mutter.

Simon: go on.

Police Officer: hum I am calling because we only deal with initiation service recover, now obviously your complaint we cannot deal with the initial serves recovery because it is they hum protracted in bits providentially protracted in investigation that needs to be done hum on the 13th of February on cad 440 which is our reference it has been marked up as sergeant Thomson is aware of your matter and he is dealing with it and now that is a sergeant that works in the professional standards department office at Edmonton police station so he deals with all the ongoing protection standards issues and if there any complaints ongoing complaint he deals with them and so I cannot assist you at the moment because I am the wrong department for that but since he is aware of it I am going to send him an email now to tell him that you have called and that you want an update regarding this issue because hum he is looking in to it.

Simon: I would like a meeting with him so that I can sit there and show. him the evidence that I have of the corruption and the fabricated. evidence.
Police Officer: that is fine.
Police Officer: I will tell him to contact you directly and hum you can. speak to him about it.
Simon: and if I do not receive a phone call back from none of your selves as like seems to have happened for the last three years or two years of this case now then what actually what actually happens then what should I phone you up again phone up the 02071212 again and then put the same complaint in again and hope that somebody contacts him again like how because no one want to investigating these officers.
Police Officer: I am sure that you have been contacted from the last time from Sergeant Thompson.
Simon: I have got recordings of me phoning up 999 and speaking to sergeants from ccc bow.
Police Officer: yes, yes you might call up a few times.
Simon: cc bow is basically said to me they have been one of the main officers in cc bow and that in all of their life that of them working there I have got it all on recording she has never seen the time stamps go backwards on the CADS she said that this is clear corruption, and this was months ago.
Police Officer: what do you mean that the time stamps go backwards.
Simon: basically, I got given an Asbo yes and on the Asbo in the Asbo paper there's say 50 CADS in there yes and them 50 cad every day "Cad - number 500" happens now I wrote to storm and Met ccc and I have been told that it is fraud.
Police Officer: you are talking about things that I do not have a clue about yes so, I a m not the right person to see to give you the advice on that.
Simon: but you are dealing with a cad system right this second.
Police Officer: yes.
Simon: right now, as I call you.
Police Officer: you are talking about CADS being amended as far as I am concerned CADS once they have been "mutter" the time frames cannot be changed on the cad because it does not give us an opportunity.
Simon: yes.
Police Officer:
Simon: but what I am saying is that someone fraudulently, they gone and made the paper work out of the computers because basically I have got cad say cad.
Police Officer: if you are saying that then someone has got to investigate that, and it will be as I said it will be the bloke at the professional standards department.
Simon: what is even worse than that is say like if you the CADS say if you look at all of the CADS a lot of the information like the call recorder is blocked out the call location everything is blocked out yes adapted now, they forgot to take the X TO Y locations out yes so now when I put them into Google it shows it shows like five six miles away it show the other side of this place the other and they covered it all other and forged it to be that.

Police Officer: sir I have got to stop you their sir I have got to stop you there I appreciate you have got all of this information, and I cannot assist you with that, but I am telling you that I am going to email the professional standards.
Simon: and what is his name again.
Police Officer: Sergeant Thomson.
Simon: Sergeant Thomson what Thomas what.
Police Officer: Thomson.
Simon: and what is his other name a badge for him.
Police Officer: err sixteen YE.
Simon: do you have a direct email yourself that I can contact as well.
Police Officer: his email yes, I can give you that one minute.
Simon: they said the only reason that they want to carry this Asbo on is because that of the amount of money that they have spent on this case they do not care about me as person it is all about money to them yes and it has had a large, huge effect on my way of life and on everything and it.
Police Officer: OK.
Simon: his err email address is Arran.
Thomason@met.pnn.police.uk
Police Officer:
Simon: well, thank you for contacting me today and I am sorry that it has been on such a negative thing.
Police Officer: I am sure he is because it says he is I am sure that he is. aware of hum this but I will send him an email now.
Simon: with this phone number and ask him to contact me back like this as well.
Police Officer: yes, yes with this cad number that I rang you on;
Simon: OK;
Police Officer: but obviously he will get back in contact with you.
Simon: OK thank you, you have a good day sir.

Summary!

My Heart has really started to hurt me every day, I am having an early aged mild heart attacks because of what Debra Andrews and the Mathiyalagan Markandu family as well as stain Curtis and George Quinton get and got away with, inclusively of what the police and local council members are getting away with each day by holding me hostage with no first hand witness and then on allowing my estate members to carry out their hate crime in a cover up to send me crazy or to an early death by flushing the toilet below me and bagging at me causing me sufferings and no peace also letting the named attack me when I am in the bath tub and getting undressed and this does not stop their I continue to get assaulted with the water taps getting slammed on and off causing a loud bagging sound at a fast rate and slamming object and or jumping on the floorboards above my head damaging my work studies and private family life and making me a Vulnerable person!
I have also had a lot of problems with eating because of what they keep all doing to me!
My canine has victualing its paws because of what 113 – 117 and 111 are getting away with I have taken pictures of the damage this is doing to us in this flat!

Dear Tara Stewart Milne,
3 of 3 emails
I would also like to say there is a subject access request that have been put in one for each of my family due to what the police have done, the police are trying to refuse giving it to us. The report that DPS sent to us re this complaint did in fact bring up many more issues and I would like to see the documents they are not willing to give us. I feel that these documents could in fact bring up more issues and complaints. within this complaint and I feel we should have a right to see them. If you need to speak to me my number is 07807 333545 or you can contact me via this email address.

Dear Tara Stewart Milne
Thank you for the reply, I do know the IPCC has no power to compel police to hand over the information regarding the subject access requests that have been submitted to them and I will take this up with the ICO if they don't, I also may take this up with the courts, our family has had enough over the last 23 years with what the police are doing to us, it's gone way past the point, that the police can say they are just doing their job. But the DPS has put in their report for this complaint they are using other information, why can't we see that information?
why does the police feel the need to hide information regarding a complaint? I feel we have the right to see the information, as it all runs within this complaint, and hiding it from us only shows to me they are covering up what the police done, like they have done for years. I am not sure if you can forward us the information that the DPS and police have used, but I feel we should be able to see it, as I feel that without us being able to see it, we cannot fully deal with this complaint, as we should be able to do, as I feel it will only highlight more information that the police done wrong.

Subject: RE: IPCC INV Appeal- Your ref: 2015/049718
Dear Tara Stewart Milne
Thank you for the reply, I do know the IPCC has no power to compel police to hand over the information regarding the subject access requests that have been submitted to them and I will take this up with the ICO if they don't, I also may take this up with the courts, our family has had enough over the last 23 years with what the police are doing to us, it's gone way past the point, that the police can say they are just doing their job. But the DPS has put in their report for this complaint they are using other information, why can't we see that information?
why does the police feel the need to hide information regarding a complaint? I feel we have the right to see the information, as it all runs within this complaint, and hiding it from us only shows to me they are covering up what the police done, like they have done for years. I am not sure if you can forward us the information that the DPS and police have used, but I feel we should be able to see it, as I feel that without us being able to see it, we cannot fully deal with this complaint, as we should be able to do, as I feel it will only highlight more information that the police done wrong.
Regards
Lorraine Cordell

Dear LEMMY NWABUISI
I will get back to you with a date. But I am very upset at what is on file within the subject access request it seems as if you put everything onto Mr. Cordell and large amounts of data is missing. Like the information about Deborah Andrews this is incorrect, and the only reason we have found out about this is due to the subject access request. But there are lots of emails that are missing that I sent about Deborah Andrews and what the neighbours were doing, that are dated before any complaints went in from Deborah Andrews and the neighbours. Yet nothing was done for Mr. Cordell about this. Also, there is missing dates and times of complaints, as to when things were meant to have happened and what time they were meant to have happened why?

I do have many issues, with the report and why no emails are in the subject access request that was put in by me that are dated well before the neighbours put complaints in yet Enfield Council done nothing about this, there is also no phone calls I made or my son made, but as soon as the neighbours put complaints in these were taken up right away by Enfield Council.
I will get back to you with a date I am due to see someone on the 09/03/2017 when I will be showing them all the information. So, it will need to be after this date. Dionne Grant has also got until the 02/03/2017 to deal with the subject access request and if I have not heard anything by this date, I will pass this on to the ICO.

Dear LEMMY NWABUISI
I will get back to you with a date. But I am very upset at what is on file within the subject access request it seems as if you put everything onto Mr. Cordell and large amounts of data is missing. Like the information about Deborah Andrews this is incorrect, and the only reason we have found out about this is due to the subject access request. But there are lots of emails that are missing that I sent about Deborah Andrews and what the neighbours were doing, that are dated before any complaints went in from Deborah Andrews and the neighbours. yet nothing was done for Mr. Cordell about this. Also, there is missing dates and times of complaints, as to when things were meant to have happened and what time they were meant to have happened why? I do have many issues, with the report and why no emails are in the subject access request that was put in by me that are dated well before the neighbours put complaints in yet Enfield Council done nothing about this, there is also no phone calls I made or my son made, but as soon as the neighbours put complaints in these were taken up right away by Enfield Council?
I will get back to you with a date I am due to see someone on the 09/03/2017 when I will be showing them all the information. So, it will need to be after this date. Dionne Grant has also got until the 02/03/2017 to deal with the subject access request and if I have not heard anything by this date, I will pass this on to the ICO.

DIRECTIONS ORDER

2. I make this Witness Statement in support of the Claimant's application for an injunction to stop the Defendant from causing intimidation, harassment and alarm to other residents and their visitors on Burncroft Avenue.

3. The Defendant is a secure tenant of the Claimant at 109 Burncroft Avenue, Enfield, Middlesex, EN3 7JQ. His tenancy commenced on 14th August 2006. I hereby attach a bundle of documents relating to this case as exhibit number LN1. A copy of the Defendant's tenancy agreement and terms and conditions are hereby attached at pages 1-24.

4. The reports concerning the Defendant's alleged anti-social behaviour towards his neighbours was first brought to my attention in October 2016 when a case involving the Defendant and one of his neighbours was referred to me for investigation. The Defendant was reported to have caused frequent acts of harassment and anti-social behaviour against an elderly neighbour. The Defendant was arrested by the Police and bailed to a different address. The matter was referred to the Highbury Corner Magistrates' Court on 05 October 2016 where a first hearing took place. The Defendant pleaded not guilty and the trial was fixed for 17 November 2016. However, the trial did not proceed due to insufficient support as the elderly tenant was unable to attend Court due to health reasons. A copy of a letter from the Magistrate Court is attached to this statement at pages 25-26.

5. The Defendant was previously known to the Claimant and an anti-social behaviour order was made on 4 August 2015 by the Magistrates Court to prevent him from knowingly using or supplying property, personal or otherwise, for the use in a rave as defined in s.63(1) of the Criminal Justice Order Act 1994. The order was made for a duration of 5 years. A copy of the Order is at page 27 of the exhibit bundle.

6. On 6th August 2016, the Defendant threatened and shouted abuse at Mr. and Mr. Mathiyalagan tenants of 117 Burncroft Avenue. He aggressively, demanded money from him and threatened to beat him up. The Defendant also repeatedly swore at Mr. Mathiyalagan's wife, called her a 'witch1 and tried to stop the Mr. Mathiyalagan from going up the stairs to his flat by standing in front of him and blocking his advance by placing his hands on the staircase railings. Mr. Mathiyalagan has already provided a witness statement in support these proceedings to confirm that this incident happened. A file note of this report is exhibited at pages 28-30 of the exhibit bundle LN1.

7. On 8th August 2016, Mr. Mathiyalagan reported that the Defendant aggressively banged on his front door, shouted abuse at him and his wife and accused them of making noise. Mr. Mathiyalagan reported to us that he believes that the Defendant used a screwdriver to damage the lock on his meter cupboard and removed the fuse box thereby cutting off their electricity supply. Mr. Mathiyalagan reported this incident to the police and was given reference number CAD 7934/August 2016. A file note of this report is exhibited at pages 28-30 of the exhibit bundle.

8. On 27th September 2016, Mr. Mathiyalagan reported that the Defendant confronted him as he returned to his flat with his wife and young daughter and threatened and swore at him and demanded money from him. A file note of the report is on pages 28-30 of the bundle.

9. On 28th September 2016, Mr. Mathiyalagan reported that the Defendant aggressively banged on his door and threatened and shouted abuse and swear words at him and his wife. The Defendant also aggressively demanded money from Mr. Mathiyalagan. A file of the report is at pages 28-30 of the exhibit bundle.

10. On 11th November 2016, my former colleague, Sarah Fletcher interviewed an elderly resident who wished to remain anonymous. He said that the Defendant approached him as he came out of his flat and started to shout abuse, swear at him and threatened to bum down the elderly neighbour's flat. The report

continued that sometime around mid-September 2016, one of the Defendant's neighbours reported that the Defendant confronted him outside his block as he was going to the local park and started to shout abuse and threats at him and said to him "I can get you over at the park, I know you go for a walk". This incident led to his arrest and to the matter being referred to the Magistrates Court. A file note of the report is exhibited on page 31 of the exhibit bundle LN1.

11. I had meetings with Mr. George Quinton, one of the Defendant's neighbours on 16th December 2016 and 11th January 2017. He reported that he was experiencing problems with the Defendant's behaviour, and that on 4th October 2016, the Defendant aggressively banged on his ceiling and accused him of making noise. The Defendant then went to the neighbour's flat upstairs and started kicking and banging on the front door and was swearing and shouting at. him. The Defendant later went downstairs, dragged the neighbour's motorbike from where it was parked and started to hit it with a piece of wood. A file note of the report is at pages 32-34 of the exhibit bundle.

12. On 22nd November 2016, during a telephone conversation with my former colleague Ms. Sarah Fletcher, the Defendant was heard saying to his mother, who was present with him, 'I'm goanna do her over, I'm goanna take her job just for fun' referring to Ms. Fletcher. A file note of the incident is at page 34A of the exhibit bundle.

13. I hereby attach a case history detailing incidents of reports from Mr. Mathiyalagan about the abuse, threats and persistent intimidation by the Defendant. The case history is at pages 35 to 40 of the exhibit bundle LN1. It shows that Mr. Mathiyalagan reported incidents too numerous to set out in this statement about abuse, threats, attempts to extort money and intimidation by the Defendant. Examples are that the Defendant banged on his front door while his wife was alone at home with their young daughter and shouted abuse at his wife and asked her to turn off the bathroom taps. He also removed his electricity fuse thereby cutting off their power supply. Mr. Mathiyalagan reported the incident to the police and was given CAD 5753/23 December 2016. A file note of this incident is at page 37 of the exhibit bundle.

14. Other examples of aggressive and anti-social behaviour reported by Mr. Mathiyalagan were that on 21st January 2017, the Defendant aggressively banged on his door, swore and shouted abuse and threats at him and his family and accused them of making noise.

15. On 9th June 2017, the Defendant attacked Mr. Mathiyalagan's cousin in the communal hallway as he returned from work late at night by grabbing him on the arm and neck thereby causing bruising to his arm and neck. The Defendant also snatched his mobile phone from him as he tried to record the incident.

16. On 16th June 2017, the Defendant confronted Mr. Mathiyalagan's wife as she was exiting the main entrance at 11:55am and said to her that he had her bank and personal details. He also reported that the Defendant told his wife that he wanted her and her husband to pay him some money.

17. On 23rd June 2017, the Defendant came out of his flat with his dog and attacked Mr. Mathiyalagan's cousin as he returned from work at 11:35pm. He reported that the Defendant punched his cousin twice on the chest, tried to push him out of the block and snatched his mobile phone as he tried to record the incident.

18. On 28th June 2017, the Defendant confronted Mr. Mathiyalagan's wife as she was leaving the block at 11:45am, swore at her, shouted abuse and accused her of making noise inside her flat. He said to her that he knows all her personal details and that of her husband including their full names, date of birth, phone numbers and bank details. The Defendant demanded that they pay him some money and asked her to tell Mr. Mathiyalagan to come and see him.

19. On 2nd July 2017, Mr. Mathiyalagan reported that the Defendant confronted him with his dog barking and without a lead as he was going out with his family at

He also reported that as they left the block, the Defendant ran after them swearing and shouting abuse and demanded that he must pay him money if he wants him to leave him alone. The Defendant also said to him that he has all their personal details. A report of the incident is at page 40 of the case history.

20. Case history notes exhibited at pages 41-46 show reports of similar aggressive and intimidating behaviour displayed to Mr. Mathiyalagan was being experienced by another tenant who wishes to remain anonymous because of fear of reprisal from the Defendant.

21. Similarly, further case notes exhibited at pages 47-52 show that another tenant who wishes to remain anonymous was being subjected to the Defendant's antisocial behaviour. She had to be moved from the block because of the harassment from the Defendant and because she suffered from mental health problems and was particularly vulnerable and unable to deal with the threats and harassment from the Defendant.

22. On 7th February 2017, the Defendant approached the leaseholder of 117 Bumcroft Avenue and his plumber outside the block as they were attempting to resolve low water pressure issues affecting the flat. The Defendant informed the leaseholder that there were problems between him and his tenants but did not give specific details. The leaseholder explained to the Defendant that his tenants were experiencing low water pressure in their flat and that they were trying to fix the problem. The Defendant said to the leaseholder,

"you will not resolve the problem as I am restricting their water supply". The leaseholder later asked the Defendant to increase the water pressure and the Defendant stated, "I cannot do anything at the moment, I will sort it out later". A report of this incident is at page 55 of the exhibit bundle.

It also appeared that the Defendant may have removed the wall between his kitchen and living room thereby creating an open plan living space. A copy of the file note is pages 56-57 of the exhibit bundle.

24. On 8th May 2017, the Claimant's officers, Ms. Fletcher, a Neighbourhood officer who has since left the Council and Mr. Steve Stirk, a surveyor visited the Defendant's block of flats following reports of low water pressure to flats 109, 113 and 117 Burncroft Avenue. While the Claimant's officers were outside flat 113, the Defendant came up to them and started to complain about his perceived victimization by his neighbours, the police, and the council. While the Defendant was talking to the officers, Mr. Mathiyalagan came down the stairs and the Defendant said to him, "I'm going to the police station now with my evidence about you and I'm going to ruin your life". A file note of this report is exhibited at page 58 of the exhibit bundle and an email from Steve Stirk is at page 59.

25. On 14th May 2017, yet another neighbour who wishes to remain anonymous reported that the Defendant aggressively banged on her door, shouted abuse and threats at her and falsely accused her of making noise and coming into his flat to attack him. The neighbour stated that the Defendant later followed her to her car as she was leaving the block shouting abuse and wanting to know where she was going. The neighbour also reported that the Defendant allowed his dog to roam freely in the communal area of the block without a lead. A file note of the report is at page 60 of the exhibit bundle LN1.

26. On 28th May 2017, the Defendant was issued with a first instance Harassment letter by the police following allegations of harassment and threatening behaviour made to the police by his neighbour. A copy of the letter and the PC's statement are at pages 61-62 of the exhibit bundle LN1.

27. On 12th July 2017, Mr. Neville Gray, the Claimants repairs surveyor attended the Defendant's flat to investigate reports of low water pressure to the flats above the Defendant's flat, but the Defendant refused him access. Mr. Neville Gray attended the Defendant's flat again at about 5:39pm following reports from the leaseholder of flat 117 Burncroft House that the water supply had stopped completely, but the Defendant also refused him access. The Defendant later shouted abuse and swear words at Mr. Gray and would not allow him to approach his car. Mr. Gray has provided a witness statement in relation to this incident.

28. The Defendant is in breach of the following conditions of his tenancy agreement;

29. Condition 10 - "You must not act in any way which causes, or is likely to cause, a nuisance or annoyance or is anti-social."

30. Condition 21 - "You must not abuse, harass, make offensive comments and/or malicious allegations, use or threaten to use violence against any of our officers or agents, or against a councillor. This applies at any time and in any place. We may report the matter.to the Police".

The Claimant's operatives have had difficulties in accessing the Defendant's flat to inspect the state of the property and the unauthorised works and modifications which the Defendant is purported to have carried out without a written consent from the Claimant. The Claimant has also been unable to check whether the Defendant Is restricting water supply/pressure to the properties above his since December 2016. The Defendant has admitted to restricting the water supply but has refused to allow the Claimant's maintenance operatives access to his property to investigate and rectify the problem.

24. The Defendant has intimidated the residents in the entire block and because of his behaviour, we have received numerous complaints from residents, requests to be transferred from the block and we have had to move a vulnerable tenant from the block.

25. I have made attempts to engage with the Defendant, but he has not been cooperative and has continuously displayed abusive and threatening behaviour towards the Claimant's members of staff and his neighbours. A Notice of Seeking Possession has been served on him and possession action is being considered. However, in the meantime, this injunction is required to ensure that the other residents are not subjected to further intimidation and harassment by the Defendant. This application is being made without notice because if the Defendant were given notice, he would intimidate the witnesses in an attempt to prevent the order being made.

But there are lots of emails that are missing that I sent about Deborah Andrews and what the neighbours were doing, that are dated before any complaints went in from Deborah Andrews and the neighbours. yet nothing was done for Mr. Cordell about this.
Also there is missing dates and times of complaints, as to when things were meant to have happened and what time they were meant to have happened why?
I do have many issues, with the report and why no emails are in the subject access request that was put in by me that are dated well before the neighbours put complaints in yet Enfield Council done nothing about this, There is also no phone calls I made or my son made, but as soon as the neighbours put complaints in these were taken up right away by Enfield Council.
I will get back to you with a date I am due to see someone on the 09/03/2017 when I will be showing them all the information. So it will need to be after this date. Dionne Grant has also got until the 02/03/2017 to deal with the subject access request and if I have not heard anything by this date, I will pass this on to the ICO.

Dear Ms. Cordell,
Please see below as requested the details of recent allegations made against Mr. Simon Cordell. I have listed the complainants as Complainant A, B and C.
0. On 6th August 2016 Complainant A reported that Simon Cordell, his neighbour at flat 109 is threatening him and his wife and aggressively demanding money from him. He alleged that Mr. Cordell called his wife 'a bitch' and tried to stop him from going up the stairs to his flat. He also alleged that in July 2016, someone used a knife to puncture his tyres, all 4 of them, that he believes that the tyres were slashed by Simon, that although he did not see Simon do it but he was quite certain that it was him. He also alleged that Mr. Cordell damaged the lock to his electric cupboard and removed his fuse box resulting in no electricity.

1. On 5th October 2016 Complainant B reported that Mr. Cordell has been harassing him for a while in relation to alleged noise disturbances from his flat. He alleged that the previous day on 4/10/16, Simon was banging on his ceiling and later came upstairs and started kicking his door and shouting aggressively. He alleged that Simon then went downstairs dragged his motorbike from where he parked it and started smashing it up. He then called the police. He also stated that Mr. Cordell had previously slashed his motorbike tyres with a knife, that he did not report it as he did not see him do it.

2. On 31st October 2016 telephone call received from another resident on behalf of Complainant C. He alleged that Complainant C's neighbour, Simon was using threatening, abusive, and insulting words towards Complainant C. He stated that he witnessed an incident that happened in September 2016 outside the block when Simon shouted abuse at Complainant C and made threats towards him.

3. On 4th November 2016 met with Complainant C to discuss his concerns following the report from another resident. He stated the first incident happened sometime in July 2016, that he cannot remember the exact date. He alleged that he was approached by Mr. Cordell as he came out of his front door and he started shouting abuse at him and threatened to burn down his flat. He alleged that the second incident happened in September 2016. He stated that he was on his way to meet a friend when Mr. Cordell came at him 'ranting and raving' and said to him 'I can get you over at the park, I know you go for a walk'. He stated that two other neighbours witnessed the incident and that one of them told Mr. Cordell to 98, leave him alone. Complainant C also complained that Mr. Cordell have installed a CCTV on the internal communal door and that he believes that he is monitoring his every move. He asked that the camera be removed as it is making him to feel very nervous, vulnerable, and uncomfortable and is an invasion of his privacy.

Dear LEMMY NWABUISI
I am writing this email to say you have stated in your last letter the subject access request has been dealt with, but we are still waiting for the data.
I have asked for the dates these complaints were put in and vet have had nothing about the dates and times.

Could you please forward me a list of dates and times these complaints were put in, and list them in an order like this so we know if more complaints have been put in by one person.

- Complaint from A on date and Time: Body of complaint from A.
- Complaint from B on date and Time: Body of complaint from B.
- Complaint from C on date and time: Body of complaint from C

And it can carry on like this until all complaints are listed. As at this time you have just listed complaints and failed to supply any other information.
If I can get this back today, I would be most grateful, as it has been asked for before.
Also we have said this before more than once on calls and emails, the person's living at 113 and 117 I believe which is the 2 people living on top of mv son, 113 has since he moved in no carpet put down and also his floor broads needs fixing, 117 which is the top floor has laid wooden flooring, due to the wav these flats have no sound proofing in between floors and only wooden flooring due to how they were built, we were thinking this would have already been addressed and has not and the neighbours have been allowed to keep the flooring the way it is, mv son can hear everything and on^ feels nothing has been done as Enfield Council wants mv son health to get worse and also to make him suffer.
As for the date of the 09/02/2017 as stated before until we have had all dates and times and body of complaints and the subject access request, I still do not feel it is justified mv son has a meeting as he will be walking into a meeting only with very limited information, and due to his health which is being caused by his neighbours and Enfield Council doing nothing I feel mv son is on^ being setup due to issues and the colour of mv son's skin. And this is why no one from Enfield council has ever taken a report from him about what has been ongoing form a long time ago.
We want to clear this up as much as you do, but it seems Enfield Council is not fulfilling what we have asked for in order to be able to do this.
Regards
Lorraine Cordell

Dear Mr Cordell,

Re: Allegations of Anti-Social Behaviour, Harassment, Intimidation and Threatening Behaviour

I write with regards to reports of anti-social behaviour, intimidation, harassment and threatening behaviour made against you by your neighbours.

I wrote to you on 29th December 2016 to arrange to meet with you on 6th December 2016 to discuss these reports but you cancelled the meeting. I wrote to you again on 31st January 2017 to arrange to meet with you on 9th February 2017, you also cancelled the meeting. I then wrote to you again on 16th February 2017 to arrange to meet with you on 22nd February 2017 and again you cancelled the meeting. I have enclosed all three letters for your information.

It is unfortunate that you have repeatedly refused to meet with us to discuss this matter and look at ways to resolve the problems between you and your neighbours. The allegations made against you by your neighbours, if true, are very serious breaches of your tenancy conditions. It is important that we meet with you to discuss these allegations and give you the opportunity to respond to them.

I have therefore arranged for you to meet with me at the Civic Centre, Silver Street, Enfield, EN1 3XY at 3pm on Wednesday, 22nd March 2017 to discuss this matter. You should contact me on 02083795354 to rearrange the meeting if this date is not convenient for you.

I visited Mr. Mathiyalagan at 117 Burncroft Avenue to day to look at the flooring following email from Mr. Cordell concerning noise as a result of wood flooring in the flat. He stated that they do not make noise deliberately and that any noise from his flat is household noise. He also stated that as far as he is aware that the person living below them-), we not complained of noise and that he will be the one that will be affected if there are excessive issues from his flat. He also stated that he has asked the man- if they are causing noise disturbances arid he said they are not. He also requested that Mr. Cordell should contact the council if he is being disturbed by noise from his flat instead of harassing him and his family by banging on his front door, shouting abuse at him and his wife, threatening them and confronting them when they come into the block.

Metropolitan Police introduction
Police Officer: hello police what is your reason for calling
Simon: hello I have got important information that I need to tell somebody I would like to speak to a sergeant he is the only person that I will talk to is that possible please
Police Officer: no, I am sorry that is not possible I am afraid
Simon: why is it not.
Police Officer: err you can speak to a police officer which is what I am.
Simon: is there not a is it not possible is there not always an YF inside the police
Police Officer: there is always a what sorry
Simon: is there not like an YF or yah or y1 or something like that that is always behind you or something
Police Officer: I am a bit I am a bit confused sorry
Simon: so, you have, like a ye2 or a CEX SC police officer
Police Officer: you have called 101

Simon: no, I called 0207230 this is the call centre no
Police Officer: yes
Simon: and you are Met cc and Met cc has always has like a superior officer who is in charge of you lot normally or something like that a yah or something like that is it not
Police Officer: no, no
Simon: so, it is just yourself will you deal with
Police Officer: I think what you acutely trying to say from my own experience of being a police office did you say ye2 I take it that you live in Enfield
Simon: yes, that is correct
Police Officer: yes, so what ye2 would be is the petrol sergeant at in Simon: yes, in Edmonton
Police Officer: in Enfield
Simon: and I accept that
Police Officer: the borough of Enfield
Simon: but normally the 999 call centres have a manager a duty manager that is of a higher rank to yourselves yes, it does not matter if you can deal with what I want then you can do that
Police Officer: I am pretty show that I can deal with it
Simon: well basically my name is a Mr. Simon Cordell and who am I speaking to
Police Officer: PC WILLIAMS
Simon: PC WILLIAMS how are you doing basically I phoned up yesterday and I tried to speak to a lady and I put I asked for a cad number in regards to having an investigation put in against police officers I basically I quite upset with what has been going on I have been held hostage in my house because the police tried to set me up a PC Steve Elermore under a Jane Johnson who is a superintendent and there is a couple of others I have their pictures here and the rest of it there is a DUGLOUS SKINNER and you had a sergeant Chile's Miles now they throw an Asbo application outside of my front door this was for the applicant case or the respondent case basically was for the organisation of illegal raves it clearly states that they are illegal I was never arrested for something that is illegal it got taken to court under civil proceedings under a standalone Asbo and basically a standalone Asbo is for civil proceedings now basically it has different rules to here say
Police Officer: did you say your name was Simon.
Simon: yes, that is correct that is a Mr. Simon Cordell
Police Officer: Simon just, hurrah, fuck
Simon: to cut a nut shell to cut it in a nut shell
Police Officer: I need you to be a bit more process
Simon: to cut it in a nut shell I basically put loads of CADS in regards to like when I got the folder, I noticed loads of corruption within the folder and it is not silly corruption its serious corruption and it is holding me hostage in my house I have been given eight years
Police Officer: how can, what is holding you hostage in your house
Simon: all right basically this is what happened in say for instance in America you have freedom of speech when you go outside when you walk outside of your house in this country are human rights are very different we only we have you can cause a public offence in the public if you do something like that yes but in our own home we have the maximum extent to our own ability if we swear in our own home we are a loud to do that and we can ask a police office to leave for instance, with the raves bill this is a very slimier thing the raves bill 1994 that was put against me in side your own home or inside a place of residence trespass must be proven yes now or a commercial business must be proven to make it so that the raves bill can take place inside of somebody's house or place of residence now this was never proved on none of the accounts that I was accused of basically what I have got

I went to court and I stood up for my rights just under them grounds and the principles of the laws and I one the case the respondents case but they gave me an Asbo for five years and I had already done a two year injection prior which is seven years that I had to ride
Police Officer: well, if you won the case.
Simon: well what happened is that they advertised in the newspapers that I was found guilty so they set me up I have got the transcripts of the court case proving from the magistrates proven that I was not found guilty now they have refused to listen I went home because I was so upset because of what they had done to me and I looked into the case papers even more knowing that I never committed the offences now when you call 999 let's say when you get 15,000 calls a day yes now you will get at 12 0 clock you will get the first person get number one next person gets number two and they all run in numeric order now and they all have time stamps besides of them each Cad number will now say cad number five hundred happens every day you can have a time stamp of ten 0 clock now cad number five hundred and forty, 50 latter cannot have a time stamp of nine
Police Officer: Simon sorry Simon
Simon: why are you explaining to me how the 999 call centre works
Police Officer: what are you trying to report today
Simon: because I have got paper work here right now that says pc
Police Officer: what has that got to do with any thing
Simon: what it is if I stole if I told you right now or I told you that someone is stealing a mars bar or a chocolate bar from a shop you would have to send a police officer out to arrest that person for theft for such a minor offence I am telling you that right now that police officers have manufactured and developed evidence and they have put it into a folder and now that folder
Police Officer: what is it you are trying to report today
Simon: I put loads of CADS in regard to loads of corruption loads of police corruption what are on your police computer now I have been told that they cannot be investigated because at the time I had an ongoing case and it would cause produce towards that case that case is now over and what I want is a police officer to come as if I am calling about a mars bar being stolen a criminal offence and I want them to go over the evidence that I have here and do their lines of investigation into these police officers not only like what I was saying cad number 500 every day has a time stamp of ten 0 clock
Police Officer: police officer is not going to come to your house to review evidence that you have collated in regards to these police officers
Simon: no, it is evidence they have wrote and what the problem is if a time stamp is five says five hundred and it has a time stamp of ten 0 clock it is impossible for the cad number five hundred and fifty to have nine 0 clock, I am recording this conversation Mr. PC WILLIAMS

Police Officer:
Simon: now what upsets me even further is that the police have mg11 forms yes which is a witness form
Police Officer: yes, they do
Simon: now them witness forms have statements of truth at the bottom of them yes and now I have got sixteen witness statement form things saying that members of the public were keep up at progress way now each one of them witness statements are not signed
Police Officer: Simon, please give me your point to why you are calling me right now

Simon: because I would like I am in a case of fraud the 2006 act in regards to a police officer and I would like you to come here under the allegations of fraud and I would like the police officer to be arrested under fraud and under harassment to and abuse of power, now these laws exist for crimes actually the same `as what I am explaining to you
[00:07:27] Police Officer: Simon

Police Officer: Simon, Simon stops right there stop talking Simon stop talking
Simon: personal is personal and otherwise is business
Police Officer: are you saying that you want to complain about their police
Simon: no, I am saying that I would like the police officers arrested and I would like to put a line of investigation in about fraud act
Police Officer: that is not going to happen
Simon: why will that not happen if it was a normal person and I told you that they are making fraudulent paper work under the fraudulent act 2006 for their own gain illegal you would come out and arrest that person what makes a police officer so different
Police Officer: silence
Simon: hello
Police Officer: silence
Simon:
Police Officer: right
Simon: what makes a police officer so different no go on
Police Officer: silence
Simon:
Police Officer: I am not going to commit on that

Simon: are you going to protect me
Police Officer: silence
Simon: I from these police officers I cannot even walk down my own home town streets right now because these police officers know that I have this evidence here right now and that I believe that they are going to grab me and set me up even further than they have already set me up
Police Officer: Simon, Simon, Simon, Simon,
Simon;
Police Officer: Simon if you are not going to listen, I will just clear the line.
Simon: I do not want you to just do that I just want somebody to help me and remember why they signed up to be police officers in the first place under there codes of conduct.
Police Officer: Simon you have got two ears you should listen twice as much as you should speak.
Simon: yes, go on ok I will accept that one I will accept that 100% "giggle"`

Police Officer: `
Simon: but I am a man that will listen to reason
Police Officer: silence
Simon: hello
Police Officer: from what you are saying to me you have some sort grievance with the police members of the police because they have taken you to court previously correct yes or no
Simon: no, no, no, what I have got a grievance against the pole are is that they decided to collaborate and fabricate evidence for their own self gain and then
Police Officer: Simon, Simon, Simon
Simon: so that they can have an effect on my way of life and my human right
Police Officer: Simon, Simon
Simon: breaking the 1961
Police Officer: Simon stops talking
Simon: come on you know that I am real
Police Officer: silence
Simon: I cannot walk down my own town street because of these coppers
Police Officer:
Simon: yes, it is not fair
Police Officer: Simon, Simon
Simon: yes, if they were working for me at a festival and they started to do this to other people in a festival I would stand up
Police Officer: I am going to have to clear the line
Simon: Williams you cannot clear the line I am talking to you about something that is important ``
Police Officer: listen to me
Simon: I am asking for you to send a police officer to my address do you know what they done Williams can I explain even further what evidence I have
Police Officer: listen no, no, no, no you can't explain even further what evidence you have because I am telling you if you are trying to, if you wish to complain about police, which you did yesterday didn't you?
Simon: but I asked for a cad number yesterday I have done this sense 2013 I have got the recordings and I was pro missed that the second that the case is over that I can make this phone call now and that you will pick up the Cad numbers on that computer now that are saying that there is a waiting complaint of investigation against the coppers to happen and I want you to follow them now

Simon: I have already made about seven complaints and I have been promised that is I make this phone call once again once this case is over then someone will get sent to my house and these police officers will be investigated
Police Officer: no, no, no, body will be sent to your house
Simon: ok so what have I got to do come to the police station and recorded what is happening there as well and with the evidence that I have got now
Police Officer: Simon, Simon, Simon
Simon: go on
Police Officer:
Simon: I have always liked these officers
Police Officer: are you going to are you going to
Simon: yes
Police Officer: are you going to listen, Simon
Simon: yes, go on

Police Officer: you are claiming that there is corruption in the police force yes or
Simon: yes
Police Officer: just slimily yes or no
Simon: yes
Police Officer: right
Simon;
Police Officer: and you want to complain about pacific officers yes or no
Simon: I do not want to complain I just want a line of investigation followed against the Police Officer: which means you have to complain
Simon: no, I have already complained
Police Officer: silence
Simon: if you check your police computer right now write; 109 Burncroft Avenue in to that computer
Police Officer: Simon, Simon, Simon
Simon: into that computer and see how many times s that has been promised to me
Police Officer: Simon, stop talking and listen to me
[00:11:58] Police Officer: in order for an investigation to take place against police there needs to be a complaint first
Simon: there already is a complaint I have got the Cad numbers and every think for it and I have been promised and I have got the recordings right here like I am recording right here saying the second that it is over the second that my court case over that it will be investigated and if you check my address 109 Burncroft Avenue its

2 Enfield Council Email: - "Dear LEMMY NWABUISI, I'd like to apologise for the late reply to this email, I've just come out of hospital after undergoing two operations and only got released from hospital late on the 17 March 2017 You stated in your letter to Mr. Cordell, that the first letter you wrote was dated 29 December 2016 and that you set a meeting for 6 December 2016 this is incorrect, as the date for the meeting was set for 6 January 2017 yes, this meeting was cancelled, you've then stated you wrote a letter on 31 January 2017 to arrange a meeting for 9 February 2017 this meeting was also cancelled, the reason these two meetings were cancelled was due to the ongoing complaint that was being addressed by Enfield council that still needs addressing but due to the data that came back from the subject access request and it not being completed properly this letter still needs to be reply to, there was also a subject access request that was put in to Enfield Council that we was waiting to be addressed and to receive the data back which as you are aware did take a considerable amount of time, and also the complaint also was delayed in a reply. As stated to you via email we felt it was unjustified to hold a meeting when there was an ongoing complaint, and a subject access request that we were waiting for, as you are aware there are still issues regarding the subject access request, which does need to be addressed. You then stated that she wrote again on 16 February 2017 and arranged a meeting for 22 February 2017 which was also cancelled, but you were also notified there was still issues with the subject access request, and that I had a meeting regarding the issues which was set for the 9 March 2017 I stated to you that I would get back to you with a convenient date for the meeting to take place, but due to illness things have got delayed. You have also stated that it is very unfortunate that there have been repeated refusals to meet in regards to the issues with the neighbors, I feel that this is very misleading we have not refused once to have a meeting with you, but due to ongoing issues meetings have had to be cancelled with a justified reason, so how you can take this as a refusal is beyond me, we have kept you informed at every stage of every letter that you send out giving you reasons as to why the meetings could not take place. Therefore, I do not understand how you can interpret this as a refusal. You will also be aware that my son does have health problems and that he does not leave his flat, not once have you thought in all the letters that you sent out how someone that does not leave his flat is going to be able to attend a meeting at the Civic Centre, therefore I am asking for the meeting to take place at Mr. Cordell's home address, due to Mr. Cordell's health, arrangements will need to be made that someone is at the meeting with Mr. Cordell, and under no circumstances will Mr. Cordell be addressing the issues while he is on his own. You have also stated that if Mr. Cordell does not attend or set a new date that you will be putting an application seeking possession of his home, it seems that Enfield Council have already made their mind up that Mr. Cordell is guilty of what has been alleged in the complaints, you also state that if any further allegations are made against Mr. Cordell that you can take legal action, since your last update with the dates has there been any more allegations against Mr. Cordell? Next week I have a number of hospital appointments so it will really be hard to do the 22 March 2017 if you could get back to me with some dates that the meeting can take place at Mr. Cordell's home address, I would be most grateful or if there is any problem with this, please let me know."

3 Enfield Council Email: To LEMMY NWABUISI / Re: Antisocial Behaviour Allegations against Mr. Simon Cordell [SEC=OFFICIAL] Time 14:08 - "Dear LEMMY NWABUISI, I'd like to apologise for the late reply to this email, I've just come out of hospital after undergoing two operations and only got released from hospital late on the 17 March 2017. You stated in your letter to Mr. Cordell, that the first letter you wrote was dated 29 December 2016, and that you set a meeting for 6 December 2016 this is incorrect, as the date for the meeting was set for 6 January 2017, yes this meeting was cancelled, you've then stated you wrote a letter on 31 January 2017 to arrange a meeting for 9 February 2017, this meeting was also cancelled, the reason these two meetings were cancelled was due to the ongoing complaint that was being addressed by Enfield council that still needs addressing but due to the data that came back from the subject access request and it not being completed properly this letter still needs to be reply to, there was also a subject access request that was put in to Enfield Council that we were waiting to be addressed and to receive the data back which as you are aware did take a considerable amount of time, and also the complaint also was delayed in a reply. As stated to you via email we felt it was unjustified to hold a meeting when there was an ongoing complaint, and a subject access request that we were waiting for, as you are aware there are still issues regarding the subject access request, which does need to be addressed. You then stated that she wrote again on 16 February 2017 and arranged a meeting for 22 February 2017 which was also cancelled, but you were also notified there was still issues with the subject access request, and that I had a meeting regarding the issues which was set for the 9 March 2017, I stated to you that I would get back to you with a convenient date for the meeting to take place, but due to illness things have got delayed. You have also stated that it is very unfortunate that there have been repeated refusals to meet in regards to the issues with the neighbors, I feel that this is very misleading we have not refused once to have a meeting with you, but due to ongoing issues meetings have had to be cancelled with a justified reason, so how you can take this as a refusal is beyond me, we have kept you informed at every stage of every letter that you send out giving your reason's as to why the meetings could not take place. Therefore, I do not understand how you can interpret this as a refusal. You will also be aware that my son does have health problems and that he does not leave his flat, not once have you thought in all the letters that you sent out how someone that does not leave his flat is going to be able to attend a meeting at the Civic Centre, therefore I am asking for the meeting to take place at Mr. Cordell's home address, due to Mr. Cordell's health, arrangements will need to be made that someone is at the meeting with Mr. Cordell, and under no circumstances will Mr. Cordell be addressing the issues while he is on his own. You have also stated that if Mr. Cordell does not attend or set a new date that you will be putting an application seeking possession of his home, it seems that Enfield Council have already made their mind up that Mr. Cordell is guilty of what has been alleged in the complaints, you also state that if any further allegations are made against Mr. Cordell that you can take legal action, since your last update with the dates has there been any more allegations against Mr. Cordell? Next week I have a number of hospital appointments so it will really be hard to do the 22 March 2017, if you could get back to me with some dates that the meeting can take place at Mr. Cordell's home address, I would be most grateful. or if there is any problem with this, please let me know. Regards."

Dear LEMMY NWABUISI

I'd like to apologise for the late reply to this email, I've just come out of hospital after undergoing two operations and only got released from hospital late on the 17 March 2017. You stated in your letter to Mr. Cordell, that the first letter you wrote was dated 29 December 2016, and that you set a meeting for 6 December 2016 this is incorrect, as the date for the meeting was set for 6 January 2017, yes this meeting was cancelled, you've then stated you wrote a letter on 31 January 2017 to arrange a meeting for 9 February 2017, this meeting was also cancelled, the reason these two meetings were cancelled was due to the ongoing complaint that was being addressed by Enfield council that still needs addressing but due to the data that came back from the subject access request and it not being completed properly this letter still needs to be reply to, there was also a subject access request that was put in to Enfield Council that we were waiting to be addressed and to receive the data back which as you are aware did take a considerable amount of time, and also the complaint also was delayed in a reply. Complainant, follow on action from 20/03/2017: I visited 109 Burncroft Avenue on 17/03/2017 to hand deliver to post a letter through Mr. Cordell's door and as I got into my car to drive off after posting the letter, Mr. Cordell ran after me shouting and screaming abuse. I did not stop to speak to him, and he ran after me until I turned left into Green Street. As he was running after my car, he was shouting at people passing by to stop the car. By the time I returned to the office, Mr. Cordell had telephoned me several times. I telephoned him back and he wanted to know whether I was the person that posted a letter through his letterbox and I said yes. He asked why I did not stop when he ran after me and I told him that I had another visit and did not have the time to stop and talk to him. He stated that he will not attend the meeting at the Civic Centre or any of the council and that I should come to his flat. I offered to have the meeting at a neutral venue like the local library or even at his mother's house, but he refused and shouted to shout abuse and accuse me of taking sides with his neighbours. He denied doing the things that he is accused of doing and stated that he is the victim and that the council have refused to deal with his complaints against his neighbours. He stated that he has been suffering noise disturbances from his neighbours since he moved into his flat and that the council have refused to deal with it. He alleged that the council is conniving with the police to victimise him and threatened to put in a complaint - against me, He continued shouting abuse and will not let me say a word, I then advised him that I will have to terminate the conversation as we were getting nowhere."

I interviewed the Complainant. He reported that the issues have been ongoing for about 18 months (He, his wife and daughter have lived at Burncroft Avenue in temporary accommodation provided by Waltham Forest DC for 2.5yrs). Please see attached notes of interview - The complainant is really frightened for his family - Mr. Cordell is very aggressive and has previously kicked him in the nose/face and threatened to hit him with a piece of wood; his wife is so scared that she accompanies him to work and waits in the car with their daughter for his shifts.

I visited Mr. Mathiyalagan at 117 Burncroft Avenue to day to look at the flooring following email from Mr. Cordell concerning noise as a result of wood flooring in the flat. I noticed that there is laminate flooring in the whole flat and ceramic tiles in the kitchen. Mr. Mathiyalagan stated that the flooring was already in the flat when they moved in. He stated that they do not make noise deliberately and that any noise from his flat is household noise. He also stated that as far as he is aware that the person living below them-), we not complained of noise and that he will be the one that will be affected if there are excessive issues from his flat. He also stated that he has asked the man- if they are causing noise disturbances arid he said they are not. He also requested that Mr. Cordell should contact the council if he is being disturbed by noise from his flat instead of harassing him and his family by banging on his front door, shouting abuse at him and his wife, threatening them and confronting them when they come into the block.
I informed him that laminate flooring can generate some noise and to be mindful of his neighbours while walking around inside his flat-
I then went and knocked at flat 113 but there was no response.

I visited 109 Burncroft Avenue on 17/03/2017 to hand deliver to post a letter through Mr. Cordell's door and as I got into my car to drive off after posting the letter, Mr. Cordell ran after me shouting and screaming abuse. I did not stop to speak to him, and he ran after me until I turned left into Green Street. As he was running after my car, he was shouting at people passing by to stop the car.
By the time I returned to the office, Mr. Cordell had telephoned me several times. I telephoned him back and he wanted to know whether I was the person that posted a letter through his letterbox, and I said yes. He asked why I did not stop when he ran after me, and I told him that I had another visit and did not have the time to stop and talk to him. He stated that he will not attend the meeting at the Civic Centre or any of the council and that I should come to his flat. I offered to have the meeting at a neutral venue like the local library or even at his mother's house, but he refused and shouted to shout abuse and accuse me of taking sides with his neighbours. He denied doing the things that he is accused of doing and stated that he is the victim and that the council have refused to deal with his complaints against his neighbours. He stated that he has been suffering noise disturbances from his neighbours since he moved into his flat and that the council have refused to deal with it. He alleged that the council is conniving with the police to victimise him and threatened to put in a complaint - against me, He continued shouting abuse and will not let me say a word, I then advised him that I will have to terminate the conversation as we were getting nowhere.

I sorry to hear learn that you have been unwell, I wish you speedy recovery. The first letter I wrote to Mr. Cordell was dated 29 November 2016 and not 29 December so apologies for the mistake and the first meeting were 6 December 2016 and not 6 January 2017 as you stated in your email below. I am not aware that Mr. Cordell is unable to leave his flat due to health reasons as he has not provided us with a letter from his Doctor to support this claim. Also, when Mr. Cordell telephoned me on 17 February 2017 following my letter to him dated 16 February 2017, he informed me that he will not come to the Civic Centre or the council offices in Edmonton Green because there are gang members looking for him in these areas. I cannot recall him saying anything about him not being able to leave his flat due to health reasons. Also, Mr. Cordell chased my car down the road when I went to deliver my last letter to his flat on 17 March 2017, this is not the attitude of someone who cannot leave his flat for health reasons. I am inviting Mr. Cordell to a formal meeting to discuss the allegations made against him and due to the serious nature of the allegations, the meeting will have been held in the council offices with a minute taker present. However, if Mr. Cordell presents a letter from his doctor stating that he is unable to leave his flat for health reason, then we can discuss an alternative venue. Dear LEMMY NWABUISI
I have enclosed 2 letters that could help to show my son won't leave his flat he had a DWP assessment, and a letter had to be written to his GP to ask if the GP could write a letter to get a home assessment, please see both letters. It will also be noted on his file under the mental health team he won't leave his flat. And I cannot understand how you said on the phone today that you knew nothing on my son's health, as clearly it is in the limited subject access request, I got from Enfield Council under the ASB teams' information as you requested if he was known to the mental health team. Dear Ms. Cordell, Thanks for your email. I sorry to hear learn that you have been unwell, I wish you speedy recovery. The first letter I wrote to Mr. Cordell was dated 29 November 2016 and not 29 December so apologies for the mistake and the first meeting were 6 December 2016 and not 6 January 2017 as you stated in your email below. I am not aware that Mr. Cordell is unable to leave his flat due to health reasons as he has not provided us with a letter from his Doctor to support this claim. Also, when Mr. Cordell telephoned me on 17 February 2017 following my letter to him dated 16 February 2017, he informed me that he will not come to the Civic Centre or the council offices in Edmonton Green because there are gang members looking for him in these areas. I cannot recall him saying anything about him not being able to leave his flat due to health reasons. Also, Mr. Cordell chased my car down the road when I went to deliver my last letter to his flat on 17 March 2017, this is not the attitude of someone who cannot leave his flat for health reasons. I am inviting Mr. Cordell to a formal meeting to discuss the allegations made against him and due to the serious nature of the allegations, the meeting will have been held in the council offices with a minute taker present. However, if Mr. Cordell presents a letter from his doctor stating that he is unable to leave his flat for health reason, then we can discuss an alternative venue. I am happy for Mr. Cordell to bring someone with him to the meeting.

I'd like to apologise for the late reply to this email, I've just come out of hospital after undergoing two operations and only got released from hospital late on the 17 March 2017. Dear LEMMY NWABUISI
I'd like to apologise for the late reply to this email, I've just come out of hospital after undergoing two operations and only got released from hospital late on the 17 March 2017. You stated in your letter to Mr. Cordell, that the first letter you wrote was dated 29 December 2016, and that you set a meeting for 6 December 2016 this is incorrect, as the date for the meeting was set for 6 January 2017, yes this meeting was cancelled, you've then stated you wrote a letter on 31 January 2017 to arrange a meeting for 9 February 2017, this meeting was also cancelled, the reason these two meetings were cancelled was due to the ongoing complaint that was being addressed by Enfield council that still needs addressing but due to the data that came back from the subject access request and it not being completed properly this letter still needs to be reply to, there was also a subject access request that was put in to Enfield Council that we was waiting to be addressed and to receive the data back which as you are aware did take a considerable amount of time, and also the complaint also was delayed in a reply. As stated to you via email we felt it was unjustified to hold a meeting when there was an ongoing complaint, and a subject access request that we were waiting for, as you are aware there are still issues regarding the subject access request, which does need to be addressed. You then stated that she wrote again on 16 February 2017 and arranged a meeting for 22 February 2017 which was also cancelled, but you was also notified there was still issues with the subject access request, and that I had a meeting regarding the issues which was set for the 9 March 2017, I stated to you that I would get back to you with a convenient date for the meeting to take place, but due to illness things have got delayed. You have also stated that it is very unfortunate that there have been repeated refusals to meet in regards to the issues with the neighbours, I feel that this is very misleading we have not refused once to have a meeting with you, but due to ongoing issues meetings have had to be cancelled with a justified reason, so how you can take this as a refusal is beyond me, we have kept you informed at every stage of every letter that you send out giving you reasons as to why the meetings could not take place. Therefore, I do not understand how you can interpret this as a refusal. You will also be aware that my son does have health problems and that he does not leave his flat, not once have you thought in all the letters that you sent out how someone that does not leave his flat is going to be able to attend a meeting at the Civic Centre, therefore I am asking for the meeting to take place at Mr. Cordell's home address, due to Mr. Cordell's health, arrangements will need to be made that someone is at the meeting with Mr. Cordell, and under no circumstances will Mr. Cordell be addressing the issues while he is on his own. You have also stated that if Mr. Cordell does not attend or set a new date that you will be putting an application seeking possession of his home, it seems that Enfield Council have already made their mind up that Mr. Cordell is guilty of what has been alleged in the complaints, you also state that if any further allegations are made against Mr. Cordell that you can take legal action, since your last update with the dates has there been any more allegations against Mr. Cordell?

Next week I have a number of hospital appointments so it will really be hard to do the 22 March 2017, if you could get back to me with some dates that the meeting can take place at Mr. Cordell's home address, I would be most grateful. or if there is any problem with this please let me know.

You stated in your letter to Mr. Cordell, that the first letter you wrote was dated 29 December 2016, and that you set a meeting for 6 December 2016 this is incorrect, as the date for the meeting was set for 6 January 2017, yes this meeting was cancelled, you've then
stated you wrote a letter on 31 January 2017 to arrange a meeting for 9 February 2017, this meeting was also cancelled, the reason these two meetings were cancelled was due to the ongoing complaint that was being addressed by Enfield council that still needs addressing but due to the data that came back from the subject access request and it not being completed properly this letter still needs to be reply to, there was also a subject access request that was put in to Enfield Council that we was waiting to be addressed and to receive the data back which as you are aware did take a considerable amount of time, and also the complaint also was delayed in a reply. As stated to you via email we felt it was unjustified to hold a meeting when there was an ongoing complaint, and a subject access request that we was waiting for, as you are aware there are still issues regarding the subject access request, which does need to be addressed.

You then stated that she wrote again on 16 February 2017 and arranged a meeting for 22 February 2017 which was also cancelled, but you was also notified there was still issues with the subject access request, and that I had a meeting regarding the issues which was set for the 9 March 2017, I stated to you that I would get back to you with a convenient date for the meeting to take place, but due to illness things have got delayed.
You have also stated that it is very unfortunate that there have been repeated refusals to meet in regards to the issues with the neighbours, I feel that this is very misleading we have not refused once to have a meeting with you, but due to ongoing issues meetings have had to be cancelled with a justified reason, so how you can take this as a refusal is beyond me, we have kept you informed at every stage of every letter that you send out giving you reasons as to why the meetings could not take place. Therefore, I do not understand how you can interpret this as a refusal.
You will also be aware that my son does have health problems and that he does not leave his flat, not once have you thought in all the letters that you sent out how someone that does not leave his flat is going to be able to attend a meeting at the Civic Centre, therefore I am asking for the meeting to take place at Mr. Cordell's home address, due to Mr. Cordell's health, arrangements will need to be made that someone is at the meeting with Mr. Cordell, and under no circumstances will Mr. Cordell be addressing the issues while he is on his own.
You have also stated that if Mr. Cordell does not attend or set a new date that you will be putting an application seeking possession of his home, it seems that Enfield Council have already made their mind up that Mr. Cordell is guilty of what has been alleged in the complaints, you also state that if any further allegations are made against Mr. Cordell that you can take legal action, since your last update with the dates has there been any more allegations against Mr. Cordell?
Next week I have a number of hospital appointments so it will really be hard to do the 22 March 2017, if you could get back to me with some dates that the meeting can take place at Mr. Cordell's home address, I would be most grateful. or if there is any problem with this please let me know.
Regards
Miss L Cordell

Dear LEMMY NWABUISI, I will get back to you with a date.
But I am very upset at what is on file within the subject access request it seems as if you put everything onto Mr. Cordell and large amounts of data is missing.
Like the information about Deborah Andrews this is incorrect, and the only reason we have found out about this is due to the subject access request.
But there are lots of emails that are missing that I sent about Deborah Andrews and what the neighbours were doing, that are dated before any complaints went in from Deborah Andrews and the neighbours. yet nothing was done for Mr. Cordell about this.
Also, there is missing dates and times of complaints, as to when things were meant to have happened and what time they were meant to have happened why?
I do have many issues, with the report and why no emails are in the subject access request that was put in by me that are dated well before the neighbours put complaints in yet Enfield Council done nothing about this, there is also no phone calls I made or my son made, but as soon as the neighbours put complaints in these were taken up right away by Enfield Council.
I will get back to you with a date I am due to see someone on the 09/03/2017 when I will be showing them all the information. So, it will need to be after this date. Dionne Grant has also got until the 02/03/2017 to deal with the subject access request and if I have not heard anything by this date, I will pass this on to the ICO.

Dear Ms. Cordell,
Thanks for your email.
Could you please confirm when you and Mr. Cordell are able to meet with me within the next 14 days? As stated in my previous letters, the allegations are serious breach of tenancy conditions and we need to give Mr. Cordell the opportunity to respond to them before a decision is made on how to proceed.

I am sorry for the late information, but we will not be able to attend today at 2.30pm on Wednesday 22nd February 2017 due to private family reasons.
I am also very upset to see how the subject access request has been handled, as I said to you last week, I have not had use of my main computer due to work being carried out on my home. I have sent Dionne Grant giving 14 days or I will take it to the ICO and have not had a reply yet to the email I sent.

[SEC=OFFICIAL]
Classification: OFFICIAL Dear Ms. Cordell,
Please see below as requested the details of recent allegations made against Mr. Simon Cordell. I have listed the complainants as Complainant A, B and C.

1. On 6th August 2016 Complainant A reported that Simon Cordell, his neighbour at flat 109 is threatening him and his wife and aggressively demanding money from him. He alleged that Mr. Cordell called his wife 'a bitch' and tried to stop him from going up the stairs to his flat. He also alleged that in July 2016, someone used a knife to puncture his tyres, all 4 of them, that he believes that the tyres were slashed by Simon, that although he did not see Simon do it but he was quite certain that it was him. He also alleged that Mr. Cordell damaged the lock to his electric cupboard and removed his fuse box resulting in no electricity.
2. On 5th October 2016 Complainant B reported that Mr. Cordell has been harassing him for a while in relation to alleged noise disturbances from his flat. He alleged that the previous day on 4/10/16, Simon was banging on his ceiling and later came upstairs and started kicking his door and shouting aggressively. He alleged that Simon then went downstairs dragged his motorbike from where he parked it and started smashing it up. He then called the police. He also stated that Mr. Cordell had previously slashed his motorbike tyres with a knife, that he did not report it as he did not see him do it.
3. On 31st October 2016 telephone call received from another resident on behalf of Complainant C. He alleged that Complainant C's neighbour, Simon was using threatening, abusive, and insulting words towards Complainant C. He stated that he witnessed an incident that happened in September 2016 outside the block when Simon shouted abuse at Complainant C and made threats towards him.
4. On 4th November 2016 met with Complainant C to discuss his concerns following the report from another resident. He stated the first incident happened sometime in July 2016, that he cannot remember the exact date. He alleged that he was approached by Mr. Cordell as he came out of his front door and he started shouting abuse at him and threatened to burn down his flat. He alleged that the second incident happened in September 2016. He stated that he was on his way to meet a friend when Mr. Cordell came at him 'ranting and raving' and said to him 'I can get you over at the park, I know you go for a walk'. He stated that two other neighbours witnessed the incident and that one of them told Mr. Cordell to leave him alone. Complainant C also complained that Mr. Cordell have installed a CCTV on the internal communal door and that he believes that he is monitoring his every move. Dear LEMMY NWABUISI

I am writing this email to say you have stated in your last letter the subject access request has been dealt with, but we are still waiting for the data.
I have asked for the dates these complaints were put in and yet have had nothing about the dates and times.
Could you please forward me a list of dates and times these complaints were put in, and list them in an order like this so we know if more complaints have been put in by one person.

1. Complaint from A on date and Time: Body of complaint from A.

2. Complaint from B on date and Time: Body of complaint from B.
3. Complaint from C on date and time: Body of complaint from C

And it can carry on like this until all complaints are listed. As at this time you have just listed complaints and failed to supply any other information.
If I can get this back today, I would be most grateful, as it has been asked for before.
Also, we have said this before more than once on calls and emails, the person's living at 113 and 117 I believe which is the 2 people living on top of my son, 113 has since he moved in no carpet put down and also his floor broads need fixing, 117 which is the top floor has laid wooden flooring, due to the way these flats have no sound proofing in between floors and only wooden flooring due to how they were built, we were thinking this would have already been addressed and has not and the neighbours have been allowed to keep the flooring the way it is, my son can hear everything and only feels nothing has been done as Enfield Council wants my son health to get worse and also to make him suffer.
As for the date of the 09/02/2017 as stated before until we have had all dates and times and body of complaints and the subject access request, I still do not feel it is justified my son has a meeting as he will be walking into a meeting only with very limited information, and due to his health, which is being caused by his neighbours and Enfield Council doing nothing I feel my son is only being setup due to issues and the colour of my son's skin. And this is why no one from Enfield council has ever taken a report from him about what has been ongoing form a long time ago.
We want to clear this up as much as you do, but it seems Enfield Council is not fulfilling what we have asked for in order to be able to do this.
Regards
Lorraine Cordell

Dear Ms. Cordell,
Thanks for your email.
I sorry to hear learn that you have been unwell, I wish you speedy recovery.
The first letter I wrote to Mr. Cordell was dated 29 November 2016 and not 29 December so apologies for the mistake and the first meeting was 6 December 2016 and not 6 January 2017 as you stated in your email below.
I am not aware that Mr. Cordell is unable to leave his flat due to health reasons as he has not provided us with a letter from his Doctor to support this claim. Also, when Mr. Cordell telephoned me on 17 February 2017 following my letter to him dated 16 February 2017, he informed me that he will not come to the Civic Centre or the council offices in Edmonton Green because there are gang members looking for him in these areas. I cannot recall him saying anything about him not being able to leave his flat due to health reasons. Also, Mr. Cordell chased my car down the road when I went to deliver my last letter to his flat on 17 March 2017, this is not the attitude of someone who cannot leave his flat for health reasons.
I am inviting Mr. Cordell to a formal meeting to discuss the allegations made against him and due to the serious nature of the allegations, the meeting will have been held in the council offices with a minute taker present. However, if Mr. Cordell presents a letter from his doctor stating that he is unable to leave his flat for health reason, then we can discuss an alternative venue. I am happy for Mr. Cordell to bring someone with him to the meeting.

Dear LEMMY NWABUISI
I'd like to apologise for the late reply to this email, I've just come out of hospital after undergoing two operations and only got released from hospital late on the 17 March 2017.
You stated in your letter to Mr. Cordell, that the first letter you wrote was dated 29 December 2016, and that you set a meeting for 6 December 2016 this is incorrect, as the date for the meeting was set for 6 January 2017, yes, this meeting was cancelled, you've then stated you wrote a letter on 31 January 2017 to arrange a meeting for 9 February 2017, this meeting was also cancelled, the reason these two meetings were cancelled was due to the ongoing complaint that was being addressed by Enfield council that still needs addressing but due to the data that came back from the subject access request and it not being completed properly this letter still needs to be reply to, there was also a subject access request that was put in to Enfield Council that we was waiting to be addressed and to receive the data back which as you are aware did take a considerable amount of time, and also the complaint also was delayed in a reply. As stated to you via email we felt it was unjustified to hold a meeting when there was an ongoing complaint, and a subject access request that we were waiting for, as you are aware there are still issues regarding the subject access request, which does need to be addressed.

You then stated that she wrote again on 16 February 2017 and arranged a meeting for 22 February 2017 which was also cancelled, but you were also notified there was still issues with the subject access request, and that I had a meeting regarding the issues which was set for the 9 March 2017, I stated to you that I would get back to you with a convenient date for the meeting to take place, but due to illness things have got delayed.
You have also stated that it is very unfortunate that there have been repeated refusals to meet in regards to the issues with the neighbours, I feel that this is very misleading we have not refused once to have a meeting with you, but due to ongoing issues meetings have had to be cancelled with a justified reason, so how you can take this as a refusal is beyond me, we have kept you informed at every stage of every letter that you send out giving you reasons as to why the meetings could not take place. Therefore, I do not understand how you can interpret this as a refusal.
You will also be aware that my son does have health problems and that he does not leave his flat, not once have you thought in all the letters that you sent out how someone that does not leave his flat is going to be able to attend a meeting at the Civic Centre, therefore I am asking for the meeting to take place at Mr. Cordell's home address, due to Mr. Cordell's health, arrangements will need to be made that someone is at the meeting with Mr. Cordell, and under no circumstances will Mr. Cordell be addressing the issues while he is on his own.
You have also stated that if Mr. Cordell does not attend or set a new date that you will be putting an application seeking possession of his home, it seems that Enfield Council have already made their mind up that Mr. Cordell is guilty of what has been alleged in the complaints, you also state that if any further allegations are made against Mr. Cordell that you can take legal action, since your last update with the dates has there been any more allegations against Mr. Cordell?
Next week I have a number of hospital appointments so it will really be hard to do the 22 March 2017, if you could get back to me with some dates that the meeting can take place at Mr. Cordell's home address, I would be most grateful. or if there is any problem with this please let me know.
Regards
Miss L Cordell

Dear LEMMY NWABUISI, I will get back to you with a date.
But I am very upset at what is on file within the subject access request it seems as if you put everything onto Mr. Cordell and large amounts of data is missing.
Like the information about Deborah Andrews this is incorrect, and the only reason we have found out about this is due to the subject access request.
But there are lots of emails that are missing that I sent about Deborah Andrews and what the neighbours were doing, that are dated before any complaints went in from Deborah Andrews and the neighbours. yet nothing was done for Mr. Cordell about this.
Also, there is missing dates and times of complaints, as to when things were meant to have happened and what time they were meant to have happened why?
I do have many issues, with the report and why no emails are in the subject access request that was put in by me that are dated well before the neighbours put complaints in yet Enfield Council done nothing about this, there is also no phone calls I made or my son made, but as soon as the neighbours put complaints in these were taken up right away by Enfield Council.
I will get back to you with a date I am due to see someone on the 09/03/2017 when I will be showing them all the information. So, it will need to be after this date. Dionne Grant has also got until the 02/03/2017 to deal with the subject access request and if I have not heard anything by this date, I will pass this on to the ICO.

Lorraine Cordell

Dear Ms. Cordell,
Thanks for your email.
Could you please confirm when you and Mr. Cordell are able to meet with me within the next 14 days? As stated in my previous letters, the allegations are serious breach of tenancy conditions and we need to give Mr. Cordell the opportunity to respond to them before a decision is made on how to proceed.

Dear LEMMY NWABUISI
I am writing this email to say you have stated in your last letter the subject access request has been dealt with, but we are still waiting for the data.
I have asked for the dates these complaints were put in and yet have had nothing about the dates and times.
Could you please forward me a list of dates and times these complaints were put in, and list them in an order like this so we know if more complaints have been put in by one person.
1. Complaint from A on date and Time: Body of complaint from A.
121,
2. Complaint from B on date and Time: Body of complaint from B.
3. Complaint from C on date and time: Body of complaint from C

And it can carry on like this until all complaints are listed. As at this time you have just listed complaints and failed to supply any other information.
If I can get this back today, I would be most grateful, as it has been asked for before.
Also, we have said this before more than once on calls and emails, the person's living at 113 and 117 I believe which is the 2 people living on top of my son, 113 has since he moved in no carpet put down and also his floor broads need fixing, 117 which is the top floor has laid wooden flooring, due to the way these flats have no sound proofing in between floors and only wooden flooring due to how they were built, we were thinking this would have already been addressed and has not and the neighbours have been allowed to keep the flooring the way it is, my son can hear everything and only feels nothing has been done as Enfield Council wants my son health to get worse and also to make him suffer.
As for the date of the 09/02/2017 as stated before until we have had all dates and times and body of complaints and the subject access request, I still do not feel it is justified my son has a meeting as he will be walking into a meeting only with very limited information, and due to his health, which is being caused by his neighbours and Enfield Council doing nothing I feel my son is only being setup due to issues and the colour of my son's skin. And this is why no one from Enfield council has ever taken a report from him about what has been ongoing form a long time ago.
We want to clear this up as much as you do, but it seems Enfield Council is not fulfilling what we have asked for in order to be able to do this.
Regards
Lorraine Cordell

Disrepair!

If what they do to me finally kills me then it would also kill a lot of other people in the process!
The level of service provided by the Enfield Council and the Enfield Homes teams staff is truly inadequate to the sufficient need services required, for an example when the staff are using the available granted money that comes from the community repair chest budget that gets granted for repairs they do no manage maintain and distribute the selfless cash within the relevant emergency sectors of highest priorities to a reasonable standard and in a practical time scale, as my rented council flats conditions are of the highest priorities but still continues to suffer alongside myself, once I had applied for the staff to initialize the capital and reasonable persons to rectify the repairs need, so to fix my home in a relevant time period and to a professional standard!

Dear Abigail Akano
I am writing this email to see if I can get an update, I have received two letters of refusal for Mr. Simon Cordell and Mr. Tyrone Benjamin which have now been sent over to the ICO to address. Am I tried to call today to get some information in regards to my own application and my daughters Deon Benjamin and was told to write this email? Could you please be possible to get an update if reference number 2017020000326 Miss Lorraine Cordell is a refusal as I have had no letters yet to confirm this?
Could you also please confirm an update me in regards to reference number 2017020000328 Miss Deon Benjamin and also confirm if this is also a refusal as I have had no letter in regards to this?
I'm unsure if my own subject access request is still being dealt with all my daughters Deon Benjamin, I'd be most grateful for an update as if letters have been sent and in regards to refusals to these two-subject access requests then I have not received them.

I was told that a letter was going to be sent out stating that the way in which I have filed the subject access

I said to the lady how can we give you dates there is to many of them, far too many for us to remember as this is going back over 23 years of data we have requested, as we want all data that is held about us by police. This is when the lady said that she will send me a letter stating I had to update my request. Could the lady please be asked who called me today if this letter can be sent via my email. I have spoken to the ICO explained what has been said and even the lady cannot believe I am being asked to supply 23 years of dates, and can it also be confirmed if this is a refusal of the 4 subject access request that have been submitted. We want to move this forward, and we have the right to the information that is being held on us, all of it, dates should not be needed as we would like all information.

27. On EE.
12th July 2017
Mr. Neville Gary, the Claimants repairs surveyor attended. the Defendant's flat to investigate reports of low water pressure to the flats above the Defendant's flat but the Defendant refused him access. Mr.-Neville Gary attended the Defendant's flat again at about 5:39pm following reports from the leaseholder of flat 117 Burncroft House that the water supply had stopped completely but the Defendant also refused him access.
The Defendant later shouted abuse and swear words at Mr. Gary and would not allow him to approach his car.
Mr. Gary has provided a witness statement in relation to this incident.
28. The Defendant is in breach of the following conditions of his tenancy agreement;
Condition 10 - "You must not act in any way which causes, or is likely to cause, a 'nuisance or annoyance or is anti-social."

NN.
December 2016
The Defendant has· admitted to restricting the water supply but has refused to allow the Claimant's maintenance operatives access to his property to investigate and rectify the problem.
32. The Defendant has intimidated the residents in the entire block and because of his Behaviour, we have received numerous complaints from residents, requests to be transferred from the block and we have had to move a vulnerable tenant from the block.
33. I have made attempts to engage with the Defendant, but he has not been cooperative and has continuously displayed abusive and threatening Behaviour. towards the Claimant's members of staff and his neighbors. A Notice of Seeking. Possession has been served to him and possession action is being considered.
However, in the meantime, this injunction is required to ensure that the other residents are not subjected to further intimidation and harassment by the Defendant. This application is being made without notice because if the Defendant were given notice, he would intimidate the witnesses in an attempt to prevent the order being made.

DIRECTIONS ORDER

36. I make this Witness Statement in support of the Claimant's application for an injunction to stop the Defendant from causing intimidation, harassment and alarm to other residents and their visitors on Burncroft Avenue.

37. The Defendant is a secure tenant of the Claimant at 109 Burncroft Avenue, Enfield, Middlesex, EN3 7JQ. His tenancy commenced on 14th August 2006. I hereby attach a bundle of documents relating to this case as exhibit number LN1. A copy of the Defendant's tenancy agreement and terms and conditions are hereby attached at pages 1-24.

38. The reports concerning the Defendant's alleged anti-social behaviour towards his neighbours was first brought to my attention in October 2016 when a case involving the Defendant and one of his neighbours was referred to me for investigation. The Defendant was reported to have caused frequent acts of harassment and anti-social behaviour against an elderly neighbour. The Defendant was arrested by the Police and bailed to a different address. The matter was referred to the Highbury Corner Magistrates' Court on 05 October 2016 where a first hearing took place. The Defendant pleaded not guilty, and the trial was fixed for 17 November 2016. However, the trial did not proceed due to insufficient support as the elderly tenant was unable to attend Court due to health reasons. A copy of a letter from the Magistrate Court is attached to this statement at pages 25-26.

39. A file note of this report is exhibited at pages 28-30 of the exhibit bundle LN1.

41. On 8th August 2016, Mr. Mathiyalagan reported that the Defendant aggressively banged on his front door, shouted abuse at him and his wife and accused them of making noise. Mr. Mathiyalagan reported to us that he believes that the Defendant used a screwdriver to damage the lock on his meter cupboard and removed the fuse box thereby cutting off their electricity supply. Mr. Mathiyalagan reported this incident to the police and was given reference number CAD 7934/August 2016. A file note of this report is exhibited at pages 28-30 of the exhibit bundle.

continued that sometime around mid-September 2016, one of the Defendant's neighbours reported that the Defendant confronted him outside his block as he was going to the local park and started to shout abuse and threats at him and said to him "I can get you over at the park, I know you go for a walk". This incident led to his arrest and to the matter being referred to the Magistrates Court. A file note of the report is exhibited on page 31 of the exhibit bundle LN1.

45. I had meetings with Mr. George Quinton, one of the Defendant's neighbours on 16th December 2016 and 11th January 2017. He reported that he was experiencing problems with the Defendant's behaviour, and that on 4th October 2016, the Defendant aggressively banged on his ceiling and accused him of making noise. The Defendant then went to the neighbour's flat upstairs and started kicking and banging on the front door and was swearing and shouting at. him. The Defendant later went downstairs, dragged the neighbour's motorbike from where it was parked and started to hit it with a piece of wood. A file note of the report is at pages 32-34 of the exhibit bundle.

46. On 22nd November 2016, during a telephone conversation with my former colleague Ms. Sarah Fletcher, the Defendant was heard saying to his mother, who was present with him, 'I'm goanna do her over, I'm goanna take her job just for fun' referring to Ms. Fletcher. A file note of the incident is at page 34A of the exhibit bundle.

47. I hereby attach a case history detailing incidents of reports from Mr. Mathiyalagan about the abuse, threats and persistent intimidation by the Defendant. The case history is at pages 35 to 40 of the exhibit bundle LN1. It shows that Mr. Mathiyalagan reported incidents too numerous to set out in this statement about abuse, threats, attempts to extort money and intimidation by the Defendant. Examples are that the Defendant banged on his front door while his wife was alone at home with their young daughter and shouted abuse at his wife and asked her to turn off the bathroom taps. He also removed his electricity fuse thereby cutting off their power supply. Mr. Mathiyalagan reported the incident to the police and was given CAD 5753/23 December 2016. A file note of this incident is at page 37 of the exhibit bundle.

48. Other examples of aggressive and anti-social behaviour reported by Mr. Mathiyalagan were that on 21st January 2017, the Defendant aggressively banged on his door, swore and shouted abuse and threats at him and his family and accused them of making noise.

49. On 9th June 2017, the Defendant attacked Mr. Mathiyalagan's cousin in the communal hallway as he returned from work late at night by grabbing him on the arm and neck thereby causing bruising to his arm and neck. The Defendant also snatched his mobile phone from him as he tried to record the incident.

50. On 16th June 2017, the Defendant confronted Mr. Mathiyalagan's wife as she was exiting the main entrance at 11:55am and said to her that he had her bank and personal details. He also reported that the Defendant told his wife that he wanted her and her husband to pay him some money.

51. On 23rd June 2017, the Defendant came out of his flat with his dog and attacked Mr. Mathiyalagan's cousin as he returned from work at 11:35pm. He reported that the Defendant punched his cousin twice on the chest, tried to push him out of the block and snatched his mobile phone as he tried to record the incident.

52. On 28th June 2017, the Defendant confronted Mr. Mathiyalagan's wife as she was leaving the block at 11:45am, swore at her, shouted abuse and accused her of making noise inside her flat. He said to her that he knows all her personal details and that of her husband including their full names, date of birth, phone numbers and bank details. The Defendant demanded that they pay him some money and asked her to tell Mr. Mathiyalagan to come and see him.

53. On 2nd July 2017, Mr. Mathiyalagan reported that the Defendant confronted him with his dog barking and without a lead as he was going out with his family at

5:18pm and asked him when he was going to hand over the money. He also reported that as they left the block, the Defendant ran after them swearing and shouting abuse and demanded that he must pay him money if he wants him to leave him alone. The Defendant also said to him that he has all their personal details. A report of the incident is at page 40 of the case history.

54. Case history notes exhibited at pages 41-46 show reports of similar aggressive and intimidating behaviour displayed to Mr. Mathiyalagan was being experienced by another tenant who wishes to remain anonymous because of fear of reprisal from the Defendant.

55. Similarly, further case notes exhibited at pages 47-52 show that another tenant who wishes to remain anonymous was being subjected to the Defendant's antisocial behaviour. She had to be moved from the block because of the harassment from the Defendant and because she suffered from mental health problems and was particularly vulnerable and unable to deal with the threats and harassment from the Defendant.

56. On 7th February 2017, the Defendant approached the leaseholder of 117 Bumcroft Avenue and his plumber outside the block as they were attempting to resolve low water pressure issues affecting the flat. The Defendant informed the leaseholder that there were problems between him and his tenants but did not give specific details. The leaseholder explained to the Defendant that his tenants were experiencing low water pressure in their flat and that they were trying to fix the problem. The Defendant said to the leaseholder, “you will not resolve the problem as I am restricting their water supply”. The leaseholder later asked the Defendant to increase the water pressure and the Defendant stated, "I cannot do anything at the moment, I will sort it out later”. A report of this incident is at page 55 of the exhibit bundle.

57. On 24th February 2017, the Claimants officers Sarah Fletcher and Steve Kirk attended the Defendant’s property following reports of low water pressure in the

It also appeared that the Defendant may have removed the wall between his kitchen and living room thereby creating an open plan living space. A copy of the file note is pages 56-57 of the exhibit bundle.

58. On 8th May 2017, the Claimant's officers, Ms. Fletcher, a Neighbourhood officer who has since left the Council and Mr. Steve Stirk, a surveyor visited the Defendant's block of flats following reports of low water pressure to flats 109, 113 and 117 Bumcroft Avenue. While the Claimant's officers were outside flat 113, the Defendant came up to them and started to complain about his perceived victimization by his neighbours, the police and the council. While the Defendant was talking to the officers, Mr. Mathiyalagan came down the stairs and the Defendant said to him, "I'm going to the police station now with my evidence about you and I'm going to ruin your life". A file note of this report is exhibited at page 58 of the exhibit bundle and an email from Steve Stirk is at page 59.

59. On 14th May 2017, yet another neighbour who wishes to remain anonymous reported that the Defendant aggressively banged on her door, shouted abuse and threats at her and falsely accused her of making noise and coming into his flat to attack him. The neighbour stated that the Defendant later followed her to her car as she was leaving the block shouting abuse and wanting to know where she was going. The neighbour also reported that the Defendant allowed his dog to roam freely in the communal area of the block without a lead. A file note of the report is at page 60 of the exhibit bundle LN1.

60. On 28th May 2017, the Defendant was issued with a first instance Harassment letter by the police following allegations of harassment and threatening behaviour made to the police by his neighbour. A copy of the letter and the PC's statement are at pages 61-62 of the exhibit bundle LN1.

The Defendant later shouted abuse and swear words at Mr. Gray and would not allow him to approach his car. Mr. Gray has provided a witness statement in relation to this incident.

26. The Claimant's operatives have had difficulties in accessing the Defendant's flat to inspect the state of the property and the unauthorised works and modifications which the Defendant is purported to have carried out without a written consent from the Claimant. The Claimant has also been unable to check whether the Defendant Is restricting water supply/pressure to the properties above his since December 2016. The Defendant has admitted to restricting the water supply but has refused to allow the Claimant's maintenance operatives access to his property to investigate and rectify the problem.
27. The Defendant has intimidated the residents in the entire block and because of his behaviour, we have received numerous complaints from residents, requests to be transferred from the block and we have had to move a vulnerable tenant from the block.
28. I have made attempts to engage with the Defendant, but he has not been cooperative and has continuously displayed abusive and threatening behaviour towards the Claimant's members of staff and his neighbours. A Notice of Seeking Possession has been served on him and possession action is being considered. However, in the meantime, this injunction is required to ensure that the other residents are not subjected to further intimidation and harassment by the Defendant. This application is being made without notice because if the Defendant were given notice, he would intimidate the witnesses in an attempt to prevent the order being made.

Hello Ms. Cordell,
Thank you very much for your email, the content of which is very illustrative. I can confirm I have made contact with Mr. Jenkins and can also confirm according to Mr. Jenkin's recollection the officer did not mention their being tools in Simon's van. Regarding the officer's notebook, as you're aware the officer did make use of one on the day in question, of course its content will form part of my investigation. Going forward, I note that in their appeal findings the IPCC made direct reference to a transcript in your possession concerning a phone call between Broadsure Direct and KGM. Can you please send me a copy?

I would like to apologise the late reply to your email, I've had some major issues, the ceiling come down in my front room, I then had to have my boiler changed everything went seriously wrong with this also. I have a number of health problems and had to end up having two operations, I only got released from hospital on 17 March 2017, I have got someone coming round this weekend to get the file from the loft I did not forget this needed to be done, so you should have it by Saturday or Sunday as I will scan it in and send it straight over to you as soon as I get my hands on it.

Stain knocked on my letter box and woke me up again this Morning, when he is leaving his premises, like a person playing the game called knock down ginger!
Then the Loud and aggressive banging in the bathe room got worse and this got achieved by the new tent of 113 and the original tents of 117 slamming objects on to their floors with evil intent of criminal actions!
At the night time Stain played with his front door locks to try and scare me again!
The occupiers of 117 the Mathiyalagan family and also Stain Curtis off 111 Burncroft Avenue continue Slamming the water tap on and off, and now with George Quinton also involved I continue to document their Hate Crime towards me and report it to the relevant persons without any fair prosses of support and this is causing damage too my health and the buildings fixtures at an unacceptable rate!

Stain banged on the kitchen wall again with intent of victimising me on a full 4-hour assaults!
117 keep slamming their own living room, window continually opened and closed like to explain a person making competitive beats out aloud!
This is not fair that I keep getting awoke every Morning banging above me intentionally then by 117 then following me around within my own home so to find me and then commence assailing me again this does not stop all day and night long I cannot slumber neither can my friends when they stay over at mine because the same thing transpires to them!
Today the mundane daily routine of the already denominated people assailing me commenced again while I am in my bath room after waking me up and having my wash!

The Enfield Council and Enfield home should always stay open-minded towards their mandatory duties of care towards their client such as myself rather than members of the staff avoiding to deal with emergency problems of disrepair, as keeps happening every day that goes past without the correct follow ups getting insulated so for the needed work that must get completed within my rented home finally taking place and then getting finished!

Victimizing me by Banging above the Barth to which I get into, once they understand that I have stopped running the water for my bath to be ready, this is after they wait for any other tail, tail signs that I have gotten undressed and soaked within the water, creating a brutal attack against my person in their wrongful self-gains!

And 3. The Appellant's human rights have been breached. And 4. The Appellant's right to due process has been breached. And 5. The Appellant's right to a fair trial has been breached. And 6. Miscarriage of justice has been allowed to happen. And: 7. The Appellant's data protection act 1998 has been beached. 8. The decision /order to make the interim Antisocial Behaviour Order a full Antisocial Behaviour Order on 04/08/2015 by Highbury Corner Magistrates Court, by the Commissioner of Police of the Metropolis, Magistrates Court declared void as an error in law. And 9. The Appellant's "Human Rights!" have been breached. And 10. The Appellant's right to due process has been breached. And 11. The Appellant's right to a fair trial has been breached. And 12. Miscarriage of justice has been allowed to happen. And 13. The Appellant's data protection act 1998 has been beached. 14. The decision/order to dismiss the Appeal against conviction, of the Antisocial Behaviour Order at Wood Green Crown Court on 19/01/2017 Crown Court declared void as an error in law. And 15. The Appellant's human rights have been breached. And 16. The Appellant's right to due process has been breached. And 17. The Appellant's right to a fair trial has been breached. And 18. Miscarriage of justice has been allowed to happen. And 19. The Appellant's data protection act 1998 has been beached. 20. It is said that on the on the 12/09/2014 the police attended The Appellant home address of 109 Burncroft, Avenue, Enfield, EN3 7JQ, they knocked on the door, The Appellant was not expecting anyone, The Appellant approached his front door and looked through his spy hole he could see clearly see was the police, and asked them through the door what they wanted, the police stated they needed to speak to him, The Appellant opened his front door very slightly the police stated they needed to serve some documents on him, due to The Appellant's learning difficulties he stated he would not accept anything and closed his door and stated he was not being rude in doing so. It is a well-known fact on the police's system of government bodies that The Appellant does have learning difficulties and health problems The Appellant could hear the police talking outside and the lady police officer said what we are going to do now. A male police officer stated put it on the floor in front of the door. They then took some pages out of the A4 size folder and put them in to The Appellant's letterbox this was four pages. The A4 size folder the lady police officer placed it on the floor in front of The Appellant's front door. The Appellant's mother could not attend The Appellant's address that day to pick the file up due to a death in the family, she attended The Appellant's home address the next day, the folder was opened on the floor where the police had left it. The Appellant's mother was very shocked when she looked inside the folder and saw the data that was within it. The data that was within side the A4 size folder was personal information and a breach of the data protection act 1998 by leaving such data in a commune area of the block of flats. A letter of complaint was put to the police in the way in which they had left personal information on a door step in view of everyone that lived or who came in to the block of flats, on the 13/09/2014 to Edmonton Green police station, at the same time the complaint letter was handed in so was the A4 bundle. 21. The complaint has never been addressed and has never had a response from the police who left personal information on a front door step which is a breach of data protection act due to the contents held within the A4 size bundle. Please see letter of complaint and photos and receipt that was handed to "Edmonton Police Station!" on 13/09/2014. 22. On 06/10/2014 The Appellant was due to appear in Court this day, The Appellant had solicitors in place, Michael Carroll and Co Solicitors, legal aid had been applied for, but the legal aid had been refused, the Judge sitting overturned this and granted legal aid. 23. The reason for the Judge overturning and granting legal aid was due to The Appellant having known learning difficulties, health problems and due to the complexity of the case. Disclosure was asked for, but no disclosure ever came. 24. The case was relisted for the 22/10/2014 for an interim Antisocial Behaviour Order hearing, all police officers were due to attend for the interim hearing. 25. On the 22/10/2014 The Appellant was due in Court for the Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order to be heard, due to The Appellant barrister having a burst water pipe and his home being flooded he could not attend, the applicant still wanted the case to be heard which the Judge would not allow. 26. The Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order hearing was then set for the 05/11/2014. 27. On the 22/10/2014 all police officers did attend Court for the Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order hearing. 28. Disclosure was asked for on this date. 29. On 05/11/2014 The Appellant was due in Court for the Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order hearing; all police were due to attend but did not. 30. The Appellant's barrister could not attend on this date due to the flooding that taken place at his home address, another barrister turned up to represent The Appellant but had no paperwork for the case only a skeleton argument to strike-out the Antisocial Behaviour Order application. 31. The skeleton argument, submitted on behalf of The Appellant, to strike-out the application for the Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order. 32. Arguments advanced in this respect, and those which rely upon the civil procedure rules, are not applicable to these proceedings. 33. The civil procedure rules only apply to proceedings in the county Court, the high Court and the civil division of the Court of Appeal. 34. As a result, the Magistrate's Court has no jurisdiction to consider an application to strike-out application. 35. The Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order hearing went ahead, The Appellant's barrister did not have the correct paperwork for the hearing, and knew very little about the case, no police officers turned up to Court on this day. 36. In the days prior to this hearing The Appellant was rushed into hospital due to kidney problems while he was still in hospital, he was informed by his solicitor on the 04/11/2014 that if he did not attend Court on the 05/11/2014 the case would go ahead without his presence. 37. The Appellant then discharged himself from hospital, because he had no choice. 38. He was extremely unwell: -- 39. On this date the Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order was granted by the District Judge Newham. Upon delivering her judgment, District Judge Newham ruled that it is just to impose an Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order, and that regard had been taken of The Appellant's Article 6 and 8 rights, as well as The Appellants business. 40. District Judge Newham ruled that there are no provisions contained within the (amended) proposed Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order which would prevent The Appellant from conducting legitimate business. 41. On this date all police officers were due to attend. 42. They did not attend their reason was they were not told to attend; this was untrue as the application from 22/10/2014 should still stand as the case had only been adjourned until this date for the Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order hearing) The applicant's case also relied solely on hearsay, Magistrate's Courts (hearsay evidence in civil proceeding) rules 1999. 43. These are the conditions The Appellant was placed under and are for the whole of the UK: 44. The defendant is prohibited from: -- 45. Attending a rave as defined by s.63(1) of the criminal justice and public order act 1994; Being concerned in the organisation of a rave as defined by s.63(1) of the criminal justice and public order act 1994; Knowingly using or supplying property, personal or otherwise, for use in a rave as defined by s.63(1) of the criminal justice and public order act

1994; Entering or remaining in any disused or abandoned building unless invited to do so in writing by a registered charitable organisation; Entering or remaining on non-residential private property on an industrial estate between the hours of 10pm and 7am without written permission from the owner and/or leaseholder of the property; and Engaging, in any licensable activity's, in any unlicensed premises. 46. For the sake of clarity, nothing in this order prevents the defendant from assisting, preparing for, or engaging in licensed licensable activities. 47. This is untrue as we have since contacted council and police and told he would not be granted a license to hold any events as long as the Antisocial Behaviour Order was in place. 48. So, The Appellant's entertainment business is seriously affected by the Antisocial Behaviour Order that was put in place. 49. Points to address regarding the conditions The Appellant is prohibited from doing. 50. Attending a rave as defined by s.63(1) of the criminal justice and public order act 1994; Being concerned in the organisation of a rave as defined by s.63(1) of the criminal justice and public order act 1994; Knowingly using or supplying property, personal or otherwise, for use in a rave as defined by s.63(1) of the criminal justice and public order act 1994; Entering or remaining in any disused or abandoned building unless invited to do so in writing by a registered charitable organisation; Entering or remaining on non-residential private property on an industrial estate between the hours of 10pm and 7am without written permission from the owner and/or leaseholder of the property; and Engaging in any licensable activity's in any unlicensed premises. 51. Clearly these conditions The Appellant was put under are a breach of The Appellant's human rights, and disproportionate due to the fact it would breach: 52. Article 3 freedom from torture and inhuman or degrading treatment. 53. Article 5 right to liberty and security. 54. Article 8 respect for your private and family life, home and correspondence. 55. Article 23.1; of the universal declaration of human rights states: (1) everyone has the right to work, to free choice of employment, to just and favorable conditions of work and to protection against unemployment. 56. Condition E states entering or remaining on non-residential private property on an industrial estate between the hours of 10 pm and 7 am without written permission from the owner and/or leaseholder of the property. 57. With this condition in place any non-residential property The Appellant would not be able to attend: 58. Would include Hospitals, Police Stations, 24-hour Supermarkets, Petrol Stations, Cinemas, Restaurants, Bars, Nightclubs and any other public place open to the public between these times that is non-residential The Appellant cannot go to without written permission which would be degrading for The Appellant to have to ask each time he wanted to go somewhere and explain why he needed it to be confirmed in writing by the owner and/or leaseholder of the property, how this condition could be applied by any Judge and state it is not a beach of someone human rights is beyond me. 59. Conditions C states knowingly using or supplying property personal or otherwise for the use of a rave as defined under section 63.1 of the criminal justice and public order act, 60. The Appellants has spent the last 10 years building his business saving every penny and help from family it is within the entertainment industry, he will hire equipment out, The Appellants business would seriously be affected, because if he hired his equipment and it ended up in an illegal rave The Appellant would be in breach of the conditions. 61. When hiring out equipment you do asked what is going to be used for, and you do have a contract that is in place, but what the person tells you their reason for hiring the equipment out is not always the correct reason and is not used for the purpose the person told you The Appellant would be in breach of these conditions also if the Appellant loaned someone any personal belongings and that person ended up at an illegal rave then The Appellant would again be in breach of his conditions, even if the item was something that did not even constitute as being for an illegal rave. 62. These are just two of the concerns with the conditions that the Appellant is under; there is other concerns with other conditions set at by the Courts that are of concern. 63. Also breached within this hearing was the Appellant's. 64. Article 6 right to a fair trial. 65. The

Appellant had to go ahead with his hearing without the barrister having any other paperwork other than the application to strike-out which was not allowed. 66. The police officers not attending when they knew they should. 67. The Appellant being so unwell he was not coping he should never have had to discharge himself from hospital to try to defend himself. 68. The police having it on the police systems who done what they say The Appellant has done and would not disclose that information. 69. The following directions were made: The parties to exchange any additional evidence on which they seek to rely by 20/01/2015 This is to include any witness statements from any witness, including the defendant himself; and the parties are prohibited from relying on any evidence not already served, or served in accordance with paragraph 1 of these directions, without the permission of the Court. 70. Although not a formal direction, should any witnesses no longer be required, the Judge requested written confirmation of this to be given to all parties speedily. 71. At present, the following witnesses are required to attend the full hearing: A. Inspector Douglas Skinner; B. Police constable Miles; C. Acting police SERGEANT EDGOOSE; D. Police constable Elsmore; E. Sergeant King; F. Police constable Ames; and G. Inspector Hamill; 72. The interim order is to continue until 10/03/2015 when the full hearing would be heard this was listed for two full days. 73. Disclosure was asked for this was meant to be given by 20/01/2015 this never happened and no disclosure was given. 74. No disclosure was served on us by the 20/01/2015 that was asked for; this went on throughout this case. 75. Never were we given any disclosure we asked for and the disclosure we were asking for would prove The Appellant did not do what the police was saying within the application. 76. Within this time before the full hearing was due to take place The Appellant and his mother was constantly contacting via phone and emails the acting solicitors, things were not being done paperwork was not being completed meetings was constantly being put off, we had also asked a number of times could the solicitors please go over the CADs, and intelligence reports that were in the application as there were serious errors, this also was never done. 77. This also noted within the applications bundle there were serious breaches of data protection within police officers statements; this was allowed to remain within the applications bundle without being questioned by the acting solicitors, although it was constantly being brought up also witness statements that were contained within the applications bundle were written by police officers and not the witnesses themselves, we was not allowed to call any witnesses or any other police officers whose information was within the applications bundle we was only allowed to have the police officers that the application wanted us to have, we was denied any other witnesses being called. 78. On the 10/03/2015 this date was due to be the full Antisocial Behaviour Order hearing but the Court had made a mistake and only listed it for a one-day hearing. 79. District Judge Williams sitting, apologised for the error, and said that a part hearing could take place, or the full hearing be adjourned to a later date so that the full hearing could be dealt with over two days. 80. The Appellant was upset as he wanted this to be dealt with and only agreed that the case be adjourned until the 03/08/2014 and the 04/08/2014 if district Judge Williams heard the case, she cleared her diary and promised that she would be the Judge that would preside over the case. 81. District Judge Williams also stated that this was the 1st time she had ever seen a case in which the commissioner of the metropolitan police had brought an Antisocial Behaviour Order in front of her in this way in a civil capacity. 82. Disclosure was asked for and this was again never given. 83. On the 02/08/2015 The Appellant's mother received a phone call from Miss Ward acting solicitors, regarding a statement she had just found in the emails relating to Antisocial Behaviour Order, The Appellant's mother asked if this could be sent over via email to her, but was a little late to do anything about it because the full hearing started the next day. 84. This was continuously happening throughout the case; the solicitors seemed to only do anything on the case the day before hearings or a few days was due to take place. 85. Many emails were sent including phone calls made to get things done, most of the emails went not replied to for months phone calls was not picked up, or if they were, we were told that things would be addressed they never was. 86. The Appellant attended Court on the 03/08/2015 and the 04/08/2015 for the full hearing of the Antisocial Behaviour Order, only to find the stipulation and reasons he had allowed the case to be adjourned to these dates had not been adhered to, the presiding Judge was not District Judge Williams, its fact it was District Judge D Pigot who would be residing over the full hearing. 87. non-disclosure was again spoken about but nothing came of this and the case went forward. 88. We understand this is only our opinion but we believe this Judge had already found that she was going to prove the case before it even started for the full Antisocial Behaviour Order in favor of the applicants. 89. Before the hearing started The Appellant's, mother informed the Judge the Appellant was very ill and she did not think he would cope due to health problems 90. She continued with the case none the less and did not ask The Appellant's mother to elaborate further. 91. Later within the hearing she would notice that there should have been medical records for The Applicant within his bundle was missing along with a lot of other documents, The Appellants bundle was only around 82 pages when he should have been around 300 pages. 92. Continually through cross examination by The Appellants barrister toward the police officers, District Judge D Pigot kept interrupting and telling the barrister he could not ask the questions he was asking even though what he was asking corresponded with what the police had put in their statements. 93. The Appellant's barrister even commented to the Judge Pigot "I am only asking questions pertaining to what the police have put in their statements" also he said to the Judge "I hope you are going to have as much due-diligence with my client on cross examination as you are with me" to which the Judge replied she would. 94. This was certainly not the case and in fact the Judge allowed The Appellant to be cross examined extremely harshly even knowing The Appellant had health problems and also did not even have his own bundle which he had never had from his solicitors we was never told by the acting solicitors that we should have had one, but you'd also seem there was a large amount of documents missing from The Appellant's bundle, when The Appellant took the stand the Judge did asked where his bundle was, he stated he had never been given one, and did not know he needed one, the Judge did asked if there was a spare bundle that The Appellant could use which there was not the Judge carried on by allowing The Appellant to be cross-examined clearly anyone could see The Appellant was unwell, from time to time the Judge passed The Appellant her own bundle as you can clearly see The Appellant because the appellant did not know what he was being asked, the problem with this is how is someone with learning difficulties meant to read what is contained within the bundle, if The Appellant had had access to his own bundle prior to the hearing with help of software and his family he would have been able to memorise what was in his own bundle. 95. With the line of questioning, his learning problems and his health this was totally inappropriate, but was allowed by the Judge. 96. The Appellants barrister questioned the applicant's barrister about the legitimacy and the fact if every CAD being used in their application case was linked to Progress Way and if there was an illegal rave taking place at the same time on Crown Road. 97. The Appellants mother had asked The Appellants barrister to ask this question, the reason being the acting solicitors had not gone over the CADS although they were asked to many times, you can clearly see although there were multiple reductions within the applicants bundle clearly there was CADS within the bundle that had nothing to do with the application case. 98. He stated every CAD related to Progress Way and there was not an illegal rave taking place on Crown Road, and the police also said this was the case under cross examination, to further this the Judge then asked the same question was every CAD linked to the applications case, and was given the exact same answer yes. 99. Now I show you the freedom of information act which was obtained from Enfield Council. 100. (See attached) 101. In point of fact there are multiple inconsistencies pertained within the CADS within the application, timestamps also do not match up within the CADs, there is also all the missing CADs. Some of the intelligence reports also have been updated with no reason as to why. There are also the breaches of data protection within The Appellants PNC record which are incorrect which also can be proven, also contained within the police officer statements there are errors which can be proven as untrue and a breach of the data protection act and multiple inconsistencies within police officer statements, none of these were addressed. 102. We know the police knew about the illegal rave at Crown Road because police were deployed there. 103. This can clearly be seen within the CADS which are within the application's bundle. But there is so much redaction within the CADS we believe there is a lot more that pertain to Crown Road, and we cannot see due to the reductions. 104. There is also a lot of missing CAD reports. 105. Part of The Appellant's barrister submission had been that the allegations were that The Appellant was involved in the organising of illegal raves, but the applicant hadn't adduced evidence of trespass which is a requirement for proving that an indoor rave was illegal. 106. The district Judge ruled that the applicant did not need to prove illegality, all that needed to prove was the Appellant had acted in an Antisocial Manner. 107. In the Appellants barrister view this is a very questionable decision: firstly, the applicant based their case on the illegality of the raves rather than the fact of the raves themselves and secondly, without proof of illegality the presumption of innocence leads to the conclusion that the raves were legal, and thus the applicant being prohibited from engaging in an ostensibly lawful activity requires more careful consideration on issues of proportionality. The Applicant could judicially review the case state this decision but I think there is little merit in doing so because he would then lose his right to Appeal to the Crown Court and even if he succeeded in the high/div Court, they would merely remit it back to the Lower Court who would then probably go through the motions of considering proportionality before coming to the same conclusion. 108. To summarise the Judge stated she did not need to prove illegality, but she proved The Appellant had acted in an Antisocial Manner, how the district Judge came to this conclusion we do not understand, not one police officer had stated The Appellant had acted in an Antisocial Manner towards them, is also a fact that any application for an Antisocial Behaviour Order has to be bought within six months of the dates, there was cases going back prior to the six months which should have only been used for reference, but the District Judge also included these cases to be proven. 109. Since this case started, we knew the police and the public order investigation unit held information on the police systems that proved The Appellant was not the organiser of these illegal raves. 110. In fact, the police knowingly went around to the known organisers homes and also spoke with them on the telephone. 111. This proves they have the information we were asking for in disclosure. 112. (This was found out via social media and Google by The Appellant's mother) The Appellant's mother even called the public order investigation unit and spoke to DS Chapman, and Val Turner. 113. The Appellant had not been coping throughout this case, and walked out of the Court, The Appellant's mother said to the District Judge you can clearly see he is not well and is not coping, which the district Judge confirmed she could clearly see that The Appellant was not well. 114. But continued to ask the clerk to get The Appellant back in Court and she also informed that if appellant re-entered the Court room and was disruptive, she would hold him in contempt of Court. 115. The Appellants mother would not let The Appellant re-entered the Court room, as she knew The Appellant was so unwell and not coping and did not want him to be held in contempt of Court due to his health. 116. Because of this The Appellant was not there to have the Antisocial Behaviour Order served on him, and the Antisocial Behaviour Order was served to The Appellant's mother on his behalf. Upon proving the case District Judge Pigot granted all the applicants' conditions. 117. The applicants wanted to make this a lifetime Antisocial Behaviour Order, which district Judge Pigot did not allow and granted it for 5 years within the whole of the UK. 118. With the stipulation that it could be reapplied for when the 5 years were concluded. 119. She started the 5 years from the 04/08/2015 she did not count the time The Appellant had been on the Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order. 120. The Appellant's mother and The Appellant's barrister then asked the Judge if the conditions of the Antisocial Behaviour Order could be defined as there were many points of concern the Judge was asked if The Appellant went to a Tesco or Tesco petrol station between the hours of 10pm and 7am would he be in breach of the conditions and subsequently arrested, the response from District Judge Pigot was dumbfounding she said" yes he would be arrested, taken to Court and would have to prove he was going to get petrol I am guessing the same could be said for food and any other non-residential building including hospitals, police stations, restaurants, cinemas etc. 121. on hearing The Appellant's mother and barrister questioned this and said, so you think this is in accordance with the law?" she replied to this "the conditions are precise and plain. 122. District Judge Pigot then left the Courtroom with her clerk to get the memorandum of an entry made up as soon as possible due to the lateness in the day and the department who dealt with this would be closed, on her return the District Judge asked why the Appellants barrister was not in Court, The Appellants mother said that he had left because he was not told that he needed to stay, she handed the memorandum of an entry to The Appellants mother and to the applicants barrister, on reviewing this the applicants barrister said there were multiple spelling mistakes and the dates from 2013 should not be entered and needed to be removed. 123. She said this would be amended and a new copy would be sent in the post, and until this day this has never happened even though The Appellants mother contacted the Court via email in regards to the issues, the spelling mistakes was corrected but not the dates. 124. we have since found out we should have also been handed a map showing all areas which the Antisocial Behaviour Order conditions encompassed which we have also never been given but this map would have shown the whole of the UK. 125. The Appellant's mother asked the Court for the transcripts, but was told at the Magistrate's Court does not record hearings, that the only notes that was kept was the clerks Court notes, the clerks Court notes were requested and the fee paid to obtain these. 126. Upon looking at the clerks notes there is a substantial amount is not included within them for the full two-day hearing for the Antisocial Behaviour Order hearing. 127. Please see Clerk Notes: -- 128. I know that asking for a judicial review in regards to the Magistrates hearing is being submitted to the Court out of time, but when The Appellants mother contacted the high Court to make enquiries in regards to a judicial review and explained the situation that had occurred throughout this case she was told to submit the application for judicial review for the Magistrates hearing's that under exceptional circumstances the time limit could be overturned, the reason that this has been submitted to the Court out of time is due to The Appellant taking his barristers opinion that he would be better to go for the Appeal at the Crown Court and this is what The Appellant done. 129. The Appeal hearing was not concluded until 19/01/2017 - 130. On the 13/08/2015 the Metropolitan Police Service posted on their website, this led to all the local newspapers printing the story about The Appellant. 131. Please see attached: -- 132. But how could the police have printed this as illegality had not been proven. 133. This led to The Appellant having stones thrown at his windows, and a gun being pulled out on him, which it then took the police six days to come out to take a report, we know the reason why it took the police so long to come and take the report it's how much the police dislike the Appellant, and his family this has been ongoing for over 23 years. 134. The Appellant's mother contacted many solicitors to try and get a new solicitor to take over the case, each time she was told that solicitors will not take a case on at appeal stage due to how much legal aid paid for appeal hearing, legal aid believed the solicitors that acted for the hearing would be dealing with the Appeal hearing so there was a set amount that would be paid for appeal hearings which would not cover a new solicitor going over the complete case. 135. The Appellant's mother believed it was best to keep the old solicitors on record as it was better to have a solicitor then having none due to The Appellant's health which had deteriorated throughout this case. 136. The Appeal was listed for the 26/10/2015 but only listed for 1 hour hearing the case was put off, due to the case needed to be 3 days Appeal hearing. 137. The acting solicitors had seemed to have lost The Appellant's bundle it had been removed from the office due to the office being audited in the 00/10/2015 no one seemed to be able to find The Appellant's bundle, and all the missing documents that was meant to have been within the bundle which was not for the full hearing. 138. - 09/11/2015 the case was listed for a mention hearing, all bundles were due to be at the Crown Court by the 23/12/2015 Case was listed for a three-day Appeal to start on 22/02/2016 I believe also discloser was spoke about again. 139. In the 00/12/2015 arrangements was made for the acting solicitors to attend The Appellants mother's home to go over the case bundles, at this point The Appellants mother made sure that all the CADS and intelligence reports was gone over by the solicitor, upon seeing all the errors the solicitor was shocked, maps were made up to be included into The Appellant's bundle and The Appellant's bundle was remade as it was due to be handed in to Wood Green Crown Court by the 25/12/2015 Emails was also sent by the solicitor to the police, the Appellants mother agreed to print of multiple documents including all maps needed to be done in color, just prior to the Christmas holiday all printing was done and contact was made with the solicitors in order to get The Appellant's bundle Paginated and indexed, on 22/12/2015 multiple texts and calls were made to the solicitor due to the fact bundle needed to being to the Court by the 23/12/2015 replies was not being made until much later in the day when the solicitor stated that she could hand in the bundle when she got back from the Christmas and New Year holidays, a text was sent back stating that this was going to have an effect on families Christmas and New Year due to The Appellant knowing that the Court had ordered the bundle to be submitted to the Court by a certain date, text was received back from the solicitors stating to be at the office by 18:00 PM, The Appellants mother attended and two bundles was Paginated and indexed which took until around 01:30 AM. 140. Miss Ward was not happy due to the time that had to be spent dealing with this as she was due to fly out in the early hours to Ireland. 141. The bundles were left with The Appellants mother so that one could be hand-delivered to the Court in the morning on the 23/12/2015 the other bundle was to be recorded delivered via the Post Office to the police. 142. Miss Ward stated after the Christmas and New Year holidays she would get The Appellant's bundle ready so it could be given to him. 143. The Appellant had not seen the new bundle as the solicitor did not want to meet him, and due to the lateness in which the bundle was made to get into the court and the police there was not time for The Appellant to see the new bundle. 144. One of the texts that were sent to the Appellants mother stated on the 22/12/2015 was please see below. 145. This is a legal aid case Mother! and Simon need to recognise that he is not paying privately so needs to work within the constraints of the legal aid system." 146. Upon receiving this The Appellants mother was upset, it was the Court has set the day for the bundle to be with the Court not The Appellant, if the solicitors had dealt with the case in a timely manner and things would not have been left to the last minute which always was, all The Appellant ever wanted was for the solicitors to do what was needed for the case which never happened things was always left and things not done, and then The Appellant seem to get the blame. 147. It was also upsetting because it seemed as if The Appellant paid for the solicitor's services, then things would have been addressed a lot differently, I feel it should make no difference between paying privately or having legal aid put in place a solicitor's job is to represent their client to the best of their ability seek justice for their client the best they possibly can, this was not the case throughout this case. 148. Maybe it was due to The Appellant not paying privately that things were never done.149. After the Christmas and New Year holidays we had to keep asking for The

Appellant's bundle we managed to get this in the beginning of 00/02/2016 not long before the trail was due to start, it would also seem the solicitors was having problems getting a barrister, The Appellant had not seen a barrister since the full hearing at the Magistrate's Court, the original barrister that represented The Appellant at the Magistrate's hearings was on sabbatical leave, It is also noted that the acting solicitors did not want a meeting with The Appellant, and was mostly dealing with The Appellants mother.150. On the 19/02/2016 the acting Solicitors put into the Court for a mention hearing, The Appellant believed this was due to nondisclosure, but the solicitors had also put an application to Break Fixture this was dismissed by His Honor Judge Morrison, this was 3 days before the 3-day Appeal hearing was due to start. 151. The Court will not and does not accede to any application for The Appellants Solicitors to come off the record or to cease acting for The Appellant. 152. Such an application was dismissed by His Honor Judge Morrison on the 19/02/2016 If any attempt is made to repeat this application the Court will require it to be made in person by the Senior Partner of Michael Carroll & Co. 153. This information is very important due to what occurred on the 21/09/2016 when HHJ-PAWLAK removed solicitors from record without The Appellant or a Senior Partner of Michael Carroll & Co being present in Court. 154. See date 21/09/2016 as more notes. 155. His Honor Judge Morrison listed to be heard on the 22/02/2016 in front of HHJ-PAWLAK due to issues raised again regarding nondisclosure and he felt he was not the best Judge to answer these issues. 156. The reason the solicitors gave to come off the record so close to the Appeal hearing was a breakdown in communication and they also could not get a barrister to deal with this case, this is a impart misleading, the actual reason for them wanting to come off the record was due to the lack of work done by solicitors acting for the Appellant, in point of fact the case was not ready for the Appeal hearing, they could also not get a Barrister, and did not want to meet with the client. 157. His Honor Judge Morrison had never heard that solicitors that could not get a barrister and ordered that a Public Defender took over the case to act for The Appellant. Three-day Appeal hearing listed for 22/02/2016, 23/02/2016 And 24/02/2016 Mr. Morris acting Public Defender attended Court on this day to act for The Appellant; 158. The Appellant had not met Mr. Morris before this date. 159. Mr. Morris had only had the case since the 19/02/2016 and was not ready for the 3-day Appeal hearing. 160. He wanted time to be able to go over all the large case bundles and be able to sit down and talk to The Appellant, so asked for an adjournment. 161. HHJ-PAWLAK was very unsympathetic and said he had the weekend to get ready for this case and that the Appeal would go ahead. 162. Considering this was the Public Defender that His Honor Judge Morrison had allocated to the case only 3 days beforehand it seemed that The Appellant was the one being penalised for the incompetence of his acting solicitors Michael Carroll & Co. 163. The Appellant's health had deteriorated considerably due to what was happening within this case and other issues, the mental health team had obtained a section 135 warrant under the mental health act and it was only because of the disdain towards The Appellant, The Appellants Mother had to hand this to his acting barrister to give to the Judge, knowing this would cause a huge rift between The Appellant and his mother. 164. But she had no option as the Judge was going to force the Appeal hearing to go ahead, when The Appellant mother knew The Appellant would not cope and that they had only just got the case handed to him and was not ready he had not even meet with The Appellant. 165. Upon Mr. Morris handing the documents to the Judge the Judge then unwilling adjourned the Appeal hearing until the 26/09/2016 for a 3-day hearing. 166. The Judge listed the case for a mention hearing also on the 04/04/2016 after this Court hearing HHJ-PAWLAK wrote a letter to the acting solicitors Michael Carroll and co that had to be replied to by the 04/04/2016 2nd Half Next 167. See Attached Letter from Judge: -- 168. See attached response from Solicitors dated 03/04/2016 - 169. The Judge wrote a letter to The Appellant's solicitors on the 22/02/2016 - 170. Miss Ward who was dealing with this case for

The Appellant at Michael Carroll & Co, knew the response had to be completed by the 04/04/2016 when the case was next listed in Court. 171. Miss Ward did not start working on the response to the Judge's letter until the 03/04/2016 and an email was sent to The Appellant with what Miss Ward wanted to reply to the Judges letter also stating any amendments needed to be done as soon as possible. 172. Because the Appellant knew that Miss Ward had sat on the letter from the Judge and done nothing about it since February and then had rushed a response on the 03/04/2016 when Miss Ward had been asked repeatedly to address the letter from the Judge, which now had not given The Appellant any time to go over the response Miss Ward had written. 173. The Appellant amended Miss Wards Letter to include multiple points that had been missed out and sent it back to Miss Ward via email within a few hours of getting it but The Appellant was upset that he had to rush things as due to the learning problems he has he does need long to be able to go over documents, the delay in getting the letter from the solicitors meant The Appellant had hardly any time. 174. Please see attached: -- 175. Upon attending Court on the 04/04/2016 it was seen that Mr. Morris had also drafted a response to the Judge letter this response was almost identical to Miss Ward's Letter except that it included one crucial section regarding the hearsay rule that had not been included in Miss Ward's letter. 176. The Appellant agreed the point about the hearsay rule did need to be included. 177. But was adamant it was going to be his letter that was going to be handed to the Judge with the oral addition of the hearsay. 178. This was the oral addition. 179. The Magistrates Court hearsay rules 1999 do not apply to the Crown Court. 180. The defence do not accept that the Respondent has relied on the correct legislation to apply under the hearsay rules. 181. In any event The Appellant requests that the Respondent call the witnesses who made CAD entries for cross examination. 182. It is neither professionally appropriate nor suitable for The Appellant to call police officers and question their Credibility, as proposed by the Respondent through their application under the Magistrates Court Hearsay Rules. 183. The Appellant submits that questioning the credibility of one's own witnesses would not be permitted by the Court. The Respondent has put forward no good reason for why these witnesses cannot be called. As to say it is not in the interests of justice to do so. 184. HHJ-PAWLAK granted the hearsay application could be submitted, although opposed orally by Mr. Morris. 185. HHJ-PAWLAK informed that Mr. Morris opposition to hearsay was contained in Mr. Morris legal document, for which The Appellant did not allow Mr. Morris to hand up. 186. HHJ-PAWLAK is informed that client wishes to hand up his own document to HHJ-PAWLAK against Mr. Morris advice. 187. Document read by all sides. 188. Please see The Appellant Document Considering in point 5 of the Judges letter to The Appellant Acting solicitors how was this allowed the Judge allowed Mr. Morris to make oral submissions in regards to hearsay in Court yet then said they were not allowed and granted the hearsay application as allowed. 189. Michael Carroll and Co had also not done or prepared a skeleton argument for The Appellant's bundle, the Judge stated that the letter that had been handed in could be used as The Appellant's skeleton argument. 190. Miss Ward was sitting in the back of the Court taking notes of what was being asked by the Judge and what was being said. 191. A meeting was meant to be arranged with The Appellant and the Public defender Mr. Morris; this was not done. 192. On the 12/07/2016 Informed by solicitor via email: Please note that Mr. Andrew Locke has returned from a career sabbatical and he has agreed to deal with the Appeal against the imposition of an ASBO. 193. I am in the process of confirming a conference date with Mr. Locke, hopefully within the next two weeks. 194. I have notified Mr. Morris from the Public Defender Service that Mr. Locke is your preferred choice and I have requested the written submissions that he had prepared for the mention hearing in 00/04/2016 that you did not consent to or permit us to serve upon the prosecution, instead your own document was served at your insistence and contrary to the advice given by both Mr. Andrew Morris and myself.

195. Please confirm any dates that you are not available so that this conference can be arranged. - 196. I have requested previously the complete list of witnesses that you now insist on calling and specifying their relevance to the ASBO Appeal and the issues as to whether you were an organiser of illegal raves. 197. I cannot advise on whether the witnesses are relevant to an issue in the Appeal without you confirming the list and specifying their relevance." 198. Take out does not need to be included: -- 199. The meeting was never arranged with Mr. Locke, The Appellant barrister until just before the Appeal dates hearing, even though we kept asking for this to be arranged. 200. I would like to say that no option was given to us about preferred barrister and if you notice the date of this e mail you will notice that it is a full 3 months since the mention hearing of the 04/04/2016 Even though there were multiple emails being sent to Miss Ward asking for things to be addressed and dealt with in this case, emails was going un-answered for months, well in fact since this case started in 2014 as for the list of police officer The Appellant wanted to call Miss Ward had been told over and over the officers listed in the application case, also officers from the Public Order Investigation unit at Scotland Yard and maybe one other officer Superintendent Specialist Operations Adrian Coombs. 201. On 14/08/2016 The Appellant was sectioned under section 2 of the mental health act, he was released later in August 2016 at tribunal hearing and due to agreeing that he would work with the mental health doctors and team that was put in place, he stated he would be willing to stay in hospital voluntarily, but due to bed shortages he was discharged home a day later with support in place, the acting solicitors were made aware of this, and so was the Court in the September 2016 when we were due to attend. 202. On 16/09/2016 the case was listed for a mention hearing for non-Disclosure, and also a meeting with Mr. Locke the Appellant Barrister as he not seen any barrister since the 04/08/2015 hearing at the Magistrate's Court when the Antisocial Behaviour Order was granted by the Judge with no legality found. 203. I was told by my acting solicitors to be at Court by 09:30 hours but later this was changed to 09:00 hours so 1 could have a meeting with my barrister, which I agreed to. 204. I arrived at Court for 09:00 my barrister did not arrive until around 09:40. 205. On arrival my barrister and I went into a side room for a talk. 206. (My mother was also present) before we could discuss anything Mr. Locke said he was sorry he was not feeling very well, and he also had some emails from Ms. Ward that he had to read, on trying to open the emails he realized he could not and subsequently go out of the room to call Ms. Ward. 207. At around 10:00 hours we were called into Court Mr. Locke came back into the room to get his things and then hurried walked back out towards the Court room. 208. I tried to stop him to expand to him what my concerns were (As we had not had a moment to talk) and I was concerned about the disclosure that was going to be asked for. 209. I asked Mr. Locke if he could ask the Judge to adjourn the case for 5 or 10 minutes so we could speak which he replied "no" that the hearing was only for disclosure about the schedule", I said "I knew this was not correct and this was one of the reason I wanted to speak to him about and again asked "if he would ask the Judge to postpone for 10 minutes" he yet again said "no", at which point I asked "why he did not want to speak to me, and should I act for myself "? 210. He had no time to talk to me but then spent around 4 minutes talking to Ms. Ward on the phone and before ending this call he asked me if I was also was dismissing my solicitors which I replied no, Mr. Locke then started to walk towards the Courtroom, we followed the barrister into Court and on entering the Court in a raised voice The Appellant said to Mr. Locke (who was ahead of him) so am I acting for myself then? 211. He never replied to me just proceeded to talk to the Judge then walked toward the door and ushered us out. 212. At this point I had no idea what was going on but proceeded to follow him outside the Court room, it was at this point he turned around and said quite curtly "I do not want you to speak", as we got closer to him he also informed The Appellant it was not good to shout out in open Court which The Appellant had to agree with, but The Appellant felt so let down and it seemed his barrister did not even want to talk to The Appellant, so much had already gone wrong with this case, and The Appellant felt very nervous as he did not know what was going on or what would be said as he had not spoken to his barrister. 213. My mother who had witnessed all of this tried to explain to The Appellant barrister what The Appellant wanted to say about the non-disclosure and asked Mr. Locke to explain what the schedule is. 214. I also asked about the two article 6's which have never been addressed by the Court which pertains to my Human Rights and my rights to a speedy and fair trial that had been handed to the Court at earlier hearings as I knew Mr. Locke knew nothing about these. 215. He explained that the schedule was what the Judge had asked for on the 04/04/2016 my mother replied this was not all the Judge had asked for. 216. Without replying Mr. Locke walked towards the Courtroom we followed and it was at this point The Appellant said to the barrister I feel I should represent myself because I feel I was not being heard. 217. All the Appellant wanted was to be able to speak to his barrister, so that he knew what had been said at the earlier hearing on the 04/04/2016 and show him the document that was handed to the Judge on that date. 218. On entering the Court, The Appellant barrister Mr. Locke addressed the Judge and said The Appellant did not want him to act for him, but this was not fully the case The Appellant only wanted to be able to speak to his barrister. 219. The Judge informed The Appellant barrister to remain in the Court room, the Judge asked what the case was listed for and the prosecuting barrister addressed the Court and answered and also handed the schedule to the barrister, they also said to the Judge that The Appellant had been sending letters to the Court and the prosecution myself which stated I Simon Cordell throughout the document. 220. This is not the case and The Appellant did not understand their comment or what document the prosecuting barrister was talking about. 221. The Judge then addressed The Appellant and asked The Appellant did The Appellant still want the barrister to act for The Appellant, The Appellant replied yes to the Judge that he did want the barrister to act for him; The Appellant stated that he only wanted time to speak to his barrister, as I had not spoken to a barrister since the Magistrate's hearing. 222. The Judge then addressed The Appellant barrister he said that The Appellant still wanted the barrister to act for The Appellant, The Appellant barrister agreed to this. 223. The Judge also stated he felt he was not the best person to be hearing this case and passed it over to the Judge that was hearing the Appeal. 224. On leaving the Court room The Appellant and his mother proceeded to go into a side room to talk with The Appellant barrister, we explained that a letter had been handed to the Judge on the 04/04/2016 he said he knew nothing of this letter so we handed him a copy for him to read. 225. Once he read this, he said he knew nothing about this and had only seen one document that kept saying I Simon Cordell, (The Appellant have no idea what this I Simon Cordell letter until later) The Appellant mother proceeded to explained this is why The Appellant wanted to talk to you before going into Court as this is part of the non-disclosure. 226. The barrister explained he only knew about the schedule to which The Appellant mother replied, the schedule had been asked for by the Judge in addition to the letter that had been handed in that the Judge stated could be used as my skeleton argument, that Miss Ward was in the Court on the 04/04/2016 and was taking notes, and knew exactly what the Judge had asked for and spoke. 227. The Appellant mother then made a call to The Appellant solicitor and enquired as to what the Judge had asked for on the 04/04/2016 in regards to the disclosure. 228. Ms. Ward stated she could not remember, The Appellant mother being dumbfounded by this said you was sitting in the back of the Court room taking notes, and only last week said to The Appellant mother again The Appellant should have everything that the Judge had asked for in his original disclosure plus what was asked for in The Appellant letter that was handed to the judge and also the Judge had made other addictions. 229. At no point did Ms. Ward ever make The Appellant mother feel she did not know what was due to be disclosed, if she had have done this The Appellant and The Appellant mother would have asked her to relist this to the Court and asked for this to be clarified. 230. As the disclosure that we were asking for was very important to the Appeal. 231. The Appellant mother then handed The Appellant the phone The Appellant asked Ms. Ward about the letter I was supposed to have sent to the Court and the prosecuting barrister; The Appellant was still thinking we was talking about the letter handed to the Judge on the 04/04/2016 which in Court on this date it was also said The Appellant had written this letter myself, which was not the case. 232. The Appellant agreed on this date for the letter that Miss Ward had wrote in replied to the Judge letter that The Appellant had amended was to be handed in to the court, The Appellant solicitor was at Court so knew The Appellant amended letter was being handed in to the court, It was at this point The Appellant said she had drafted the letter and The Appellant had only amended it, she at this said she did not draft the Letter and The Appellant wrote it, at this The Appellant did call Miss ward a lair as The Appellant knew Miss Ward drafted the letter and said to Miss ward on the phone, I can prove it I have the email you sent to me and my mother. 233. (Since Court the Appellant mother has checked the dates for when this letter was drafted by The Appellant solicitor and this was on the 03/04/2016 please see attached email and letter (marked 03/04/2016 Ms. Ward). 234. The Appellant barrister was listening to the phone call and after The Appellant ended the barrister got up and said I will need to think about still representing you as you called your solicitors a lair, The Appellant stated that he can prove that Miss Ward wrote the letter and she's denying as to doing so, how would anyone feel that she had not lied, The Appellant barrister then replied if he was still going to represent The Appellant then there would need a meeting at The Appellant barrister chambers, at this point the meeting concluded with nothing really spoke of about The Appellant Appeal yet again, this was days before the Appeal hearing was due to start. 235. Solicitor wrote a letter and sent it to The Appellant and The Appellant mother email on 20/09/2016 which had also been sent to the Court, putting an application again to be removed from record. 236. This was listed in Court to be heard on the 21/09/2016 - 237. There were large sections within this letter that were incorrect and did not happen, this can be proven by the Court transcripts for the 16/09/2016 - 238. On the 21/01/2016 we were on our way to Court and got caught in traffic, we contacted the Court to get a message to the Judge to say we were going to be 5 to 10 minutes late, I know the Judge got the message. 239. When we got to the Court there was a barrister that Michael Carroll and Co had sent to the Court to deal with the application for them to be removed from record. 240. The Barrister informed us she did not want to leave the Court before explaining what had happened it seemed the Judge had called this into Court without us being present and removed the solicitors from record. 241. How could this have happened considering, The Appellant was not present at Court, and there was not a senior Partner from Michael Carroll and Co and also what had been said previously by His Honor Judge Morrison on 19/02/2016 The Barrister said the Judge wanted to see us and we would need to wait in Court until we were called, as the Judge was dealing with a trial and we would be called in after it. 242. Around 16:00 hours we were called into Court, the Respondent did make the Judge aware at this point that what had been said by His Honor Judge Morrison on the 19/02/2016 stating that a Senior Partner was not present at Court, The Judge replied that he could not force a solicitor to carry on with a case they clearly did not want to, and that The Appellant could represent himself that the case was in much better order now. 243. But the Appellant has learning difficulties and health problems which the Court are well aware of, there was only a few days until the Appeal hearing was due to start, how could a Judge believe that a person with learning difficulties and health problems could be ready and cope with dealing with a three-day Appeal hearing on his own. 244. We did try to get the Judge to adjourn the Appeal hearing so we could try and get representation put in place due to knowing The Appellant could not cope or handle this case on his own, which was due to start on the 26/09/2016 for 3 days hearing the Judge said he would not allow this and that the Appeal hearing would go ahead no matter what. 245. It seems again that The Appellant was being blamed for what was ongoing in this case, when The Appellant and The Appellant mother had done all, they could to have this case ready to be heard. 246. How can a Judge expect someone that is known to be ill and have learning difficulties to be able to handle this case on their own, considering there is only four days until the Appeal 3-day hearing is due to start? Nothing was put in place by the Judge to help The Appellant in any way. 247. The Appellant was just meant to get on with it on his own. 248. Once again, the solicitors had done nothing for this case and the Judge had allowed them to walk away and it seems as if everything was being blamed on The Appellant. 249. Once again, the solicitors had put this application in days before the Appeal 3-day hearing was due to start. 250. It was also noted while we had been waiting outside the Court that the bundles, we had been working from was the very first set of the application bundles and the only thing that had been updated was a few statements from the police officer in charge of the case, there were lots of documents missing within the bundle The Appellant had never seen. 251. It was stated by the respondent they had sent new bundles to the acting solicitors Michael Carroll and co three times the last being in January 2016, we had never been given a set of new bundles since this case had started in 2014, at hearing the Respondent stated in all there had been three sets of new bundles sent to The Appellant's acting solicitors, we had never been told about new bundles been sent and never given a new copy of any bundle. So, the bundle we had would have had all wrong page numbers and been paginated totally different from the bundles that was being used by the prosecution barrister and Courts. 252. It was at this stage The Appellant's mother knew why no page numbers matched at the lower court and why she looking for the correct pages and found it very hard as The Appellant's mother was trying to take notes within the application bundle at the lower court and was missing so much due to not having the correct page numbers or bundle. 253. When we were in Court, we did say this to the Judge about the bundles, the Judge ordered the clerk of the Court to contact Michael Carroll and Co solicitors and order the solicitors to bring the bundles to Court the solicitors informed the clerk that the bundles were at Nexus Chambers, the Judge was shocked that the solicitors did not have a copy of the bundles at their office. 254. The Appellant's uncle who was also at Court said to the Judge he was willing to go to Nexus Chambers and pick the bundles up. 255. The Judge listed this for the 22/09/2016 after 14:00 hours to make sure we were all working from them same set of bundles. Upon the Appellant's uncle getting home it was seen that the bundle he had was not the full set of bundles and only had part of the applications Skeleton Bundle. 256. On the 22/09/2016 we attended Court to inform the Judge we still did not have the updated bundles and the Judge once again got the clerk of the Court to call Michael Carroll and co solicitors to find out what was going on with the bundles, the Judge was very upset that we still did not have the bundles for the case, the Judge asked for the bundles to be brought to Court before 4 PM, The Appellant's mother stated that it would be easier and faster for her to pick the bundles up from the solicitors on the way home from Court, the Judge asked if she was sure that he could get them brought to Court she stated that it be faster for her to pick the bundles up from the solicitors on my way home. 257. When we left Court, The Appellant mother noticed she had a text from Michael Carroll at 15: 21 stating the bundles was now at the office for collection, due to the time we left Court the Appellant mother called Michael Carroll's office to say what time we would be there, The Appellant mother was told that the office would be closed by the time we got there so The Appellant mother agreed to pick the bundles up first thing in the morning on 23/09/2016258. On 23/09/2016 The Appellant mother left home early in the morning to go to Michael Carroll's office and collect the bundles with her brother, Mr. A Cordell went up to the office to get the bundles, when he came down, he had a piece of paper that The Appellant mother needed to sign that the bundles had collected from the office. 259.

Upon getting home and looking at the bundles The Appellant mother noticed there was at least 13 statements that The Appellant and The Appellant mother had never seen before from the Respondent bundle, the statements was all dated prior to the Magistrates Court trial.260. Upon looking at The Appellant's bundle it seemed this had not been updated or indexed since 2015, so all the new documents that had been submitted to be added to The Appellant's bundle was not in there. 261. There was also no statements in The Appellant's bundle, it seemed as though they had all been removed from the bundle, over the days leading up to this The Appellant mother had learned how important it was that all the bundles were paginated and indexed correctly and the same that each person was working from, The Appellant mother knew there was problems as multiple documents had been handed to the Court which she did not know if they had been patronised correctly or indexed into The Appellant's bundle that the court and the Respondent were using also the Appellant mother spent all weekend trying to add missing documents to The Appellant's bundle and making copies so that when we got to Court on the 26/09/2016 that these could be added to the Respondent bundle and the three Judge's bundles. 262. The Appellant health had become very unstable due to him knowing that he was going to have to be dealing with this himself. 263. The Appellant mother also spent part of the weekend also writing a letter to the Judge in regards to what had gone on and breaches in The Appellant's human rights mainly he's article 6 rights to a fair trial, there was also a list of things that had gone on throughout the case since 2014 in regards to the nondisclosure, and other issues that was always being raised when at Court and the reason as to why legal aid had been granted: Due to the complexity of the case. 264. Due to The Appellant's learning difficulties. 265. Due to the concerns of The Appellant health. 266. This letter was emailed to the Court and asked to be passed to the Judge. 267. Please see letter that was emailed to the judge the 26/09/2016 the three-day Appeal hearing was due to start The Appellant was so unwell that there was no way he could attend Court, Mr. A Cordell and Miss L Cordell attended Court to speak to the Judge. 268. When the Judge entered the Courtroom, he stated that he had had a letter that had to be addressed, he stated that he felt this would go to judicial review, he stated he had three options: Carry on with the Appeal in the hope The Appellant would turn up the following day. 269. Dismiss the Appeal. 270. Adjourn the Appeal to a new date. 271. The Judge went over the letter in great detail; he stated around five times that he felt this was going to go to judicial review. 272. The Judge decided to adjourn the case until the 16/01/2017 this was later changed for the Appeal to start on the 17/01/2017 The Respondent had tried to object to the Appeal being adjourned. 273. The Judge stated that we should try to find a new solicitor to take on the Appeal and that he would help and also make sure that legal aid was in place. 274. The Judge asked why The Appellant was not in Court. 275. The Appellant mother stated The Appellant had become so unwell due to what was going on in this case and that he was not coping. 276. Information was passed to the Judge that showed The Appellant was unwell. 277. It was also stated in regards to all the missing documents that was missing from The Appellant's bundle, and that there was no statements within the bundle, I stated to the Judge that I'd spent a lot of the weekend trying to update The Appellant's bundle and make sure that it was indexed correctly, I handed the documents that The Appellant mother was able to do with new indexing, The Appellant mother also stated that she knew there was still documents missing from The Appellant's bundle which she was not sure about or had time in which to add them. 278. The Appellant mother also stated that there were around 13 statements that we had never seen that were within the Respondent bundle that was dated prior to the Magistrate's trial. 279. The Judge was very unhappy and passed me his own bundle for The Appellant mother to check to see if the Courts bundles had been updated, upon looking the Judge's bundle had also not been updated since 2015 The Appellant mother passed the Judge's bundle back up to him explaining that it also had not been updated.280. At this the Respondent stated they would make new copies of the bundles and have they sent to us the Judge thanked the Respondent. 281. The Judge was very unhappy and said he was not going to allow this to be dropped and again made the clerk of the Court call Michael Carroll and co to order them to attend Court on the14/10/2016 in regards to the missing documents. 282. I stated I would try and add as many missing documents as I could but was unsure of what documents were missing as so much had been handed to the court and solicitors. 283. The Appellant mother asked the Judge if The Appellant would need to attend Court on the 14/10/2016 as it was due to only being regarding the missing documents The Appellant mother felt The Appellant did not need to be there the Judge agreed to this. 284. On the 14/10/2016 Mr. A Cordell and I attended Court on this date, the solicitors did not turn up, The Appellant mother had a list of documents that she had made up and indexed that needed to be added to The Appellant's bundle which she passed to the Judge.285. She stated to the Judge that she could not be sure if there were still documents missing. 286. She also stated that she had tried to call Miss Ward and had no reply. 287. The Judge was very upset that the solicitors had not turned up. 288. A letter had been sent by the solicitors Michael Carroll and co; the Judge again got the clerk of the Court to email Michael Carroll and co to tell them they had to be in Court on the 19/10/2016 The Appellant mother also stated to the Judge that she had made many phone calls to other solicitors and due to the case being Appeal stage no one was willing to take the Appeal on due to the cost they would get under legal aid, that it was a set amount as legal aid believed that the solicitors dealing with the Appeal would be the same solicitors that dealt with the original trial, Appeals are set at a standard rate so any solicitor taking on a case would not get paid to go over the complete bundles, and take updated instructions from the client. 289. Again, The Appellant mother asked the Judge if The Appellant needed to attend Court on the next date, which the Judge he replied no to. 290. On the 19/10/2016 again, Mr. A Cordell and I attended Court, once again the solicitors was not in attendance, the Judge had had a letter from Michael Carroll co stating Miss Ward no longer worked for the company, the Judge was very upset and was not going to allow this to be dropped, the Judge got the clerk of the Court to email Michael Carroll and co to attend Court on the 25/10/2016 The Appellant mother again stated to the Judge that she had made many phone calls to other solicitors to try and get them to take over the Appeal, and due to the case being Appeal stage no one was willing to take the Appeal on due to the cost they would get under legal aid, that it was a set amount as legal aid believed that the solicitors dealing with the Appeal would be the same solicitors that dealt with the original trial, Appeals are set at a standard rate so any solicitor taking on a case would not get paid to go over the complete bundles, and take updated instructions from the client. 291. When the Appellant mother got home, she again tried to call Miss Ward with no reply she also texts her with no reply to the text. 292. On the 25/10/2016 again Mr. A Cordell and I attended Court, once again the solicitors were not in attendance, the Judge was very upset and done an Internet search under Miss Ward's name to find out if she was working under a new solicitor, he found the new solicitors and sent an email demanding that Miss Ward attended Court on the 11/11/2016 Again The Appellant mother stated to the Judge that she had made many phone calls to other solicitors and due to the case being Appeal stage no one was willing to take the Appeal on due to the cost they would get under legal aid that he was a set amount as legal aid believed that the solicitors dealing with the Appeal would be the same solicitors that dealt with the original trial, Appeals are set at a standard rate so any solicitor taking on a case would not get paid to go over the complete bundles, and take updated instructions from the client. 293. When the Appellant mother got home from Court at 15:48 she received a phone call from Miss Ward, she stated that she knew nothing about the Judge had asked her to attend Court that Michael Carroll and Co had not informed her in regards to any emails sent from the Court. 294. The Appellant mother said to her but I've tried to call you and text you and you have not replied or picked the phone up. She stated Michael Carroll had told her she was not allowed to contact us or talk to us. 295. The Appellant mother and Miss Ward arranged to meet on 27/10/2016 to go over The Appellant's bundle to check for missing documents. 296. On the 27/10/2016 The Appellant mother meet with Miss Ward to go over The Appellant's bundle, upon looking at the bundle and the documents that The Appellant mother had added and indexed Miss Ward stated she believed there were no missing files, as time has gone on, I have found other documents that should have been in The Appellant's bundle that were missing. 297. These have never been added as The Appellant mother did not want to have to go back to the Judge and say there were more documents that were missing. 298. Miss Ward stated she had to attend Court but gave a different date that the Judge had ordered her to be there, The Appellant mother stated to her that the Judge had given the date of the 11/11/2016 when we were in Court, Miss Ward stated that is not what was put into the email that was sent to the company Miss Ward worked for. 299. The Appellant mother stated she would send an email over to the Court to tell the Court that we had meet up and checked The Appellant's bundle we believed there was no documents missing at that point. 300. On the 01/11/2016 The Appellant mother wrote an email to the Judge to state that there had been a meeting with Miss Ward and we had gone over The Appellant's bundle and believed there were no documents missing now. 301. The Appellant mother asked in the email to the Judge if we still needed to attend Court on the 11/11/2016 and if so, could this be confirmed via email. 302. On the 02/11/2016 The Appellant mother received a reply from Wood Green Crown Court from the Judge stating that we did not need to attend on the 11/11/2016. and the date would be vacated. 304. On the 19/12/2016 The Appellant mother sent an email to the Judge in regards to still not finding a solicitor that was willing to take the Appeal on, The Appellant mother asked the Judge to help in regards to getting a solicitor to act for The Appellant regarding the Appeal as time was becoming short for the Appeal hearing. 305. On the 21/12/2016 The Appellant mother received a reply to her email to the Judge stating that the Judge could not help with a solicitor. 306. The Appellant mother still did not give up and she carried on trying to find one that was willing to take the Appeal on for The Appellant. 307. But the Appellant mother was upset as the Judge did state he would help, on the 26/09/2016 and as time was short for when the Appeal hearing was due to start the, The Appellant mother did not wait till the last minute to ask the Judge for help, and now she was being told the Judge could not help. 309. On the 12/01/2016 late in the day The Appellant mother was given a number form a solicitors of a solicitor's called MK-Law that maybe could help and take the Appeal on, The Appellant mother called them they were the first solicitor's in all of the solicitor's she had been contacting since 00/09/2016 that when she said the case was at Appeal stage wanted to hear what the case was about, she broke down in tears the company agreed to take the case on as long as the Judge agreed to an adjournment, she stated to them she did not think the Judge will agree to this as in 00/09/2016 when the Judge had adjourned the Appeal, the Judge had stated he would not adjourn it again. 310. The solicitor stated that they would not have enough time to be able to get all of the bundles go over them to get a barrister to go over them have a meeting with The Appellant and take instructions within two days due to the weekend, that they would send a barrister to Court on the 17/01/2017 too asked for an adjournment so that they could act in the best interest of the client, as that is what they are there to do and so the legal aid could be addressed and passed over to them or a new application would need to be applied for. 311. The Appellant's health had deteriorated, when the Appellant's mother told The Appellant she believed she had found a solicitor to take the Appeal on this did bring his mood up a little but he felt so much had gone wrong it would only just go wrong again, he agreed that he would attend Court and meet the barrister that the new solicitors was sending, the problem was this could change at any time, The Appellant does not leave his home which he treats as his prison. 312. On the 17/01/2016 we attended Court, the barrister was there for The Appellant, so was the Appellant mother and the Appellant uncle we went into a side room and the barrister spoke to The Appellant in regards to what the plans was and what he was going to ask the Judge for which was an adjournment, that they needed an adjournment so that they could act in the best interest of their client, so that they could go over the complete case bundles, take instructions, make sure legal aid was in place correctly, and instruct a barrister who would be dealing with the Appeal for The Appellant, The Appellant agreed that an adjournment could be asked for, again it was stated to the barrister that we did not feel the Judge would grant an adjournment, the barrister stated that the Judge should understand that an adjournment would be needed for the new solicitors to act in a professional manner for their client and be able to get everything ready and have time to understand fully what the case was about, that an Appeal should be fair for all sides. 313. We were called into Court and the barrister spoke to the Judge, explained the situation and that he was asking for an adjournment, he spoke to the Judge in regards to the legal aid, and having the appeal ready for their client and having time to be able to deal with it in a professional manner for their client. 314. The Judge stated that he believed legal aid was still in place and it could just be transferred, the barrister stated if legal aid had been revoked then it would take at least two weeks for it to be put back in place, the Judge adjourned the hearing so that the barrister could contact the legal aid department to check the status of the legal aid, the barrister made calls to the legal aid department, but the legal aid department could not confirm whether legal aid had been revoked. 315. Calls was also made to Michael Carroll and Co who stated that when they were removed from record that the legal aid that was in place had been revoked. 316. The case was called back into Court and the barrister explained that the legal aid department could not say whether or not the legal aid had been revoked, but when a call was placed to the old solicitors Michael Carroll and co they had said that the legal aid that was in place had been revoked. 317. The Judge handed the barrister certificate of legal aid, the barrister stated that the certificate was not proof that the legal aid had not been revoked. 318. The Judge stated I'm sure that you can be ready for the Appeal to go ahead by tomorrow, the barrister stated that they have a professional obligation to act in the best interest of the client and that they would not have enough time in order to go over all the bundles take instructions from the client, and instruct a barrister within half a day, and also to check fully whether a new legal aid application would need to be applied for. 319. At this the Judge stated well if you cannot be ready by tomorrow, then The Appellant will have to act for himself, we will not adjourn the Appeal again. 320. It seems again The Appellant was being put at blame for the delay in the Appeal, but it was not due to The Appellant, The Appellant only wanted a fair hearing and Appeal from when this started in 2014 and from what was going on this clearly had not been. 321. The barrister tried his hardest to get an adjournment of the Appeal but the Judge would not allow an adjournment, the Judge started talking about the conditions that was imposed by the Magistrates Court, he stated that he felt that parts was disproportionate, but he could see nothing wrong with the timescale of the Antisocial Behaviour Order of 5 years was. 322. This was not the first time the Judge had mentioned the conditions that The Appellant was under, but this time the Judge went further to include what sections he thought were disproportional, to the people in the Court the Appellant, Mr. A Cordell, Miss L Cordell, and The Appellants barrister, the only way of looking at what the Judge was stating he had already made his mind up that he thought the conditions was the only problem. 323. But this was before the Appeal had even been heard, why a Judge would state this without even hearing the Appeal. 324. The Judge would not allow an adjournment and stated The Appellant could represent himself if the barrister could not be ready by 10 0'clock the next morning, Judge raised and left the Courtroom. 325. The Appellant was in such a state when we left the Courtroom, he stated he knew the Judge would not allow the adjournment and felt the Judge did not want him to have representation and this is why the Judge removed his old solicitors, he felt very let down and just wanted to go home. 326. The barrister called as into a side room and had to ask The Appellant due to what the Judge has said, if they were to change the conditions to something appropriate would The Appellant accept it. 327. This put further stress on The Appellant, The Appellant knew he had done nothing wrong and had not done what the police was saying he had done the Appellant knew that if the disclosure had been given it would have proven this. 328. The police have been unwilling to give any disclosure since this case started. 329. The Appellant was not willing to accept having the conditions changed and accepting the Antisocial Behaviour Order as this would have said he was guilty; The Appellant was not willing to accept something he knew he was not guilty of the Appellant was so distressed all the way home, he felt he would never get justice. 330. Later that day The Appellant's mother contacted the solicitors to see if anything could be done, but due to the Judge not allowing the adjournment the solicitors stated they could not take the case on and could not attend Court the next day because they would be putting their company reputation at risk by not having enough time in order to prepare for the Appeal to be able to act in a professional and correct way for their client. 331. Which the Appellant's mother could totally, understand? A vulnerable person should not be forced into a position where they have to act on their own behalf, in the opinion of many practitioners, detrimental to the administration of justice. 332. But this is exactly what had happened, The Appellant and the Appellant mothers and others cannot understand or see any reason why the Judge did not allow for a short adjournment so that The Appellant had proper representation in place, when there was a solicitor, company willing to take on the Appeal hearing on and allow a fair Appeal hearing. 333. The Appellant's mother had not stopped since the removal of the old solicitors in 00/09/2016 trying to find a solicitors company to take the Appeal hearing on, so many calls was made to solicitors companies, advice lines, citizens advice, pro bono solicitors, the reason why the pro bono unit would not take the case on was because The Appellant was entitled to legal aid, if The Appellant or his family could have afforded to pay privately for a solicitors company to act for The Appellant this would have been done a long time ago. 334. Justice is meant to be fair, but in the case of The Appellant this was not the case. 335. On 18/01/2017 The Appellant was so unwell he did not attend Court on this day, nor did Mr. a Cordell, or Miss L Cordell, Miss L Cordell did however write a letter to the Judge asked in for a stay on proceedings for the Appeal until it was taken to judicial review in regards to what had gone on. 336. The Judge decided to go ahead in the absence of The Appellant with the Appeal; he heard the witness statements from police on this date. 337. On 19/01/2017 again, The Appellant and his family did not attend Court this case has made The Appellant so unwell, at the end of this day the Judge dismissed the Appeal against conviction, but he changed a few of the conditions that The Appellant was under, the conditions are still a breach of The Appellant's human rights. Schedule of prohibitions are listed below. Schedule of prohibitions you must not: A. Be concerned in the organisation of a rave as defined by s.63(1) or s63(1A) of the Criminal Justice and Public Order Act 1994. B. Knowingly use or supply property, personal or otherwise, for use in a rave as defined by s.63 (1) of the Criminal justice and Public Order Act 1994. C. Enter or remain in any disused or abandoned building unless invited to do so in writing by a registered charitable organisation or local authority or owner of the premises. D. Enter any non-residential private property (by which words buildings and an open enclosed and are intended to be individual) or an industrial estate between the hours of 22:00 and 07:00 without written permissions from the owner and a leaseholder of such property. E. If you can demonstrate that the purpose of your entry of such property is to purchase goods or services from any shop or garage or fuel supplier which is open to the public at such times. F. Then in such event, you may enter but you must not remain on such property for longer than 30 minutes and you may do so on only one occasion during each separate nine-hour period between 22:00 and 07:00 daily. G. Provide any service in respect of any licensable activity in an unlicensed premise. 238. For the sake of clarity, nothing in this order prevents the defendant from assisting, preparing for, engaging in licensed licensable activities, 239. This order expires on the 03/08/2020 This order and its requirements amendments a previous order imposed by Highbury Corner Magistrates Court. 240. Condition 4 states Enter any non-residential private property (by which words buildings and an open enclosed and are intended to be individual) or an industrial estate between the hours of 22:00 and 07:00 without written permissions from the owner and a leaseholder of such property. 241. If you can demonstrate that the purpose of your entry of such property is to purchase goods or services from any shop or garage or fuel supplier which is open to the public at such times. 242. Then in such event, you may enter but you must not remain on such property for longer than 30 minutes and you may do so on only one occasion during each separate nine-hour period between 22:00 and 07:00 daily. 243. With this condition in place any non-residential property The Appellant would not be able to attend only for 30 minutes on one occasion during a separate nine hour period: This would include hospitals, police stations, 24-hour supermarkets, petrol stations, cinemas, restaurants, bars, night clubs and any other public place open to the public between these times that is non-residential The Appellant would only have a 30 minute window to be able to enter any non-residential building, however is not feasible that within 30 minutes The Appellant could be seen in a hospital within 30 minutes, how would it be feasible if the Appellant went to dinner at a restaurant they would be completed within 30 minutes, how would it be feasible if The Appellant wanted to go to a nightclub or late-night bar as it would only have 30 minutes, places that are open to the public should not be restricted to the Appellant how is the Appellant meant to have a normal family life. 244. The Appellant cannot go to without written permission which would be degrading for The Appellant to have to ask each time he wanted to go somewhere and explain why he needed it to be confirmed in writing by the owner and/or leaseholder of the property, how this condition could be applied by any Judge and state it is not a beach of someone human rights is beyond me.245. Conditions 2 states knowingly using or supplying property personal or otherwise for the use of a rave as defined under section 63.1 of the criminal justice and public order act, The Appellants has spent the last 10 years building his business saving every penny and help from family it is within the entertainment industry, he will hires equipment out and his services, The Appellants business would seriously be affected, because if he hired his equipment and it ended up in an illegal rave The Appellant would be in breach of the conditions. 246. When hiring out equipment you do asked what is going to be used for, and you do have a contract that is in place, but what the person tells you their reason for hiring the equipment out is not always the correct reason and is not used for the purpose the person told you The Appellant would be in breach of these conditions also if The Appellant loaned someone any personal belongings and that person ended up at an illegal rave then The Appellant would again be in breach of his conditions, even if the item was something that did not even constitute as being for an illegal rave. 247. Conditions 5 states; provide any service in respect of any licensable activities in an unlicensed, premises. 248. How is The Appellant meant to run his business, The Appellant would not be able to obtain a license that has already been clarified by the police and councils due to the Antisocial Behaviour Order that is in place, The Appellant would not be able to offer his services also due to the restriction that he has only 30 minutes within a non-residential building, most events go to the late hours in the morning so even if there was a licensed premises and someone wanted to hire the services of The Appellant The Appellant would not be able to do this. 249. The Appellant was also offered contracts within two nightclubs to be the manager if The Appellant was again offered contracts within nightclubs or late-night bars The Appellant would not be able to accept these contracts. 250. I cannot even say why condition 5 has been imposed because condition 4 conflicts with condition 5 in certain parts and who would want to hire or take on The Appellant if he had to ask for written permission which would be degrading for The Appellant to have to ask each time he wanted to go somewhere or had a contact and had to explain why he needed it to be confirmed in writing by the owner and/or leaseholder of the property, these are just a few concerns with the conditions that the Appellant is under; there is other concerns with other conditions set at by the Courts that are of concern. 251. When the Appeal hearing was over the conditions was not served on The Appellant, they were posted to him in the post. 252. The Appellant mother has put an application into the Crown Court on forms EX-105 and EX-107 requesting the Tape/Disc Transcription for all hearings, and is waiting to hear back from the court, to see if it will be granted. 253. The Appellant mother has also put an application into the police under a subject access request to get all The Appellant history with the police which will show the data protection errors and more data that has been inputted incorrectly by the police, it will also show a history of how much the police does not leave The Appellant alone. 254. Also, how many complaints has had to be put into the police regarding how the police have treated The Appellant over many years which when asked in this ASBO application case by the judge was any of this the truth they replied no to. 255. The Judge also asked if anyone else had had an ASBO application against them for an ASBO on the dates held within the ASBO application, the Judge did not get a reply and it was not asked again. 256. The police have not only done this to The Appellant but The Appellant whole family so each family member has requested their records. 257. So far, the police have refused The Appellant application and his brothers, they have allowed The Appellant mother and The Appellant sister but only part of the information has been supplied. 258. This has been passed to the ICO to address, but due to the backlog the ICO has we have not been told a timeframe this will take. 259. At this time there is also complaint still ongoing with the Appellant and the police and The Appellant brother with the police. 260. It is also noticed that some of the police in this application who have done statements in this ASBO have complaint still standing against them, with The Appellant brother complaint. 261. But until we get all the data, we have requested there could be more police officers in this ASBO application who have had complaints put in about them. 262. There will also be a complaint regarding the DPS who investigated The Appellant complaint due to the fact they did not follow their own codes, when this complaint was passed the IPCC, they upheld The Appellant Appeal to the IPCC and the complaint has had to be reinvestigated, due to what the DPS allowed to happen, and allowed the police officer to resign. 263. Before allowing The Appellant rights to take his complaint to the IPCC for Appeal before seeing the report and allowing a misconduct hearing to happen, before The Appellant had his right to appeal and the IPCC and they left a large section out in the investigation which pointed to discourtesy by the police. 264. Still not completed I still got sections to add about ASBO application and no discloser and some other sections and some laws. 265. This is how a JR has to be written up. 266. They will have all the ASBO application bundles sent to the high court also so will be able to see the whole case as I need to also point out that we cannot add everything in this due to allowing the police to have the full extent as to what is wrong within the application for the ASBO that should have been able to use at the appeal hearing as we don't want the police to be able to try and correct the things that are wrong. 267. If you want to edit any of this then please do so really carefully and in a next color and you have to keep this format don't change it as it has to be sent to the high court in this formation, I know you are not going to like some of what I have written but if you want to win this case at JR you have to put things you don't like to hear or feel you don't have a problem. The judges have to see your human rights have been fully fucked over from start to end of these court cases and showing things you don't like will help that you can at your own write up as well."

It is said that on the on the 12/09/2014 the police attended The Appellant home address of 109 Burncroft, Avenue, Enfield, EN3 7JQ, they knocked on the door, The Appellant was not expecting anyone, The Appellant approached his front door and looked through his spy hole he could see clearly see was the police, and asked them through the door what they wanted, the police stated they needed to speak to him, The Appellant opened his front door very slightly the police stated they needed to serve some documents on him, due to The Appellant's learning difficulties he stated he would not accept anything and closed his door and stated he was not being rude in doing so.
It is a well-known fact on the police's system of government bodies that The Appellant does have learning difficulties and health problems

The Appellant could hear the police talking outside and the lady police officer said what we are going to do now.
A male police officer stated put it on the floor in front of the door.
They then took some pages out of the A4 size folder and put them in to The Appellant's letterbox this was four pages.
The A4 size folder the lady police officer placed it on the floor in front of The Appellant's front door.
The Appellant's mother could not attend The Appellant's address that day to pick the file up due to a death in the family, she attended The Appellant's home address the next day, the folder was opened on the floor where the police had left it.
The Appellant's mother was very shocked when she looked inside the folder and saw the data that was within it.
The data that was within side the A4 size folder was personal information and a breach of the data protection act 1998 by leaving such data in a commune area of the block of flats.
A letter of complaint was put to the police in the way in which they had left personal information on a door step in view of everyone that lived or who came in to the block of flats, on the 13/09/2014 to Edmonton Green police station, at the same time the complaint letter was handed in so was the A4 bundle.
The complaint has never been addressed and has never had a response from the police who left personal information on a front door step which is a breach of data protection act due to the contents held within the A4 size bundle.
Please see letter of complaint and photos and receipt that was handed to Edmonton police station on 13/09/2014
On 06/10/2014 The Appellant was due to appear in Court this day, The Appellant had solicitors in place, Michael Carroll and Co Solicitors, legal aid had been applied for, but the legal aid had been refused, the Judge sitting overturned this and granted legal aid.
The reason for the Judge overturning and granting legal aid was due to The Appellant having known learning difficulties, health problems and due to the complexity of the case.
Disclosure was asked for, but no disclosure ever came.
The case was relisted for the 22/10/2014 for an interim Antisocial Behaviour Order hearing, all police officers were due to attend for the interim hearing.
On the 22/10/2014 The Appellant was due in Court for the Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order to be heard, due to The Appellant barrister having a burst water pipe and his home being flooded he could not attend, the applicant still wanted the case to be heard which the Judge would not allow.
The Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order hearing was then set for the 05/11/2014

On the 22/10/2014 all police officers did attend Court for the Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order hearing.
Disclosure was asked for on this date.

On 05/11/2014 The Appellant was due in Court for the Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order hearing; all police were due to attend but did not.
The Appellant's barrister could not attend on this date due to the flooding that taken place at his home address, another barrister turned up to represent The Appellant but had no paperwork for the case only a skeleton argument to strike-out the Antisocial Behaviour Order application.
The skeleton argument, submitted on behalf of The Appellant, to strike-out the application for the Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order.

Arguments advanced in this respect, and those which rely upon the civil procedure rules, are not applicable to these proceedings.
The civil procedure rules only apply to proceedings in the county Court, the high Court and the civil division of the Court of Appeal.
As a result, the Magistrate's Court has no jurisdiction to consider an application to strike-out application.
The Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order hearing went ahead, The Appellant's barrister did not have the correct paperwork for the hearing, and knew very little about the case, no police officers turned up to Court on this day.
In the days prior to this hearing The Appellant was rushed into hospital due to kidney problems while he was still in hospital, he was informed by his solicitor on the 04/11/2014 that if he did not attend Court on the 05/11/2014 the case would go ahead without his presence.
The Appellant then discharged himself from hospital, because he had no choice.
He was extremely unwell: --
On this date the Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order was granted by the District Judge Newham. Upon delivering her judgment, District Judge Newham ruled that it is just to impose an Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order, and that regard had been taken of The Appellant's Article 6 and 8 rights, as well as The Appellants business.
District Judge Newham ruled that there are no provisions contained within the (amended) proposed Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order which would prevent The Appellant from conducting legitimate business.
On this date all police officers were due to attend.
They did not attend their reason was they were not told to attend; this was untrue as the application from 22/10/2014 should still stand as the case had only been adjourned until this date for the Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order hearing) The applicant's case also relied solely on hearsay, Magistrate's Courts (hearsay evidence in civil proceeding) rules 1999.
These are the conditions The Appellant was placed under and are for the whole of the UK:
The defendant is prohibited from: --
Attending a rave as defined by s.63(1) of the criminal justice and public order act 1994; Being concerned in the organisation of a rave as defined by s.63(1) of the criminal justice and public order act 1994; Knowingly using or supplying property, personal or otherwise, for use in a rave as defined by s.63(1) of the criminal justice and public order act 1994; Entering or remaining in any disused or abandoned building unless invited to do so in writing by a registered charitable organisation; Entering or remaining on non-residential private property on an industrial estate between the hours of 10pm and 7am without written permission from the owner and/or leaseholder of the property; and Engaging, in any licensable activity's, in any unlicensed premises.
For the sake of clarity, nothing in this order prevents the defendant from assisting, preparing for, or engaging in licensed licensable activities.
This is untrue as we have since contacted council and police and told he would not be granted a licence to hold any events as long as the Antisocial Behaviour Order was in place.
So, The Appellant's entertainment business is seriously affected by the Antisocial Behaviour Order that was put in place.
Points to address regarding the conditions The Appellant is prohibited from doing.
Attending a rave as defined by s.63(1) of the criminal justice and public order act 1994; Being concerned in the organisation of a rave as defined by s.63(1) of the criminal justice and public order act 1994; Knowingly using or supplying property, personal or otherwise, for use in a rave as defined by s.63(1) of the criminal justice and public order act 1994;

Entering or remaining in any disused or abandoned building unless invited to do so in writing by a registered charitable organisation; Entering or remaining on non-residential private property on an industrial estate between the hours of 10pm and 7am without written permission from the owner and/or leaseholder of the property; and Engaging in any licensable activity's in any unlicensed premises.
Clearly these conditions The Appellant was put under are a breach of The Appellant's human rights, and disproportionate due to the fact it would breach:
Article 3 freedom from torture and inhuman or degrading treatment
Article 5 right to liberty and security
Article 8 respect for your private and family life, home and correspondence
Article 23.1; of the universal declaration of human rights states: (1) everyone has the right to work, to free choice of employment, to just and favourable conditions of work and to protection against unemployment.
Condition E states entering or remaining on non-residential private property on an industrial estate between the hours of 10 pm and 7 am without written permission from the owner and/or leaseholder of the property.
With this condition in place any non-residential property The Appellant would not be able to attend:
Would include Hospitals, Police Stations, 24-hour Supermarkets, Petrol Stations, Cinemas, Restaurants, Bars, Nightclubs and any other public place open to the public between these times that is non-residential The Appellant cannot go to without written permission which would be degrading for The Appellant to have to ask each time he wanted to go somewhere and explain why he needed it to be confirmed in writing by the owner and/or leaseholder of the property, how this condition could be applied by any Judge and state it is not a beach of someone human rights is beyond me.
Conditions C states knowingly using or supplying property personal or otherwise for the use of a rave as defined under section 63.1 of the criminal justice and public order act,
The Appellants has spent the last 10 years building his business saving every penny and help from family it is within the entertainment industry, he will hire equipment out, The Appellants business would seriously be affected, because if he hired his equipment and it ended up in an illegal rave The Appellant would be in breach of the conditions.
When hiring out equipment you do asked what is going to be used for, and you do have a contract that is in place, but what the person tells you their reason for hiring the equipment out is not always the correct reason and is not used for the purpose the person told you The Appellant would be in breach of these conditions also if the Appellant loaned someone any personal belongings and that person ended up at an illegal rave then The Appellant would again be in breach of his conditions, even if the item was something that did not even constitute as being for an illegal rave.
These are just two of the concerns with the conditions that the Appellant is under; there is other concerns with other conditions set at by the Courts that are of concern.
Also breached within this hearing was the Appellant's
Article 6 right to a fair trial
The Appellant had to go ahead with his hearing without the barrister having any other paperwork other than the application to strike-out which was not allowed.
The police officers not attending when they knew they should.
The Appellant being so unwell he was not coping he should never have had to discharge himself from hospital to try to defend himself.
The police having it on the police systems who done what they say The Appellant has done and would not disclose that information.

The following directions were made: The parties to exchange any additional evidence on which they seek to rely by 20/01/2015 This is to include any witness statements from any witness, including the defendant himself; and the parties are prohibited from relying on any evidence not already served, or served in accordance with paragraph 1 of these directions, without the permission of the Court.
Although not a formal direction, should any witnesses no longer be required, the Judge requested written confirmation of this to be given to all parties speedily.
At present, the following witnesses are required to attend the full hearing:
Inspector Douglas Skinner.
Police constable Miles.
Acting police SERGEANT EDGOOSE.
Police constable ELSMORE.
Sergeant King.
Police constable Ames; and Inspector Hamill.
The interim order is to continue until 10/03/2015 when the full hearing would be heard this was listed for two full days.
Disclosure was asked for this was meant to be given by 20/01/2015 this never happened, and no disclosure was given.
No disclosure was served on us by the 20/01/2015 that was asked for; this went on throughout this case.
Never were we given any disclosure we asked for and the disclosure we were asking for would prove The Appellant did not do what the police was saying within the application.
Within this time before the full hearing was due to take place The Appellant and his mother was constantly contacting via phone and emails the acting solicitors, things were not being done paperwork was not being completed meetings was constantly being put off, we had also asked a number of times could the solicitors please go over the CADs, and intelligence reports that were in the application as there were serious errors, this also was never done.
This also noted within the applications bundle there were serious breaches of data protection within police officers statements; this was allowed to remain within the applications bundle without being questioned by the acting solicitors, although it was constantly being brought up also witness statements that were contained within the applications bundle were written by police officers and not the witnesses themselves, we was not allowed to call any witnesses or any other police officers whose information was within the applications bundle we was only allowed to have the police officers that the application wanted us to have, we was denied any other witnesses being called.
On the 10/03/2015 this date was due to be the full Antisocial Behaviour Order hearing, but the Court had made a mistake and only listed it for a one-day hearing.
District Judge Williams sitting, apologised for the error, and said that a part hearing could take place, or the full hearing be adjourned to a later date so that the full hearing could be dealt with over two days.
The Appellant was upset as he wanted this to be dealt with and only agreed that the case be adjourned until the 03/08/2014 and the 04/08/2014 if district Judge Williams heard the case, she cleared her diary and promised that she would be the Judge that would preside over the case.
District Judge Williams also stated that this was the 1st time she had ever seen a case in which the commissioner of the metropolitan police had brought an Antisocial Behaviour Order in front of her in this way in a civil capacity.
Disclosure was asked for and this was again never given.

On the 02/08/2015 The Appellant's mother received a phone call from Miss Ward acting solicitors, regarding a statement she had just found in the emails relating to Antisocial Behaviour Order, The Appellant's mother asked if this could be sent over via email to her but was a little late to do anything about it because the full hearing started the next day.
This was continuously happening throughout the case; the solicitors seemed to only do anything on the case the day before hearings or a few days was due to take place.
Many emails were sent including phone calls made to get things done, most of the emails went not replied to for months phone calls was not picked up, or if they were, we were told that things would be addressed they never was.
The Appellant attended Court on the 03/08/2015 and the 04/08/2015 for the full hearing of the Antisocial Behaviour Order, only to find the stipulation and reasons he had allowed the case to be adjourned to these dates had not been adhered to, the presiding Judge was not District Judge Williams, its fact it was District Judge D Pigot who would be residing over the full hearing.
Non-disclosure was again spoken about, but nothing came of this, and the case went forward.
We understand this is only our opinion, but we believe this Judge had already found that she was going to prove the case before it even started for the full Antisocial Behaviour Order in favour of the applicants.
Before the hearing started The Appellant's, mother informed the Judge the Appellant was very ill and she did not think he would cope due to health problems.
She continued with the case none the less and did not ask The Appellant's mother to elaborate further.
Later within the hearing she would notice that there should have been medical records for The Applicant within his bundle was missing along with a lot of other documents, The Appellants bundle was only around 82 pages when he should have been around 300 pages.
Continually through cross examination by The Appellants barrister toward the police officers, District Judge D Pigot kept interrupting and telling the barrister he could not ask the questions he was asking even though what he was asking corresponded with what the police had put in their statements.
The Appellant's barrister even commented to the Judge Pigot "I am only asking questions pertaining to what the police have put in their statements" also he said to the Judge "I hope you are going to have as much due diligence with my client on cross examination as you are with me" to which the Judge replied she would.
This was certainly not the case and in fact the Judge allowed The Appellant to be cross examined extremely harshly even knowing The Appellant had health problems and also did not even have his own bundle which he had never had from his solicitors we was never told by the acting solicitors that we should have had one, but you'd also seem there was a large amount of documents missing from The Appellant's bundle, when The Appellant took the stand the Judge did asked where his bundle was, he stated he had never been given one, and did not know he needed one, the Judge did asked if there was a spare bundle that The Appellant could use which there was not the Judge carried on by allowing The Appellant to be cross-examined clearly anyone could see The Appellant was unwell, from time to time the Judge passed The Appellant her own bundle as you can clearly see The Appellant because the appellant did not know what he was being asked, the problem with this is how is someone with learning difficulties meant to read what is contained within the bundle, if The Appellant had had access to his own bundle prior to the hearing with help of software and his family he would have been able to memorise what was in his own bundle.
With the line of questioning, his learning problems and his health this was totally inappropriate but was allowed by the Judge.

The Appellants barrister questioned the applicant's barrister about the legitimacy and the fact if every CAD being used in their application case was linked to Progress Way and if there was an illegal rave taking place at the same time on Crown Road.
The Appellants mother had asked The Appellants barrister to ask this question, the reason being the acting solicitors had not gone over the CADS although they were asked to many times, you can clearly see although there were multiple reductions within the applicants bundle clearly there was CADS within the bundle that had nothing to do with the application case.
He stated every CAD related to Progress Way and there was not an illegal rave taking place on Crown Road, and the police also said this was the case under cross examination, to further this the Judge then asked the same question was every CAD linked to the applications case and was given the exact same answer yes.
Now I show you the freedom of information act which was obtained from Enfield Council. (See attached)
In point of fact there are multiple inconsistencies pertained within the CADS within the application, timestamps also do not match up within the CADs, there is also all the missing CADs. Some of the intelligence reports also have been updated with no reason as to why.
There are also the breaches of data protection within The Appellants PNC record which are incorrect which also can be proven, also contained within the police officer statements there are errors which can be proven as untrue and a breach of the data protection act and multiple inconsistencies within police officer statements, none of these were addressed.
We know the police knew about the illegal rave at Crown Road because police were deployed there.
This can clearly be seen within the CADS which are within the application's bundle. But there is so much redaction within the CADS we believe there is a lot more that pertain to Crown Road, and we cannot see due to the reductions.
There is also a lot of missing CAD reports.
Part of The Appellant's barrister submission had been that the allegations were that The Appellant was involved in the organising of illegal raves, but the applicant hadn't adduced evidence of trespass which is a requirement for proving that an indoor rave was illegal.
The district Judge ruled that the applicant did not need to prove illegality, all that needed to prove was the Appellant had acted in an Antisocial Manner.
In The Appellants barrister view this is a very questionable decision: firstly, the applicant based their case on the illegality of the raves rather than the fact of the raves themselves and secondly, without proof of illegality the presumption of innocence leads to the conclusion that the raves were legal, and thus the applicant being prohibited from engaging in an ostensibly lawful activity requires more careful consideration on issues of proportionality.
The Applicant could judicially review the case state this decision but I think there is little merit in doing so because he would then lose his right to Appeal to the Crown Court and even if he succeeded in the high/div Court, they would merely remit it back to the Lower Court who would then probably go through the motions of considering proportionality before coming to the same conclusion.
To summarise the Judge stated she did not need to prove illegality, but she proved The Appellant had acted in an Antisocial Manner, how the district Judge came to this conclusion we do not understand, not one police officer had stated The Appellant had acted in an Antisocial Manner towards them, is also a fact that any application for an Antisocial Behaviour Order has to be bought within six months of the dates, there was cases going back prior to the six months which should have only been used for reference, but the District Judge also included these cases to be proven.

Since this case started, we knew the police and the public order investigation unit held information on the police systems that proved The Appellant was not the organiser of these illegal raves.
In fact, the police knowingly went around to the known organiser's homes and also spoke with them on the telephone.
This proves they have the information we were asking for in disclosure.
(This was found out via social media and Google by The Appellant's mother) The Appellant's mother even called the public order investigation unit and spoke to DS Chapman, and Val Turner.
The Appellant had not been coping throughout this case, and walked out of the Court, The Appellant's mother said to the District Judge you can clearly see he is not well and is not coping, which the district Judge confirmed she could clearly see that The Appellant was not well.
But continued to ask the clerk to get The Appellant back in Court and she also informed that if appellant re-entered the Court room and was disruptive, she would hold him in contempt of Court.
The Appellants mother would not let The Appellant re-entered the Court room, as she knew The Appellant was so unwell and not coping and did not want him to be held in contempt of Court due to his health.
Because of this The Appellant was not there to have the Antisocial Behaviour Order served on him, and the Antisocial Behaviour Order was served to The Appellant's mother on his behalf. Upon proving the case District Judge Pigot granted all the applicants' conditions.
The applicants wanted to make this a lifetime Antisocial Behaviour Order, which district Judge Pigot did not allow and granted it for 5 years within the whole of the UK.
With the stipulation that it could be reapplied for when the 5 years were concluded.
She started the 5 years from the 04/08/2015 she did not count the time The Appellant had been on the Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order.
The Appellant's mother and The Appellant's barrister then asked the Judge if the conditions of the Antisocial Behaviour Order could be defined as there were many points of concern the Judge was asked if The Appellant went to a Tesco or Tesco petrol station between the hours of 10pm and 7am would he be in breach of the conditions and subsequently arrested, the response from District Judge Pigot was dumbfounding she said" yes he would be arrested, taken to Court and would have to prove he was going to get petrol I am guessing the same could be said for food and any other non-residential building including hospitals, police stations, restaurants, cinemas etc.
on hearing The Appellant's mother and barrister questioned this and said, so you think this is in accordance with the law?" she replied to this "the conditions are precise and plain.
District Judge Pigot then left the Courtroom with her clerk to get the memorandum of an entry made up as soon as possible due to the lateness in the day and the department who dealt with this would be closed, on her return the District Judge asked why the Appellants barrister was not in Court, The Appellants mother said that he had left because he was not told that he needed to stay, she handed the memorandum of an entry to The Appellants mother and to the applicants barrister, on reviewing this the applicants barrister said there were multiple spelling mistakes and the dates from 2013 should not be entered and needed to be removed.
She said this would be amended and a new copy would be sent in the post, and until this day this has never happened even though The Appellants mother contacted the Court via email in regards to the issues, the spelling mistakes was corrected but not the dates.

we have since found out we should have also been handed a map showing all areas which the Antisocial Behaviour Order conditions encompassed which we have also never been given but this map would have shown the whole of the UK.
The Appellant's mother asked the Court for the transcripts, but was told at the Magistrate's Court does not record hearings, that the only notes that was kept was the clerks Court notes, the clerks Court notes were requested and the fee paid to obtain these.
Upon looking at the clerks notes there is a substantial amount is not included within them for the full two-day hearing for the Antisocial Behaviour Order hearing.
Please see Clerk Notes: --
I know that asking for a judicial review in regards to the Magistrates hearing is being submitted to the Court out of time, but when The Appellants mother contacted the high Court to make enquiries in regards to a judicial review and explained the situation that had occurred throughout this case she was told to submit the application for judicial review for the Magistrates hearing's that under exceptional circumstances the time limit could be overturned, the reason that this has been submitted to the Court out of time is due to The Appellant taking his barristers opinion that he would be better to go for the Appeal at the Crown Court and this is what The Appellant done.
The Appeal hearing was not concluded until 19/01/2017
On the 13/08/2015 the Metropolitan Police Service posted on their website, this led to all the local newspapers printing the story about The Appellant.
Please see attached: --
But how could the police have printed this as illegality had not been proven.
This led to The Appellant having stones thrown at his windows, and a gun being pulled out on him, which it then took the police six days to come out to take a report, we know the reason why it took the police so long to come and take the report it's how much the police dislike the Appellant, and his family this has been ongoing for over 23 years.
The Appellant's mother contacted many solicitors to try and get a new solicitor to take over the case, each time she was told that solicitors will not take a case on at appeal stage due to how much legal aid paid for appeal hearing, legal aid believed the solicitors that acted for the hearing would be dealing with the Appeal hearing so there was a set amount that would be paid for appeal hearings which would not cover a new solicitor going over the complete case.
The Appellant's mother believed it was best to keep the old solicitors on record as it was better to have a solicitor then having none due to The Appellant's health which had deteriorated throughout this case.
The Appeal was listed for the 26/10/2015 but only listed for 1 hour hearing the case was put off, due to the case needed to be 3 days Appeal hearing.
The acting solicitors had seemed to have lost The Appellant's bundle it had been removed from the office due to the office being audited in the 00/10/2015 no one seemed to be able to find The Appellant's bundle, and all the missing documents that was meant to have been within the bundle which was not for the full hearing.
09/11/2015 the case was listed for a mention hearing, all bundles were due to be at the Crown Court by the 23/12/2015 Case was listed for a three-day Appeal to start on 22/02/2016 I believe also discloser was spoke about again.
In the 00/12/2015 arrangements was made for the acting solicitors to attend The Appellants mother's home to go over the case bundles, at this point The Appellants mother made sure that all the CADS and intelligence reports was gone over by the solicitor, upon seeing all the errors the solicitor was shocked, maps were made up to be included into The Appellant's bundle and The Appellant's bundle was remade as it was due to be handed in to Wood Green Crown Court by the 25/12/2015 Emails was also sent by the solicitor to the police, the Appellants mother agreed to print of multiple documents including all maps needed to be done in colour, just prior to the Christmas holiday all printing was done and contact was made with the solicitors in order to get The Appellant's bundle Paginated and indexed, on 22/12/2015 multiple texts and calls were made to the solicitor due to the fact bundle needed to being to the Court by the 23/12/2015 replies was not being made until much later in the day when the solicitor stated that she could hand in the bundle when she got back from the Christmas and New Year holidays, a text was sent back stating that this was going to have an effect on families Christmas and New Year due to The Appellant knowing that the Court had ordered the bundle to be submitted to the Court by a certain date, text was received back from the solicitors stating to be at the office by 18:00 PM, The Appellants mother attended and two bundles was Paginated and indexed which took until around 01:30 AM.

Miss Ward was not happy due to the time that had to be spent dealing with this as she was due to fly out in the early hours to Ireland.
The bundles were left with The Appellants mother so that one could be hand-delivered to the Court in the morning on the 23/12/2015 the other bundle was to be recorded delivered via the Post Office to the police.
Miss Ward stated after the Christmas and New Year holidays she would get The Appellant's bundle ready so it could be given to him.
The Appellant had not seen the new bundle as the solicitor did not want to meet him, and due to the lateness in which the bundle was made to get into the court and the police there was not time for The Appellant to see the new bundle.
One of the texts that were sent to the Appellants mother stated on the 22/12/2015 was please see below.
This is a legal aid case Mother! and Simon need to recognise that he is not paying privately so needs to work within the constraints of the legal aid system."
Upon receiving this The Appellants mother was upset, it was the Court has set the day for the bundle to be with the Court not The Appellant, if the solicitors had dealt with the case in a timely manner and things would not have been left to the last minute which always was, all The Appellant ever wanted was for the solicitors to do what was needed for the case which never happened things was always left and things not done, and then The Appellant seem to get the blame.
It was also upsetting because it seemed as if The Appellant paid for the solicitor's services, then things would have been addressed a lot differently, I feel it should make no difference between paying privately or having legal aid put in place a solicitor's job is to represent their client to the best of their ability seek justice for their client the best they possibly can, this was not the case throughout this case.
Maybe it was due to The Appellant not paying privately that things were never done.
After the Christmas and New Year holidays we had to keep asking for The Appellant's bundle we managed to get this in the beginning of 00/02/2016 not long before the trail was due to start, it would also seem the solicitors was having problems getting a barrister, The Appellant had not seen a barrister since the full hearing at the Magistrate's Court, the original barrister that represented The Appellant at the Magistrate's hearings was on sabbatical leave, It is also noted that the acting solicitors did not want a meeting with The Appellant, and was mostly dealing with The Appellants mother.

On the 19/02/2016 the acting Solicitors put into the Court for a mention hearing, The Appellant believed this was due to nondisclosure, but the solicitors had also put an application to Break Fixture this was dismissed by His Honour Judge Morrison, this was 3 days before the 3-day Appeal hearing was due to start.

The Court will not and does not accede to any application for The Appellants Solicitors to come off the record or to cease acting for The Appellant.
Such an application was dismissed by His Honour Judge Morrison on the 19/02/2016 If any attempt is made to repeat this application the Court will require it to be made in person by the Senior Partner of Michael Carroll & Co.
This information is very important due to what occurred on the 21/09/2016 when HHJ-PAWLAK removed solicitors from record without The Appellant or a Senior Partner of Michael Carroll & Co being present in Court.
See date 21/09/2016 as more notes.
His Honour Judge Morrison listed to be heard on the 22/02/2016 in front of HHJ-PAWLAK due to issues raised again regarding nondisclosure and he felt he was not the best Judge to answer these issues.
The reason the solicitors gave to come off the record so close to the Appeal hearing was a breakdown in communication and they also could not get a barrister to deal with this case, this is a impart misleading, the actual reason for them wanting to come off the record was due to the lack of work done by solicitors acting for the Appellant, in point of fact the case was not ready for the Appeal hearing, they could also not get a Barrister, and did not want to meet with the client.
His Honour Judge Morrison had never heard that solicitors that could not get a barrister and ordered that a Public Defender took over the case to act for The Appellant. Three-day Appeal hearing listed for 22/02/2016, 23/02/2016 And 24/02/2016 Mr. Morris acting Public Defender attended Court on this day to act for The Appellant;
The Appellant had not met Mr. Morris before this date.
Mr. Morris had only had the case since the 19/02/2016 and was not ready for the 3-day Appeal hearing.
He wanted time to be able to go over all the large case bundles and be able to sit down and talk to The Appellant, so asked for an adjournment.
HHJ-PAWLAK was very unsympathetic and said he had the weekend to get ready for this case and that the Appeal would go ahead.
Considering this was the Public Defender that His Honour Judge Morrison had allocated to the case only 3 days beforehand it seemed that The Appellant was the one being penalised for the incompetence of his acting solicitors Michael Carroll & Co.
The Appellant's health had deteriorated considerably due to what was happening within this case and other issues, the mental health team had obtained a section 135 warrant under the mental health act and it was only because of the disdain towards The Appellant, The Appellants Mother had to hand this to his acting barrister to give to the Judge, knowing this would cause a huge rift between The Appellant and his mother.
But she had no option as the Judge was going to force the Appeal hearing to go ahead, when The Appellant mother knew The Appellant would not cope and that they had only just got the case handed to him and was not ready he had not even meet with The Appellant.
Upon Mr. Morris handing the documents to the Judge the Judge then unwilling adjourned the Appeal hearing until the 26/09/2016 for a 3-day hearing.
The Judge listed the case for a mention hearing also on the 04/04/2016 after this Court hearing HHJ-PAWLAK wrote a letter to the acting solicitors Michael Carroll and co that had to be replied to by the 04/04/2016

See Attached Letter from Judge: --
See attached response from Solicitors dated 03/04/2016
The Judge wrote a letter to The Appellant's solicitors on the 22/02/2016

Miss Ward who was dealing with this case for The Appellant at Michael Carroll & Co, knew the response had to be completed by the 04/04/2016 when the case was next listed in Court.
Miss Ward did not start working on the response to the Judge's letter until the 03/04/2016 and an email was sent to The Appellant with what Miss Ward wanted to reply to the Judges letter also stating any amendments needed to be done as soon as possible.
Because the Appellant knew that Miss Ward had sat on the letter from the Judge and done nothing about it since February and then had rushed a response on the 03/04/2016 when Miss Ward had been asked repeatedly to address the letter from the Judge, which now had not given The Appellant any time to go over the response Miss Ward had written.
The Appellant amended Miss Wards Letter to include multiple points that had been missed out and sent it back to Miss Ward via email within a few hours of getting it but The Appellant was upset that he had to rush things as due to the learning problems he has he does need long to be able to go over documents, the delay in getting the letter from the solicitors meant The Appellant had hardly any time.
Please see attached: --
Upon attending Court on the 04/04/2016 it was seen that Mr. Morris had also drafted a response to the Judge letter this response was almost identical to Miss Ward's Letter except that it included one crucial section regarding the hearsay rule that had not been included in Miss Ward's letter.
The Appellant agreed the point about the hearsay rule did need to be included.
But was adamant it was going to be his letter that was going to be handed to the Judge with the oral addition of the hearsay.
This was the oral addition.
The Magistrates Court hearsay rules 1999 do not apply to the Crown Court.
The defence do not accept that the Respondent has relied on the correct legislation to apply under the hearsay rules.
In any event The Appellant requests that the Respondent call the witnesses who made CAD entries for cross examination.
It is neither professionally appropriate nor suitable for The Appellant to call police officers and question their Credibility, as proposed by the Respondent through their application under the Magistrates Court Hearsay Rules.
The Appellant submits that questioning the credibility of one's own witnesses would not be permitted by the Court. The Respondent has put forward no good reason for why these witnesses cannot be called. As to say it is not in the interests of justice to do so.
HHJ-PAWLAK granted the hearsay application could be submitted, although opposed orally by Mr. Morris.
HHJ-PAWLAK informed that Mr. Morris opposition to hearsay was contained in Mr. Morris legal document, for which The Appellant did not allow Mr. Morris to hand up.
HHJ-PAWLAK is informed that client wishes to hand up his own document to HHJ-PAWLAK against Mr. Morris advice.
Document read by all sides.
Please see The Appellant Document Considering in point 5 of the Judges letter to The Appellant Acting solicitors how was this allowed the Judge allowed Mr. Morris to make oral submissions in regards to hearsay in Court yet then said they were not allowed and granted the hearsay application as allowed.
Michael Carroll and Co had also not done or prepared a skeleton argument for The Appellant's bundle, the Judge stated that the letter that had been handed in could be used as The Appellant's skeleton argument.

Miss Ward was sitting in the back of the Court taking notes of what was being asked by the Judge and what was being said.
A meeting was meant to be arranged with The Appellant and the Public defender Mr. Morris; this was not done.

On the 12/07/2016 Informed by solicitor via email: Please note that Mr. Andrew Locke has returned from a career sabbatical and he has agreed to deal with the Appeal against the imposition of an ASBO.
I am in the process of confirming a conference date with Mr. Locke, hopefully within the next two weeks.
I have notified Mr. Morris from the Public Defender Service that Mr. Locke is your preferred choice and I have requested the written submissions that he had prepared for the mention hearing in 00/04/2016 that you did not consent to or permit us to serve upon the prosecution, instead your own document was served at your insistence and contrary to the advice given by both Mr. Andrew Morris and myself.
Please confirm any dates that you are not available so that this conference can be arranged.
I have requested previously the complete list of witnesses that you now insist on calling and specifying their relevance to the ASBO Appeal and the issues as to whether you were an organiser of illegal raves.
I cannot advise on whether the witnesses are relevant to an issue in the Appeal without you confirming the list and specifying their relevance."
Take out does not need to be included: --
The meeting was never arranged with Mr. Locke, The Appellant barrister until just before the Appeal dates hearing, even though we kept asking for this to be arranged.
I would like to say that no option was given to us about preferred barrister and if you notice the date of this e mail you will notice that it is a full 3 months since the mention hearing of the 04/04/2016 Even though there were multiple emails being sent to Miss Ward asking for things to be addressed and dealt with in this case, emails was going un-answered for months, well in fact since this case started in 2014 as for the list of police officer The Appellant wanted to call Miss Ward had been told over and over the officers listed in the application case, also officers from the Public Order Investigation unit at Scotland Yard and maybe one other officer Superintendent Specialist Operations Adrian Coombs.

On 14/08/2016 The Appellant was sectioned under section 2 of the mental health act, he was released later in August 2016 at tribunal hearing and due to agreeing that he would work with the mental health doctors and team that was put in place, he stated he would be willing to stay in hospital voluntarily, but due to bed shortages he was discharged home a day later with support in place, the acting solicitors were made aware of this, and so was the Court in the September 2016 when we were due to attend.

On 16/09/2016 the case was listed for a mention hearing for non-Disclosure, and also a meeting with Mr. Locke the Appellant Barrister as he not seen any barrister since the 04/08/2015 hearing at the Magistrate's Court when the Antisocial Behaviour Order was granted by the Judge with no legality found.
I was told by my acting solicitors to be at Court by 09:30 hours but later this was changed to 09:00 hours so 1 could have a meeting with my barrister, which I agreed to.
I arrived at Court for 09:00 my barrister did not arrive until around 09:40.
On arrival my barrister and I went into a side room for a talk.
(My mother was also present) before we could discuss anything Mr. Locke said he was sorry he was not feeling very well, and he also had some emails from Ms. Ward that he had to read, on trying to open the emails he realized he could not and subsequently go out of the room to call Ms. Ward.

At around 10:00 hours we were called into Court Mr. Locke came back into the room to get his things and then hurried walked back out towards the Court room.
I tried to stop him to expand to him what my concerns were (As we had not had a moment to talk) and I was concerned about the disclosure that was going to be asked for.
I asked Mr. Locke if he could ask the Judge to adjourn the case for 5 or 10 minutes so we could speak which he replied "now that the hearing was only for disclosure about the schedule", I said "I knew this was not correct and this was one of the reason I wanted to speak to him about" and again asked "if he would ask the Judge to postpone for 10 minutes" he yet again said "no", at which point I asked "why he did not want to speak to me, and should I act for myself "?
He had no time to talk to me but then spent around 4 minutes talking to Ms. Ward on the phone and before ending this call he asked me if I was also was dismissing my solicitors which I replied no, Mr. Locke then started to walk towards the Courtroom, we followed the barrister into Court and on entering the Court in a raised voice The Appellant said to Mr. Locke (who was ahead of him) so am I acting for myself then?
He never replied to me just proceeded to talk to the Judge then walked toward the door and ushered us out.
At this point I had no idea what was going on but proceeded to follow him outside the Court room, it was at this point he turned around and said quite curtly "I do not want you to speak", as we got closer to him he also informed The Appellant it was not good to shout out in open Court which The Appellant had to agree with, but The Appellant felt so let down and it seemed his barrister did not even want to talk to The Appellant, so much had already gone wrong with this case, and The Appellant felt very nervous as he did not know what was going on or what would be said as he had not spoken to his barrister.
My mother who had witnessed all of this tried to explain to The Appellant barrister what The Appellant wanted to say about the non-disclosure and asked Mr. Locke to explain what the schedule is.
I also asked about the two article 6's which have never been addressed by the Court which pertains to my Human Rights and my rights to a speedy and fair trial that had been handed to the Court at earlier hearings as I knew Mr. Locke knew nothing about these.
He explained that the schedule was what the Judge had asked for on the 04/04/2016 my mother replied this was not all the Judge had asked for.
Without replying Mr. Locke walked towards the Courtroom we followed and it was at this point The Appellant said to the barrister I feel I should represent myself because I feel I was not being heard.
All the Appellant wanted was to be able to speak to his barrister, so that he knew what had been said at the earlier hearing on the 04/04/2016 and show him the document that was handed to the Judge on that date.
On entering the Court, The Appellant barrister Mr. Locke addressed the Judge and said The Appellant did not want him to act for him, but this was not fully the case The Appellant only wanted to be able to speak to his barrister.
The Judge informed The Appellant barrister to remain in the Court room, the Judge asked what the case was listed for and the prosecuting barrister addressed the Court and answered and also handed the schedule to the barrister, they also said to the Judge that The Appellant had been sending letters to the Court and the prosecution myself which stated I Simon Cordell throughout the document.
This is not the case and The Appellant did not understand their comment or what document the prosecuting barrister was talking about.

The Judge then addressed The Appellant and asked The Appellant did The Appellant still want the barrister to act for The Appellant, The Appellant replied yes to the Judge that he did want the barrister to act for him; The Appellant stated that he only wanted time to speak to his barrister, as I had not spoken to a barrister since the Magistrate's hearing.
The Judge then addressed The Appellant barrister he said that The Appellant still wanted the barrister to act for The Appellant, The Appellant barrister agreed to this.
The Judge also stated he felt he was not the best person to be hearing this case and passed it over to the Judge that was hearing the Appeal.
On leaving the Court room The Appellant and his mother proceeded to go into a side room to talk with The Appellant barrister, we explained that a letter had been handed to the Judge on the 04/04/2016 he said he knew nothing of this letter so we handed him a copy for him to read.
Once he read this, he said he knew nothing about this and had only seen one document that kept saying I Simon Cordell, (The Appellant have no idea what this I Simon Cordell letter until later) The Appellant mother proceeded to explained this is why The Appellant wanted to talk to you before going into Court as this is part of the non-disclosure.
The barrister explained he only knew about the schedule to which The Appellant mother replied, the schedule had been asked for by the Judge in addition to the letter that had been handed in that the Judge stated could be used as my skeleton argument, that Miss Ward was in the Court on the 04/04/2016 and was taking notes, and knew exactly what the Judge had asked for and spoke.
The Appellant mother then made a call to The Appellant solicitor and enquired as to what the Judge had asked for on the 04/04/2016 in regards to the disclosure.
Ms. Ward stated she could not remember, The Appellant mother being dumbfounded by this said you was sitting in the back of the Court room taking notes, and only last week said to The Appellant mother again The Appellant should have everything that the Judge had asked for in his original disclosure plus what was asked for in The Appellant letter that was handed to the judge and also the Judge had made other addictions.
At no point did Ms. Ward ever make The Appellant mother feel she did not know what was due to be disclosed, if she had have done this The Appellant and The Appellant mother would have asked her to relist this to the Court and asked for this to be clarified.
As the disclosure that we were asking for was very important to the Appeal.
The Appellant mother then handed The Appellant the phone The Appellant asked Ms. Ward about the letter I was supposed to have sent to the Court and the prosecuting barrister; The Appellant was still thinking we was talking about the letter handed to the Judge on the 04/04/2016 which in Court on this date it was also said The Appellant had written this letter myself, which was not the case.
The Appellant agreed on this date for the letter that Miss Ward had wrote in replied to the Judge letter that The Appellant had amended was to be handed in to the court, The Appellant solicitor was at Court so knew The Appellant amended letter was being handed in to the court, It was at this point The Appellant said she had drafted the letter and The Appellant had only amended it, she at this said she did not draft the Letter and The Appellant wrote it, at this The Appellant did call Miss ward a lair as The Appellant knew Miss Ward drafted the letter and said to Miss ward on the phone, I can prove it I have the email you sent to me and my mother.
(Since Court the Appellant mother has checked the dates for when this letter was drafted by The Appellant solicitor and this was on the 03/04/2016 please see attached email and letter (marked 03/04/2016 Ms. Ward).
The Appellant barrister was listening to the phone call and after The Appellant ended the barrister got up and said I will need to think about still representing you as you called your solicitors a lair, The Appellant stated that he can prove that Miss Ward wrote the letter and she's denying as to doing so, how would anyone feel that she had not lied, The Appellant barrister then replied if he was still going to represent The Appellant then there would need a meeting at The Appellant barrister chambers, at this point the meeting concluded with nothing really spoke of about The Appellant Appeal yet again, this was days before the Appeal hearing was due to start.

Solicitor wrote a letter and sent it to The Appellant and The Appellant mother email on 20/09/2016 which had also been sent to the Court, putting an application again to be removed from record.
This was listed in Court to be heard on the 21/09/2016
There were large sections within this letter that were incorrect and did not happen, this can be proven by the Court transcripts for the 16/09/2016

On the 21/01/2016 we were on our way to Court and got caught in traffic, we contacted the Court to get a message to the Judge to say we were going to be 5 to 10 minutes late, I know the Judge got the message.
When we got to the Court there was a barrister that Michael Carroll and Co had sent to the Court to deal with the application for them to be removed from record.
The Barrister informed us she did not want to leave the Court before explaining what had happened it seemed the Judge had called this into Court without us being present and removed the solicitors from record.
How could this have happened considering, The Appellant was not present at Court, and there was not a senior Partner from Michael Carroll and Co and also what had been said previously by His Honour Judge Morrison on 19/02/2016 The Barrister said the Judge wanted to see us and we would need to wait in Court until we were called, as the Judge was dealing with a trial and we would be called in after it.
Around 16:00 hours we were called into Court, the Respondent did make the Judge aware at this point that what had been said by His Honour Judge Morrison on the 19/02/2016 stating that a Senior Partner was not present at Court, The Judge replied that he could not force a solicitor to carry on with a case they clearly did not want to, and that The Appellant could represent himself that the case was in much better order now.
But the Appellant has learning difficulties and health problems which the Court are well aware of, there was only a few days until the Appeal hearing was due to start, how could a Judge believe that a person with learning difficulties and health problems could be ready and cope with dealing with a three-day Appeal hearing on his own.
We did try to get the Judge to adjourn the Appeal hearing so we could try and get representation put in place due to knowing The Appellant could not cope or handle this case on his own, which was due to start on the 26/09/2016 for 3 days hearing the Judge said he would not allow this and that the Appeal hearing would go ahead no matter what.
It seems again that The Appellant was being blamed for what was ongoing in this case, when The Appellant and The Appellant mother had done all, they could to have this case ready to be heard.
How can a Judge expect someone that is known to be ill and have learning difficulties to be able to handle this case on their own, considering there is only four days until the Appeal 3-day hearing is due to start? Nothing was put in place by the Judge to help The Appellant in any way.
The Appellant was just meant to get on with it on his own.
Once again, the solicitors had done nothing for this case and the Judge had allowed them to walk away and it seems as if everything was being blamed on The Appellant.

Once again, the solicitors had put this application in days before the Appeal 3-day hearing was due to start.
It was also noted while we had been waiting outside the Court that the bundles, we had been working from was the very first set of the application bundles and the only thing that had been updated was a few statements from the police officer in charge of the case, there were lots of documents missing within the bundle The Appellant had never seen.
It was stated by the respondent they had sent new bundles to the acting solicitors Michael Carroll and co three times the last being in January 2016, we had never been given a set of new bundles since this case had started in 2014, at hearing the Respondent stated in all there had been three sets of new bundles sent to The Appellant's acting solicitors, we had never been told about new bundles been sent and never given a new copy of any bundle.
So, the bundle we had would have had all wrong page numbers and been paginated totally different from the bundles that was being used by the prosecution barrister and Courts.
It was at this stage The Appellant's mother knew why no page numbers matched at the lower court and why she looking for the correct pages and found it very hard as The Appellant's mother was trying to take notes within the application bundle at the lower court and was missing so much due to not having the correct page numbers or bundle.
When we were in Court, we did say this to the Judge about the bundles, the Judge ordered the clerk of the Court to contact Michael Carroll and Co solicitors and order the solicitors to bring the bundles to Court the solicitors informed the clerk that the bundles were at Nexus Chambers, the Judge was shocked that the solicitors did not have a copy of the bundles at their office.
The Appellant's uncle who was also at Court said to the Judge he was willing to go to Nexus Chambers and pick the bundles up.
The Judge listed this for the 22/09/2016 after 14:00 hours to make sure we were all working from them same set of bundles. Upon the Appellant's uncle getting home it was seen that the bundle he had was not the full set of bundles and only had part of the applications Skeleton Bundle.

On the 22/09/2016 we attended Court to inform the Judge we still did not have the updated bundles and the Judge once again got the clerk of the Court to call Michael Carroll and co solicitors to find out what was going on with the bundles, the Judge was very upset that we still did not have the bundles for the case, the Judge asked for the bundles to be brought to Court before 4 PM, The Appellant's mother stated that it would be easier and faster for her to pick the bundles up from the solicitors on the way home from Court, the Judge asked if she was sure that he could get them brought to Court she stated that it be faster for her to pick the bundles up from the solicitors on my way home.
When we left Court, The Appellant mother noticed she had a text from Michael Carroll at 15: 21 stating the bundles was now at the office for collection, due to the time we left Court the Appellant mother called Michael Carroll's office to say what time we would be there, The Appellant mother was told that the office would be closed by the time we got there so The Appellant mother agreed to pick the bundles up first thing in the morning on 23/09/2016
On 23/09/2016 The Appellant mother left home early in the morning to go to Michael Carroll's office and collect the bundles with her brother, Mr. A Cordell went up to the office to get the bundles, when he came down, he had a piece of paper that The Appellant mother needed to sign that the bundles had collected from the office.
Upon getting home and looking at the bundles The Appellant mother noticed there was at least 13 statements that The Appellant and The Appellant mother had never seen before from the Respondent bundle, the statements was all dated prior to the Magistrates Court trial.

Upon looking at The Appellant's bundle it seemed this had not been updated or indexed since 2015, so all the new documents that had been submitted to be added to The Appellant's bundle was not in there.
There was also no statements in The Appellant's bundle, it seemed as though they had all been removed from the bundle, over the days leading up to this The Appellant mother had learned how important it was that all the bundles were paginated and indexed correctly and the same that each person was working from, The Appellant mother knew there was problems as multiple documents had been handed to the Court which she did not know if they had been patronised correctly or indexed into The Appellant's bundle that the court and the Respondent were using also the Appellant mother spent all weekend trying to add missing documents to The Appellant's bundle and making copies so that when we got to Court on the 26/09/2016 that these could be added to the Respondent bundle and the three Judge's bundles.
The Appellant health had become very unstable due to him knowing that he was going to have to be dealing with this himself.
The Appellant mother also spent part of the weekend also writing a letter to the Judge in regards to what had gone on and breaches in The Appellant's human rights mainly he's article 6 rights to a fair trial, there was also a list of things that had gone on throughout the case since 2014 in regards to the nondisclosure, and other issues that was always being raised when at Court and the reason as to why legal aid had been granted: Due to the complexity of the case.
Due to The Appellant's learning difficulties.
Due to the concerns of The Appellant health.
This letter was emailed to the Court and asked to be passed to the Judge.
Please see letter that was emailed to the judge the 26/09/2016 the three-day Appeal hearing was due to start The Appellant was so unwell that there was no way he could attend Court, Mr. A Cordell and Miss L Cordell attended Court to speak to the Judge.
When the Judge entered the Courtroom, he stated that he had had a letter that had to be addressed, he stated that he felt this would go to judicial review, he stated he had three options: Carry on with the Appeal in the hope The Appellant would turn up the following day.
Dismiss the Appeal.
Adjourn the Appeal to a new date.
The Judge went over the letter in great detail; he stated around five times that he felt this was going to go to judicial review.
The Judge decided to adjourn the case until the 16/01/2017 this was later changed for the Appeal to start on the 17/01/2017 The Respondent had tried to object to the Appeal being adjourned.
The Judge stated that we should try to find a new solicitor to take on the Appeal and that he would help and also make sure that legal aid was in place.
The Judge asked why The Appellant was not in Court.
The Appellant mother stated The Appellant had become so unwell due to what was going on in this case and that he was not coping.
Information was passed to the Judge that showed The Appellant was unwell.
It was also stated in regards to all the missing documents that was missing from The Appellant's bundle, and that there was no statements within the bundle, I stated to the Judge that I'd spent a lot of the weekend trying to update The Appellant's bundle and make sure that it was indexed correctly, I handed the documents that The Appellant mother was able to do with new indexing, The Appellant mother also stated that she knew there was still documents missing from The Appellant's bundle which she was not sure about or had time in which to add them.

The Appellant mother also stated that there were around 13 statements that we had never seen that were within the Respondent bundle that was dated prior to the Magistrate's trial.
The Judge was very unhappy and passed me his own bundle for The Appellant mother to check to see if the Courts bundles had been updated, upon looking the Judge's bundle had also not been updated since 2015 The Appellant mother passed the Judge's bundle back up to him explaining that it also had not been updated.
At this the Respondent stated they would make new copies of the bundles and have they sent to us the Judge thanked the Respondent.
The Judge was very unhappy and said he was not going to allow this to be dropped and again made the clerk of the Court call Michael Carroll and co to order them to attend Court on the14/10/2016 in regards to the missing documents.
I stated I would try and add as many missing documents as I could but was unsure of what documents were missing as so much had been handed to the court and solicitors.
The Appellant mother asked the Judge if The Appellant would need to attend Court on the 14/10/2016 as it was due to only being regarding the missing documents The Appellant mother felt The Appellant did not need to be there the Judge agreed to this.

On the 14/10/2016 Mr. A Cordell and I attended Court on this date, the solicitors did not turn up, The Appellant mother had a list of documents that she had made up and indexed that needed to be added to The Appellant's bundle which she passed to the Judge.
She stated to the Judge that she could not be sure if there were still documents missing.
She also stated that she had tried to call Miss Ward and had no reply.
The Judge was very upset that the solicitors had not turned up.
A letter had been sent by the solicitors Michael Carroll and co; the Judge again got the clerk of the Court to email Michael Carroll and co to tell them they had to be in Court on the 19/10/2016 The Appellant mother also stated to the Judge that she had made many phone calls to other solicitors and due to the case being Appeal stage no one was willing to take the Appeal on due to the cost they would get under legal aid, that it was a set amount as legal aid believed that the solicitors dealing with the Appeal would be the same solicitors that dealt with the original trial, Appeals are set at a standard rate so any solicitor taking on a case would not get paid to go over the complete bundles, and take updated instructions from the client.
Again, The Appellant mother asked the Judge if The Appellant needed to attend Court on the next date, which the Judge he replied no to.

On the 19/10/2016 again, Mr. A Cordell and I attended Court, once again the solicitors was not in attendance, the Judge had had a letter from Michael Carroll co stating Miss Ward no longer worked for the company, the Judge was very upset and was not going to allow this to be dropped, the Judge got the clerk of the Court to email Michael Carroll and co to attend Court on the 25/10/2016 The Appellant mother again stated to the Judge that she had made many phone calls to other solicitors to try and get them to take over the Appeal, and due to the case being Appeal stage no one was willing to take the Appeal on due to the cost they would get under legal aid, that it was a set amount as legal aid believed that the solicitors dealing with the Appeal would be the same solicitors that dealt with the original trial, Appeals are set at a standard rate so any solicitor taking on a case would not get paid to go over the complete bundles, and take updated instructions from the client.

When the Appellant mother got home, she again tried to call Miss Ward with no reply she also texts her with no reply to the text.

On the 25/10/2016 again Mr. A Cordell and I attended Court, once again the solicitors were not in attendance, the Judge was very upset and done an Internet search under Miss Ward's name to find out if she was working under a new solicitor, he found the new solicitors and sent an email demanding that Miss Ward attended Court on the 11/11/2016 Again The Appellant mother stated to the Judge that she had made many phone calls to other solicitors and due to the case being Appeal stage no one was willing to take the Appeal on due to the cost they would get under legal aid that he was a set amount as legal aid believed that the solicitors dealing with the Appeal would be the same solicitors that dealt with the original trial, Appeals are set at a standard rate so any solicitor taking on a case would not get paid to go over the complete bundles, and take updated instructions from the client.
When the Appellant mother got home from Court at 15:48 she received a phone call from Miss Ward, she stated that she knew nothing about the Judge had asked her to attend Court that Michael Carroll and Co had not informed her in regards to any emails sent from the Court.
The Appellant mother said to her but I've tried to call you and text you and you have not replied or picked the phone up. She stated Michael Carroll had told her she was not allowed to contact us or talk to us.
The Appellant mother and Miss Ward arranged to meet on 27/10/2016 to go over The Appellant's bundle to check for missing documents.

On the 27/10/2016 The Appellant mother meet with Miss Ward to go over The Appellant's bundle, upon looking at the bundle and the documents that The Appellant mother had added and indexed Miss Ward stated she believed there were no missing files, as time has gone on I have found other documents that should have been in The Appellant's bundle that were missing.
These have never been added as The Appellant mother did not want to have to go back to the Judge and say there were more documents that were missing.
Miss Ward stated she had to attend Court but gave a different date that the Judge had ordered her to be there, The Appellant mother stated to her that the Judge had given the date of the 11/11/2016 when we were in Court, Miss Ward stated that is not what was put into the email that was sent to the company Miss Ward worked for.
The Appellant mother stated she would send an email over to the Court to tell the Court that we had meet up and checked The Appellant's bundle we believed there was no documents missing at that point.

On the 01/11/2016 The Appellant mother wrote an email to the Judge to state that there had been a meeting with Miss Ward and we had gone over The Appellant's bundle and believed there were no documents missing now.
The Appellant mother asked in the email to the Judge if we still needed to attend Court on the 11/11/2016 and if so, could this be confirmed via email.

On the 02/11/2016 The Appellant mother received a reply from Wood Green Crown Court from the Judge stating that we did not need to attend on the 11/11/2016 and the date would be vacated.

On the 19/12/2016 The Appellant mother sent an email to the Judge in regards to still not finding a solicitor that was willing to take the Appeal on, The Appellant mother asked the Judge to help in regards to getting a solicitor to act for The Appellant regarding the Appeal as time was becoming short for the Appeal hearing.

On the 21/12/2016 The Appellant mother received a reply to her email to the Judge stating that the Judge could not help with a solicitor.
The Appellant mother still did not give up and she carried on trying to find one that was willing to take the Appeal on for The Appellant.
But the Appellant mother was upset as the Judge did state he would help, on the 26/09/2016 and as time was short for when the Appeal hearing was due to start the, The Appellant mother did not wait till the last minute to ask the Judge for help, and now she was being told the Judge could not help.

On the 12/01/2016 late in the day The Appellant mother was given a number form a solicitors of a solicitor's called MK-Law that maybe could help and take the Appeal on, The Appellant mother called them they were the first solicitor's in all of the solicitor's she had been contacting since 00/09/2016 that when she said the case was at Appeal stage wanted to hear what the case was about, she broke down in tears the company agreed to take the case on as long as the Judge agreed to an adjournment, she stated to them she did not think the Judge will agree to this as in 00/09/2016 when the Judge had adjourned the Appeal, the Judge had stated he would not adjourn it again.
The solicitor stated that they would not have enough time to be able to get all of the bundles go over them to get a barrister to go over them have a meeting with The Appellant and take instructions within two days due to the weekend, that they would send a barrister to Court on the 17/01/2017 too asked for an adjournment so that they could act in the best interest of the client, as that is what they are there to do and so the legal aid could be addressed and passed over to them or a new application would need to be applied for.
The Appellant's health had deteriorated, when the Appellant's mother told The Appellant she believed she had found a solicitor to take the Appeal on this did bring his mood up a little but he felt so much had gone wrong it would only just go wrong again, he agreed that he would attend Court and meet the barrister that the new solicitors was sending, the problem was this could change at any time, The Appellant does not leave his home which he treats as his prison.

On the 17/01/2016 we attended Court, the barrister was there for The Appellant, so was the Appellant mother and the Appellant uncle we went into a side room and the barrister spoke to The Appellant in regards to what the plans was and what he was going to ask the Judge for which was an adjournment, that they needed an adjournment so that they could act in the best interest of their client, so that they could go over the complete case bundles, take instructions, make sure legal aid was in place correctly, and instruct a barrister who would be dealing with the Appeal for The Appellant, The Appellant agreed that an adjournment could be asked for, again it was stated to the barrister that we did not feel the Judge would grant an adjournment, the barrister stated that the Judge should understand that an adjournment would be needed for the new solicitors to act in a professional manner for their client and be able to get everything ready and have time to understand fully what the case was about, that an Appeal should be fair for all sides.
We were called into Court and the barrister spoke to the Judge, explained the situation and that he was asking for an adjournment, he spoke to the Judge in regards to the legal aid, and having the appeal ready for their client and having time to be able to deal with it in a professional manner for their client.

The Judge stated that he believed legal aid was still in place and it could just be transferred, the barrister stated if legal aid had been revoked then it would take at least two weeks for it to be put back in place, the Judge adjourned the hearing so that the barrister could contact the legal aid department to check the status of the legal aid, the barrister made calls to the legal aid department, but the legal aid department could not confirm whether legal aid had been revoked.
Calls was also made to Michael Carroll and Co who stated that when they were removed from record that the legal aid that was in place had been revoked.
The case was called back into Court and the barrister explained that the legal aid department could not say whether or not the legal aid had been revoked, but when a call was placed to the old solicitors Michael Carroll and co they had said that the legal aid that was in place had been revoked.
The Judge handed the barrister certificate of legal aid, the barrister stated that the certificate was not proof that the legal aid had not been revoked.
The Judge stated I'm sure that you can be ready for the Appeal to go ahead by tomorrow, the barrister stated that they have a professional obligation to act in the best interest of the client and that they would not have enough time in order to go over all the bundles take instructions from the client, and instruct a barrister within half a day, and also to check fully whether a new legal aid application would need to be applied for.
At this the Judge stated well if you cannot be ready by tomorrow, then The Appellant will have to act for himself, we will not adjourn the Appeal again.
It seems again The Appellant was being put at blame for the delay in the Appeal, but it was not due to The Appellant, The Appellant only wanted a fair hearing and Appeal from when this started in 2014 and from what was going on this clearly had not been.
The barrister tried his hardest to get an adjournment of the Appeal but the Judge would not allow an adjournment, the Judge started talking about the conditions that was imposed by the Magistrates Court, he stated that he felt that parts was disproportionate, but he could see nothing wrong with the timescale of the Antisocial Behaviour Order of 5 years was.
This was not the first time the Judge had mentioned the conditions that The Appellant was under, but this time the Judge went further to include what sections he thought were disproportional, to the people in the Court the Appellant, Mr. A Cordell, Miss L Cordell, and The Appellants barrister, the only way of looking at what the Judge was stating he had already made his mind up that he thought the conditions was the only problem.
But this was before the Appeal had even been heard, why a Judge would state this without even hearing the Appeal.
The Judge would not allow an adjournment and stated The Appellant could represent himself if the barrister could not be ready by 10 0'clock the next morning, Judge raised and left the Courtroom.
The Appellant was in such a state when we left the Courtroom, he stated he knew the Judge would not allow the adjournment and felt the Judge did not want him to have representation and this is why the Judge removed his old solicitors, he felt very let down and just wanted to go home.
The barrister called as into a side room and had to ask The Appellant due to what the Judge has said, if they were to change the conditions to something appropriate would The Appellant accept it.
This put further stress on The Appellant, The Appellant knew he had done nothing wrong and had not done what the police was saying he had done the Appellant knew that if the disclosure had been given it would have proven this.
The police have been unwilling to give any disclosure since this case started.

The Appellant was not willing to accept having the conditions changed and accepting the Antisocial Behaviour Order as this would have said he was guilty; The Appellant was not willing to accept something he knew he was not guilty of the Appellant was so distressed all the way home, he felt he would never get justice.
Later that day The Appellant's mother contacted the solicitors to see if anything could be done, but due to the Judge not allowing the adjournment the solicitors stated they could not take the case on and could not attend Court the next day because they would be putting their company reputation at risk by not having enough time in order to prepare for the Appeal to be able to act in a professional and correct way for their client.
Which the Appellant's mother could totally, understand? A vulnerable person should not be forced into a position where they have to act on their own behalf, in the opinion of many practitioners, detrimental to the administration of justice.
But this is exactly what had happened, The Appellant and the Appellant mothers and others cannot understand or see any reason why the Judge did not allow for a short adjournment so that The Appellant had proper representation in place, when there was a solicitor, company willing to take on the Appeal hearing on and allow a fair Appeal hearing.
The Appellant's mother had not stopped since the removal of the old solicitors in 00/09/2016 trying to find a solicitors company to take the Appeal hearing on, so many calls was made to solicitors companies, advice lines, citizens advice, pro bono solicitors, the reason why the pro bono unit would not take the case on was because The Appellant was entitled to legal aid, if The Appellant or his family could have afforded to pay privately for a solicitors company to act for The Appellant this would have been done a long time ago. Justice is meant to be fair, but in the case of The Appellant this was not the case.

On 18/01/2017 The Appellant was so unwell he did not attend Court on this day, nor did Mr. a Cordell, or Miss L Cordell, Miss L Cordell did however write a letter to the Judge asked in for a stay on proceedings for the Appeal until it was taken to judicial review in regards to what had gone on.
The Judge decided to go ahead in the absence of The Appellant with the Appeal; he heard the witness statements from police on this date.

On 19/01/2017 again, The Appellant and his family did not attend Court this case has made The Appellant so unwell, at the end of this day the Judge dismissed the Appeal against conviction, but he changed a few of the conditions that The Appellant was under, the conditions are still a breach of The Appellant's human rights.

3. Enter or remain in any disused or abandoned building unless invited to do so in writing by a registered charitable organisation or local authority or owner of the premises.
4. Enter any non-residential private property (by which words buildings and an open enclosed and are intended to be individual) or an industrial estate between the hours of 22:00 and 07:00 without written permissions from the owner and a leaseholder of such property.

If you can demonstrate that the purpose of your entry of such property is to purchase goods or services from any shop or garage or fuel supplier which is open to the public at such times.
Then in such event, you may enter but you must not remain on such property for longer than 30 minutes and you may do so on only one occasion during each separate nine-hour period between 22:00 and 07:00 daily.

5. Provide any service in respect of any licensable activity in an unlicensed premise.

For the sake of clarity, nothing in this order prevents the defendant from assisting, preparing for, engaging in licensed licensable activities,
This order expires on the 03/08/2020 This order and its requirements amendments a previous order imposed by Highbury Corner Magistrates Court.

Condition 4 states Enter any non-residential private property (by which words buildings and an open enclosed and are intended to be individual) or an industrial estate between the hours of 22:00 and 07:00 without written permissions from the owner and a leaseholder of such property.
If you can demonstrate that the purpose of your entry of such property is to purchase goods or services from any shop or garage or fuel supplier which is open to the public at such times.
Then in such event, you may enter but you must not remain on such property for longer than 30 minutes and you may do so on only one occasion during each separate nine-hour period between 22:00 and 07:00 daily.
With this condition in place any non-residential property The Appellant would not be able to attend only for 30 minutes on one occasion during a separate nine hour period: This would include hospitals, police stations, 24-hour supermarkets, petrol stations, cinemas, restaurants, bars, night clubs and any other public place open to the public between these times that is non-residential The Appellant would only have a 30 minute window to be able to enter any non-residential building, however is not feasible that within 30 minutes The Appellant could be seen in a hospital within 30 minutes, how would it be feasible if the Appellant went to dinner at a restaurant they would be completed within 30 minutes, how would it be feasible if The Appellant wanted to go to a nightclub or late-night bar as it would only have 30 minutes, places that are open to the public should not be restricted to the Appellant how is the Appellant meant to have a normal family life.
The Appellant cannot go to without written permission which would be degrading for The Appellant to have to ask each time he wanted to go somewhere and explain why he needed it to be confirmed in writing by the owner and/or leaseholder of the property, how this condition could be applied by any Judge and state it is not a beach of someone human rights is beyond me.

Conditions 2 states knowingly using or supplying property personal or otherwise for the use of a rave as defined under section 63.1 of the criminal justice and public order act, The Appellants has spent the last 10 years building his business saving every penny and help from family it is within the entertainment industry, he will hires equipment out and his services, The Appellants business would seriously be affected, because if he hired his equipment and it ended up in an illegal rave The Appellant would be in breach of the conditions.
When hiring out equipment you do asked what is going to be used for, and you do have a contract that is in place, but what the person tells you their reason for hiring the equipment out is not always the correct reason and is not used for the purpose the person told you The Appellant would be in breach of these conditions also if The Appellant loaned someone any personal belongings and that person ended up at an illegal rave then The Appellant would again be in breach of his conditions, even if the item was something that did not even constitute as being for an illegal rave.

Conditions 5 states; provide any service in respect of any licensable activities in an unlicensed, premises.
How is The Appellant meant to run his business, The Appellant would not be able to obtain a licence that has already been clarified by the police and councils due to the Antisocial Behaviour Order that is in place, The Appellant would not be able to offer his services also due to the restriction that he has only 30 minutes within a non-residential building, most events go to the late hours in the morning so even if there was a licensed premises and someone wanted to hire the services of The Appellant The Appellant would not be able to do this.
The Appellant was also offered contracts within two nightclubs to be the manager if The Appellant was again offered contracts within nightclubs or late-night bars The Appellant would not be able to accept these contracts.
I cannot even say why condition 5 has been imposed because condition 4 conflicts with condition 5 in certain parts and who would want to hire or take on The Appellant if he had to ask for written permission which would be degrading for The Appellant to have to ask each time he wanted to go somewhere or had a contact and had to explain why he needed it to be confirmed in writing by the owner and/or leaseholder of the property, these are just a few concerns with the conditions that the Appellant is under; there is other concerns with other conditions set at by the Courts that are of concern.
When the Appeal hearing was over the conditions was not served on The Appellant, they were posted to him in the post.
The Appellant mother has put an application into the Crown Court on forms EX-105 and EX-107 requesting the Tape/Disc Transcription for all hearings, and is waiting to hear back from the court, to see if it will be granted.
The Appellant mother has also put an application into the police under a subject access request to get all The Appellant history with the police which will show the data protection errors and more data that has been inputted incorrectly by the police, it will also show a history of how much the police does not leave The Appellant alone.
Also, how many complaints has had to be put into the police regarding how the police have treated The Appellant over many years which when asked in this ASBO application case by the judge was any of this the truth they replied no to.
The Judge also asked if anyone else had had an ASBO application against them for an ASBO on the dates held within the ASBO application, the Judge did not get a reply and it was not asked again.
The police have not only done this to The Appellant but The Appellant whole family so each family member have requested their records.
So far, the police have refused The Appellant application and his brothers, they have allowed The Appellant mother and The Appellant sister but only part of the information has been supplied.
This has been passed to the ICO to address, but due to the backlog the ICO has we have not been told a timeframe this will take.
At this time there is also complaint still ongoing with the Appellant and the police and The Appellant brother with the police.
It is also noticed that some of the police in this application who have done statements in this ASBO have complaint still standing against them, with The Appellant brother complaint.

But until we get all the data, we have requested there could be more police officers in this ASBO application who have had complaints put in about them.
There will also be a complaint regarding the DPS who investigated The Appellant complaint due to the fact they did not follow their own codes, when this complaint was passed the IPCC, they upheld The Appellant Appeal to the IPCC and the complaint has had to be reinvestigated, due to what the DPS allowed to happen, and allowed the police officer to resign.
Before allowing The Appellant rights to take his complaint to the IPCC for Appeal before seeing the report and allowing a misconduct hearing to happen, before The Appellant had his right to appeal and the IPCC and they left a large section out in the investigation which pointed to discourtesy by the police.
Still not completed I still got sections to add about ASBO application and no discloser and some other sections and some laws.
This is how a JR has to be written up.
They will have all the ASBO application bundles sent to the high court also so will be able to see the whole case as I need to also point out that we cannot add everything in this due to allowing the police to have the full extent as to what is wrong within the application for the ASBO that should have been able to use at the appeal hearing as we don't want the police to be able to try and correct the things that are wrong.
If you want to edit any of this then please do so really carefully and in a next colour and you have to keep this format don't change it as it has to be sent to the high court in this formation, I know you are not going to like some of what I have written but if you want to win this case at JR you have to put things you don't like to hear or feel you don't have a problem. The judges have to see your human rights have been fully fucked over from start to end of these court cases and showing things you don't like will help that you can at your own write up as well.

This caused me to suffer and have to stay in a Mental hospital also it caused me the loss of use of my right baby index finger. I decided to approach her and ask why she had told lie to the police and got me arrested as it has now scared my medical records with her false and fabricated claims such as threats to kill her and the young children that she looks after, when in fact this never happened, I never even spoke to her on this date of her accusations. I noticed that she had put two children into the back of the car and had started to get into the front driver's seat. In me allowing her to do this safely I decided then was the time of my approach. I had my broken finger out and was looking at her from the outside of her car approaching from the front of her car. I was not speaking to allowed as in was mid-day and I remember clearly what I was saying to her which is: -- Can you just un do your window a little bit and talk to me as I would like to understand why you set me up and you don't even Know me, I lost my finger because of you this was while doing having to stay in a Mental hospital for other two weeks getting assessed. She started up her Engine and sun of in a fast hurry. I noticed as she was driving away that she had picked up her mobile phone and had started to call somebody. Straight after I went to the shop as I had planned and basically as I arrived back at my home the police once again apprehended me, Carron had called the police and lied she stated that I had tried to get n to the back of her car and get to the children, when the police officer explained this to me, I told him of what had prior happened between me and Carron he believed in what I said and allowed me back into my home with my new saw.   The Enfield Council and the Enfield Homes employees aloud the occupiers of 117 and 111 Continued to victimizing me by: -- 117 woke me up by attacking me on purpose by stamping and dropping articles above my head!
  Then 113 and 117 tenants kept on Continually, reiterating to flushing the toilet when I went into the bathroom, so to be sick in my toilet because they made me ill!
  113 - 117 and 111 today kept on Banging with objects onto the internal main buildings walls and floors, so to intimidate surely me and maybe others living close by whom may be present to an extent only worthwhile for the perpetrators selfless glory, In them perpetrators knowing that their behaviour would only leave all those getting victimized towards getting left by their wrongful actions as to being put into a state of a mental health patient and not rightfully with this occurring within mine and their rented or paid for homes!
  The occupiers of 117 the Mathiyalagan family and also Stain Curtis off 111 Burncroft Avenue continue to Slamming the water tap on and off, and now with George Quinton also involved I continue to document their Hate Crime towards me and report it to the relevant persons without any fair process of support and this is causing damage to my health and the buildings fixtures at an unacceptable rate!
  They all mentioned in the addresses of 113 and 117 Burncroft Avenue keep Dropping articles on to their own wooden flooring to make loud banging noises all day and night towards me and the floor has not gotten fixed correctly in the address of 113 after Debra Andrews moved out, making me still suffer as George has taken over!
  117 - 113 and 111 Slamming the main, communal entrance door closed!
  Stain will not stop banging on the kitchen wall with intent of victimising me on a full 24-hour assault in collaboration with the other named in the address of 113 and 117!
  Address of 117 Burncroft Avenue attacking me by the continual dismay of the kitchen draw being slammed shut or opened either way it got effectually, closed, to then anon after aurally perceive the sharpening of the kitchen utilities knifes to a fictitious extent to make a constructive sense of logic and reason, visible for explication of any benevolent character of themselves with the time need to look after an Adelson in today's word safely!

I have also had a lot of problems with eating because of what they keep all doing to me!

My canine has victualing its paws because of what 113 – 117 and 111 are getting away with I have taken pictures of the damage this is doing to us in this flat!

Disrepair!

If what they do to me finally kills me then it would also kill a lot of other people in the process!

I continue to highlight my issues of concern causing me dissatisfaction with the disrepair issues within my flats but no reasonable person from Enfield Council or Enfield homes complies with their statutory duties and the time that these problems have got left to eclipse is unprofessional behaviour!

Subject: To Mat in regards towards a Purr 150
From: Rewired re_wired@ymail.com
To: service@morgana.co.uk
Dear Mike and Mat
Hello how are you doing, I hope all is well I spoke to a gentleman on the
on the phone called mike in regards to a Morgana PUR 150 that I am interested in purchasing from another person, mike then passed the phone to a man called Mat, who then asked me to send this reply. The machine I am able to buy seems to come with its own problems and I request your help in solving the issues.
Diagnostic; when the machine is first turned on it allows any user to go to the first stage which is; "Are you trained to operate this machine" once ticked in agreement the power to the machine will flip the main distribution power supply but does not blow the machines internal fuses.
On a diagnostic of the problem you have to take the two covers of the back of the machine and bypass the safety mechanism for the hatch door being closed.
Connected to the bottom of the glue station, to which you put the glue into is a thermostat, this thermostat has two additional wires connected into it.
The marks on the thermostat states that it is a; Mfr. Part No.2455RC Thermostat, Solder Tag Termination, 0°C +260°C
When disconnected and the machine is rebooted with power it will bypass to the second stage; "Main menu"
Once into the main menu the machine goes into alarm mode in turn disabling its features.
The features that seem to be disabled are the following:

1. milling station: -
2. Press carriage;

On a further inspection towards the resolution of the error codes; they are labelled as follows:

1. 007 Error movement of press: -
2. 009 Cleaner not present: -
3. 010 Temperature not ok: -
4. 011 Execute present: -
5. 019 Critical Temperature;

My main concern at present other than getting the machine to work:] is the error showing 007 error movement of press, as I hope that changing the thermostat will clear error 010, 019 and then once 009 has been addressed then 011 will no longer exist as a problem if 007 is fixed, thus repairing the machine. After speaking to other gentlemen, a Morgana, it was explained to me that I can attach a external power supply to the mill and after to the carriage to check the motors to them mechanism are functioning correctly, on an attempt to do this the mill motor had no issue of concern and is a straight forward motor to supply the power to, the mill has neutral and live inclusive of ground. When rerouting the mill, I disconnected N1- L1 from Km21.01 within the fuse board to add the external power supply, with the mill motor activating. I then attempted to make the press carriage active and took the chain of the motor so the spindle can move freely, on revealing the wires behind the power plate cover to the motor, for the power cables to be connected I noticed four wires;

1. One grey in colour: -
2. One brown in colour: -
3. One black in colour: -
And: -
4. A green ground wire.
I understood the brown cable to be L1 live and grey to be forward while black would be reverse to the motor, so I connected the external power supply with the ground connected, then: -
1. I connected L1 also from an external power supply to L1 in the motor and the
2. N1 to the grey cable and after to the black cable, when this was achieved you could hear the carriage motor slightly hum with power but no movement of the motors Spindale.
When the machine is as standard as at present, if any user is to go through stage one and "Tick yes you are trained to use this machine," once at stage two if u press the two green buttons at the front of the machine simultaneously, that person will hear a breaker click in the back of the machines fuse box, this shows code: E21.01 and has three lights, the top light is always active named supply and in consequence to the two green buttons being push together R2 will become active, with no response from the press carriage motor.
My questions are:
1. Does Morgana sell used parts at a discount from new priced parts?
2. How much would a press carriage motor cost in any of them instances?
3. If I continue to do a further diagnostic of the press carriage motor, I will split the differential gearing from the motor and attempt to run the motor from an external power supply, once again in the hope of keeping cost down in aiding to fix the machine.
4. How much will Morgana supply the required thermostat for after vat?
5. How much will Morgana supply a press carriage motor without gearing attached?
6. How much will Morgana supply gearing for the press motor without the motor attached?
7. How much will Morgana sell the carriage motor and gearing together for?
While I was in the fuse box at the back of the machine, I notice two more fuse controllers that are not active with present Semiconductor High Voltage Glass Passivated Junction Rectifiers the fuse board numbers are as follows; Km20.01 Km23.01 on further research of them empty fuse slots, after reading the wiring schematics it states that the usage for them slots are as follows:
1. KM20.01 = Main Enabling
2. 2Km23.01 = Heating Enable
Another question I have to ask for your response in is; should those two slots be without fuses as they are at present?
I also would like to question whether u supply the glue and blue beans needed to operate the machine and pricing if so, if not please can you help provide a supplier for such products?
If I resolve the issues the machine is faced with at present, I would like to order the flat end screws needed to service the glue station so for the glue to get extruded through its correct path at its optimal performance and therefore request the following price of them parts from your self's. I would appreciate any help or advice that you or your team members may have in helping to get the Morgana PUR 150 re-commissioned.
Many thanks and kind regards
Mr. S. Cordell

5. 019 Critical Temperature.
My main concern at present other than getting the machine to work:] is the error showing 007 error movement of press, as I hope that changing the thermostat will clear error 010, 019 and then once 009 has been addressed then 011 will no longer exist as a problem if 007 is fixed, thus repairing the machine.
After speaking to other gentlemen, a Morgana, it was explained to me that I can attach a external power supply to the mill and after to the carriage to check the motors to them mechanism are functioning correctly, on an attempt to do this the mill motor had no issue of concern and is a straight forward motor to supply the power to, the mill has neutral and live inclusive of ground. When rerouting the mill, I disconnected N1- L1 from Km21.01 within the fuse board to add the external power supply, with the mill motor activating.

I then attempted to make the press carriage active and took the chain of the motor so the spindle can move freely on revealing the wires behind the power plate cover to the motor, for the power cables to be connected I noticed four wires;
3. One grey in colour: -
4. One brown in colour: -
5. One black in colour: - And: -
6. A green ground wires.
I understood the brown cable to be L1 live and grey to be forward while black would be reverse to the motor, so I connected the external power supply with the ground connected, then: - 133,
7. I connected L1 also from an external power supply to L1 in the motor and the
8. N1 to the grey cable and after to the black cable, when this was achieved you could hear the carriage motor slightly hum with power but no movement of the motors Spindale.
9. When the machine is as standard as at present, if any user is to go through stage one and "Tick yes you are trained to use this machine," once at stage two if u press the two green buttons at the front of the machine simultaneously, that person will hear a breaker click in the back of the machines fuse box, this shows code: E21.01 and has three lights, the top light is always active named supply and in consequence to the two green buttons being push together R2 will become active, with no response from the press carriage motor.
My questions are:
1. Does Morgana sell used parts at a discount from new priced parts?
2. How much would a press carriage motor cost in any of them instances?
3. If I continue to do a further diagnostic of the press carriage motor I will split the differential gearing from the motor and attempt to run the motor from an external power supply, once again in the hope of keeping cost down in aiding to fix the machine.
4. How much will Morgana supply the required thermostat for after vat?
5. How much will Morgana supply a press carriage motor without gearing attached?
6. How much will Morgana supply gearing for the press motor without the motor attached?
7. How much will Morgana sell the carriage motor and gearing together for?
While I was in the fuse box at the back of the machine, I notice two more fuse controllers that are not active with present Semiconductor High Voltage Glass Passivated Junction Rectifiers the fuse board numbers are as follows; Km20.01 Km23.01 on further research of them empty fuse slots, after reading the wiring schematics it states that the usage for them slots are as follows:
1. KM20.01 = Main Enabling
2. 2Km23.01 = Heating Enable
Another question I have to ask for your response in is should those two slots be without fuses as they are at present?
I also would like to question whether u supply the glue and blue beans needed to operate the machine and pricing if so, if not please can you help provide a supplier for such products?
If I resolve the issues the machine is faced with at present, I would like to order the flat end screws needed to service the glue station so for the glue to get extruded through it correct path at its optimal performance and therefore request the following price of them parts from your self s.
I would appreciate any help or advice that you or your team members may have in helping to get the Morgana PUR 150 recommissioned.
Many thanks and kind regard Mr. S. Cordell

Dear Mike and Mat Hello how are you doing, I hope all is well I spoke to a gentleman on the 24/04/2017 on the phone called mike regarding a Morgana PUR 150 that I am interested in purchasing from another person, mike then passed the phone to a man called Mat, who then asked me to send this reply. The machine I can buy seems to come with its own problems and I request your help in solving the issues.
Diagnostic; when the machine is first turned on it allows any user to go to the first stage which is; "Are you trained to operate this machine" once ticked in agreement the power to the machine will flip the main distribution power supply but does not blow the machines internal fuses.
On a diagnostic of the problem, you have to take the two covers of the back of the machine and bypass the safety mechanism for the hatch door being closed.
Connected to the bottom of the glue station, to which you put the glue into is a thermostat, this thermostat has two additional wires connected to it.
The marks on the thermostat state's that it is a; Mfr. Part No.2455RC Thermostat, Solder Tag Termination, 0°C +260°C When disconnected, and the machine gets rebooted with power it will bypass to the second stage; "Main menu" Once into the main menu, the machine goes into alarm mode disabling its feature.
The features that seem to get disabled are:
1. Milling station: -
2. Press carriage; On a further inspection towards the resolution off the error codes; they get labelled:
1. 007 Error movement of press: -
2. 009 Cleaner not present: -
3. 010 Temperature not ok: -

4. 011 Execute present: -
5. 019 Critical, Temperature!

support team put into place, the acting solicitors were made aware of this, and so was the Court in the September 2016, when the Appellant was due to attend.
On 16 September 2016 the case was listed for a mention hearing for non-Disclosure, and also a meeting with Mr. Locke the Appellant Barrister as he had not seen any barrister since the 04/08/2015 hearing at the Magistrate's Court when the Antisocial Behaviour Order was granted by the Judge with no legality found.
The Appellant was told by his acting solicitors to be at Court by 09:30 hours, but later this was changed to 09:00 hours, this was so he could have a meeting with his barrister, which he did agreed to do.
On the agreed court date, the Appellant arrived at Court for 09:00, his barrister did not arrive until around 09:40, disappointingly. On arrival The Appellants barrister and him himself inclusive of his mother all went together into a side room for a pre talk. Before any desiccations in relation to the case could be discussed, Mr. Locke said he was sorry he was not feeling very well and that he also had some emails from Ms. Ward, that he had to read first on trying to open the emails he realized he could not and subsequently went out of the room to call Ms. Ward.
At around 10:00 hours the Appellant was called into Court, Mr. Locke came back into the room from after making his phone.

call to Miss Ward, so for himself to be able to have collected his things and he then hurried and started to walk back out of the room we all was supposed to have a meeting but on stead he hurried in towards the Court room. The Appellant tried to stop him, so to have explained to him, what his concerns were. ("As we had not yet at this point in time had a moment to talk") and the Appellant was also concerned about the disclosure that was going to be asked for.
The Appellant asked Mr. Locke if he could ask the Judge to adjourn the case for five or ten minutes, so that we all could speak with each other, which he replied "no" that the hearing was only for disclosure about the schedule, The Appellant said that: - "He knew this was not correct and this was one of the reasons that he wanted to speak with him about." The Appellant again asked: - "if the barrister would ask the Judge to postpone for ten minutes again" he yet again said "no", at which point the Appellant asked "why Mr. Locke did not want to speak to him, and should he act for himself"?
The Barrister Mr. Locke had no time to talk to The Appellant at the time and spent around four minutes talking to Ms. Ward on the phone, before ending his call, he asked the Appellant if he the Appellant was dismissing his solicitors, to which the Appellant replied:- "No", Mr. Locke then started to walk towards the Courtroom, we followed the barrister into Court and on entering the Court in a raised voice, The Appellant said to Mr. Locke:- ("who was ahead of him") so am I acting for myself then.? Mr. Locke never replied to the Appellant and just proceeded to talk to the Judge and then he walked toward the courtroom door and ushered out. At this point the Appellant had no idea what was going on but proceeded to follow him outside the Court room, it was at this point of time when Mr. Locke turned around and said quite curtly "I do not want you to speak anymore", as we got closer to him he also informed the Appellant it was not good to shout out, "in open Court," to which the Appellant had to agree with, but the Appellant felt so let down as it seemed his barrister did not even want to talk to him, since the Appellant had last seen him in 2014 and this is another part of the reasons that the Appellant wanted to speak with him, as so much had already gone wrong with this case and the Appellant felt very nervous as he did not know what was going on, or what would be said as he had not spoken to his barrister.

The Appellants mother, who had witnessed all of this, did try to explain to the Appellants barrister, what the Appellant wanted to say, in reference to the receipt of the requested Non-disclosure and asked Mr. Locke to explain what the schedule is about before we all went back into court.
The Appellant also asked about the two article 6's that had been issued by the court, which had never been addressed: - "by the Court," which pertains to The Appellants Human Rights and importantly his rights to a fair and speedy trial, to what had not happened. The Article 6 the right to a fair and speedy trial had been handed to the Court at earlier hearings, as The Appellants knew Mr. Locke knew nothing about this and other information that had happened, so he felt it important to explain this to him at the time. Mr. Locke explained that the schedule was what the Judge had asked for on the 04/04/2016, my mother replied this was not all the Judge had asked for, without replying Mr. Locke walked towards the Courtroom and we all followed, it was at this point The Appellant said to the barrister I feel I should represent myself because he felt he was not being heard.
All that the Appellant wanted was to be able to speak to his barrister, so that he knew what had been said at the earlier hearing of the 04/04/2016 and show him the document that was handed to the Judge, on that date.
On entering the Court, the Appellant barrister Mr. Locke addressed the Judge and said the Appellant did not want him to act for him, but this was not fully the case the Appellant only wanted to be able to speak to his barrister.
The Judge informed the Appellants barrister to remain in the Courtroom, the Judge asked what the case was listed for, and the prosecuting barrister addressed the Court, answering the questions, he then also handed the schedule to the Applicants barrister, they also said to the Judge that the Appellant had been sending letters to the Court and the prosecution himself, which stated: - "I Simon Cordell throughout the document." This is not the case, and the Appellant did not understand their comment or what document the prosecuting barrister was talking about. The Judge then addressed the Appellant and asked the Appellant did the Appellant still want the barrister to act for the Appellant, the Appellant replied "Yes" to the Judge that he did want the barrister to act for him; the Appellant stated that he only wanted time to speak to his barrister, as he had not spoken to a barrister since the Magistrate's hearing.
The Judge then addressed the Appellant barrister he said that the Appellant still wanted the barrister to act for the Appellant, the Appellant barrister agreed to this. The Judge also stated he felt he was not the best person to be hearing this case and passed it back over to the Judge that was hearing the Appeal.
On leaving the Courtroom the Appellant and his mother proceeded to go into a side room to talk with the Appellant barrister, we explained that a letter had been handed to the Judge on the 04/04/2016, the barrister said he knew nothing of this letter, so we handed him a copy for him to read. Once he read this, he said he knew nothing about this and had only seen one document that kept saying I Simon Cordell, ("The Appellant has no idea of what this I Simon Cordell letter is.")

The Appellants mother proceeded to explain this is why the Appellant wanted to talk to Mr. Locke before going into Court, as this is part of the Non-disclosure being requested.
The barrister explained he only knew about the schedule, to which the Appellant mother replied, the schedule had been asked for by the Judge in addition to the letter that had been handed in and this was also when the Judge said it could be used as the Appellants skeleton argument and that this had happened when Miss Ward was in the Court on the date of the 04/04/2016 when she was also taking notes, so Miss Ward knew exactly what the Judge had asked for.
The Appellants mother had made a call to the Appellants solicitor and enquired as to what the Judge had asked for on the 04/04/2016 in regards to the disclosure, Ms. Ward stated she could not remember, the Appellant mother being dumbfounded by this said in reply to her:- "you was sitting in the back of the Courtroom taking notes," and continued to explain that only last week from the date in mention, will have everything that the Judge had asked for in his original disclosure, plus what was asked for in the Appellants letter, that was handed to the judge and Miss Ward also explained that the Judge had made other addictions in addition to the mentioned.
At no point did Ms. Ward ever make the Appellants mother feel she did not know what was due to be disclosed, before and while still on the phone, if she had ever done this the Appellant and the Appellant mother would have asked her to relist the case to the Court and asked for this to be clarified, as the disclosure that we were asking for was very important to the ongoings of the Appeal.
The Appellant mother then handed the Appellant the phone the Appellant asked Ms. Ward about the letter he was supposed to have sent to the Court and the prosecuting barrister, the Appellant was still thinking she was talking about the letter handed to the Judge on the 04/04/2016 when Miss Ward was not.
Also, in Court on this date, it was said the Appellant had written this letter himself, which was not the case.
In truth The Appellant agreed for a letter that Miss Ward had written in reply to the Judge's letter for the Appellant to be amended, he had amended it himself and it was to be handed into the court, the Appellant solicitor was at Court so she knew the Appellant had amended the letter, this is to be inclusive of it being sent to her by email, as she was in the court on this date to.
On this date when Miss Ward was a court, she said to the judge that the Appellant had drafted the letter when the Appellant had only amended it, Miss Ward continued to say, that she did not draft the Letter and that the Appellant wrote it, this is not true, at this the Appellant did call Miss ward a lair as the Appellant knew Miss Ward had drafted the letter herself at first.
The Appellant later explained to Miss Ward on the phone that he could prove the truth and said, I have the emails you sent to me and my mother of the letter we talk about and me amending it, in return for you. It was also explained to all that we have kept copies of all other correspondence between our persons and this is to include (Since the start of the Court proceedings.
The Appellant mother has checked the dates for when this letter was drafted by The Appellant solicitor and then returned to her, the date was on the 03/04/2016 please see attached email and letter (marked 03/04/2016 Ms. Ward).

The Appellant barrister was listening to the phone call and after the Appellant ended the barrister got up and said I will need to think about still representing you as you called your solicitors a lair, the Appellant stated that he can prove that Miss Ward wrote the letter and she's denying as to doing so and further expressed himself in question the line of investigation by saying:- "how would anyone body else's feel, if she had lied about them," the Appellant barrister then replied that if he was still going to represent the Appellant then there would need to be a meeting at the Appellant barrister chambers, at this point the meeting concluded, with nothing else really spoke of about the Appellant Appeal yet again, this was days before the Appeal hearing was due to start once again.
Up to here for now
A while after the Solicitor wrote a letter and sent it to the Appellant and the Appellants mother, the date of this received email is dated 20/09/2016 and a copy had also been sent to the Court, this application was put in so for the acting solicitor to once again attempt to be removed from the record this was done to our surprise and was listed in Court to be heard on the 21/09/2016.
There were large sections of this letter that were incorrect and did not happen so therefore are not true; this can also be proven by the Court transcripts from the 16/09/2016.
On the 21/01/2016 we were on our way to Court and got caught in traffic, we contacted the Court to get a message to the Judge to say that we were going to be five to ten minutes late, "I know the Judge got the message."
When we got to the Court, there was a barrister that Michael Carroll and Co had sent to the Court to deal with the application; this was so for them to be removed from the record for the second attempt.
The Barrister informed us she did not want to leave the Court before explaining what had happened it seemed the Judge had called this into Court without us being present and removed the solicitors from the record.
We question how could this have happened? Considering, the Appellant was not present at Court? And there was not a senior Partner from Michael Carroll and Co; "this question is due to what had been previously said by His Honour Judge Morrison on 19/02/2016 in regard to this not being allowed to happen."
The Barrister said the Judge wanted to see us and we would need to wait in Court until we were called, as the Judge was dealing with a trial and we would be called in after it.
Around 16:00 hours we were called into Court, the Respondent did make the Judge aware at this point that what had been said by His Honour Judge Morrison on the 19/02/2016 stating that a Senior Partner was not present at Court, the Judge replied that he could not force a solicitor to carry on with a case they clearly did not want to and that the Appellant could represent himself, he continued to state; that the case was in a much better order now, but as is known the Appellant has learning difficulties and health problems which the Court are also well aware of, there were only a few days until the Appeal hearing was due to start once again, how could a Judge believe that a person with learning difficulties and health problems could be ready and cope with dealing with a three-day Appeal hearing on his own?.
We did try to get the Judge to adjourn the Appeal hearing so we could try and get representation put in place due to knowing the Appellant could not cope or handle this case on his own, which was due to start on the 26/09/2016 for a three- day hearing, the Judge said he would not allow this and that the Appeal hearing would go ahead no matter what. It seems again that the Appellant was being blamed for what was ongoing in this case, when the Appellant and the Appellant mother had done all they could, so for them to have this case ready to be heard.

How can a Judge expect someone that is known to be ill and have learning difficulties to be able to handle this case on their own? considering there were only four days until the three-day Appeal hearing was due to start. Nothing was put in place by the Judge to help the Appellant in any way. The Appellant was just meant to get on with the case all on his own under the circumstances.
Once again, the solicitors had done nothing for this case and the Judge had allowed them to walk away when this was said to not be allowed and it seems as if everything was being blamed on the Appellant.

It was also noted while we had been waiting outside the Court that the bundles we had been working from was the very first set of the application bundles and since that time everything had been updated, without us being informed, this included more statements from the police officer in charge of the case, there were lots of documents missing from within the first bundle due to the update, so until he was given the updated bundles, the Appellant had never seen them additional documents.
It was stated by the respondent they had sent new bundles to the acting solicitors Michael Carroll and co three times since the being of January 2016, we had never been given a set of new bundles since this case had started in 2014, we had never been told about new bundles been sent and never given a new copy of any bundle. This meant that bundle we had would have had all wrong page numbers and been paginated totally different from the bundles that were being used by the prosecution barrister and Courts.
When we were in Court, we did say this to the Judge about the bundles, the Judge ordered the clerk of the Court to contact Michael Carroll and Co solicitors and order the solicitors to bring the bundles to Court. the solicitors informed the clerk that the bundles were at Nexus Chambers, the Judge was shocked that the solicitors did not have a copy of the bundles at their office. The Appellant's uncle who was also at Court said to the Judge he was willing to go to Nexus Chambers and pick the bundles up.

The Judge listed this for the 22/09/2016 after 14:00 hours to make sure we were all working from them same set of bundles.
Upon the Appellant's uncle getting home it was seen that the bundle he had collected was not the full set of bundles and only had part of the applications Skeleton Bundle.
On the 22 September 2016 we attended Court to inform the Judge we still did not have the updated bundles and the Judge once again got the clerk of the Court to call Michael Carroll and co solicitors to find out what was going on within the bundles, the Judge was very upset that we still did not have the bundles for the case, the Judge asked for the bundles to be brought to Court before 4 PM, The Appellant's mother stated that it would be easier and faster for her to pick the bundles up from the solicitors on the way home from Court, the Judge asked if she was sure that he could get them brought to Court she stated that it be faster for her to pick the bundles up from the solicitors on my way home.
When we left Court due to the time and the circumstances, we had been placed in The Appellant mother called Michael Carroll's office to say what time we would be there by, The Appellant mother was told that the office would be closed by the time we got there so The Appellant mother agreed to pick the bundles up first thing in the morning on 23 September 2016.

On 23-09-2016 The Appellant mother left home early in the morning to go to Michael Carroll's office and collect the bundles with her brother, Mr. A Cordell they went into the office
together to get the bundles, when the solicitor came down the stairs, he had a piece of paper that The Appellant mother needed to sign, stating that the bundles had been collected from the office.
Upon getting home and looking at the bundles, The Appellant mother noticed there is now at least 13 additional statements that The Appellant and The Appellant mother had never seen before from the Respondent bundle, this is a clear error as we knew that in the first bundle there were only 4 public witness statements and there now seems to be 16, when taking a closer look at the statements we noticed there are no members of the public's statements of truth and this also applied for the original 4 contained in the folder minus one, this also highlighted that each member of the public's statements are police officers only and have each put their signatures on two different statements each, in a pretence of portraying to own two houses each in Edmonton xxx Gardens and other surrounding roads in an around Progress way, the police officers are claiming to be victims. of this case while on active duty.
So in understanding this, the Applicant contacted Edmonton police stations lost property room, so too for him to arrange collection of the original bundle, that was never served to him in accordance with the law. To his further upset and disappointment of justice he was to be told by another police officer deployed at the lost property room as the manager, that the bundle that the Appellant wanted to claim had been misplaced or stolen, this file clearly shows that there was only ever four potential members of the publics witness statements attached within side of the original Asbo application.
Some of the statements added are all dated prior to the Magistrates Court trial. Upon looking at The Appellant's bundles it seemed this had not been updated or indexed since 2015, so all the new documents that had been submitted to be added to The Appellant's bundle was not in their as they should have been.
Over the days leading up to this, The Appellant mother had learned how important it was that all the bundles were paginated and indexed correctly and that all the bundles were the same as each other so that each person was working on them files was all in Co Hurst to each other, as there was always problems at court due to this not being completed correctly.
Though the case history multiple documents had been handed to the Court, and them documents did not get patronised correctly or indexed into The Appellant's bundles, this includes the court and the Respondent bundles that they were using also.
A whole weekend was spent trying to add missing documents to the Appellant's bundle and making copies so that on the Court date of the 26-09-2016; any missing files could be added to the Respondent bundle and the three Judge's bundles. The Appellant health had become very unstable due to him knowing that he was going to have to be dealing with this himself.
The Appellant mother also spent part of the weekend also writing a letter to the Judge in regards to what had gone on with the breaches in The Appellant's human rights, his article 6 human rights the Applicants rights to a fair and speedy trial, there were also a list of other things that had gone on throughout the case since 2014 in regards to the nondisclosure, and other issues that was always being raised when at Court and the reason as to why legal aid had been granted:
Due to the complexity of the case.
Due to The Appellant's learning difficulties.

Due to the concerns of The Appellant health.
This letter was emailed to the Court and asked to be passed to the Judge.
Please see letter that was emailed to the judge
The 26 September 2016 the three-day Appeal hearing was due to start, The Appellant was so unwell that there was no way he could attend Court, Mr. A Cordell and Miss L Cordell attended Court to speak to the Judge, when the Judge entered the Courtroom he stated that he had received a letter that had to be addressed, he stated that he felt this would go to judicial review, he stated he had three options:
Carry on with the Appeal in the hope that The Appellant would turn up the following day.
159,
To Dismiss the Appeal.
Adjourn the Appeal to a new date.
The Judge went over the letter in great detail; he started around five times that he felt that this case was going to go to judicial review.
The Judge decided to adjourn the case until the 16/01/2017; this was later changed for the Appeal to start on the 17/01/2017. The Respondent had tried to object to the Appeal being adjourned. The Judge stated that we should try to find a new solicitor to take on the Appeal and that he would help and also make sure that legal aid was in place.
The Judge asked why The Appellant was not in Court. The Appellant mother stated The Appellant had become so unwell due to what was going on in this case and that he was not coping. Information was passed to the Judge that showed The Appellant was unwell.
Mentioned in court; was also the missing documents that was missing from The Appellant's bundle, and that there were no statements within the bundle, my mother stated to the Judge that she had spent a lot of the weekend trying to update The Appellant's bundle and make sure that it was indexed correctly,

THE COMMISSIONER OF THE POLICE OF THE METROPOLIS
DEFENDANT

SKELETON ARGUMENT INTRODUCTION:

1. This application is to have the following decisions/orders reviewed and reversed in order to prevail in the right to and in justice.
2. A decision/order to make an application for an Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order against the Appellant as named above was agreed in a conference at the Enfield civic centre on the 00/00/2014 alongside their employed staff and members of the Metropolis police.
3. On the 5th November 2014, the Appellant defends in his defence that a guilty verdict was wrongfully decided at Highbury Magistrates Court, this was in order for the Commissioner of the Metropolis Police.
4. The Appellant asks for the case to be reopened and reviewed in its decision that is made by order of the Magistrates Court, so for the verdict to be overturned in his favour to be declared as void making the decision an error in law.
5. The Appellant's human rights have now been breached. And.
6. The Appellant's right to due process has also been breached. This led to the Appellant's right to a fair trial also being breached.
7. The ongoing of the Asbo case are a clear miscarriage of justice that has been allowed to happen, even once reported.
8. The Appellant's rights in the data protection act 1998 have also been breached in relation towards the ongoings of the Anti-Social Behaviour order.
9. The Appellant requests the decision/order that was placed upon his statue of liberties to make the interim order a full Antisocial Behaviour order on 4th August 2015 by Highbury Corner Magistrates Court, in order for the Commissioner of Police of the Metropolis to be revoked.
10. The Appellant asks for the case to be reopened and reviewed in its decision that is made by order of the Magistrates Court, so for the verdict to be overturned in his favour to be declared as void making the decision an error in law.
11. The Appellant's human rights have now been breached. And.
12. The Appellant's right to due process has also been breached. This led to the Appellant's right to a fair trial also being breached.
13. The ongoing of the Asbo case are a clear miscarriage of justice that has been allowed to happen, even once reported.
14. The Appellant's rights in the data protection act 1998 have also been breached in relation towards the ongoings of the Anti-Social Behaviour order.
15. The Appellant requests for the decision/order made at Wood Green Crown Court on 19th January 2017 in relation to the Appeal against conviction, of the Antisocial Behaviour Order to be dismissed also.
16. The Appellant asks for the case to be reopened and reviewed in its decision that is made by order of the Magistrates Court, so for the verdict to be overturned in his favour to be declared as void making the decision an error in law.

17. The Appellant's human rights have now been breached. And.
18. The Appellant's right to due process has also been breached. This led to the Appellant's right to a fair trial also being breached.
19. The ongoing of the Asbo case are a clear miscarriage of justice that has been allowed to happen, even once reported.
20. The Appellant's rights in the data protection act 1998 have also been breached in relation towards the ongoings of the Anti-Social Behaviour order.
21. It is said that on the on the 12th September 2014 the police attended The Appellant home address of 109 Burncroft, Avenue, Enfield, EN3 7JQ, they knocked on the door, the Appellant was not expecting anyone, the Appellant approached his front door and looked through his spy hole he could see people who appeared to be police officers, and asked them through the door what they wanted, the police stated they needed to speak to him, the Appellant opened his front door very slightly then the police officers started to try a force an object into the front door, he soon came to the understanding he was being tricked so for the officers to be able to serve some 161,
22. documents on him as they would never have been able to fit into any standard letterbox, due to the Appellant's learning difficulties he stated he would not accept anything and closed his door and then continued to state that he was not being rude in doing so.
23. It is a well-known fact on the police's system of government bodies that the Appellant does have learning difficulties and health problems.
24. The Appellant could hear the police talking outside his front door and the lady police officer then questioned her colleges and said what shall we do now, a male police officer stated put it on the floor in front of the door referring to the application.
25. They then put some other pages into the Appellant's letterbox this totalled to four pages. The lady police officer then placed an A4 size folder on the floor outside the Appellant's front door as the male officer had instructed her to do.
26. The Appellant then made a phone call to his mother, who could not attend at the time this was until the following day when she attended the Appellant's home address. On her attendance, she found the folder was left opened on the floor where the police had left it. The Appellant’s mother was very shocked when she looked inside the folder and saw the data that was within it.
27. The data that was within side the A4 size folder was personal information and a breach of the data protection act 1998 by leaving such data in a commune area of the block of flats.
28. A letter of complaint was put to the police in the way in which they had left personal information on a doorstep in view of everyone that lived or who came into the block of flats, this was achieved on the 13th September 2014 and was hand delivered to Edmonton Green police station and a receipt was issued from them, at the same time as of when the complaint letter was handed in there was also that of the A4 bundle being referred to as the Asbo application and court summons which was also handed into the front desk of the police station.
29. The complaint has never been addressed and neither has there been that of a professional response concluding any outcome to them issues raised of concern, a total failure of a response from the police, providing any professionalism when dealing with complaints.
30. Please see a letter of the compliant and photos and receipt that was handed to Edmonton police station on 13th September 2014.
31. On 06th October 2014, the Appellant was due to appear in Court on this day, The Appellant had arranged for Michael Carroll and Co Solicitors, to act on his behalf, this included to have legal aid in place.

32. On the day of court legal aid had been applied for, but the legal aid had been refused, the Judge sitting overturned this and granted legal aid in the Applicants favour.
33. The reason for the Judge overturning and granting legal aid was due to the Appellant having known learning difficulties, health problems and due to the complexity of the case.
34. The disclosure was asked for so that the Appellant could stand a fair and speedy trial, but the requested disclosure never ever did come. The case was relisted for the 22/10/2014, for an interim Antisocial Behaviour Order hearing, all police officers were due to attend for the interim hearing.
35. On the 22nd October 2014, the Appellant was due in Court for the Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order to be heard, due to the Appellant barrister having a burst water pipe and his home being flooded he could not attend, the applicant still wanted the case to be heard which the Judge would not allow.
36. The Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order hearing was then set for the 05/11/2014.
37. On the 22nd October 2014, all police officers did attend Court for the Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order hearing. The disclosure was asked for on this date.
38. 37.On 05th November 2014, the Appellant was due in Court for the Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order hearing; all police were due to attend but did not. The Appellant's barrister could not attend on this date due to the flooding that taken place at his home address, another barrister turned up to represent the Appellant but had no paperwork for the case only a skeleton argument to strike-out the Antisocial Behaviour Order application.
39. The skeleton argument, submitted on behalf of the Appellant, to strike out the application for the Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order. Arguments advanced in this respect, and those which rely upon the civil procedure rules, are not applicable to these proceedings. The civil procedure rules only apply to proceedings in the county Court, the high Court, and the civil division of the Court of Appeal. As a result, the Magistrate's Court has no jurisdiction to consider an application to strike-out application.
40. The Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order hearing went ahead, The Appellant's barrister did not have the correct paperwork for the hearing, and knew very little about the case, no police officers turned up to Court on this day.
41. In the days prior to this hearing, The Appellant was rushed to the hospital due to kidney problems while he was still in hospital, he was informed by his solicitor on the 04/11/2014 that if he did not attend Court on the 05/11/2014 the case would go ahead without his presence. The Appellant then discharged himself from the hospital because he had no choice. (He was extremely unwell)
42. On this date, the Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order was granted by the District Judge Newham.
43. Upon delivering her judgment, District Judge Newham ruled that it is just to impose an Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order, and that regard had been taken of The Appellant's Article 6 and 8 rights, as well as The Appellants business. District Judge Newham ruled that there are no provisions contained within the (amended) proposed Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order which would prevent The Appellant from conducting legitimate business.
44. On this date, all police officers were due to attend. (They did not attend their reason was they were not told to attend; this was untrue as the application from 22/10/14 should still stand as the case had only been adjourned until this date for the Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order hearing)
45. The applicant's case also relied solely on hearsay, Magistrate's Courts (hearsay evidence in civil proceeding) rules 1999.

46. These are the conditions The Appellant was placed under and are for the whole of the UK:
47. The defendant is prohibited from:
48. Attending a rave as defined by s.63 (1) of the criminal justice and public order act 1994.
49. Being concerned in the organisation of a rave as defined by s.63(1) of the criminal justice and public order act 1994.
50. Knowingly using or supplying property, personal or otherwise, for use in a rave as defined by s.63(1) of the criminal justice and public order act 1994.
51. Entering or remaining in any disused or abandoned building unless invited to do so in writing by a registered charitable organisation.
52. Entering or remaining on non-residential private property on an industrial estate between the hours of 10 pm and 7 am without written permission from the owner and/or leaseholder of the property; and: -
53. Engaging in any licensable activity in any unlicensed premises.
54. For the sake of clarity, nothing in this order prevents the defendant from assisting, preparing for, or engaging in licensed licensable activities.
55. This is untrue as we have since contacted council and police and told he would not be granted a licence to hold any events as long as the Antisocial Behaviour Order was in place other than when applying with Enfield Council. So the Appellant's entertainment business is seriously affected by the Antisocial Behaviour Order that was put in place.
56. Points to address regarding the conditions the Appellant is prohibited from doing. 162,
57. Clearly, the conditions the Appellant was put under are a breach of the Appellant's human rights, and disproportionate due to the fact it would breach:
58. Article 3 freedom from torture and inhuman or degrading treatment: -
59. Article 5 right to liberty and security: -
60. Article 8 respect for your private and family life, home, and correspondence: -
61. Article 23.1 of the universal declaration of human rights states: (1) everyone has the right to work, to free choice of employment, to just and favourable conditions of work and to protection against unemployment.
62. Condition E states entering or remaining on a non-residential private property on an industrial estate between the hours of 10 pm and 7 am without the written permission from the owner of that land and/or leaseholder of the property.
63. With this condition in place, it makes it so that the Appellants life is left in term while as for it leaves him in a state of confusion as to what he can and cannot do as he has been left not equal to others.
64. Any non-residential property the Appellant would like to attend such as where house night club or any friends or family's private parties he is not able to attend:
65. This also includes Hospitals, Police Stations, 24-hour Supermarkets, Petrol Stations, Cinemas, Restaurants, Bars, Nightclubs, and any other public place open to the public between these times that is non-residential. The Appellant cannot go to without written permission which would be degrading for the Appellant to have to ask each time he wanted to go somewhere and explain why he needed it to be confirmed in writing by the owner and/or leaseholder of the property, how this condition could be applied by any Judge and state it is not a beach of someone human rights should not be justified.
66. Conditions C states knowingly using or supplying property personal or otherwise for the use of a rave as defined under section 63.1 of the criminal justice and public order act, the Appellants has spent the last 10 years building his business saving every penny with help from his family.

67. The company he has built is regulated within the entertainment industry and is represented by the licensing Act 2003, he intends to hire equipment out, the Appellants business is seriously affected by the conditions, partly because if he hired his equipment to any person and it ended up in an indoor private party or an outdoor illegal rave then the Appellant would be in breach of the conditions he has been imposed to be incompliance with another issue of concern is all events sighted within the Applicants bundle are indoor events and are therefore not illegal. When hiring out equipment the appellant does ask what it is going to be used for and also makes sure that he and his clients have that of a professional contract in place, so for him to be sure he is hiring the equipment in good faith.

68. Sometimes when a person tells you their reason for hiring the equipment out you may find out at a later date that what was explained when hiring the equipment out is not always correct and that it was not used for the purpose the person told you. The Appellant should not be liable for other people's actions when following the correct protocols of business and should never be in breach of the Asbo conditions in them circumstances.

69. Also, if the Appellant loaned someone any personal belongings and that person ended up at an illegal rave then the Appellant would again be in breach of his conditions, even if the item was something that did not even constitute as being for an illegal rave.

70. These are just two more of the concerns within the conditions that the Appellant is under.

71. Some of our other concerns within the conditions set by the Courts are that the Appellant's Human rights are even further breached, this includes: -

72. Article 6 right to a fair trial: -

73. The Appellant had to go ahead at the hearing without the barrister having any other paperwork other than the application to strike out, which was not allowed.

74. Also on this date, the police officers did not attend when they knew they should.

75. The Appellant was so unwell at this hearing, he was not coping he should never have had to discharge himself from hospital to try to defend himself.

76. The police have it on the police systems who done what they say the Appellant has done and have not disclosed that information when requested.

77. The following directions were made:

78. The parties to exchange any additional evidence on which they seek to rely by 20th January 2015, this is to include any witness statements from any witness, including the defendant himself; and: -

79. The parties are prohibited from relying on any evidence not already served or served in accordance with paragraph 1 of these directions, without the permission of the Court.

80. Although not a formal direction, should any witnesses no longer be required, the Judge requested written confirmation of this to be given to all parties speedily.

81. At present, the following witnesses are required to attend the full hearing:

(i) Inspector Douglas Skinner; -

(ii) Police constable Miles; -

(iii) Acting police SERGEANT EDGOOSE; -

(iv) Police constable Elsmore: -

(v) Sergeant King: -

(vi) Police constable Ames; and: -

(vii) Inspector Hamill.

82. The interim order was set to continue until 10th March 2015 when the full hearing was heard this was listed for two full days.

83. The disclosure was asked for this was meant to be given by 20/01/2015 this never happened, and no disclosure was given.

84. No disclosure was served on us by the20/01/2015 that was asked for; this has happened throughout this case. The disclosure we ask for would prove the Appellant did not do what the police are saying within the application.

85. Before the first hearing was due to take place the Appellant and his mother was constantly requesting by methods such as via phone and emails for the acting solicitors Michael Carrol and co.'s to obtain the relevant information so for them to have the Applicants best interests at heart regarding a fair trial, thought our requests we understood that things were not being addressed to the correct level of services needed, this included a lack of communication, submission of forms and applications and relevant procedures for a solicitor firm to have the correct correspondents ready for trial, in laymen terms a complete disregard for their clients, things just was simply not being completed.

86. Since the start of the case meetings was constantly being put off by them self's, we had also asked a number of times could the solicitors please go over the CADs, and intelligence reports that were in the Asbo application as we understood there to be serious errors contained within its context, our request was never accomplished, this included the questioning of laws representing the case stating it was an illegal offence to which the Applicant had never been arrested for.

87. Also noticed within the applicant's bundles were other serious breaches of data protection, regulations, and codes of conduct, this includes some of the following: - in police officers' statements.

Should start at number 76 document index.

88. In what is referred to as a "CFS call" in a short abbreviation a member of the public requesting assistance by way of a phone call for services that in turn has led an investigating officer(s) into using a mg11 form otherwise known as a witness statement, to take a version of events of a person.

89. The issue of relevance being highlighted is in witness statements that were contained within the Asbo applications bundle. Serious errors once again seem to have occurred, that leave serious concerns towards any guilty verdict, as for sure when any official person is filling out such a form as a mg 11 there should be statements of truth that have been complied with as well as many other measurements that should be met that seem to be under serious scrutiny as for they were written by police officers and not the witnesses themselves, to even further the rights to justice the Appellant was not allowed to call any witnesses or any other police officers whose information was within the application's bundle he was only allowed to have the police officers that the application wanted us to have, he simply was denied his rights to have any other witnesses being called.

90. The members of the public's statements that could be proved to be no other than information reports that should be classified as non-disclosed intelligence were allowed to remain within the application's bundle as witness statements without being questioned by the acting solicitors, although it was constantly being brought up.

91. On the 10th March 2015, this date was due to be the full Antisocial Behaviour Order hearing, but the Court had made a mistake and only listed it for a one-day hearing.

92. District Judge Williams sitting, apologised for the error, and said that a part hearing could take place, or the full hearing is adjourned to a later date so that the full hearing could be dealt with over two days.

93. The Appellant was upset as he wanted this to be dealt with and only agreed that the case is adjourned until the 03/08/2014 and the 04/08/2014 if district Judge Williams heard the case, she cleared her diary and promised that she would be the Judge that would preside over the case.

94. District Judge Williams also stated that this was the 1st time she had ever seen a case in which the commissioner of the metropolitan police had brought an Antisocial Behaviour Order in front of her in this way in a civil capacity.

95. The disclosure was asked for and this was once again never given.

96. On the 2nd August 2015 the Appellant's mother received a phone call from Miss Ward acting solicitors, regarding a statement she had just found in the emails relating to Antisocial Behaviour Order, The Appellant's mother asked if this could be sent over via email to her, in knowing it was too late to do anything about it because the full hearing started the next day. Similar things were continuously happening throughout the case; the solicitors seemed to only do anything on the case the day before the hearings, or a few days before it was due to take place. Many emails were sent including many phone calls that were made to get the right things done, most of the emails went not replied to for months, phone calls were not picked up, or if they were we were told that things would be addressed when they never were.

97. The Appellant attended Court on the 03rd August 2015 and the 04th August 2015 for the full hearing of the Antisocial Behaviour Order, only to find the stipulation and reasons he had allowed the case to be adjourned to these dates had not been adhered to, the presiding Judge was not District Judge Williams, it fact it was District Judge D Pigot who would be residing over the full hearing.

98. Non-disclosure was again spoken about, but nothing came of this and the case went forward.

99. We understand this is only our opinion, but we believe this Judge had already found that she was going to prove the case before it even started for the full Antisocial Behaviour Order in favour of the applicants.

100. Before the hearing started The Appellant's, mother informed the Judge the Appellant was very ill and she did not think he would cope due to health problems She continued with the case none the less and did not ask the Appellant's mother to elaborate further. Later within the hearing the judge would notice that there should have been medical records adduced for the Applicants response within his bundle and this was missing along with a lot of other documents that had been requested for his defence, the Appellants bundle was only around 82 pages when it should have been around 300 pages.

101. Continually through cross-examination by the Appellants barrister toward the police officers, District Judge D Pigot kept interrupting and telling the barrister he could not ask the questions he was asking even though what he was asking corresponded with what the police had put in their own statements. The Appellant's barrister even commented to the Judge Pigot "I am only asking questions pertaining to what the police have put in their statements" also he said to the Judge "I hope you are not going to have as much due-diligence with my client on cross-examination as you have with me" to which the Judge replied she would.

102. This was certainly not the case and in fact, the Judge allowed the Appellant to be cross-examined extremely harshly even knowing the Appellant had health problems.

103. On the date of trial, the Appellants solicitor had not even prepared a copy of the bundle so for the Appellant to have his own bundle, he was never told by the acting solicitors that he should of had his own copy and there was also the issue of there being a lot of documents missing from the Appellant's bundle.

104. On the day of trial when the Appellant took the stand, the Judge did ask where the Appellants bundle was, he stated he had never been given one, and did not know he needed one, the Judge did ask if there was a spare bundle that the Appellant could use which there was not. the Judge carried on by allowing the Appellant to be cross-examined clearly anyone could see the Appellant was unwell, from time to time the Judge passed the Appellant her own bundle.

105. Thought the trial the Appellant because the appellant did not understand what he was being asked, the problem with this is how is someone with learning difficulties is meant to be able to read what is contained within the bundle.

106. The Appellant feels that if he had had been solicited correctly then for sure he would have been better prepared, as for this would have left him with access to his own bundle so for him and his barrister to have been able to defend the Applicant correctly, therefore efficiently. Prior to the hearing this would have been the right point of time of opportunity for any of the support network the Applicant has or may need in place to have complied with what would have been in the Applicants best interest, so for that group of people working together as a collective of people, to have been able to off overseen this case, we all now feel this was totally inappropriate for Mr. Simon Cordell to have been opposed to such behaviour and therefore challenge the rightfulness of what was allowed by the Judge to have happened.

107. To the best of the Appellants barrister abilities he questioned the legitimacy of many issues of our concern that we have raised in many of the correspondents to the relevant persons of interest, relating towards this case, one of them concerns that we continually have raised is in relation towards the CAD's that are being used in the Asbo application, such problems referring to the CADS are in reference towards the case that is linked to Progress Way on 6th 7th 8th June 2014, this line of interrogation, such as what has been taken on by members of the police lead to a line of questioning such as:- if there was an illegal rave taking place at the sometime on Crown Road.

108. The Appellants barrister was asked to make this line of questioning, the reason being, after reading the local newspapers and making other inquires, we knew for sure this was a true fact, that there was another party at Crown road on the same dates.

109. It was latter revelled that the acting solicitors had not gone over the CADS before the trial, although they were asked too many times, and this should have been a standard fair practice for them.

110. If asked by any official person involved in the on goings of the Anti-Social Behaviour Order, the defendant can and is happy to provide a list of correspondents that have been requested by way of mobile texts and electronic emails by him and his per network. In them

111. messages he had asked his acting solicitor firm at the time to make sure of any reductions of wrongful accusations that has now been proven not to be correct, part of the reason why is because there is still CADS within the bundle that had nothing to do with the Appellant, what has already been clearly proven and should not stand as any part of a case against his person.

112. As can be seen in a copy of the Magistrates transcripts of the trial a police officer gave wrongful information while under oath, he stated that every CAD contained in the Asbo application on the dates of the 6th 7th 8th June 2014 is in fact related to Progress Way and there was not an illegal rave taking place on Crown Road on them same dates, he done this to help himself in aid of gaining a guilty verdict against the Appellant, what he stated to the district judge under cross-examination is not the truth as can be proven by a copy of a freedom of information request that was sent in receipt's to Enfield Council and ourselves, to further this the Judge then asked the same question was every CAD linked to the case of the application, and was given the exact same answer yes.

113. Attached is a copy of the freedom of information act which was obtained from Enfield Council.

114. In point of the facts there are multiple inconsistencies pertained within the CADS within the application, timestamps also do not match up within the CADs, there is also all the missing CADs. Some of the intelligence reports also have been updated with no reason as to why. There are also the breaches of data protection within the Appellants PNC record which are incorrect which also can be proven and should have never been contained without the right application granted by a judge, also contained within the police officer statements there are errors which can be proven as untrue and are therefore a breach of the data protection act.

115. We know the police knew about the illegal rave at Crown Road because police were deployed there. This can clearly be seen within the CADS which are within the application's bundle, but there is so much reduction within the CADS we believe there is a lot more that pertain to Crown Road, and we cannot see due to the reductions.

116. Part of the Appellant's barrister submission had been that the allegations were that the Appellant was involved in the organising of illegal raves, but the applicant hadn't adduced evidence of trespass which is a requirement for proving that an indoor rave was illegal.

117. The district Judge ruled that the applicant did not need to prove illegality - all that needed to prove was the Appellant had acted in an Antisocial Manner.

118. In the Appellants barrister view this is a very questionable decision: firstly, the applicant based their case on the illegality of the raves rather than the fact of the rave's themselves and secondly, without proof of illegality the presumption of innocence leads to the conclusion that the raves were legal, and thus the applicant being prohibited from engaging in an ostensibly lawful activity requires more careful consideration on issues of proportionality.

119. The barrister continued to state that the Applicant could go to judicial review in regards to the case, but gave his legal advice that he did not think this decision was in the Appellants best interest as he believed there is little merit in doing so, the reason he gave was because the Appellant would then lose his right to Appeal to the Crown Court and even if he succeeded in the high/div Court, they would merely remit it back to the Lower Court, who would then probably go through the motions of considering proportionality before coming to the same conclusion.

120. To summarise the Judge stated she did not need to prove illegality, but she proved the Appellant had acted in an Antisocial Manner, how the district Judge came to this conclusion we do not understand, not one police officer had stated the Appellant had acted in an Antisocial Manner towards them, is also a fact that any application for an Antisocial Behaviour Order has to be bought within six months of the dates, there were cases going back prior to the six months which should have only been used for reference, but the District Judge also included these cases to be proven.

121. Since this case started, we knew the police and the public order investigation unit held information on the police systems that proved the Appellant was not the organiser of these illegal raves. In fact, the police knowingly went around to the known organiser's homes and also spoke with them on the telephone. This proves they have the information we were asking for in disclosure. (This was found out via social media and Google by the Appellant's mother) the Appellant's mother even called the public order investigation unit and spoke to DS Chapman, and Val Turner.

122. The Appellant had not been coping throughout this case and walked out of the Court, the Appellant's mother said to the District Judge you can clearly see he is not well and is not coping, which the district Judge confirmed she could clearly see that the Appellant was not well. But continued to ask the clerk to get the Appellant back in Court and she also informed that if appellant re-entered the Courtroom and was disruptive, she would hold him in contempt of Court. The Appellants mother would not let the Appellant re-entered the Courtroom, as she knew the Appellant was so unwell and not coming and did not want him to be held in contempt of Court due to his health.

123. Because of this, the Appellant was not there to have the Antisocial Behaviour Order served on him, and the Antisocial Behaviour Order was served to the Appellant's mother on his behalf.

124. Upon proving the case District Judge Pigot granted all the applicants' conditions. The applicants wanted to make this a lifetime Antisocial Behaviour Order, which district Judge Pigot did not allow and granted it for five years within the whole of the UK. With the stipulation that it could be reapplied for when the five years were concluded. She started the five years from the 04/08/2015; she did not count the time the Appellant had been on the Interim Antisocial Behaviour Order.

125. The Appellant's mother and the Appellant's barrister then asked the Judge if the conditions of the Antisocial Behaviour Order could be defined as there were many points of concern. the Judge was asked if the Appellant went to a Tesco or Tesco petrol station between the hours of 10 pm and 7 am would he be in breach of the conditions and subsequently arrested, the response from District Judge Pigot was dumbfounding she said" yes he would be arrested, taken to Court and would then have to prove he was going to get whatever petrol he required". I am guessing the same could be said for food and any other non-residential buildings, this would include hospitals, police stations, restaurants, cinemas etc. on hearing the Appellant's mother and barrister questioned this and said "so you think this is in accordance with the law,?" she replied to this "the conditions are precise and plain.

126. District Judge Pigot then left the Courtroom with her clerk to get the memorandum of an entry, so for them to be made up as soon as possible, this was due to the lateness of the day and the department who dealt with this kind of request would be closed, on her return the District Judge asked why the Appellants barrister was not in Court, the Appellants mother said that he had left because he was not told that he needed to stay, she handed the memorandum of an entry to the Appellants mother and a copy was then sent to the applicants barrister, on reviewing this the applicants barrister said there were multiple spelling mistakes and that the dates from 2013 should not be entered and needed to be removed. She said this would be amended and a new copy would be sent in the post, and until this day this has never happened even though the Appellants mother contacted the Court via emails in regards to them issues, the spelling mistakes were corrected but not the dates.

127. We have since found out that we also should have been handed a map showing all areas which the Antisocial Behaviour Order conditions encompassed, which we have also never been given, but this map would have just shown the whole of the UK, even low the extent of the problems only excised in Enfield and under Asbo guidance should never have been granted on such a geological wide scale without proof of contempt.

128. The Appellant's mother asked the Court for the transcripts, but was told at the Magistrate's Court does not record hearings, that the only notes that were kept were the clerks Court notes, the clerks Court notes were requested and the fee paid to obtain these. Upon looking at the clerk's notes there is a substantial amount is not included within them for the full two-day hearing for the Antisocial Behaviour Order hearing.

Please see Clerk Notes: -

129. I know that a judicial review in regards to the Magistrates hearing is being submitted to the Court out of time, but when the Appellants mother contacted the high Court to make enquiries in regards to a judicial review and explained the situation that had occurred throughout this case she was told to submit the application for judicial review for the Magistrates hearing's and that under exceptional circumstances the time limit could be overturned, the reason that this has been submitted to the Court out of time is due to the Appellant taking his barristers opinion that he would be better to go for the Appeal at the Crown Court and this is what the Appellant did. The Appeal hearing was not concluded until 19 January 2017.

130. On the 13 August 2015, the Metropolitan Police Service posted on their website, this led to all the local newspapers printing the story about the Appellant.

131. Please see attached: -

132. But how could the police have printed this as illegality had not been proven?

133. This led to the Appellant having stones thrown at his windows, and a gun being pulled out on him, which it then took the police six days to come out to take a report, we know the reason why it took the police so long to come and take the report it's how much the police dislike the Appellant, and his family this has been ongoing for over 23 years.

134. The Appellant's mother contacted many solicitors to try and get a new solicitor to take over the case, each time she was told that solicitors will not take a case on at Appeal stage due to how much legal aid paid for Appeal hearing, legal aid believed the solicitors that acted for the hearing would be dealing with the Appeal hearing so there was a set amount that would be paid for Appeal hearings which would not cover a new solicitor going over the complete case. The Appellant's mother believed it was best to keep the old solicitors on record as it was better to have a solicitor then having non due to the Appellant's health which had deteriorated throughout this case.

135. The Appeal was listed for the 26 October 2015 but only listed for 1-hour hearing the case was put off, due to the case needed to be set for three days as to the Appeal hearing.

136. The acting solicitors had seemed to have lost the Appellant's bundle it had been removed from the office due to the office being audited in the October 2015, no one seemed to be able to find the Appellant's bundle, and all the missing documents that was meant to have been within the bundle which was for the case and full hearing.

137. On the 9th November 2015 the case was listed for a mention hearing, all bundles were due to be at the Crown Court by the 23December 2015. The case was listed for a three-day Appeal to start on 22 February 2016. Discloser had been requested again.

138. In the December 2015 arrangements was made for the acting solicitors to attend the Appellants mother's home to go over the case bundles, at this point the Appellants mother made sure that all the CADS and intelligence reports was gone over by the solicitor, upon seeing all the errors the solicitor was shocked, maps were made up to be included in the Appellant's bundle and the Appellant's bundle was remade as it was due to be handed into Wood Green Crown Court on the 23 December 2015. Emails were also sent by the solicitor to the police.

139. The Appellants mother agreed to print of multiple documents including all maps needed to be done in colour, just prior to the Christmas holiday all printing was done and contact was made with the solicitors in order to get the Appellant's bundle Paginated and indexed, on 22 December 2015 multiple texts and calls was made to the solicitor due to the fact the bundle needed to be to the Court by the 23 December 2015.

140. The acting solicitor firm's replies were not being made in efficient time. On one occasion out of many the acting solicitor did not reply until much later, when she finally did reply she stated, that she could hand in the bundle when she got back from the Christmas and her New Year holidays, this was clearly not adequate as there should have been a case handler in her position to handle the Applicants case load.

141. Effectually a text was sent to the solicitor stating that this was going to have an effect on families Christmas and New Year due to the Appellant knowing that the Court had ordered the bundle to be submitted to the Court by a certain date and this time limit given by a judge not being merited, a text was received back from the solicitors, this stated the following:- “to be at the office by 18:00 PM” The Appellants mother attended and two bundles was Paginated and indexed which took until around01:30 AM. Miss Ward was not happy due to the time that had to be spent dealing with this as she was due to fly out in the early hours to Ireland. The bundles were left with the Appellants mother, this was achieved so that one mastered copy could behand-delivered to the Court in the morning on the 23 December 2015 and the other bundle was recorded delivered via the Post Office to the police.

142. Miss Ward stated after the Christmas and New Year holidays she would get the Appellant's bundle ready so it could be given to him. The Appellant had not seen the new bundle as the solicitor did not want to meet him, and due to the lateness in which the bundle was made to get into the court and the police, there was not the time for the Appellant to see the new bundle.

143. One of the texts that were sent to the Appellants mother please see below. Stated: that on the 22/12/2015, “This is a legal aid case Lorraine and Simon need to recognise that he is not paying privately so needs to work within the constraints of the legal aid system.” Upon receiving the text the Appellants mother was upset, it was the Court who had set the day for the bundle to be within the Court, not the Appellant.

144. The solicitors should have dealt with the case in a timely manner and made sure that things were not left to the last minute.

145. All that the Appellant ever wanted was for the solicitors to do what was right and needed for the Applicant their client, to which never happened.

146. When overseeing the past activities of: “the case handlers”, it is a sure fact that things was always left or not achieved at all, this would always lead the Appellants to his disappointment, in turn, causing wrongful suffering and loss, this seems to continue to leave the Appellant being in receipt of getting the blame, when he should not.

147. It was also upsetting because it seemed as if: - the Appellant paid for the solicitor's services then things would have been addressed a lot differently. I feel it should make no difference between paying privately or having legal aid put in place, a solicitor's job is to represent their client to the best of their ability seek justice for their client the best they possibly can, this was not the case throughout this case. After the Christmas and the New Year's holidays, we had to keep asking for the Appellant's bundle, we managed to get this in the beginning of February 2016, not long before the trial was due to start, it would also seem the solicitors was having problems getting a barrister for the Appellant still had not seen a barrister, this was at the time of the full hearing at the Magistrate's Court, the original barrister that represented the Appellant at the Magistrate's hearings, was on sabbatical leave. It is also noted that the acting solicitors, did not want a meeting with the Appellant and was mostly dealing with the Appellants mother.

148. On the 19th February 2016 the acting Solicitors put into the Court for a mention hearing, the Appellant believed this was due to nondisclosure, but the solicitors had also put an application into Break Fixture this was dismissed by His Honour Judge Morrison, this was three days before the three-day Appeal hearing was due to start.

149. “The Court will not and does not accede to any application for The Appellants.”

150. Solicitors to come off the record or to cease acting for the Appellant, such an application was dismissed by His Honour Judge Morrison on the 19th February 2016. It was also said that if any attempt is made to repeat this application the Court will require it to be made in person, by the Senior Partner of Michael Carroll & Co.”

151. This information is very important due to what occurred on the 21/09/2016 when HHJ-PAWLAK removed the solicitors from the record, as this was done without the Appellant or a Senior Partner of Michael Carroll & Co being present in Court. ("See date 21/09/2016 as more

152. His Honour Judge Morrison listed for the case to be heard on the 22/02/2016 in front of HHJ-PAWLAK, this was due to issues that were raised once again regarding nondisclosure and he felt he was not the best Judge to answer these issues.

153. The reason the solicitors gave to come off the record so close to the Appeal hearing was a breakdown in communication and they also could not get a barrister to deal with this case, this is in part misleading, the actual reason for them wanting to come off the record was due to the lack of work done by solicitors acting for the Appellant, in point of fact the case was not ready for the Appeal hearing, They could also not get a Barrister, and did not want to meet with their client.

154. His Honour Judge Morrison had never heard off solicitors that could not get a barrister and ordered that a Public Defender took over the case to act for the Appellant.

155. A three-day Appeal hearing was listed for 22/02/2016, 23/02/2016 and 24/02/2016.

156. Mr. Morris acting Public Defender attended Court on this day to act for the Appellant; the Appellant had not met Mr. Morris before this date. Mr. Morris had only had the case since the 19/02/2016 and was not ready for the three-day Appeal hearing. He wanted time to be able to go over all the large case bundles and be able to sit down and talk to the Appellant, so asked for an adjournment.

157. HHJ-PAWLAK was very unsympathetic and said he had the weekend to get ready for this case and that the Appeal would go ahead. Considering this was the Public Defender that His Honour Judge Morrison had allocated to the case only three days beforehand it seemed that the Appellant was the one being penalised for the incompetence of his acting solicitors Michael Carroll & Co.

158. The Appellant's health had deteriorated considerably due to all of what was happening within this case and other issues, the mental health team had obtained a section 135 warrant under the mental health act and it was only because of the disdain towards the Appellant from the ASBO proceedings, the Appellants Mother felt that she had to hand this information to his acting barrister, so for them to give a copy of the letter handed to them to the Judge, knowing this would cause a huge rift between the Appellant and his mother. But she had no option as the Judge was going to force the Appeal hearing to go ahead when the Appellant mother knew the Appellant would not cope.

159. This information was also posted to the judge, in knowing that the barrister had only just got the case handed to him and he himself was not ready to take the case on, as he had not even met with the Appellant at this point in time.

160. Upon Mr. Morris handing the documents to the Judge the Judge then unwilling adjourned the Appeal hearing until the 26/09/2016 for a three-day hearing.

161. The Judge listed the case for a mention hearing also on the 04/04/2016.

162. After this Court hearing, HHJ-PAWLAK wrote a letter to the acting solicitors Michael Carroll and co that had to be replied to by the 04/04/2016.

See Attached Letter from Judge: -

163. See attached response from Solicitors dated 03/04/2016: -

164. ln the letter that the Judge wrote to The Appellant's solicitors on the 22/02/2016, he asked Miss Ward who was dealing with this case for the Appellant at Michael Carroll & Co, if she knew that the response had to be completed by the 04/04/2016 for when the case was next listed in Court.

165. Miss Ward did not start working on the response to the Judge's letter until the 03/04/2016 and an email was sent to the Appellant with what Miss Ward wanted to reply in response to the Judge's letter also stating any amendments that needed to be complied with, as soon as practically possible.

166. Because the Appellant knew that Miss Ward had sat on the letter from the Judge, in turn, she and the company that she represented, had done nothing about what the judge had requested, this was since the date of February 2016 and then Miss Ward had rushed a response to be ready on the 03/04/2016, when she had been asked repeatedly to address the letter in a timely manner from the Judge and ourselves. In doing this she had not given the Appellant any time to go over the response she had written.

167. The Appellant amended Miss Wards Letter to include multiple points that had been missed out and sent it back to Miss Ward via email within a few hours of getting it. The Appellant was upset that he had to rushed into things, this was due to the learning problems he has and the delay in getting the letter from the solicitors meant the Appellant had hardly any time.

Please see attached: -

168. Upon attending Court on the 04/04/2016 it was seen that Mr. Morris had also drafted a response to the Judge letter this response was almost identical to Miss Ward's Letter except that it included one crucial section regarding the hearsay rule that had not been included in Miss Ward's letter.

169. The Appellant agreed on the point about the hearsay rule as he had been explaining this to Miss ward since the start of the ongoings of the case, which he felt did need to be included. But the Applicant was adamant it was going to be his letter that was going to be handed to the Judge with the oral addition of the hearsay. (This was the oral addition)

170. "The Magistrates Court hearsay rules 1999 do not apply to the Crown Court.

171. The defence does not accept that the Respondent has relied on the correct legislation to apply under the hearsay rules. In any event, the Appellant requests that the Respondent calls the witnesses who made CAD entries for cross-examination.

172. It is neither professionally appropriate nor suitable for the Appellant to call police officers and question their Credibility, as proposed by the Respondent through their application under the Magistrates Court Hearsay Rules.

173. The Appellant submits that questioning the credibility of one's own witnesses would not be permitted by the Court.

174. The Respondent has put forward no good reason for why these witnesses cannot be called. As to say it is not in the interests of justice to do so."

175. HHJ-PAWLAK granted the hearsay application could be submitted, although opposed orally by Mr. Morris. HHJ-PAWLAK informed that Mr. Morris opposition to hearsay was contained in Mr. Morris legal document, for which the Appellant did not allow Mr. Morris to hand up. HHJ-PAWLAK was informed that client wished to hand up his own document to HHJ-PAWLAK against Mr. Morris advice. Document read by all sides.

176. Please see The Appellant document: -

177. Considering point five of the Judge's letter to the Appellants Acting solicitors, it raises the question of how was this allowed, the Judge allowed Mr. Morris to make an oral submission in regards to hearsay in the Court, yet then said they were not allowed and then granted the hearsay application as allowed.

178. Michael Carroll and Co had also not done or prepared a skeleton argument for the Appellant's bundle, the Judge stated that the letter that had then been handed in could be used as the Appellant's skeleton argument.

179. Miss Ward was sitting in the back of the Court taking notes of what was being asked by the Judge and what was being said.

180. A meeting was meant to be arranged with the Appellant and the Public defender Mr. Morris; this was not done.

181. On the 12/07/2016: Informed by solicitor via email: -

182. "Please note that Mr. Andrew Locke has returned from a career sabbatical and he has agreed to deal with the Appeal against the imposition of an ASBO. I am in the process of confirming a conference date with Mr. Locke, hopefully within the next two weeks. I have notified Mr. Morris from the Public Defender Service that Mr. Locke is your preferred choice and I have requested the written submissions that he had prepared for the mention hearing in April 2016 that you did not consent to or permit us to serve upon the prosecution,

167,

183. instead, your own document was served at your insistence and contrary to the advice given by both Mr. Andrew Morris and myself.

184. Please confirm any dates that you are not available so that this conference can be arranged.

185. The meeting was never arranged with Mr. Locke, the Appellant's agreed barrister, until just before the Appeal date hearing, even though we kept asking for this to be arranged.

186. I would like to say that no option was given to us about a preferred barrister and if any person was to notice the date of the email then they would also notice that in a period of time it was once upon a time three whole months that had escalated since the said:- "mention hearing" referring to the date of the 04/04/2016, this is even through multiple emails were continually being sent to Miss Ward, asking for things to be addressed and dealt with in this case.

187. Emails were going unanswered for months by the acting solicitor firm, in fact since the start of time in this case, which started in 2014. As for the list of police officer the Appellant wanted to call Miss Ward had been told over and over the officer's names required to be listed in the Asbo application case, this list of names contained officers from the Public Order Investigation unit at Scotland Yard and maybe another officer such as Superintendent Specialist Operations Adrian Coombs.

188. On the 14th August 2016 the Appellant was sectioned under section 2 of the mental health act, he was then released later in August 2016, after a tribunal hearing and this was also due to agreeing that he would work with the mental health doctors and teams, that was put in place, he stated he would be willing to stay in hospital voluntarily, but due to bed shortages, he was discharged home a day later, with a support team put into place, the acting solicitors were made aware of this, and so was the Court in the September 2016, when the Appellant was due to attend.

189. On 16 September 2016 the case was listed for a mention hearing for non-Disclosure, and also a meeting with Mr. Locke the Appellant Barrister as he had not seen any barrister since the 04/08/2015 hearing at the Magistrate's Court when the Antisocial Behaviour Order was granted by the Judge with no legality found.

190. The Appellant was told by his acting solicitors to be at Court by 09:30 hours, but later this was changed to 09:00 hours, this was so he could have a meeting with his barrister, which he did agreed to do.

191. On the agreed court date, the Appellant arrived at Court for 09:00, his barrister did not arrive until around 09:40, disappointingly.

192. On arrival The Appellants barrister and him himself inclusive of his mother all went together into a side room for a pre talk. Before any desiccations in relation to the case could be discussed, Mr. Locke said he was sorry he was not feeling very well and that he also had some emails from Ms. Ward, that he had to read first on trying to open the emails he realized he could not and subsequently went out of the room to call Ms. Ward.

193. At around 10:00 hours the Appellant was called into Court, Mr. Locke came back into the room from after making his phone call to Miss Ward, so for himself to be able to have collected his things and he then hurried and started to walk back out of the room we all was supposed to have a meeting but on stead he hurried in towards the Court room. The Appellant tried to stop him, so to have explained to him, what his concerns were. ("As we had not yet at this point in time had a moment to talk") and the Appellant was also concerned about the disclosure that was going to be asked for.

194. The Appellant asked Mr. Locke if he could ask the Judge to adjourn the case for five or ten minutes, so that we all could speak with each other, which he replied "no" that the hearing was only for disclosure about the schedule, The Appellant said that: - "He knew this was not correct and this was one of the reasons that he wanted to speak with him about." The Appellant again asked: - "if the barrister would ask the Judge to postpone for ten minutes again" he yet again said "no", at which point the Appellant asked "why Mr. Locke did not want to speak to him, and should he act for himself"?

195. The Barrister Mr. Locke had no time to talk to The Appellant at the time and spent around four minutes talking to Ms. Ward on the phone, before ending his call, he asked the Appellant if he the Appellant was dismissing his solicitors, to which the Appellant replied:- "No", Mr. Locke then started to walk towards the Courtroom, we followed the barrister into Court and on entering the Court in a raised voice, The Appellant said to Mr. Locke:- ("who was ahead of him") so am I acting for myself then.? Mr. Locke never replied to the Appellant and just proceeded to talk to the Judge and then he walked toward the courtroom door and ushered out. At this point the Appellant had no idea what was going on but proceeded to follow him outside the Court room, it was at this point of time when Mr. Locke turned around and said quite curtly "I do not want you to speak anymore", as we got closer to him he also informed the Appellant it was not good to shout out, "in open Court," to which the Appellant had to agree with, but the Appellant felt so let down as it seemed his barrister did not even want to talk to him, since the Appellant had last seen him in 2014 and this is another part of the reasons that the Appellant wanted to speak with him, as so much had already gone wrong with this case and the Appellant felt very nervous as he did not know what was going on, or what would be said as he had not spoken to his barrister.

196. The Appellants mother, who had witnessed all of this, did try to explain to the Appellants barrister, what the Appellant wanted to say, in reference to the receipt of the requested non-disclosure and asked Mr. Locke to explain what the schedule is about before we all went back into court.

197. The Appellant also asked about the two-article 6's that had been issued by the court, which had never been addressed: - "by the Court," which pertains to The Appellants Human Rights and importantly his rights to a fair and speedy trial, to what had not happened. The Article 6 the right to a fair and speedy trial had been handed to the Court at earlier hearings, as The Appellants knew Mr. Locke knew nothing about this and other information that had happened, so he felt it important to explain this to him at the time. Mr. Locke explained that the schedule was what the Judge had asked for on the 04/04/2016, my mother replied this was not all the Judge had asked for, without replying Mr. Locke walked towards the Courtroom and we all followed, it was at this point The Appellant said to the barrister I feel I should represent myself because he felt he was not being heard.

198. All that the Appellant wanted was to be able to speak to his barrister, so that he knew what had been said at the earlier hearing of the04/04/2016 and show him the document that was handed to the Judge, on that date.

199. On entering the Court, the Appellant barrister Mr. Locke addressed the Judge and said the Appellant did not want him to act for him, but this was not fully the case the Appellant only wanted to be able to speak to his barrister.

200. The Judge informed the Appellants barrister to remain in the Courtroom, the Judge asked what the case was listed for, and the prosecuting barrister addressed the Court, answering the questions, he then also handed the schedule to the Applicants barrister, they also said to the Judge that the Appellant had been sending letters to the Court and the prosecution himself, which stated: - "I Simon Cordell throughout the document." This is not the case, and the Appellant did not understand their comment or what document the prosecuting barrister was talking about. The Judge then addressed the Appellant and asked the Appellant did the Appellant still want the barrister to act for the Appellant, the Appellant replied "Yes" to the Judge that he did want the barrister to act for him; the Appellant stated that he only wanted time to speak to his barrister, as he had not spoken to a barrister since the Magistrate's hearing.

201. The Judge then addressed the Appellant barrister he said that the Appellant still wanted the barrister to act for the Appellant, the Appellant barrister agreed to this. The Judge also stated he felt he was not the best person to be hearing this case and passed it back over to the Judge that was hearing the Appeal.

202. On leaving the Courtroom the Appellant and his mother proceeded to go into a side room to talk with the Appellant barrister, we explained that a letter had been handed to the Judge on the 04/04/2016, the barrister said he knew nothing of this letter, so we handed him a copy for him to read. Once he read this, he said he knew nothing about this and had only seen one document that kept saying I Simon Cordell, ("The Appellant has no idea of what this I Simon Cordell letter is.")

203. 168,

204. The Appellants mother proceeded to explain this is why the Appellant wanted to talk to Mr. Locke before going into Court, as this is part of the non-disclosure being requested.

205. The barrister explained he only knew about the schedule, to which the Appellant mother replied, the schedule had been asked for by the Judge in addition to the letter that had been handed in and this was also when the Judge said it could be used as the Appellants skeleton argument and that this had happened when Miss Ward was in the Court on the date of the 04/04/2016 when she was also taking notes, so Miss Ward knew exactly what the Judge had asked for.

206. The Appellants mother had made a call to the Appellants solicitor and enquired as to what the Judge had asked for on the 04/04/2016 in regards to the disclosure, Ms. Ward stated she could not remember, the Appellant mother being dumbfounded by this said in reply to her:- "you was sitting in the back of the Courtroom taking notes," and continued to explain that only last week from the date in mention, will have everything that the Judge had asked for in his original disclosure, plus what was asked for in the Appellants letter, that was handed to the judge and Miss Ward also explained that the Judge had made other addictions in addition to the mentioned.

207. At no point did Ms. Ward ever make the Appellants mother feel she did not know what was due to be disclosed, before and while still on the phone, if she had ever done this the Appellant and the Appellant mother would have asked her to relist the case to the Court and asked for this to be clarified, as the disclosure that we were asking for was very important to the ongoings of the Appeal.

208. The Appellant mother then handed the Appellant the phone the Appellant asked Ms. Ward about the letter he was supposed to have sent to the Court and the prosecuting barrister; the Appellant was still thinking she was talking about the letter handed to the Judge on the 04/04/2016 when Miss Ward was not.

209. Also, in Court on this date, it was said the Appellant had written this letter himself, which was not the case.

210. In truth The Appellant agreed for a letter that Miss Ward had written in reply to the Judge's letter for the Appellant to be amended, he had amended it himself and it was to be handed into the court, the Appellant solicitor was at Court so she knew the Appellant had amended the letter, this is to be inclusive of it being sent to her by email, as she was in the court on this date to.

211. On this date when Miss Ward was a court, she said to the judge that the Appellant had drafted the letter when the Appellant had only amended it, Miss Ward continued to say, that she did not draft the Letter and that the Appellant wrote it, this is not true, at this the Appellant did call Miss ward a lair as the Appellant knew Miss Ward had drafted the letter herself at first.

212. The Appellant later explained to Miss Ward on the phone that he could prove the truth and said I have the emails you sent to me and my mother of the letter we talk about and me amending it, in return for you. It was also explained to all that we have kept copies of all other correspondence between our persons and this is to include (Since the start of the Court proceedings.

213. The Appellant mother has checked the dates for when this letter was drafted by The Appellant solicitor and then returned to her, the date was on the 03/04/2016 please see attached email and letter (marked 03/04/2016 Ms. Ward).

214. The Appellant barrister was listening to the phone call and after the Appellant ended the barrister got up and said I will need to think about still representing you as you called your solicitors a lair, the Appellant stated that he can prove that Miss Ward wrote the letter and she's denying as to doing so and further expressed himself in question the line of investigation by saying:- "how would anyone body else's feel, if she had lied about them," the Appellant barrister then replied that if he was still going to represent the Appellant then there would need to be a meeting at the Appellant barrister chambers, at this point the meeting concluded, with nothing else really spoke of about the Appellant Appeal yet again, this was days before the Appeal hearing was due to start once again.

215. Up to here for now: -

216. A while after the Solicitor wrote a letter and sent it to the Appellant and the Appellants mother, the date of this received email is dated 20/09/2016 and a copy had also been sent to the Court, this application was put in so for the acting solicitor to once again attempt to be removed from the record this was done to our surprise and was listed in Court to be heard on the 21/09/2016.

217. There were large sections of this letter that were incorrect and did not happen so therefore are not true; this can also be proven by the Court transcripts from the 16/09/2016.

218. On the 21/01/2016 we were on our way to Court and got caught in traffic, we contacted the Court to get a message to the Judge to say that we were going to be five to ten minutes late, "I know the Judge got the message."

219. When we got to the Court, there was a barrister that Michael Carroll and Co had sent to the Court to deal with the application; this was so for them to be removed from the record for the second attempt.

220. The Barrister informed us she did not want to leave the Court before explaining what had happened it seemed the Judge had called this into Court without us being present and removed the solicitors from the record.

221. We question how could this have happened? Considering, the Appellant was not present at Court? And there was not a senior Partner from Michael Carroll and Co? "This question is due to what had been previously said by His Honour Judge Morrison on 19/02/2016 in regard to this not being allowed to happen."

222. The Barrister said the Judge wanted to see us and we would need to wait in Court until we were called, as the Judge was dealing with a trial and we would be called in after it.

223. Around 16:00 hours we were called into Court, the Respondent did make the Judge aware at this point that what had been said by His Honour Judge Morrison on the 19/02/2016 stating that a Senior Partner was not present at Court, the Judge replied that he could not force a solicitor to carry on with a case they clearly did not want to and that the Appellant could represent himself, he continued to state; that the case was in a much better order now, but as is known the Appellant has learning difficulties and health problems which the Court are also well aware of, there were only a few days until the Appeal hearing was due to start once again, how could a Judge believe that a person with learning difficulties and health problems could be ready and cope with dealing with a three-day Appeal hearing on his own?.

224. We did try to get the Judge to adjourn the Appeal hearing so we could try and get representation put in place due to knowing the Appellant could not cope or handle this case on his own, which was due to start on the 26/09/2016 for a three-day hearing, the Judge said he would not allow this and that the Appeal hearing would go ahead no matter what. It seems again that the Appellant was being blamed for what was ongoing in this case, when the Appellant and the Appellant mother had done all they could, so for them to have this case ready to be heard.

225. How can a Judge expect someone that is known to be ill and have learning difficulties to be able to handle this case on their own? considering there were only four days until the three-day Appeal hearing was due to start. Nothing was put in place by the Judge to help the Appellant in any way. The Appellant was just meant to get on with the case all on his own under the circumstances.

226. Once again, the solicitors had done nothing for this case and the Judge had allowed them to walk away when this was said to not be allowed and it seems as if everything was being blamed on the Appellant.

227. It was also noted while we had been waiting outside the Court that the bundles, we had been working from was the very first set of the application bundles and since that time everything had been updated, without us being informed, this included more statements from the police officer in charge of the case, there were lots of documents missing from within the first bundle due to the update, so until he was given the updated bundles, the Appellant had never seen them additional documents.

228. It was stated by the respondent they had sent new bundles to the acting solicitors Michael Carroll and co three times since the being of January 2016, we had never been given a set of new bundles since this case had started in 2014, we had never been told about new bundles been sent and never given a new copy of any bundle. This meant that bundle we had would have had all wrong page numbers

229. 169,

230. and been paginated totally different from the bundles that were being used by the prosecution barrister and Courts.

231. When we were in Court, we did say this to the Judge about the bundles, the Judge ordered the clerk of the Court to contact Michael Carroll and Co solicitors and order the solicitors to bring the bundles to Court. The solicitors informed the clerk that the bundles were at Nexus Chambers, the Judge was shocked that the solicitors did not have a copy of the bundles at their office. The Appellant's uncle who was also at Court said to the Judge he was willing to go to Nexus Chambers and pick the bundles up.

232. The Judge listed this for the 22/09/2016 after 14:00 hours to make sure we were all working from them same set of bundles.

233. Upon the Appellant's uncle getting home it was seen that the bundle he had collected was not the full set of bundles and only had part of the applications Skeleton Bundle.

234. On the 22 September 2016 we attended Court to inform the Judge we still did not have the updated bundles and the Judge once again got the clerk of the Court to call Michael Carroll and co solicitors to find out what was going on within the bundles, the Judge was very upset that we still did not have the bundles for the case, the Judge asked for the bundles to be brought to Court before 4 PM, The Appellant's mother stated that it would be easier and faster for her to pick the bundles up from the solicitors on the way home from Court, the Judge asked if she was sure that he could get them brought to Court she stated that it be faster for her to pick the bundles up from the solicitors on my way home.

235. When we left Court due to the time and the circumstances, we had been placed in The Appellant mother called Michael Carroll's office to say what time we would be there by, The Appellant mother was told that the office would be closed by the time we got there so The Appellant mother agreed to pick the bundles up first thing in the morning on 23 September 2016.

236. On 23-09-2016 The Appellant mother left home early in the morning to go to Michael Carroll's office and collect the bundles with her brother, Mr. A Cordell they went into the office together to get the bundles, when the solicitor came down the stairs, he had a piece of paper that The Appellant mother needed to sign, stating that the bundles had been collected from the office.

237. Upon getting home and looking at the bundles, The Appellant mother noticed there is now at least 13 additional statements that The Appellant and The Appellant mother had never seen before from the Respondent bundle, this is a clear error as we knew that in the first bundle there were only 4 public witness statements and there now seems to be 16, when taking a closer look at the statements we noticed there are no members of the public's statements of truth and this also applied for the original 4 contained in the folder minus one, this also highlighted that each member of the public's statements are police officers only and have each put their signatures on two different statements each, in a pretence of portraying to own two houses each in Edmonton xxx Gardens and other surrounding roads in an around Progress way, the police officers are claiming to be victims. of this case while on active duty.

238. So in understanding this, the Applicant contacted Edmonton police stations lost property room, so too for him to arrange collection of the original bundle, that was never served to him in accordance with the law. To his further upset and disappointment of justice he was to be told by another police officer deployed at the lost property room as the manager, that the bundle that the Appellant wanted to claim had been misplaced or stolen, this file clearly shows that there was only ever four potential members of the publics witness statements attached within side of the original Asbo application.

239. Some of the statements added are all dated prior to the Magistrates Court trial. Upon looking at The Appellant's bundles it seemed this had not been updated or indexed since 2015, so all the new documents that had been submitted to be added to The Appellant's bundle was not in their as they should have been.

240. Over the days leading up to this, The Appellant mother had learned how important it was that all the bundles were paginated and indexed correctly and that all the bundles were the same as each other so that each person was working on them files was all in Co Hurst to each other, as there were always problems at court due to this not being completed correctly.

241. Though the case history multiple documents had been handed to the Court and those documents did not get patronised correctly or indexed into The Appellant's bundles, this includes the court and the Respondent bundles that they were using also.

242. A whole weekend was spent trying to add missing documents to the Appellant's bundle and making copies so that on the Court date of the 26-09-2016; any missing files could be added to the Respondent bundle and the three Judge's bundles. The Appellant health had become very unstable due to him knowing that he was going to have to be dealing with this himself.

243. The Appellant mother also spent part of the weekend also writing a letter to the Judge in regards to what had gone on with the breaches in The Appellant's human rights, his article 6 human rights the Applicants rights to a fair and speedy trial, there were also a list of other things that had gone on throughout the case since 2014 in regards to the nondisclosure, and other issues that was always being raised when at Court and the reason as to why legal aid had been granted: -

1. Due to the complexity of the case: -

2. Due to The Appellant's learning difficulties: -

3. Due to the concerns of The Appellant health.

This letter was emailed to the Court and asked to be passed to the Judge.

Please see letter that was emailed to the judge: -

The 26 September 2016 the three-day Appeal hearing was due to start, The Appellant was so unwell that there was no way he could attend Court, Mr. A Cordell and Miss L Cordell attended Court to speak to the Judge, when the Judge entered the Courtroom, he stated that he had received a letter that had to be addressed, he stated that he felt this would go to judicial review, he stated he had three options:

Carry on with the Appeal in the hope that The Appellant would turn up the following day.

1. To Dismiss the Appeal: -

2. Adjourn the Appeal to a new date.

244. The Judge went over the letter in great detail; he started around five times that he felt that this case was going to go to judicial review. The Judge decided to adjourn the case until the 16/01/2017; this was later changed for the Appeal to start on the 17/01/2017. The Respondent had tried to object to the Appeal being adjourned. The Judge stated that we should try to find a new solicitor to take on the Appeal and that he would help and also make sure that legal aid was in place.

245. The Judge asked why The Appellant was not in Court. The Appellant mother stated The Appellant had become so unwell due to what was going on in this case and that he was not coping. Information was passed to the Judge that showed The Appellant was unwell. Mentioned in court; was also the missing documents that was missing from The Appellant's bundle, and that there were no statements within the bundle, my mother stated to the Judge that she had spent a lot of the weekend trying to update The Appellant's bundle and make sure that it was indexed correctly. The Appellant handed the documents in to the court that The Appellant mother was able to get ready with the new indexing, the Appellant mother also stated that she knew there was still documents missing from The Appellant's bundle, which she was not sure about neither had she been given time in which to add them. The Appellant mother also stated that there were around thirteen statements that had never been seen and that were now contained within the Respondent bundle that was dated prior to the Magistrate's trial.

246. The Judge was very unhappy and passed the Applicants mother his own bundle for her to check by seeing if the Courts bundles had been updated, upon looking into the Judge's bundle, she noticed that his bundle had also not been updated since 2015, the Appellant mother passed the Judge's bundle back up the judge while explaining to him that his folder had not been updated. At this the Respondent stated they would make new copies of the bundles and have copies sent to us and the Judge.

247. The Judge was very unhappy and said he was not going to allow this to be dropped and again made the clerk of the Court make a phone call to Michael Carroll and co, to order them to attend Court on the 14/10/2016, in regards to the missing documents.

248. I stated I would try and add as many missing documents as I could but was unsure of what documents were missing, the reason being as so much had been handed to the court and solicitors.

249. The Appellant mother asked the Judge if the Appellant would need to attend Court on the 14/10/2016, as the hearing was due to only be regards to the missing documents, The Appellant mother felt The Appellant did not need to be there the Judge agreed to this.

250. On the 14 October 2016 Mr. A Cordell and the Appellant's mother attended Court on this date, the solicitors did not turn up, The Appellant mother had a list of documents that she had made up and indexed that needed to be added to The Appellant's bundle's, which she passed to the Judge. She stated to the Judge that she could not be sure if there were still documents missing. She also stated that she had tried to call Miss Ward and had no reply. The Judge was very upset that the solicitors had not turned up; the Judge again got the clerk of the Court to email Michael Carroll and co to tell them that they had to be in Court on the 19/10/2016.

251. The Appellant mother also stated to the Judge that she had made many phone calls to other solicitors and due to the case being at the Appeal stage no one was willing to take the Appeal on due to the cost they would get under legal aid, in more detail it was explained that legal aid is a set amount and continued to explain that the solicitors dealing with the Appeal should be the same solicitors that dealt with the original trial, Appeals are set at a standard rate, so any solicitor taking on a case would not get paid to go over the complete bundles and to take updated instructions from the client.

252. Again, the Appellant mother asked the Judge if The Appellant needed to attend Court on the next date, to which the Judge replied no.

253. On the 19/10/2016 again Mr. A Cordell and the Appellants mother attended Court, to find out that once again the solicitors was not in attendance, the Judge had received a letter from Michael Carroll constating that Miss Ward no longer worked for the company, the Judge was very upset and said he was not going to allow the issue of: the "Missing documents, legal aid certificate "to be dropped, the Judge asked the clerk of the Court to email Michael Carroll and co, so for them to attend Court on the 25/10/2016.

254. The Appellants mother again stated to the Judge that she had made many phone calls to other solicitors to try and get them to take over the Appeal, and due to the case being Appeal stage no one was willing to take the Appeal on due to the cost they would not get under legal aid and that it was a set amount agreed for all cases, as legal aid believed that the solicitors dealing with the Appeal would be the same solicitors that dealt with the original trial, so should not incur this additional cost as Appeals are set at a standard rate, so any solicitor taking on a case would not get paid to go over the complete bundles because this had already been paid to the past solicitor firm beforehand and this would include to take updated instructions from any client.

255. When the Appellant mother got home, she again tried to call Miss Ward, this was with no reply she done this by texting her with no receipt of reply.

256. On the 25/10/2016 again Mr. A Cordell and I attended Court, once again the solicitors were not in attendance, the Judge was very upset and done an Internet search under Miss Ward's name to find out if she was working under a new solicitor, he found the new solicitors and sent an email demanding that Miss Ward attended Court on the 11/11/2016.

257. Again, The Appellant mother stated to the Judge that she had made many phone calls to other solicitors and due to the case being Appeal stage no one was willing to take the Appeal on and this was due to the cost they would get under legal aid.

258. When The Appellants mother got home from Court at 15:48 she received a phone call from Miss Ward, she stated that she knew nothing about, what had happened meaning that she did not know the Judge had asked her to attend Court further to the explained that Michael Carroll and Co had not informed her in regards to any emails sent from the Court.

259. The Appellant mother said to Miss Ward while on the telephone that she herself had previously tried to call her, this was to include the sent text messages that she had spent inclusively but Miss Ward had not replied or picked the phone up.

260. Miss Ward stated while still on the phone that Michael Carroll had previously told her while she was leaving his company as employed staff that she must not contact any of the client she had gained this was to include the Appellants and his family members.

261. The Appellant mother and Miss Ward arranged to a meeting on the 27/10/2016, to go over The Appellant's bundle "case load" to check for any missing documents.

262. On the 27/10/2016 The Appellant mother meet with Miss Ward to go over The Appellant's bundle, upon looking at the bundle and the documents that The Appellant mother had added and indexed Miss Ward stated she believed there were no missing files, as time has gone on, I have found other documents that should have been in The Appellant's bundle that were missing. These have never been added as The Appellant mother did not want to have to go back to the Judge and say there were more documents that were missing.

263. Miss Ward stated she had to attend Court but gave a different date that the Judge had ordered her to be there, The Appellant mother stated to her that the Judge had given the date of the 11/11/2016 when we were in Court, Miss Ward stated that this was not what was put into the email that was sent to the company Miss Ward now worked for. The Appellant mother stated she would send an email over to the Court to tell the Court that they had met up and checked the Appellant's bundle and they believed there were no more documents missing at that point.

264. On the 01/11/2016 The Appellant mother wrote an email to the Judge to state that there had been a meeting with Miss Ward, and they had gone over The Appellant's bundle and believed there were no documents missing now. The Appellant mother asked in the email to the Judge if the Applicant still needed to attend Court on the 11/11/2016 and if so, could this be confirmed via email.

265. On the 02/11/2016 The Appellant mother received a reply from Wood Green Crown Court from the Judge stating that we did not need to attend on the 11/11/2016 and the date would be vacated.

266. On the 19/12/2016 The Appellant mother sent an email to the Judge this was in regards to still not finding a solicitor, that was willing to take the Appeal on, The Appellant mother asked the Judge to help in regards to getting a solicitor to act for The Appellant regarding the Appeal as time was becoming short for the Appeal hearing.

267. On the 21/12/2016 The Appellant mother received a reply in her email from the Judge; this explained that the Judge could not help with a solicitor. The Appellant mother and Appellant still did not give up, they both carried on trying to find one that was willing to take the Appeal on for The Appellant, the Appellant and his mother was upset the reason being; as the Judge did state he would help with the issue of the solicitor on the 26/09/2016 and another part of the reason being that time was short for when the Appeal hearing was to take place, as this was due to start soon after. The Appellant and his mother did not wait till the last minute to ask the Judge for help and was then told by the Judge that he could not help.

268. On the 12/01/2016 late in the day The Appellant mother was given a number form a solicitors of a solicitor's called MK-Law, that maybe could help and take the Appeal on, The Appellants mother called them as they were the first solicitors in the list she was given.

269. The entire of the solicitor's firms that had been contacted prior to September 2016 had simply refused to act in the case; the reason given was because the case was at an Appeal stage. Throughout our attempts to find a solicitor, No solicitor firm that was called wanted to hear what we had to explain so to be able to understand what the case was about, on one occasion the Applicants mother broke down in tears to the company she was talking to and they agreed to take on the case, this was as long as the Judge agreed to an adjournment, the Applicants mother, stated to them she did nothing the Judge will agree to this as in September 2016 the Judge had stated he would not adjourn it again.

270. The solicitor stated that they would not have enough time to be able to get all of the bundles and then be able to get a barrister to go over them and that this would not leave time for them as the new acting solicitors to have time to have a meeting with The Appellant and

271. take instructions due to the weekend.

272. The new solicitor firm said that they would send a barrister to Court on the 17/01/2017, to asked for an adjournment, so that they could act in the best interest of the client, as that is what they are there to do and so that the legal aid could be addressed and then passed over to them or a new application would need to be applied for.

273. The Appellant's health had deteriorated, when The Appellant's mother told The Appellant she believed she had found a solicitor to take the Appeal on this did bring his mood up a little bit, but he felt so much had gone wrong within the Asbo case that there would be a high chance of more going wrong at that point of time, he agreed that he would attend Court and meet the barrister that the new solicitors was sending, the problem was that this person could change at any time.

274. The Appellant does not leave his home which he treats as his prison cell due to the Asbo case and prudery the police have committed and not disciplinarily action, punishment, being brought into motion for their wrongful actions.

275. On the 17 January 2016, the Appellant and his mother attended the Court, the new barrister was there also for The Appellant, so was the Appellants uncle, we all went into a side room and the barrister spoke to The Appellant, this was in regards to what the plans were for the case in turn what the new barrister was going to ask the Judge for, which was an adjournment, the reason being they needed an adjournment so that they could act in the best interest of their client, so that they could go over the complete case bundles, take instructions, make sure legal aid was in place correctly, and instruct a barrister who would be dealing with the Appeal for The Appellant, The Appellant agreed that an adjournment could be asked for, again it was stated to the barrister that we did not feel the Judge would grant an adjournment, the barrister stated that the Judge should understand that an adjournment would be needed for the new solicitors to act in a professional manner for their client and be able to get everything ready and have time to understand fully what the case was about, that an Appeal should be fair for all sides.

276. We were called into Court and the barrister spoke to the Judge, explained the situation and that he was asking for an adjournment, he spoke to the Judge in regards to the legal aid, and having the appeal ready for their new client and having time to be able to deal with it in a professional manner for their client. The Judge stated that he believed legal aid was still in place and it could just be transferred, the barrister stated if legal aid had been revoked then it would take at least two weeks for it to be put back in place, the Judge adjourned the hearing so that the barrister could contact the legal aid department to check the status of the legal aid, the barrister made calls to the legal aid department, but the legal aid department could not confirm whether legal aid had been revoked. Calls was also made to Michael Carroll and Co who stated that when they were removed from the record that the legal aid that was in place at the time had been revoked.

277. The case was called back into Court and the barrister explained that the legal aid department could not say whether or not the legal aid had been revoked, but when a call was placed to the old solicitors Michael Carroll and co they had said that the legal aid that was in place had been revoked. The Judge handed the barrister a certificate of legal aid, the barrister stated that the certificate was not proof that the legal aid had not been revoked.

278. The Judge stated I'm sure that you can be ready for the Appeal to go ahead by tomorrow, the barrister stated that they have a professional obligation to act in the best interest of the client and that they would not have enough time in order to go over all the bundles take instructions from the client, and instruct a barrister within half a day, and also to check fully whether a new legal aid application would have been need to be applied for.

279. At this the Judge stated, well if you cannot be ready by tomorrow, then The Appellant will have to act for himself, we will not adjourn the Appeal again.

280. It seems again The Appellant was being put at blame for the delay in the Appeal, but it was not due to The Appellant, The Appellant only wanted a fair hearing and Appeal from when this started in 2014 and from what was going on this clearly had not been.

281. The barrister tried his hardest to get an adjournment of the Appeal but the Judge would not allow an adjournment, the Judge started talking about the conditions that was imposed by the Magistrates Court, he stated that he felt that parts was disproportionate, but he could see nothing wrong with the timescale of the Antisocial Behaviour Order of 5 years. This was not the first time the Judge had mentioned the conditions that The Appellant was under, but this time the Judge went further to include what sections he thought were disproportional, to the people in the Court the Appellant, Mr. A Cordell, Miss L Cordell, and The Appellants barrister, the only way of looking at what the Judge was stating he had already made his mind up that he thought the conditions was the only problem. But this was before the Appeal had even been heard, why a Judge would state this without even hearing the Appeal.

282. The Judge would not allow an adjournment and stated The Appellant could represent himself if the barrister could not be ready by 10 0'clock the next morning, the Judge raised and left the Courtroom.

283. The Appellant was in such a state when we left the Courtroom, he stated he knew the Judge would not allow the adjournment and felt the Judge did not want him to have representation and this is why the Judge removed his old solicitors, he felt very let down and just wanted to go home.

284. The barrister called us into a side room and had to ask The Appellant due to what the Judge has said, if they were to change the conditions to something appropriate would The Appellant accept it. This put further stress on The Appellant, The Appellant knew he had done nothing wrong and had not done what the police was saying he had done and The Appellant knew that if the disclosure had been given it would have proven this. The police have been unwilling to give any disclosure since this case started.

285. The Appellant was not willing to accept having the conditions changed and accepting the Antisocial Behaviour Order as this would have said he was guilty; The Appellant was not willing to accept something he knew he was not guilty of.

286. The Appellant was so distressed all the way home, he felt he would never get justice.

287. Later that day The Appellant's mother contacted the solicitors to see if anything could be done, but due to the Judge not allowing the adjournment the solicitors stated they could not take the case on and could not attend Court the next day, the reason given was because they would be putting their company reputation at risk by not having enough time in order to prepare for the Appeal to be able to act in a professional and correct way for their client. The Appellant's and his mother could totally understand this.

288. A vulnerable person should not be forced into a position where they have to act on their own behalf, in the opinion of many practitioners, detrimental to the administration of justice. But this is exactly what had happened, The Appellant and The Appellant mothers and others cannot understand or see any reason why the Judge did not allow for a short adjournment so that The Appellant had proper representation in place, especially when there was a solicitor's company willing to take on the Appeal hearing, in turn to allow a fair Appeal hearing.

289. The Appellant's and his mother had not stopped since the removal of the old solicitors in September 2016, they continued to try and find a solicitors firm company, to take the Appeal hearing on, many calls were made to solicitors companies, advice lines, citizens advice, even in the search of a pro bono solicitors, the reason why the pro bono unit would not take the case on, is because The Appellant was entitled to legal aid, if The Appellant or his family could have afforded to pay privately for a solicitors company to act for The Appellant this would have been done a long time ago. Justice is meant to be fair but in the case of The Appellant Asbo this is not the case.

290. On 18th January 2017 the Appellant was so unwell he did not attend Court on this day, nor did Mr. A Cordell, or Miss L Cordell, Miss L Cordell did however write a letter to the Judge and in that letter, it asked for a stay on proceedings for the Appeal until it was taken to judicial review in regards to what had gone on.

291. The Judge decided to go ahead in the absence of The Appellant with the Appeal; he heard the witness statements from police on this date.

292. On 19 January 2017 again The Appellant and his family did not attend Court this case has made The Appellant so unwell, at the end of this day the Judge dismissed the Appeal against conviction, but he changed a few of the conditions that The Appellant was under, the conditions are still a breach of The Appellant's human rights. Schedule of prohibitions are listed below.

Schedule of prohibitions: - You must not: -

1. Be concerned in the organisation of a rave as defined by s.63 (1) or s63 (1A) of the Criminal Justice and Public Order Act 1994.

2. Knowingly use or supply property, personal or otherwise, for use in a rave as defined by s.63 (1) of the Criminal justice and Public Order Act 1994.

3. Enter or remain in any disused or abandoned building unless invited to do so in writing by a registered charitable organisation or local authority or owner of the premises.

4. Enter any non-residential private property (by which words buildings and an open enclosed and are intended to be individual) or an industrial estate between the hours of 22:00 and 07:00 without written permissions from the owner and a leaseholder of such property.

If you can demonstrate that the purpose of your entry of such property is to purchase goods or services from any shop or garage or fuel supplier which is open to the public at such times. Then in such event, you may enter but you must not remain on such property for longer than 30 minutes and you may do so on only one occasion during each separate nine-hour period between 22:00 and 07:00 daily.

5. Provide any service in respect of any licensable activity in any unlicensed premises.

For the sake of clarity, nothing in this order prevents the defendant from assisting, preparing for, engaging in licensed licensable activities,

293. This order expires on the 3 August 2020: -

294. This order and its requirements amends' a previous order imposed by Highbury Corner Magistrates Court.

295. Condition 4 states: -

296. Enter any non-residential private property (by which words buildings and an open enclosed and are intended to be individual) or an industrial estate between the hours of 22:00 and 07:00 without written permissions from the owner and a leaseholder of such property.

297. If you can demonstrate that the purpose of your entry of such property is to purchase goods or services from any shop or garage or fuel supplier which is open to the public at such times. Then in such event, you may enter but you must not remain on such property for longer than 30 minutes and you may do so on only one occasion during each separate nine-hour period between 22:00 and 07:00 daily. With this condition in place, it would mean that any non-residential property The Appellant would not be able to attend unless it was for no less than 30 minutes on any one occasion, during a separate nine-hour period:

298. This would include hospitals, police stations, 24-hour supermarkets, petrol stations, cinemas, restaurants, bars, night clubs and any other public place open to the public between these times, that is non-residential, The Appellant would only have a 30-minute window to be able to enter any non-residential building, however is not feasible within that 30minutes to: -

A. The Appellant could not be seen in a hospital within 30 minutes,

B. How would it be feasible if The Appellant went to dinner at a restaurant, they would be completed within 30 minutes?

C. How would it be feasible if The Appellant wanted to go to a nightclub or late-night bar as it would only have 30 minutes?

D. Places that are open to the public should not be restricted to The Appellant how is The Appellant meant to have a normal family life?

E. The Appellant cannot go to without written permission which would be degrading for The Appellant to have to ask each time he wanted to go somewhere and explain why he needed it to be confirmed in writing by the owner and/or leaseholder of the property, how his condition could be applied by any Judge and state it is not a beach of someone human rights must be wrong.

F. Conditions 2 states knowingly using or supplying property personal or otherwise for the use of a rave as defined under section 63.1 of the criminal justice and public order act,

299. The Appellants has spent the last 10 years building his business saving every penny and help from family it is within the entertainment industry, he will hire equipment out and his services, The Appellants business would seriously be affected, because if he hired his equipment and it ended up in an illegal rave The Appellant would be in breach of the conditions. When hiring out equipment you do asked what is going to be used for, and you do have a contract that is in place, but what the person tells you their reason for hiring the equipment out is not always the correct reason and is not used for the purpose the person told you The Appellant would be in breach of these conditions. Also, if The Appellant loaned someone any personal belongings and that person ended up at an illegal rave then The Appellant would again be in breach of his conditions, even if the item was something that did not even constitute as being for an illegal rave.

300. Conditions 5 states provide any service in respect of any licensable activity in an unlicensed premise.

301. How is The Appellant meant to run his business, The Appellant would not be able to obtain a licence that has already been clarified by the police and councils due to the Antisocial Behaviour Order that is in place, The Appellant would not be able to offer his services also due to the restriction that he has only 30 minutes within a non-residential building, most events go to the late hours in the morning so even if there was a licensed premises and someone wanted to hire the services of The Appellant The Appellant would not be able to do this. The Appellant was also offered contracts within two nightclubs to be the manager if The Appellant was again offered contracts within nightclubs or late-night bars The Appellant would not be able to accept these contracts. I cannot even say why condition 5 has been imposed because condition 4 conflicts with condition 5 in certain parts. And who would want to hire or take on The Appellant if he had to ask for written permission which would be degrading for The Appellant to have to ask each time he wanted to go somewhere or had a contact and had to explain why he needed it to be confirmed in writing by the owner and/or leaseholder of the property,

302. These are just a few concerns with the conditions that The Appellant is under, there is other concerns with other conditions set at by the Courts that are of concern.

303. When the Appeal hearing was over the conditions was not served on The Appellant, they were posted to him in the post.

304. The Appellant mother has put an application into the Crown Court on forms EX-105 and EX-107 requesting the Tape/Disc Transcription for all hearings, and is waiting to hear back from the court, to see if it will be granted.

305. The Appellant mother has also put an application into the police under a subject access request to get all The Appellant history with the police which will show the data protection errors and more data that has been inputted incorrectly by the police, it will also show a history of how much the police does not leave The Appellant alone.

306. Also, how many complaints has had to be put into the police regarding how the police have treated

307. The Appellant over many years which when asked in this ASBO application case by the judge was any of this the truth they replied no to. The Judge also asked if anyone else had had an ASBO application against them for an ASBO on the dates held within the ASBO application, the Judge did not get a reply and it was not asked again.

308. The police have not only done this to The Appellant but The Appellant whole family so each family member have requested their records. So far, the police have refused The Appellant application and his brothers, they have allowed The Appellant mother and The Appellant sister but only part of the information has been supplied. This has been passed to the ICO to address, but due to the backlog

309. the ICO has we have not been told a timeframe this will take.

310. At this time there is also complaint still ongoing with The Appellant and the police and The Appellant brother with the police. It is also noticed that some of the police in this application who have done statements in this ASBO have complaint still standing against them, with The Appellant brother complaint.

311. But until we get all the data, we have requested there could be more police officers in this ASBO application who have had complaints put in about them.

312. There will also be a complaint regarding the DPS who investigated The Appellant complaint due to the fact they did not follow their own codes, when this complaint was passed the IPCC, they upheld The Appellant Appeal to the IPCC and the complaint has had to be reinvestigated, due to what the DPS allowed to happen, and allowed the police officer to resign. Before allowing The Appellant rights to take his complaint to the IPCC for Appeal before seeing the report and allowing a misconduct hearing to happen, before The Appellant had his right to appeal and the IPCC and they left a large section out in the investigation which pointed to discourtesy by the police.

313. Still not completed I still got sections to add about ASBO application and no discloser and some other sections. And some laws.

314. This is how a JR has to be written up. They will have all the ASBO application bundles sent to the high court also so will be able to see the whole case as I need to also point out that we cannot add everything in this due to allowing the police to have the full extent as to what is wrong within the application for the ASBO that should have been able to use at the appeal hearing. As we don't want the police to be able to try and correct the things that are wrong.

315. If you want to edit any of this then please do so really carefully and in a next colour and you have to keep this format don't change it as it has to be sent to the high court in this formation, I know you are not going to like some of what I have written but if you want to win this case at JR you have to put things you don't like to hear or feel you don't have a problem. The judges have to see your human rights have been fully funked over from start to end of these court cases. And showing things you don't like will help that. you can at your own write up as well

  Then 113 and 117 tenants kept on Continually, reiterating to flushing the toilet when I went into the bathroom, so to be sick in my toilet because they made me ill!
  113 - 117 and 111 today kept on Banging with objects onto the internal main buildings walls and floors, so to intimidate surely me and maybe others living close by whom may be present to an extent only worthwhile for the perpetrators selfless glory, In them perpetrators knowing that their behaviour would only leave all those getting victimized towards getting left by their wrongful actions as to being put into a state of a mental health patient and not rightfully with this occurring within mine and their rented or paid for homes!
  The occupiers of 117 the Mathiyalagan family and also Stain Curtis off 111 Burncroft Avenue continue to Slamming the water tap on and off, and now with George Quinton also involved I continue to document their Hate Crime towards me and report it to the relevant persons without any fair process of support and this is causing damage to my health and the buildings fixtures at an unacceptable rate!
  They all mentioned in the addresses of 113 and 117 Burncroft Avenue keep Dropping articles on to their own wooden flooring to make loud banging noises all day and night towards me and the floor has not gotten fixed correctly in the address of 113 after Debra Andrews moved out, making me still suffer as George has taken over!
  117 - 113 and 111 Slamming the main, communal entrance door closed!
  Stain will not stop banging on the kitchen wall with intent of victimising me on a full 24-hour assault in collaboration with the other named in the address of 113 and 117!

Disrepair!

If what they do to me finally kills me then it would also kill a lot of other people in the process!

The HHSRS and the housing Act 1985 inclusive of many other rights of mine and many other people's rights mean that these problems of disrepair must not get left by the Enfield Council and the Enfield Homes teams to carry on the way is does as it is causing me to have no enjoyment out of my flat and emotional distress!

After having identified myself and the nature of my attendance and with the defendant stating he had no wish to open the door to me and therefore refusing to accept service personally of the aforementioned envelopes containing the documents referred to in this my statement of attempted service. That I did for approximately the next 20/25 minutes remain by the front door of the address attended with the above-named defendant refusing to open the door to accept service personally. As the above-named defendant was refusing to accept service personally of the aforementioned envelopes containing the documents referred to previously, I did remain in close proximity to the building for approximately one hour on the basis of the defendant may leave the property. At approximately 11.30.am on the same date I did leave the area.

That at the time of attempted service and from behind a closed front door the aforementioned defendant had admitted his identity to me as Simon Cordell, the defendant named in these proceedings.

That therefore I having being unable to meet and personally serve the above named defendant with the aforementioned documentation; I would verily ask of the court to allow service of any such Order the court makes by allowing any such Order and accompanying documentation to be placed in a sealed envelope addressed to the defendant, marked 'Important Court Documents' and posted through the letterbox of 109 Burncroft Avenue, Enfield, Middlesex EN3 7JQ knowing that said documents would come to the attention of the defendant, by virtue of this address being his usual place of residency.

This statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief and I make ft knowing that, if it were tendered in evidence, I would be liable to prosecution if I wilfully stated in it anything which I know to be false or did not believe to be true.

Dear Ms. Cordell,
As part of the background evidence for your appeal, the MPS have provided us with CCTV footage from the custody suite. I attempted to view this footage earlier this week, however, on doing so I identified the footage is in a Multiplex format. Multiplex allows a number of video signals to be viewed on one screen and requires a specialist player to review it. We do not have the facility to view Multiplex footage in the office I am based in. As a result, your appeal has been transferred to the IPCC's High Holborn office as they do have this facility. Your appeal has been marked as urgent and will be the next appeal to be allocated to a casework manager. Your new casework manager will contact you to confirm the allocation. I apologise that we have had to reallocate your case and the short delay this may result in. I can assure you I have attached our correspondence and the documents you have sent me to the case file for review by the new casework manager. If you have any further questions in relation to this, please do not hesitate to contact me.
Yours Sincerely,
Tara

My Heart has really started to hurt me every day, I am having an early aged mild heart attacks because of what Debra Andrews and the Mathiyalagan Markandu family as well as stain Curtis and George Quinton get and got away with, inclusively of what the police and local council members are getting away with each day by holding me hostage with no first hand witness and then on allowing my estate members to carry out their hate crime in a cover up to send me crazy or to an early death by flushing the toilet below me and bagging at me causing me sufferings and no peace also letting the named attack me when I am in the bathtub and getting undressed and this does not stop their I continue to get assaulted with the water taps getting slammed on and off causing a loud bagging sound at a fast rate and slamming object and or jumping on the floorboards above my head damaging my work studies and private family life and making me a Vulnerable person!
I have also had a lot of problems with eating because of what they keep all doing to me!
My canine has victualing its paws because of what 113 – 117 and 111 are getting away with I have taken pictures of the damage this is doing to us in this flat!

A full investigation is supposed to have taken place within the first stages of my complaints once the Enfield Councils and the Enfield Homes got put in receipt of the emergency issues but did not persist to be established in a fair and equal manner that took my safety and health into account due to the disrepair matters!

Disrepair!

If what they do to me finally kills me then it would also kill a lot of other people in the process!

The Enfield Council and the Enfield homes have left the disrepair of the damp and heating issues for so long that the damp water shows on the electrical wiring systems and sometime causes them to overloaded making the electrical sockets dangers and causing further damage to my personal property, such as my TV that also has Mould growing over it, as much as I try my best to keep it clean and well ventilated!

Sarah Fletcher in the stairway with other gentlemen then had together been in the flat 113 while it had been empty and started to play above my head where I had seat to work on my computer, I knew that the flat should be empty because George had just moved out so I waited for a little while so that I can make sure that what was being done to me was deliberant then I went upstairs to find these two coming out. I confronted them both about when the work was to be completed that they had noticed had been wrong to be playing with it. When talking to them in the hall way Mathiyalagan come down the stairs with a black bag full of rubbish and I looked at him in front of the council workers and said I am going to send you to prison for what you are doing to me and that will ruin your life do you want that, in a polite voice. DIRECTIONS ORDER

I make this Witness Statement in support of the Claimant’s application for an injunction to stop the Defendant from causing Intimidation, harassment to me and other residents.

BACKGROUND

The problem with the Defendant started a few months after we moved into the property, after the Defendant approached me asking me to write a letter of support in relation to a problem, he was having with the lady that used to live at Flat 113 Bumcroft Avenue. I refused to write the letter and told the Defendant that I do not want to get involved as I did not have any problems with the lady. Since then, the Defendant has made living in this block difficult for me and my family. He has been very aggressive to my family and I and has continuously intimidated, threatened and harassed my wife, cousin and me.

The Defendant have repeatedly accused us of making noise inside our flat even though our flat is situated two floors above his and the person living directly below us have never complained to us about noise. He has shouted abuse at us, damaged our properties and aggressively demanded money from me. My family and I are constantly living in fear and my wife are frightened to stay at home and has had to accompany me to work on several occasions and stayed in the car with our young daughter until I finish work.
The Defendant has slashed my car tyres, damaged my fuse box and has physically threatened to hit me with a piece of wood. He has a big dog that he brings out with him without a lead when he approaches us, and he has used the dog to intimidate us. He also allows the dog to bark and run freely inside the communal hallway and staircase without a lead. I have reported

15. On 9th June 2017, my cousin returned from work late at night and as he opened the main communal door, the Defendant came out of his flat and started to shout abuse at him. was happening, the Defendant went back into his flat. We then called the police, they attended, and we explained what happened. The police then went and knocked on the Defendant's door, but he refused to let them in.

19. On 28th June 2017 at 11:45am, the Defendant confronted my wife outside the main entrance door as she was going to pick up our daughter from school and demanded to talk to her. My wife told him that she cannot stop to speak with him as she was on her way to collect her daughter from school, but the Defendant ran after my wife, stood in front of her and started to shout at her. The Defendant told my wife that he knows all our personal details including our full names, date of birth and bank details. The Defendant demanded that we should pay him some money and that my wife should tell me to come and talk to him. The Defendant also accused my wife of making noises inside our flat.

and bank details and that I must pay him to have them back. I told him that I will not pay him and to do whatever he likes with the details.

22. The constant verbal abuse, swearing, intimidation and aggressive behaviour from the Defendant towards my family and I have made it difficult for us to live in our own home. The fear of not knowing when we will be confronted with vile and aggressive behaviour as my wife and I go out or return to our home has caused us severe stress and anxiety. My wife is afraid of leaving our flat on her own due to fear that the Defendant will confront and shout abuse at her. We are having to tip-toe inside our flat for fear of being accused of making noise even though we live two floors above the Defendant. The Defendant has caused us immense hardship by vandalising my property and although I cannot prove it, I am certain that the Defendant was responsible for slashing my car tyres, damaging my meter cupboard and removing my electricity fuse several times and restricting water flow to my flat, Also, I no longer park my car outside my block in Bumcroft Avenue because of the car being vandalized. I now park a few streets away, about ten or fifteen minutes from my home instead of outside my block which is about a minute from my flat. I do not see why we should have to live this way.

I visited Mr. Mathiyalagan at 117 Burncroft Avenue to day to look at the flooring following email from Mr. Cordell concerning noise as a result of wood flooring in the flat. I noticed that there is laminate flooring in the whole flat and ceramic tiles in the kitchen. Mr. Mathiyalagan stated that the flooring was already in the flat when they moved in. He stated that they do not make noise deliberately and that any noise from his flat is household noise. He also stated that as far as he is aware that the person living below them-), we not complained of noise and that he will be the one that will be affected if there are excessive issues from his flat. He also stated that he has asked the man- if they are causing noise disturbances arid he said they are not. He also requested that Mr. Cordell should contact the council if he is being disturbed by noise from his flat instead of harassing him and his family by banging on his front door, shouting abuse at him and his wife, threatening them and confronting them when they come into the block.
I informed him that laminate flooring can generate some noise and to be mindful of his neighbours while walking around inside his flat-
I then went and knocked at flat 113 but there was no response.

My heart hurts me, so bad, it hurts me, so, so, so much, it feels like the Mathiyalagan family and co, with Co including Mr. Stan Curtis and Deborah Andrews, not to forget George Quinton can do what they want to me as they clearly where all out of control and without any authority in sight, even when mutable amounts of phone calls got made to them all about the problems that I had to face because of them all involved, continued to victimise me, they all used there floorboards or other house fixtures to have a negative effect on me, some of what they done to me included such hatred, as the continual slamming on and off the water taps hours at a time, while using there cooking pots and pans to hit the wall's, they done this so loud to put me in fright of my life, it was like there chosen weapons of choice to them; Morning; Evening and of night, whether a full moon or not, all day long, they just simply keep on banging, and banging, and banging, no matter how many time I asked them, to stop, doing the evil things that they were subjecting me towards, nothing ever did change, right up until my heart just would not stop hurting me, it was like they all were having a private Pidherney; which gave them, versatility, enthusiasm, agility and unconventional methods of behaviour. While I got left to have my own epiphany; in turn creating a cartoon version, of the true events that they put me through. I noticed in my mirage of a brief reflection inside of my epiphany, that they were hitting me across my heart with the wooden floor boards, and this was happening, continuously to me, like they were all dancing around a bomb fire, dancing around, and dancing around, in furious circle's, all together and as happy as could be, while they keep going around in a circle hitting me with their floorboards, and to me; the bad part is, that I' am the person in the middle of that's bomb fire, who got set on fire; at the end of the epiphany; I come back from my vision; and therefore I knew that by this stage, I must do something about it, as they just simplify wanted to kill me dead and I could not allow for this to happen, I knew that I needed to survive, somehow some way.

The purpose of the visit was to gain access to 113 Burncroft Aver, je to assess the water pressure/supply to this property. Several attempts had been made previously to do this, but the tenant was not there to give access so a 'forced' entry was made and the locks subsequently changed (the tenant had been notified previously that we would be taking this action if he did not provide access). We entered the property so that Steve Stirk could test the water taps in the kitchen and bathroom. There was no flooring laid except for a rug in the living room (the kitchen was accessed through here) and the floorboards made a significant amount of noise as we stepped on them. The resident from the property underneath, Mr. Simon Cordell, heard us in the property and came upstairs. Steve Stirk and I were outside the property at this point as the locksmith started to undertake the work to install new locks on to the door (he was inside the hallway). Mr. Cordell proceeded to 'rant' at Steve Stirk and me about his perceived victimisation by his neighbours. He was very agitated and loud - recounting his experience with the police, previous housing management, a previous partner, a previous neighbour, and allegations of anti-social behaviour made against him. Steve Stirk tried to explain that we were there to deal with a specific issue and that this was not the time or place to address these concerns. Mr. Cordell did not want to listen and became fixated on Steve Stirk being 'dismissive' towards him (Mr. Cordell's words). He went on at length about his upstairs neighbours, both past and present on first and second floors, 'banging' hammers deliberately above his head. He continued to go on, in his agitated state, about how he had been treated by the police and previous housing managers who had promised him that they would re-lay the floor of flat 113 but had not done so. At this point the resident from 117, Mr. Mathiyalakan Markandu, came down the stairs on his way out of the building. As he came down past us Mr. Cordell focussed his attention on him and said to him: Tm going to the police station now with my evidence about you and I'm going to ruin your life'. Mr. Mathiyalakan Markandu did not respond and proceeded to walk past and go down the stairs and out of the building. Both Steve Stirk and I commented to Mr. Cordell that the way he had behaved was threatening in nature and was not acceptable. Mr. Cordell responded, 'it's not a threat it's a fact'. He then continued to repeat his history with the police and previous housing management. Page 64 I asked Mr. Cordell to calm down and tried to explain that some of these issues could have been addressed by attending the meeting that Lemmy Nwabusi in the CSU team had tried it to convene with him. He said that he was not prepared to attend such a meeting but wanted to speak to me, his housing officer, now. I explained that as Steve Stirk had already said, 'that we could not address his issues there and then* I suggested that a meeting could be convened with both the CSU and neighbourhood teams to look at some of the issues with Mr. Cordell. He indicated that he would be willing to do this if we came to his home to do so. Sarah Fletcher Neighbourhood officer." Si Note this is when Steve Stirk & Sarah Flexure were in 113 doing a lot more than just their jobs, they were in 113 squeaking and stamping on the floor for quite some time trying to hurt me I

Following reports of continued low water pressure/supply to 117 Bumcroft Avenue (second floor) despite information from Thames Water indicating that they had attended and that supply to the block 109-119 Burncroft Avenue was of a sufficient bar pressure,

I tried to coordinate access to all flats on the right-hand side of the block- potentially affected by the issue: 109, 113 and 117.

I wrote and hand delivered letters to all 3 of the properties requesting access for the Council Surveyor to visit and assess the water pressure in each on Friday 24th February 2017 between 10am and 12pm.

I spoke by telephone with Mr. Irving, the leaseholder of 117, who had instigated the water pressure complaint who agreed that he would attend and give access.

I spoke by telephone with Mr. George Quinton, the tenant of 113, who agreed that he would give access.

I spoke by telephone with Lorraine Cordell, mother of Simon Cordell, the tenant of 109 who said that no one was available to give access.

I attended with Steve Stirk, surveyor, on Friday 24th February 2017 at 10am. We were given access to 117 and Steve Stirk investigated the water pressure to the taps in the kitchen and bathroom.

We were unable to gain access to 113 as the tenant was not home -1 called and left voice email messages for the tenant but did not get any further response.

Steve Stirk suggested that we knock at 109 just on the off chance that someone was home. Mr. Simon Cordell answered the door and, once Steve Stirk had explained that we were investigating the low water pressure/supply issue to the block, he allowed us into the property. While Steve Stirk checked the water pressure in the kitchen, I introduced myself to Mr. Cordell, File then became quite agitated and proceeded to regale me with the same issues that he had relayed to me during our previous telephone conversation including issues about his neighbours, the police and the Council conspiring to ruin his life as well as his work arranging community music events. Fie did not give me much of an opportunity to respond and kept talking over me when I tried to do so. Steve Stirk then went and checked the bathroom taps which he discovered were all already open (water running in wash basin; water running in bath which was full and going down overflow). We then thanked Mr. Cordell for his time and left the property.

Outcome: It is unclear whether Mr. Cordell running all of the taps constantly is linked to the issue of low water pressure as he is on the ground floor and 117 is 2 floors up (we had been unable to check the pressure in 113). Steve Stirk to liaise again with Thames Water about the issue and to consider separation of the water supply to the ground floor flat.

I made some observations whilst in Mr. Cordell's property, 109 Burncroft Avenue which are of some concern:
There is a security gate installed on the inside of the front door.
There were 3 large 'industrial' matrix type printers in the property (1 in the hallway and 2 in the living room;
Mr. Cordell talked about running 'events
A non-standard kitchen re. a wall seemed to have been removed between the kitchen and the living room creating an open plan effect: No fire door
Much of the property was taken up by the printers, boxes and folders — possible hoarding (6)

2. I make this Witness Statement in support of the Claimant's application for an injunction to stop the Defendant from causing intimidation, harassment and alarm to other residents and their visitors on Burncroft Avenue.

3. The Defendant is a secure tenant of the Claimant at 109 Burncroft Avenue, Enfield, Middlesex, EN3 7JQ. His tenancy commenced on 14th August 2006. I hereby attach a bundle of documents relating to this case as exhibit number LN1. A copy of the Defendant's tenancy agreement and terms and conditions are hereby attached at pages 1-24.

4. The reports concerning the Defendant's alleged anti-social behaviour towards his neighbours was first brought to my attention in October 2016 when a case involving the Defendant and one of his neighbours was referred to me for investigation. The Defendant was reported to have caused frequent acts of harassment and anti-social behaviour against an elderly neighbour. The Defendant was arrested by the Police and bailed to a different address. The matter was referred to the Highbury Corner Magistrates' Court on 05 October 2016 where a first hearing took place. The Defendant pleaded not guilty and the trial was fixed for 17 November 2016. However, the trial did not proceed due to insufficient support as the elderly tenant was unable to attend Court due to health reasons. A copy of a letter from the Magistrate Court is attached to this statement at pages 25-26.

5. The Defendant was previously known to the Claimant and an anti-social behaviour order was made on 4 August 2015 by the Magistrates Court to prevent him from knowingly using or supplying property, personal or otherwise, for the use in a rave as defined in s.63(1) of the Criminal Justice Order Act 1994. 6. On 6th August 2016, the Defendant threatened and shouted abuse at Mr. and Mr. Mathiyalagan tenants of 117 Burncroft Avenue. He aggressively, demanded money from him and threatened to beat him up. The Defendant also repeatedly swore at Mr. Mathiyalagan's wife, called her a 'witch1 and tried to stop the Mr. Mathiyalagan from going up the stairs to his flat by standing in front of him and blocking his advance by placing his hands on the staircase railings. Mr. Mathiyalagan has already provided a witness statement in support these proceedings to confirm that this incident happened. A file note of this report is exhibited at pages 28-30 of the exhibit bundle LN1.

7. On 8th August 2016, Mr. Mathiyalagan reported that the Defendant aggressively banged on his front door, shouted abuse at him and his wife and accused them of making noise. Mr. Mathiyalagan reported to us that he believes that the Defendant used a screwdriver to damage the lock on his meter cupboard and removed the fuse box thereby cutting off their electricity supply. Mr. Mathiyalagan reported this incident to the police and was given reference number CAD 7934/August 2016. A file note of this report is exhibited at pages 28-30 of the exhibit bundle.

8. On 27th September 2016, Mr. Mathiyalagan reported that the Defendant confronted him as he returned to his flat with his wife and young daughter and threatened and swore at him and demanded money from him. A file note of the report is on pages 28-30 of the bundle.

9. On 28th September 2016, Mr. Mathiyalagan reported that the Defendant aggressively banged on his door and threatened and shouted abuse and swear words at him and his wife. The Defendant also aggressively demanded money from Mr. Mathiyalagan. A file of the report is at pages 28-30 of the exhibit bundle.

10. On 11th November 2016, my former colleague, Sarah Fletcher interviewed an elderly resident who wished to remain anonymous. He said that the Defendant approached him as he came out of his flat and started to shout abuse, swear at him and threatened to bum down the elderly neighbour's flat. The report

continued that sometime around mid-September 2016, one of the Defendant's neighbours reported that the Defendant confronted him outside his block as he was going to the local park and started to shout abuse and threats at him and said to him "I can get you over at the park, I know you go for a walk". This incident led to his arrest and to the matter being referred to the Magistrates Court. A file note of the report is exhibited on page 31 of the exhibit bundle LN1.

11. I had meetings with Mr. George Quinton, one of the Defendant's neighbours on 16th December 2016 and 11th January 2017. He reported that he was experiencing problems with the Defendant's behaviour, and that on 4th October 2016, the Defendant aggressively banged on his ceiling and accused him of making noise. The Defendant then went to the neighbour's flat upstairs and started kicking and banging on the front door and was swearing and shouting at. him. The Defendant later went downstairs, dragged the neighbour's motorbike from where it was parked and started to hit it with a piece of wood. A file note of the report is at pages 32-34 of the exhibit bundle.

12. On 22nd November 2016, during a telephone conversation with my former colleague Ms. Sarah Fletcher, the Defendant was heard saying to his mother, who was present with him, 'I'm goanna do her over, I'm goanna take her job just for fun' referring to Ms. Fletcher. A file note of the incident is at page 34A of the exhibit bundle.

13. I hereby attach a case history detailing incidents of reports from Mr. Mathiyalagan about the abuse, threats and persistent intimidation by the Defendant. The case history is at pages 35 to 40 of the exhibit bundle LN1. It shows that Mr. Mathiyalagan reported incidents too numerous to set out in this statement about abuse, threats, attempts to extort money and intimidation by the Defendant. Examples are that the Defendant banged on his front door while his wife was alone at home with their young daughter and shouted abuse at his wife and asked her to turn off the bathroom taps. He also removed his electricity fuse thereby cutting off their power supply. Mr. Mathiyalagan reported the incident to the police and was given CAD 5753/23 December 2016. A file note of this incident is at page 37 of the exhibit bundle.

14. Other examples of aggressive and anti-social behaviour reported by Mr. Mathiyalagan were that on 21st January 2017, the Defendant aggressively banged on his door, swore and shouted abuse and threats at him and his family and accused them of making noise.

15. On 9th June 2017, the Defendant attacked Mr. Mathiyalagan's cousin in the communal hallway as he returned from work late at night by grabbing him on the arm and neck thereby causing bruising to his arm and neck. The Defendant also snatched his mobile phone from him as he tried to record the incident.

16. On 16th June 2017, the Defendant confronted Mr. Mathiyalagan's wife as she was exiting the main entrance at 11:55am and said to her that he had her bank and personal details. He also reported that the Defendant told his wife that he wanted her and her husband to pay him some money.

17. On 23rd June 2017, the Defendant came out of his flat with his dog and attacked Mr. Mathiyalagan's cousin as he returned from work at 11:35pm. He reported that the Defendant punched his cousin twice on the chest, tried to push him out of the block and snatched his mobile phone as he tried to record the incident.

18. On 28th June 2017, the Defendant confronted Mr. Mathiyalagan's wife as she was leaving the block at 11:45am, swore at her, shouted abuse and accused her of making noise inside her flat. He said to her that he knows all her personal details and that of her husband including their full names, date of birth, phone numbers and bank details. The Defendant demanded that they pay him some money and asked her to tell Mr. Mathiyalagan to come and see him.

19. On 2nd July 2017, Mr. Mathiyalagan reported that the Defendant confronted him with his dog barking and without a lead as he was going out with his family at

He also reported that as they left the block, the Defendant ran after them swearing and shouting abuse and demanded that he must pay him money if he wants him to leave him alone. The Defendant also said to him that he has all their personal details. A report of the incident is at page 40 of the case history.

20. Case history notes exhibited at pages 41-46 show reports of similar aggressive and intimidating behaviour displayed to Mr. Mathiyalagan was being experienced by another tenant who wishes to remain anonymous because of fear of reprisal from the Defendant.

21. Similarly, further case notes exhibited at pages 47-52 show that another tenant who wishes to remain anonymous was being subjected to the Defendant's antisocial behaviour. She had to be moved from the block because of the harassment from the Defendant and because she suffered from mental health problems and was particularly vulnerable and unable to deal with the threats and harassment from the Defendant.

22. On 7th February 2017, the Defendant approached the leaseholder of 117 Bumcroft Avenue and his plumber outside the block as they were attempting to resolve low water pressure issues affecting the flat. The Defendant informed the leaseholder that there were problems between him and his tenants but did not give specific details. The leaseholder explained to the Defendant that his tenants were experiencing low water pressure in their flat and that they were trying to fix the problem. The Defendant said to the leaseholder, “you will not resolve the problem as I am restricting their water supply”. The leaseholder later asked the Defendant to increase the water pressure and the Defendant stated, "I cannot do anything at the moment, I will sort it out later”. 30.1 have enquired with the Mental Health Team whether the Defendant is currently known to the team and was informed that he is no longer under their care.

29. The Claimant's operatives have had difficulties in accessing the Defendant's flat to inspect the state of the property and the unauthorised works and modifications which the Defendant is purported to have carried out without a written consent from the Claimant. The Claimant has also been unable to check whether the Defendant Is restricting water supply/pressure to the properties above his since December 2016. The Defendant has admitted to restricting the water supply but has refused to allow the Claimant's maintenance operatives access to his property to investigate and rectify the problem.

30. The Defendant has intimidated the residents in the entire block and because of his behaviour, we have received numerous complaints from residents, requests to be transferred from the block and we have had to move a vulnerable tenant from the block.

31. I have made attempts to engage with the Defendant, but he has not been cooperative and has continuously displayed abusive and threatening behaviour towards the Claimant's members of staff and his neighbours. A Notice of Seeking Possession has been served on him and possession action is being considered. However, in the meantime, this injunction is required to ensure that the other residents are not subjected to further intimidation and harassment by the Defendant. This application is being made without notice because if the Defendant were given notice, he would intimidate the witnesses in an attempt to prevent the order being made.

I visited Mr. Mathiyalagan at 117 Burncroft Avenue to day to look at the flooring following email from Mr. Cordell concerning noise as a result of wood flooring in the flat. I noticed that there is laminate flooring in the whole flat and ceramic tiles in the kitchen. Mr. Mathiyalagan stated that the flooring was already in the flat when they moved in. He stated that they do not make noise deliberately and that any noise from his flat is household noise. He also stated that as far as he is aware that the person living below them-), we not complained of noise and that he will be the one that will be affected if there are excessive issues from his flat. He also stated that he has asked the man- if they are causing noise disturbances arid he said they are not. He also requested that Mr. Cordell should contact the council if he is being disturbed by noise from his flat instead of harassing him and his family by banging on his front door, shouting abuse at him and his wife, threatening them and confronting them when they come into the block.
I informed him that laminate flooring can generate some noise and to be mindful of his neighbours while walking around inside his flat-
I then went and knocked at flat 113 but there was no response.

He stated that he will not attend the meeting at the Civic Centre or any of the council and that I should come to his flat. I offered to have the meeting at a neutral venue like the local library or even at his mother's house, but he refused and shouted to shout abuse and accuse me of taking sides with his neighbours. File note

Following reports of continued low water pressure/supply to 117 Burncroft Avenue (second floor) despite information from Thames Water indicating that they had attended and that supply to the block 109-119 Burncroft Avenue was of a sufficient bar pressure, I tried to coordinate access to all flats on the right-hand side of the block, potentially affected by the issue: 109, 113 and 117.
I wrote and hand delivered letters to all 3 of the properties requesting access for the Council Surveyor to visit and assess the water pressure in each on Friday 24th February 2017 between 10am and 12pm.
I spoke by telephone with Mr. Irving, the leaseholder of 117; who had instigated the water pressure complaint who agreed that he would attend and give access.
I spoke by telephone with Mr. George Quinton, the tenant of 113, who agreed that he would give access.
I spoke by telephone with Lorraine Cordell, mother of Simon Cordell, the tenant of 109 who said that no one was available to give access.
I attended with Steve Stirk, surveyor, on Friday 24th February 2017 at 10am. We were given access to 117 and Steve Stirk investigated the water pressure to the taps in the kitchen and bathroom.
We were unable to gain access to 113 as the tenant was not home -1 called and left voice mail messages for the tenant but did not get any further response.
Steve Stirk suggested that we knock at 109 just on the off chance that someone was home. Mr. Simon Cordell answered the door and, once Steve Stirk had explained that we were investigating the low water pressure/supply issue to the block, he allowed us into the property.
While Steve Stirk checked the water pressure in the kitchen, I introduced myself to Mr. Cordell. He then became quite agitated and proceeded to regulate me with the same issues that he had relayed to me during our previous telephone conversation including issues about his neighbours, the police and the Council conspiring to ruin his life as well as his work arranging community music events. He did not give me much of an opportunity to respond and kept talking over me when I tried to do so. Steve Stirk then went and checked the bathroom taps which he discovered were all already open (water running in wash basin; water running in bath which was full and going down overflow). We then thanked Mr. Cordell for his time and left the property.

Outcome: It is unclear whether Mr. Cordell running all of the taps constantly is linked to the issue of low water pressure as he is on the ground floor and 117 is 2 floors up (we had been unable to check the pressure in 113). Steve Stirk to liaise again with Thames Water about the issue and to consider separation of the water supply to the ground floor flat.

Simon Cordell — 109 Burncroft Avenue, EN3 7JQ

Further to ongoing issues related to water pressure/supply to the block at 109 - 119 Burncroft Avenue particularly to the right-hand supply affecting 109,113 and 117, I visited the block on Monday 8th May 2017 at 11am with Steve Stirk, surveyor, and .an MCP locksmith.

The purpose of this visit was to gain access to 113 Bumcroft Avene so to assess the water pressure/supply to this property. Several attempts had been made previously to do this but the tenant was not there to give access so a 'forced' entry was made and the locks subsequently changed (the tenant had been notified previously that we would be taking this action if he did not provide access).

We entered the property so that Steve Stirk could test the water taps in the kitchen and bathroom. There was no flooring laid except for a rug in the living room (the kitchen was accessed through here) and the floorboards made a significant amount of noise as we stepped on them.

The resident from the property underneath, Mr. Simon Cordell, heard us in the property and came upstairs. Steve Stirk and I were outside the property at this point as the locksmith started to undertake the work to install new locks on to the door (he was inside the hallway).

Mr. Cordell proceeded to 'rant' at Steve Stirk and me about his perceived victimisation by his neighbours. He was very agitated and loud - recounting his experience with the police, previous housing management, a previous partner, a previous neighbour and allegations of anti-social behaviour made against him-

Steve Stirk tried to explain that we were there to deal with a specific issue and that this was not the time or place to address these concerns. Mr. Cordell did not want to listen and became fixated on Steve Stirk being 'dismissive' towards him (Mr. Cordell's words). He went on at length about his upstairs neighbours, both past and present on first and second floors, 'banging' hammers deliberately above his head.

He continued to go on, in his agitated state, about how he had been treated by the police and previous housing managers who had promised him that they would re-lay the floor of flat 113 but had not done so. At this point the resident from 117, Mr. Mathiyalakan Markandu, came down the stairs on his way out of the building. As he came down past us

Mr. Cordell focussed his attention on him and said to him: 'I'm going to the police station now with my evidence about you and I'm going to ruin your life'. Mr. Mathiyalakan Markandu did not respond and proceeded to walk past and go down the stairs and out of the building.
Both Steve Stirk and I commented to Mr. Cordell that the way he had behaved was threatening in nature and was not acceptable. Mr. Cordell responded, 'it's not a threat it's a fact'. He then continued to repeat his history with the police and previous housing management.

I asked Mr. Cordell to calm down and tried to explain that some of these issues could have been addressed by attending the meeting that Lemmy Nwabusi in the CSU team had tried to convene with him. He. said that he was not prepared to attend such a meeting but wanted to speak to me, his housing officer, now. I explained that as Steve Stirk had already said that we could not address his issues there and then I suggested that a meeting could be convened with both the CSU and neighbourly teams to look at some of the issues with Mr. Cordell. He indicated that he would be willing to do this if we came to his home to do so.

LEMMY NWABUISI
From: Steve Stirk.
Sent: 10 May 2017 08:42
Subject: 109, BURNCROFT AVENUE, ENFIELD, EN3 7JQ
Further to my conversation today please note the following I carried out a joint with Sarah back in January regarding low water pressure to 117 While on location the following was noted
Kitchen internal wall has been partly removed
3 large industrial type printers found with assorted inks and cleaning liquids Internal gate installed to front door
While all these items could be used in normal day to day interests the tenant made claims he was actively involved in planning and conduction events and the equipment was used to produce marketing leaflets and posters
This Monday we has reason to attend 113 to carry out a full lock change given accusation from the tenant that his lock had been glued so was unable to gain access the tenant claim the damaged was caused by 109, (this cannot be confirmed) as the tenant did not attend both Sarah and myself did go in and while there was confronted by the tenant from 109, the tenant for about twenty minutes would not leave us alone and became increasingly aggressive despite attempt to explain to him that we had not come to see him or indeed were able to comment of any of his accusations on how Enfield had ruined his lie were putting him in danger by leaving him in his flat, during this confrontation the tenant from 117 passed through the passage and the tenant from 109 stated he was going to 'ruin his life and generally became more irate towards the tenant.
It is clear that we are unable to allow this to continue as the body posture from 117 was defensive and did not wish to reply or get into any form of conversation with this tenant
Given that two members of staff were present and the confrontational attitude towards not only us but the other resident I believe we need to action this event to try and stop any further escalation from this tenant
Lastly I would recommend that we need full access to 109 to assess what is the true cause of the low water pressure to the flats above given the items found in the flat as well these need to be removed as does the internal gate please advise so I can carry out a full inspection as this is a complaint from the lease holder as they have very little water flow in the fiat above and given the nature of the conditions and life style of 109 we are unable to show if he has caused the issue, on a housing point the internal wall that has been partly removed needs to be put back as it is a breach of fire regs

Following reports of continued low water pressure/supply to 117 Burncroft Avenue (second floor) despite information from Thames Water indicating that they had attended and that supply to the block 109-119 Burncroft Avenue was of a sufficient bar pressure, I tried to coordinate access to all flats on the right-hand side of the block, potentially affected by the issue: 109, 113 and 117.

I spoke by telephone with Mr. Irving, the leaseholder of 117; who had instigated the water pressure complaint who agreed that he would attend and give access.
I spoke by telephone with Mr. George Quinton, the tenant of 113, who agreed that he would give access.
I spoke by telephone with Lorraine Cordell, mother of Simon Cordell, the tenant of 109 who said that no one was available to give access.
I attended with Steve Stirk, surveyor, on Friday 24th February 2017 at 10am. We were given access to 117 and Steve Stirk investigated the water pressure to the taps in the kitchen and bathroom.
We were unable to gain access to 113 as the tenant was not home -1 called and left voice mail messages for the tenant but did not get any further response.

Steve Stirk then went and checked the bathroom taps which he discovered were all already open (water running in wash basin; water running in bath which was full and going down overflow). We then thanked Mr. Cordell for his time and left the property.
Outcome: It is unclear whether Mr. Cordell running all of the taps constantly is linked to the issue of low water pressure as he is on the ground floor and 117 is 2 floors up (we had been unable to check the pressure in 113). Steve Stirk to liaise again with Thames Water about the issue and to consider separation of the water supply to the ground floor flat.

Simon Cordell — 109 Burncroft Avenue, EN3 7JQ
Further to ongoing issues related to water pressure/supply to the block at 109 - 119 Burncroft Avenue particularly to the right-hand supply affecting 109,113 and 117, I visited the block on Monday 8th May 2017 at 11am with Steve Stirk, surveyor, and .an MCP locksmith.
The purpose of this visit was to gain access to 113 Bumcroft Avene so to assess the water pressure/supply to this property. Several attempts had been made previously to do this but the tenant was not there to give access so a 'forced' entry was made and the locks subsequently changed (the tenant had been notified previously that we would be taking this action if he did not provide access).
We entered the property so that Steve Stirk could test the water taps in the kitchen and bathroom. There was no flooring laid except for a rug in the living room (the kitchen was accessed through here) and the floorboards made a significant amount of noise as we stepped on them.
The resident from the property underneath, Mr. Simon Cordell, heard us in the property and came upstairs. Steve Stirk and I were outside the property at this point as the locksmith started to undertake the work to install new locks on to the door (he was inside the hallway).
Mr. Cordell proceeded to 'rant' at Steve Stirk and me about his perceived victimisation by his neighbours. He was very agitated and loud - recounting his experience with the police, previous housing management, a previous partner, a previous neighbour and allegations of anti-social behaviour made against him-
Steve Stirk tried to explain that we were there to deal with a specific issue and that this was not the time or place to address these concerns. Mr. Cordell did not want to listen and became fixated on Steve Stirk being 'dismissive' towards him (Mr. Cordell's words). He went on at length about his upstairs neighbours, both past and present on first and second floors, 'banging' hammers deliberately above his head.
He continued to go on, in his agitated state, about how he had been treated by the police and previous housing managers who had promised him that they would re-lay the floor of flat 113 but had not done so. At this point the resident from 117, Mr. Mathiyalakan Markandu, came down the stairs on his way out of the building. As he came down past us

Mr. Cordell focussed his attention on him and said to him: 'I'm going to the police station now with my evidence about you and I'm going to ruin your life'. Mr. Mathiyalakan Markandu did not respond and proceeded to walk past and go down the stairs and out of the building.
Both Steve Stirk and I commented to Mr. Cordell that the way he had behaved was threatening in nature and was not acceptable. Mr. Cordell responded, 'it's not a threat it's a fact'. He then continued to repeat his history with the police and previous housing management.

I asked Mr. Cordell to calm down and tried to explain that some of these issues could have been addressed by attending the meeting that Lemmy Nwabusi in the CSU team had tried to convene with him. He. said that he was not prepared to attend such a meeting but wanted to speak to me, his housing officer, now. I explained that as Steve Stirk had already said that we could not address his issues there and then I suggested that a meeting could be convened with both the CSU and neighbourly teams to look at some of the issues with Mr. Cordell. LEMMY NWABUISI
From: Steve Stirk.
Sent: 10 May 2017 08:42
Subject: 109, BURNCROFT AVENUE, ENFIELD, EN3 7JQ
Further to my conversation today please note the following I carried out a joint with Sarah back in January regarding low water pressure to 117 While on location the following was noted
Kitchen internal wall has been partly removed
3 large industrial type printers found with assorted inks and cleaning liquids Internal gate installed to front door
While all these items could be used in normal day to day interests the tenant made claims he was actively involved in planning and conduction events and the equipment was used to produce marketing leaflets and posters
This Monday we has reason to attend 113 to carry out a full lock change given accusation from the tenant that his lock had been glued so was unable to gain access the tenant claim the damaged was caused by 109, (this cannot be confirmed) as the tenant did not attend both Sarah and myself did go in and while there was confronted by the tenant from 109, the tenant for about twenty minutes would not leave us alone and became increasingly aggressive despite attempt to explain to him that we had not come to see him or indeed were able to comment of any of his accusations on how Enfield had ruined his lie were putting him in danger by leaving him in his flat, during this confrontation the tenant from 117 passed through the passage and the tenant from 109 stated he was going to 'ruin his life and generally became more irate towards the tenant.
It is clear that we are unable to allow this to continue as the body posture from 117 was defensive and did not wish to reply or get into any form of conversation with this tenant
Given that two members of staff were present and the confrontational attitude towards not only us but the other resident I believe we need to action this event to try and stop any further escalation from this tenant
Lastly I would recommend that we need full access to 109 to assess what is the true cause of the low water pressure to the flats above given the items found in the flat as well these need to be removed as does the internal gate please advise so I can carry out a full inspection as this is a complaint from the lease holder as they have very little water flow in the fiat above and given the nature of the conditions and life style of 109 we are unable to show if he has caused the issue, on a housing point the internal wall that has been partly removed needs to be put back as it is a breach of fire regs

Simon Cordell - 109 Burncroft Avenue, EN3 7JQ
Following reports of continued low water pressure/supply to 117 Burncroft Avenue (second floor) despite information from Thames Water indicating that they had attended and that supply to the block 109-119 Burncroft Avenue was of a sufficient bar pressure, I tried to coordinate access to all flats on the right-hand side of the block, potentially affected by the issue: 109, 113 and 117.
I wrote and hand delivered letters to all 3 of the properties requesting access for the Council Surveyor to visit and assess the water pressure in each on Friday 24th February 2017 between 10am and 12pm.
I spoke by telephone with Mr. Irving, the leaseholder of 117; who had instigated the water pressure complaint who agreed that he would attend and give access.
I spoke by telephone with Mr. George Quinton, the tenant of 113, who agreed that he would give access.
I spoke by telephone with Lorraine Cordell, mother of Simon Cordell, the tenant of 109 who said that no one was available to give access.
I attended with Steve Stirk, surveyor, on Friday 24th February 2017 at 10am. We were given access to 117 and Steve Stirk investigated the water pressure to the taps in the kitchen and bathroom.
We were unable to gain access to 113 as the tenant was not home -1 called and left voice mail messages for the tenant but did not get any further response.
Steve Stirk suggested that we knock at 109 just on the off chance that someone was home. Mr. Simon Cordell answered the door and, once Steve Stirk had explained that we were investigating the low water pressure/supply issue to the block, he allowed us into the property.
While Steve Stirk checked the water pressure in the kitchen, I introduced myself to Mr. Cordell. He then became quite agitated and proceeded to regulate me with the same issues that he had relayed to me during our previous telephone conversation including issues about his neighbours, the police and the Council conspiring to ruin his life as well as his work arranging community music events. He did not give me much of an opportunity to respond and kept talking over me when I tried to do so. Steve Stirk then went and checked the bathroom taps which he discovered were all already open (water running in wash basin; water running in bath which was full and going down overflow). We then thanked Mr. Cordell for his time and left the property.

Outcome: It is unclear whether Mr. Cordell running all of the taps constantly is linked to the issue of low water pressure as he is on the ground floor and 117 is 2 floors up (we had been unable to check the pressure in 113). Steve Stirk to liaise again with Thames Water about the issue and to consider separation of the water supply to the ground floor flat.

Simon Cordell — 109 Burncroft Avenue, EN3 7JQ

Further to ongoing issues related to water pressure/supply to the block at 109 - 119 Burncroft Avenue particularly to the right-hand supply affecting 109,113 and 117, I visited the block on Monday 8th May 2017 at 11am with Steve Stirk, surveyor, and .an MCP locksmith.

The purpose of this visit was to gain access to 113 Bumcroft Avene so to assess the water pressure/supply to this property. Several attempts had been made previously to do this but the tenant was not there to give access so a 'forced' entry was made and the locks subsequently changed (the tenant had been notified previously that we would be taking this action if he did not provide access).

We entered the property so that Steve Stirk could test the water taps in the kitchen and bathroom. There was no flooring laid except for a rug in the living room (the kitchen was accessed through here) and the floorboards made a significant amount of noise as we stepped on them.

The resident from the property underneath, Mr. Simon Cordell, heard us in the property and came upstairs. Steve Stirk and I were outside the property at this point as the locksmith started to undertake the work to install new locks on to the door (he was inside the hallway).

Mr. Cordell proceeded to 'rant' at Steve Stirk and me about his perceived victimisation by his neighbours. He was very agitated and loud - recounting his experience with the police, previous housing management, a previous partner, a previous neighbour and allegations of anti-social behaviour made against him-

Steve Stirk tried to explain that we were there to deal with a specific issue and that this was not the time or place to address these concerns. Mr. Cordell did not want to listen and became fixated on Steve Stirk being 'dismissive' towards him (Mr. Cordell's words). He went on at length about his upstairs neighbours, both past and present on first and second floors, 'banging' hammers deliberately above his head.

He continued to go on, in his agitated state, about how he had been treated by the police and previous housing managers who had promised him that they would re-lay the floor of flat 113 but had not done so. At this point the resident from 117, Mr. Mathiyalakan Markandu, came down the stairs on his way out of the building. As he came down past us Mr. Cordell focussed his attention on him and said to him: 'I'm going to the police station now with my evidence about you and I'm going to ruin your life'. Mr. Mathiyalakan

Markandu did not respond and proceeded to walk past and go down the stairs and out of the building.
Both Steve Stirk and I commented to Mr. Cordell that the way he had behaved was threatening in nature and was not acceptable. Mr. Cordell responded, 'it's not a threat it's a fact'. He then continued to repeat his history with the police and previous housing management.

I asked Mr. Cordell to calm down and tried to explain that some of these issues could have been addressed by attending the meeting that Lemmy Nwabusi in the CSU team had tried to convene with him. He. said that he was not prepared to attend such a meeting but wanted to speak to me, his housing officer, now. I explained that as Steve Stirk had already said that we could not address his issues there and then I suggested that a meeting could be convened with both the CSU and neighbourly teams to look at some of the issues with Mr. Cordell. He indicated that he would be willing to do this if we came to his home to do so.

DIRECTIONS ORDER

From: Steve Stirk.
Sent: 10 May 2017 08:42
Subject: 109, BURNCROFT AVENUE, ENFIELD, EN3 7JQ
Further to my conversation today please note the following I carried out a joint with Sarah back in January regarding low water pressure to 117 While on location the following was noted
Kitchen internal wall has been partly removed
3 large industrial type printers found with assorted inks and cleaning liquids Internal gate installed to front door
While all these items could be used in normal day to day interests the tenant made claims he was actively involved in planning and conduction events and the equipment was used to produce marketing leaflets and posters
This Monday we has reason to attend 113 to carry out a full lock change given accusation from the tenant that his lock had been glued so was unable to gain access the tenant claim the damaged was caused by 109, (this cannot be confirmed) as the tenant did not attend both Sarah and myself did go in and while there was confronted by the tenant from 109, the tenant for about twenty minutes would not leave us alone and became increasingly aggressive despite attempt to explain to him that we had not come to see him or indeed were able to comment of any of his accusations on how Enfield had ruined his lie were putting him in danger by leaving him in his flat, during this confrontation the tenant from 117 passed through the passage and the tenant from 109 stated he was going to 'ruin his life and generally became more irate towards the tenant.
It is clear that we are unable to allow this to continue as the body posture from 117 was defensive and did not wish to reply or get into any form of conversation with this tenant Given that two members of staff were present and the confrontational attitude towards not only us but the other resident I believe we need to action this event to try and stop any further escalation from this tenant
Lastly I would recommend that we need full access to 109 to assess what is the true cause of the low water pressure to the flats above given the items found in the flat as well these need to be removed as does the internal gate please advise so I can carry out a full inspection as this is a complaint from the lease holder as they have very little water flow in the fiat above and given the nature of the conditions and life style of 109 we are unable to show if he has caused the issue, on a housing point the internal wall that has been partly removed needs to be put back as it is a breach of fire regs

Dear Mr. Cordell
Your Mandatory Reconsideration Notice
You or someone who has the authority to act for you, asked us to look again at the decision we sent on 19-Apr-2017.
We have taken into account all the information available.
We have changed our decision and you will be seen with a separate letter with details of your revised award.
An explanation of our Mandatory Reconsideration decision is set out below.
The reasons for this decision
Mandatory Reconsideration - Incapacity Benefit (Credits) / Income Support Reassessment.

I have looked at all of the available evidence and I have been able to revise the original decision dated 19-Apr-2017 and therefore; you have shown good cause for failing to attend a Work Capability Assessment on 06-Mar-2017.
You did not attend a Work Capability Assessment on 06-Mar-2017. On 19-Apr-2017, the original Decision Maker considered all of the available evidence but decided that you had not shown good cause for failing to attend the assessment.
As a consequence, your award of Incapacity Benefit/National Insurance (Incapacity) Credits and Income Support did not qualify for conversion to Employment and Support Allowance under Regulation 23(2) of the Employment and Support Allowance Regulations 2008 and was terminated from and including 16-May-2017.
We received a request from you asking for a Mandatory Reconsideration on 26-Apr- 2017.

Your request stated that you are unable to leave the house to attend an assessment due to your mental health condition. You have submitted a letter from your GP dated 26-Apr-2017 requesting a home assessment. I have examined all the evidence in support of the Mandatory Reconsideration request. You will now be given another opportunity to participate in a Work Capability Assessment.
My decision is that you have shown good cause for failing to attend a Work Capability Assessment on 06-Mar-2017. Your award of Incapacity Benefit/National Insurance (Incapacity) Credits and Income Support are reinstated from and including 16-May-2017.
Arrears of any benefit due to you as a result of this decision may be adjusted by the amount of any other benefit paid to you for the same period.

DIRECTIONS ORDER

I make this Witness Statement in support of the Claimant's application for an injunction to stop the Defendant from causing Intimidation, harassment to me and other residents.

BACKGROUND

The problem with the Defendant started a few months after we moved into the property, after the Defendant approached me asking me to write a letter of support in relation to a problem, he was having with the lady that used to live at Flat 113 Bumcroft Avenue. I refused to write the letter and told the Defendant that I do not want to get involved as I did not have any problems with the lady. Since then, the Defendant has made living in this block difficult for me and my family. He has been very aggressive to my family and I and has continuously intimidated, threatened and harassed my wife, cousin and me.

The Defendant have repeatedly accused us of making noise inside our flat even though our flat is situated two floors above his and the person living directly below us have never complained to us about noise. He has shouted abuse at us, damaged our properties and aggressively demanded money from me. My family and I are constantly living in fear and my wife are frightened to stay at home and has had to accompany me to work on several occasions and stayed in the car with our young daughter until I finish work.

The Defendant has slashed my car tyres, damaged my fuse box and has physically threatened to hit me with a piece of wood. He has a big dog that he brings out with him without a lead when he approaches us, and he has used the dog to intimidate us. He also allows the dog to bark and run freely inside the communal hallway and staircase without a lead. I have reported was happening, the Defendant went back into his flat. We then called the police, they attended, and we explained what happened. The police then went and knocked on the Defendant's door, but he refused to let them in.

19. On 28th June 2017 at 11:45am, the Defendant confronted my wife outside the main entrance door as she was going to pick up our daughter from school and demanded to talk to her. My wife told him that she cannot stop to speak with him as she was on her way to collect her daughter from school, but the Defendant ran after my wife, stood in front of her and started to shout at her. The Defendant told my wife that he knows all our personal details including our full names, date of birth and bank details. and bank details and that I must pay him to have them back. I told him that I will not pay him and to do whatever he likes with the details.

22. The constant verbal abuse, swearing, intimidation and aggressive behaviour from the Defendant towards my family and I have made it difficult for us to live in our own home. The fear of not knowing when we will be confronted with vile and aggressive behaviour as my wife and I go out or return to our home has caused us severe stress and anxiety. My wife is afraid of leaving our flat on her own due to fear that the Defendant will confront and shout abuse at her. We are having to tip-toe inside our flat for fear of being accused of making noise even though we live two floors above the Defendant. The Defendant has caused us immense hardship by vandalising my property and although I cannot prove it, I am certain that the Defendant was responsible for slashing my car tyres, damaging my meter cupboard and removing my electricity fuse several times and restricting water flow to my flat, Also, I no longer park my car outside my block in Burncroft Avenue because of the car being vandalized. I now park a few streets away, about ten or fifteen minutes from my home instead of outside my block which is about a minute from my flat. I do not see why we should have to live this way.

I visited Mr. Mathiyalagan at 117 Burncroft Avenue to day to look at the flooring following email from Mr. Cordell concerning noise as a result of wood flooring in the flat. I noticed that there is laminate flooring in the whole flat and ceramic tiles in the kitchen. Mr. Mathiyalagan stated that the flooring was already in the flat when they moved in. He stated that they do not make noise deliberately and that any noise from his flat is household noise. He also stated that as far as he is aware that the person living below them-), we not complained of noise and that he will be the one that will be affected if there are excessive issues from his flat. He also stated that he has asked the man- if they are causing noise disturbances arid he said they are not. He also requested that Mr. Cordell should contact the council if he is being disturbed by noise from his flat instead of harassing him and his family by banging on his front door, shouting abuse at him and his wife, threatening them and confronting them when they come into the block.
I informed him that laminate flooring can generate some noise and to be mindful of his neighbours while walking around inside his flat-
I then went and knocked at flat 113 but there was no response.

I did not stop to speak to him, and he ran after me until I turned left into Green Street. As he was running after my car, he was shouting at people passing by to stop the car.
By the time I returned to the office, Mr. Cordell had telephoned me several times. I telephoned him back and he wanted to know whether I was the person that posted a letter through his letterbox and I said yes. He asked why I did not stop when he ran after me and I told him that I had another visit and did not have the time to stop and talk to him. He stated that he will not attend the meeting at the Civic Centre or any of the council and that I should come to his flat. I offered to have the meeting at a neutral venue like the local library or even at his mother's house, but he refused and shouted to shout abuse and accuse me of taking sides with his neighbours. He denied doing the things that he is accused of doing and stated that he is the victim and that the council have refused to deal with his complaints against his neighbours. He stated that he has been suffering noise disturbances from his neighbours since he moved into his flat and that the council have refused to deal with it. He alleged that the council is conniving with the police to victimise him and threatened to put in a complaint - against me, He continued shouting abuse and will not let me say a word, I then advised him that I will have to terminate the conversation as we were getting nowhere.

2 Enfield Council 1st Injunction Order: 115 Burncroft Avenue Tenants / Dated 02/08/2017 / Said to have gotten Served 09/08/2017. / Si Note; Throughout all years of living in Burncroft Avenue I have never knocked on the front door of 113. Or chased any car attached To This Property. This is about a Greek woman who was getting drunk with Debra Andrews a few months after Debra had started on me. This woman liked her drink like Debra did but she did have a car and dressed well and went to work. I would call her a functioning acholic, while Debra Andrews was a none functioning acholic. Both of their front doors faced each other on the 2nd floor landing of the blocks of flats and at nights they started to drink together while attacking me, they both got drunk and shouted things out of the windows while slamming them and jumping or squeaking with the floorboards above my head and at times they would bang on the walls while following me throughout my flat in a fuelled acholic rage against my life and not to forget the assault in my bathroom with the toilet or taps getting slammed on and off. And this is why I would notice when they were in the address of 113 Burncroft Avenue the flat directly above mine together as double team as things became double worse. I am not sure if they are both friends till this date now 28/06/2022, nor do I know how much contact they do have with each other if any but something I can be confident of is they had become friends by 2016 when Debra Andrews was brutally trying to take my life and this Greek woman acted with the same passion to maliciously wound me with intent and/or to take my life as Debra Andrews did on a large number of different occasions. What I thought would be the last incident which would lead to be the last time I would get hurt or see this woman would turn out not to be. I had seen her in the corridor and getting in her car but never chatted to her as of what Debra and other neighbours were doing to me. The next thing I know was her and Debra were in 113 Burncroft Avenue in 2016 and both drunk while starting on me like a local event and for no fair reason and the Greek Woman shouted out the window you can go and F your mother, with this I went to my window and told her all about herself aloud so, that the rest of the Burncroft Avenue Community could hear what I was saying, she moved out after that. Another tenant soon afterwards moved in but after a while the 2nd tenant moved out and a new person moved in and for some reason every time I went into my kitchen, the let's say 3rd tenant would stand in the kitchen and start tapping the wall and squeaking the floorboards, I could also her the window getting slammed from the left side of the building when looking out of my back garden door, but could not tell who was slamming it until she left the flat of 113 for the second time as the window stopped getting slammed for a few weeks. I see the face of the 1st / 3rd tenant / same woman again and it must be about the date in mention 14/05/2017, it would be the last time I see her before she left but I had never recognised her as she was in disguise as the 1st / 3rd tenant and living with a Greek bloke. The last time I see her was when I was on the way back home from going to the shops, she and her I believed partner were in the car park and putting stuff in the boot and what seemed to be waiting for me when I recognised her. "To get updated!"– Notes from Below Next! - "FILE NOTE 01/06/2017 I telephoned Miss X to discuss her complaints against Mr. Cordell and agree an action plan, Miss mmm stated that she has lived in the block since April 2015 and hat the problems with Mr. Cordell started about a year ago. She stated that he bangs on her door when she is sleeping at night and also follows her to her car asking her where is going or where she is coming from. She alleged that on 14th May 2017 Mr. Cordell came and aggressively banged on her door, shouted abuse and threats at her and falsely accused her of making noise inside her flat. She stated that she does not make noise and that her flat is on the opposite side of Mr. Cordell flat and therefore he should nor hear any noise from her flat. She stated that Mr. Cordell came up to her face in a very aggressive and intimidating manner to accuse her of coming into his flat to attack him and asking her why she comes into his flat. She denied going into flat and stated that he does everything to try and intimidate her. She also complained that she feels scared every time she is going out or returning to her flat as Mr. Cordell allows his dog to run freely inside the block. She stated that Mr. Cordell has banged on her door about 4 times in the past 2 months. She also alleged that he has followed her to her car twice in the past 1 month accusing her of coming into his flat to attack him and also kept asking her where she was going or coming from. She alleged that on one occasion, Mr. Cordell stood in front of her car and will not let her drive away. She stated that he has been verbally aggressive and intimidating but has not been physically aggressive towards her. She stated that she suffers from mental illness and that this has exacerbated her problems and that she no longer feels safe living in her property. 2. I make this Witness Statement in support of the Claimant's application for an injunction to stop the Defendant from causing intimidation, harassment and alarm to other residents and their visitors on Burhcroft Avenue.

3. The Defendant is a secure tenant of the Claimant at 109 Burncroft Avenue, Enfield, Middlesex, EN3 7JQ. His tenancy commenced on 14th August 2006. I hereby attach a bundle of documents relating to this case as exhibit number LN1. A copy of the Defendant's tenancy agreement and terms and conditions are hereby attached at pages 1-24.

4. The reports concerning the Defendant's alleged anti-social behaviour towards his neighbours was first brought to my attention in October 2016 when a case involving the Defendant and one of his neighbours was referred to me for investigation. The Defendant was reported to have caused frequent acts of harassment and anti-social behaviour against an elderly neighbour. The Defendant was arrested by the Police and bailed to a different address. The matter was referred to the Highbury Corner Magistrates' Court on 05 October 2016 where a first hearing took place. The Defendant pleaded not guilty and the trial was fixed for 17 November 2016. However, the trial did not proceed due to insufficient support as the elderly tenant was unable to attend Court due to health reasons. A copy of a letter from the Magistrate Court is attached to this statement at pages 25-26.

5. The Defendant was previously known to the Claimant and an anti-social behaviour order was made on 4 August 2015 by the Magistrates Court to prevent him from knowingly using or supplying property, personal or otherwise, for the use in a rave as defined in s.63(1) of the Criminal Justice Order Act 1994. The order was made for a duration of 5 years. A copy of the Order is at page 27 of the exhibit bundle.

He aggressively, demanded money from him and threatened to beat him up. The Defendant also repeatedly swore at Mr. Mathiyalagan's wife, called her a 'witch1 and tried to stop the Mr. Mathiyalagan from going up the stairs to his flat by standing in front of him and blocking his advance by placing his hands on the staircase railings. Mr. Mathiyalagan has already provided a witness statement in support these proceedings to confirm that this incident happened. A file note of this report is exhibited at pages 28-30 of the exhibit bundle LN1.

7. On 8th August 2016, Mr. Mathiyalagan reported that the Defendant aggressively banged on his front door, shouted abuse at him and his wife and accused them of making noise. Mr. Mathiyalagan reported to us that he believes that the Defendant used a screwdriver to damage the lock on his meter cupboard and removed the fuse box thereby cutting off their electricity supply. Mr. Mathiyalagan reported this incident to the police and was given reference number CAD 7934/August 2016. A file note of this report is exhibited at pages 28-30 of the exhibit bundle.

8. On 27th September 2016, Mr. Mathiyalagan reported that the Defendant confronted him as he returned to his flat with his wife and young daughter and threatened and swore at him and demanded money from him. A file note of the report is on pages 28-30 of the bundle.

The Defendant also aggressively demanded money from Mr. Mathiyalagan. A file of the report is at pages 28-30 of the exhibit bundle.

10. On 11th November 2016, my former colleague, Sarah Fletcher interviewed an elderly resident who wished to remain anonymous. continued that sometime around mid-September 2016, one of the Defendant's neighbours reported that the Defendant confronted him outside his block as he was going to the local park and started to shout abuse and threats at him and said to him "I can get you over at the park, I know you go for a walk". This incident led to his arrest and to the matter being referred to the Magistrates Court. A file note of the report is exhibited on page 31 of the exhibit bundle LN1.

11. I had meetings with Mr. George Quinton, one of the Defendant's neighbours on 16th December 2016 and 11th January 2017. He reported that he was experiencing problems with the Defendant's behaviour, and that on 4th October 2016, the Defendant aggressively banged on his ceiling and accused him of making noise. The Defendant then went to the neighbour's flat upstairs and started kicking and banging on the front door and was swearing and shouting at. him. The Defendant later went downstairs, dragged the neighbour's motorbike from where it was parked and started to hit it with a piece of wood. A file note of the report is at pages 32-34 of the exhibit bundle.

12. On 22nd November 2016, during a telephone conversation with my former colleague Ms. Sarah Fletcher, the Defendant was heard saying to his mother, who was present with him, 'I'm gonna do her over, I'm gonna take her job just for fun' referring to Ms. Fletcher. A file note of the incident is at page 34A of the exhibit bundle.

13. I hereby attach a case history detailing incidents of reports from Mr. Mathiyalagan about the abuse, threats and persistent intimidation by the Defendant. The case history is at pages 35 to 40 of the exhibit bundle LN1. It shows that Mr. Mathiyalagan reported incidents too numerous to set out in this statement about abuse, threats, attempts to extort money and intimidation by the Defendant. Examples are that the Defendant banged on his front door while his wife was alone at home with their young daughter and shouted abuse at his wife and asked her to turn off the bathroom taps. He also removed his electricity fuse thereby cutting off their power supply. Mr. Mathiyalagan reported the incident to the police and was given CAD 5753/23 December 2016. A file note of this incident is at page 37 of the exhibit bundle.

14. Other examples of aggressive and anti-social behaviour reported by Mr. Mathiyalagan were that on 21st January 2017, the Defendant aggressively banged on his door, swore and shouted abuse and threats at him and his family and accused them of making noise.

15. On 9th June 2017, the Defendant attacked Mr. Mathiyalagan's cousin in the communal hallway as he returned from work late at night by grabbing him on the arm and neck thereby causing bruising to his arm and neck. The Defendant also snatched his mobile phone from him as he tried to record the incident.

17. On 23rd June 2017, the Defendant came out of his flat with his dog and attacked Mr. Mathiyalagan's cousin as he returned from work at 11:35pm. He reported that the Defendant punched his cousin twice on the chest, tried to push him out of the block and snatched his mobile phone as he tried to record the incident.

18. On 28th June 2017, the Defendant confronted Mr. Mathiyalagan's wife as she was leaving the block at 11:45am, swore at her, shouted abuse and accused her of making noise inside her flat. The Defendant also said to him that he has all their personal details. A report of the incident is at page 40 of the case history.

20. Case history notes exhibited at pages 41-46 show reports of similar aggressive and intimidating behaviour displayed to Mr. Mathiyalagan was being experienced by another tenant who wishes to remain anonymous because of fear of reprisal from the Defendant.

21. Similarly, further case notes exhibited at pages 47-52 show that another tenant who wishes to remain anonymous was being subjected to the Defendant's antisocial behaviour. She had to be moved from the block because of the harassment from the Defendant and because she suffered from mental health problems and was particularly vulnerable and unable to deal with the threats and harassment from the Defendant.

22. On 7th February 2017, the Defendant approached the leaseholder of 117 Bumcroft Avenue and his plumber outside the block as they were attempting to resolve low water pressure issues affecting the flat. The Defendant informed the leaseholder that there were problems between him and his tenants but did not give specific details. The leaseholder explained to the Defendant that his tenants were experiencing low water pressure in their flat and that they were trying to fix the problem. The Defendant said to the leaseholder, “you will not resolve the problem as I am restricting their water supply”. The leaseholder later asked the Defendant to increase the water pressure and the Defendant stated, "I cannot do anything at the moment, I will sort it out later”. A report of this incident is at page 55 of the exhibit bundle.

While the Claimant's officers were outside flat 113, the Defendant came up to them and started to complain about his perceived victimization by his neighbours, the police and the council. While the Defendant was talking to the officers, Mr. Mathiyalagan came down the stairs and the Defendant said to him, "I'm going to the police station now with my evidence about you and I'm going to ruin your life". A file note of this report is exhibited at page 58 of the exhibit bundle and an email from Steve Stirk is at page 59.

32. The Claimant's operatives have had difficulties in accessing the Defendant's flat to inspect the state of the property and the unauthorised works and modifications which the Defendant is purported to have carried out without a written consent from the Claimant. The Claimant has also been unable to check whether the Defendant Is restricting water supply/pressure to the properties above his since December 2016. The Defendant has admitted to restricting the water supply but has refused to allow the Claimant's maintenance operatives access to his property to investigate and rectify the problem.

33. The Defendant has intimidated the residents in the entire block and because of his behaviour, we have received numerous complaints from residents, requests to be transferred from the block and we have had to move a vulnerable tenant from the block.

34. I have made attempts to engage with the Defendant, but he has not been cooperative and has continuously displayed abusive and threatening behaviour towards the Claimant's members of staff and his neighbours. A Notice of Seeking Possession has been served on him and possession action is being considered. However, in the meantime, this injunction is required to ensure that the other residents are not subjected to further intimidation and harassment by the Defendant. This application is being made without notice because if the Defendant were given notice, he would intimidate the witnesses in an attempt to prevent the order being made.

I visited Mr. Mathiyalagan at 117 Burncroft Avenue to day to look at the flooring following email from Mr. Cordell concerning noise as a result of wood flooring in the flat. I noticed that there is laminate flooring in the whole flat and ceramic tiles in the kitchen. Mr. Mathiyalagan stated that the flooring was already in the flat when they moved in. He stated that they do not make noise deliberately and that any noise from his flat is household noise. He also stated that as far as he is aware that the person living below them-), we not complained of noise and that he will be the one that will be affected if there are excessive issues from his flat. He also stated that he has asked the man- if they are causing noise disturbances arid he said they are not. He also requested that Mr. Cordell should contact the council if he is being disturbed by noise from his flat instead of harassing him and his family by banging on his front door, shouting abuse at him and his wife, threatening them and confronting them when they come into the block.
I informed him that laminate flooring can generate some noise and to be mindful of his neighbours while walking around inside his flat-
I then went and knocked at flat 113 but there was no response.

By the time I returned to the office, Mr. Cordell had telephoned me several times. I telephoned him back and he wanted to know whether I was the person that posted a letter through his letterbox and I said yes. He asked why I did not stop when he ran after me and I told him that I had another visit and did not have the time to stop and talk to him. He stated that he will not attend the meeting at the Civic Centre or any of the council and that I should come to his flat. I offered to have the meeting at a neutral venue like the local library or even at his mother's house, but he refused and shouted to shout abuse and accuse me of taking sides with his neighbours. He denied doing the things that he is accused of doing and stated that he is the victim and that the council have refused to deal with his complaints against his neighbours. He stated that he has been suffering noise disturbances from his neighbours since he moved into his flat and that the council have refused to deal with it. He alleged that the council is conniving with the police to victimise him and threatened to put in a complaint - against me, He continued shouting abuse and will not let me say a word, I then advised him that I will have to terminate the conversation as we were getting nowhere.

Then 113 and 117 tenants kept on Continually, reiterating to flushing the toilet when I went into the bathroom, so to be sick in my toilet because they made me ill!
The occupiers of 117 the Mathiyalagan family and also Stain Curtis off 111 Burncroft Avenue continue Slamming the water tap on and off, and now with George Quinton also involved I continue to document their Hate Crime towards me and report it to the relevant persons without any fair prosses of support and this is causing damage too my health and the buildings fixtures at an unacceptable rate!
They all mentioned in the addresses of 113 and 117 Burncroft Avenue keep Dropping articles on to their own wooden flooring to make loud banging noises all day and night towards me and the floor has not gotten fixed correctly in the address of 113 after Debra Andrews moved out, making me still suffer as George has taken over!
Stain will not stop banging on the kitchen wall with intent of victimising me on a full 4-hour assault in collaboration with the other named in the address of 113 and 117!

IN THE HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE
QUEEN'S BENCH DIVISION
ADMINISTRATIVE COURT

CO/2171/2017

REGINA
on the application of
SIMON PAUL CORDELL

Claimant

-and-

THE COMMISSIONER OF POLICE OF THE METROPOLIS

Defendant

DEFENDANT'S SUMMARY GROUNDS FOR CONTESTING THE CLAIM

INTRODUCTION

1. As a result of the Claimant's role in the organisation of, and provision of sound equipment to, unlicensed music events and raves in the London Borough of Enfield, the Defendant applied to the courts for an Anti-social Behaviour Order (ASBO) to protect the public from the harassment alarm and distress caused by the Claimant's actions. An ASBO was granted by Highbury Corner Magistrates' Court on 4 August 2015, pursuant to s.1 of the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 ("the 1998 Act"), to last for 5 years. The Claimant utilised his statutory right of appeal and appealed to the Crown Court pursuant to s.4 of the 1998 Act. The Crown Court at Wood Green heard the appeal and, other than amending the ASBO in certain respects, dismissed the appeal on 19 January 2017.

2. In the N461 Form at section 3, the Claimant sets out the decisions he is seeking to have judicially reviewed:

   (i) The order of HHJ Pawlak at the Crown Court at Wood Green on 19 January 2017 to dismiss his appeal against the making of the ASBO;

   (ii) The order of DJ Pigot at Highbury Corner Magistrates' Court on 4 August 2015 to make the ASBO; and

c100781_240520171324_001.pdf.pdf

(iii) The order of DJ Newman at Highbury Corner Magistrates' Court on 5 November 2014 to make the interim ASBO.

3. The Claimant has not provided a statement of facts and grounds so as to particularise his claim. It is intimated in the N461 Form that a Skeleton Argument is to follow but, at the time of filing these Summary Grounds, the Defendant is not in possession of such a document or any supporting evidence. Apart from reference to the articles of the European Convention on Human Rights that are said to have been breached, the Defendant is unclear as to the basis on which the Claimant alleges these decisions were unlawful.

4. The claim is resisted on two grounds and it is respectfully submitted that permission should be refused as the claim is unarguable and/or an abuse of the court's process as:

(i) The Defendant is not the proper defendant to this claim and the proper process to state a case has not been followed; and

(ii) Further or in the alternative, the Claim is insufficiently particularised to permit the Defendant to respond to it in substance.

5. For the avoidance of doubt, and if it becomes necessary to do so, the Defendant will robustly defend the actions of his officers, agents and employees as lawful. But for the purposes of these Summary Grounds, it is submitted that the claim is unarguable on the grounds set out above.

6. These proceedings were filed on 3 May 2017 and issued by the Court on 8 May 2017. The claim was served on the Defendant by the Claimant's mother by email on 12 May 2017.

THE WRONG DEFENDANT / PROCESS

7. The Claimant does not seek to challenge any decision made by the Defendant or any of his officers, agents or employees. This claim for judicial review as made against the Defendant is, therefore, wholly misconceived.

8. The Claimant seeks to challenge the decisions of Highbury Corner Magistrates' Court and the Crown Court at Wood Green.

(i) The appropriate avenue to challenge the final ASBO made by the Magistrates' Court is by way of appeal to the Crown Court. This was the Claimant's statutory right, and an avenue he pursued by appealing the order.

(ii) The appropriate avenue to challenge an order (and any interim order or directions) of the Crown Court where there is no right of appeal - or the Magistrates' Court if the right of appeal is not pursued - is by way of case stated.

9. The correct procedure for seeking to state a case to the High Court is to apply to the court that made the order (i.e. the Magistrates' Court or Crown Court in this case). The powers and procedure for doing so are as follows:

(i) The power to state a case from the Magistrates' Court emanates from s.111 of the Magistrates Court Act 1980 (MCA).

(ii) The power to state a case from the Crown Court emanates from s.28 of the Senior Courts Act 1981 (SCA).

(iii) The language used in both s.111(1) of the MCA and s.28(1) of the SCA are very similar in limiting the appeal jurisdiction in respect of orders, judgments and decisions of the court to requests to state a case. The jurisdiction to state a case is subject to any right of appeal. There is no right of appeal in respect of the making of an ASBO or the interim orders made by either court in this case.

(iv) The procedure for stating a case is practically identical as provided for in s.111 of the MCA and regulation 26 of the Crown Court Rules 1982. In short, the aggrieved party has 21 days to apply to the court that made the order to state the case, after which a procedure is set in train to allow that court to consider whether to state a case to the High Court and for the other party or parties to make representations.

10. There is, therefore, no avenue to challenge the decisions of the Magistrates' Court or Crown Court other than to have those courts respectively state the case to the High Court. The Defendant is not aware of any application by the Claimant to the Crown Court to have his case stated. In any event, pursuant to, the Claimant is now time barred from doing so as any such application must be made within 21 days of the order of the court (subject to the Crown Court's power to extend time for applications to state a case as per regulation 26(14) of the Crown Court Rule 1982).

11. Accordingly, the Claimant has:

    (i) Issued a claim in judicial review against the Defendant whereas he is in fact seeking to challenge the decisions of the Highbury Corner Magistrates' Court and the Crown Court at Wood Green. In short, he has issued against the wrong party; and

    (ii) Even if he had issued this claim against the Magistrates' Court and/or the Crown Court, he has used entirely the wrong procedure as he has failed to apply to those lower courts to state his case to the High Court.

12. Accordingly, the claim against the Defendant is unarguable and an abuse of the court's process.

INSUFFICIENTLY PARTICULARISED

13. In his N461 Form, the Claimant states that a Skeleton Argument is to follow. No Skeleton Argument, or any similar document setting out the particulars of the Claimant's case, has been received. As such, the Defendant simply does not know the basis on which the Claimant intends to allege that the decisions of the Crown Court at Wood Green and the Highbury Corner Magistrates' Court were unlawful.

14. The Claim Form is, notwithstanding the explanation provided on its face, in clear breach of the Practice Direction in Part 54 of the CPR at §§5.6-5.8, which provide:

> 5.6 The claim form must include or be accompanied by –
> (1) a detailed statement of the claimant's grounds for bringing the claim for judicial review;
> (2) a statement of the facts relied on;
> (3) any application to extend the time limit for filing the claim form;
> (4) any application for directions.
> 5.7 In addition, the claim form must be accompanied by
> (1) any written evidence in support of the claim or application to extend time;
> (2) a copy of any order that the claimant seeks to have quashed;
> (3) where the claim for judicial review relates to a decision of a court or tribunal, an approved copy of the reasons for reaching that decision;
> (4) copies of any documents on which the claimant proposes to rely;
> (5) copies of any relevant statutory material; and > (6) a list of essential documents for advance reading by the court (with page references to the passages relied on).

c100781_240520171324_001.pdf.pdf

> 5.8 Where it is not possible to file all the above documents, the claimant must indicate which documents have not been filed and the reasons why they are not currently available.
> [emphasis added]

15. For the avoidance of doubt, and if it becomes necessary to do so, the Defendant will submit that the orders of both courts were lawful, as was the process that led to those orders being made. However, in light of the lack of particularity of the claim, the Defendant is simply unable to assist the court with any detailed analysis in response to the grounds of review.

16. As it stands, the claim form is wholly unarticulated and, it follows, is both unarguable and an abuse of the court's process.

CONCLUSION

17. The court is respectfully requested to refuse this claim permission, alternatively, the claim should be dismissed, on the bases set out above.

18. If the matter is to proceed further, it is respectfully submitted that the Crown Court at Wood Green and Highbury Corner Magistrates' Court both be made Interested Parties to this claim.

19. To assist the court, appended to this document are the three orders under challenge and referred to at paragraph 2 above.

20. The Commissioner will seek his costs in responding to this claim. A costs schedule also appended to this this document.

DIRECTIONS ORDER

2. I make this Witness Statement in support of the Claimant's application for an injunction to stop the Defendant from causing intimidation, harassment and alarm to other residents and their visitors on Burncroft Avenue.

3. The Defendant is a secure tenant of the Claimant at 109 Burncroft Avenue, Enfield, Middlesex, EN3 7JQ. His tenancy commenced on 14th August 2006. I hereby attach a bundle of documents relating to this case as exhibit number LN1. A copy of the Defendant's tenancy agreement and terms and conditions are hereby attached at pages 1-24.

4. The reports concerning the Defendant's alleged anti-social behaviour towards his neighbours was first brought to my attention in October 2016 when a case involving the Defendant and one of his neighbours was referred to me for investigation. The Defendant was reported to have caused frequent acts of harassment and anti-social behaviour against an elderly neighbour. The Defendant was arrested by the Police and bailed to a different address. The matter was referred to the Highbury Corner Magistrates' Court on 05 October 2016 where a first hearing took place. The Defendant pleaded not guilty and the trial was fixed for 17 November 2016. However, the trial did not proceed due to insufficient support as the elderly tenant was unable to attend Court due to health reasons. A copy of a letter from the Magistrate Court is attached to this statement at pages 25-26.

5. The Defendant was previously known to the Claimant and an anti-social behaviour order was made on 4 August 2015 by the Magistrates Court to prevent him from knowingly using or supplying property, personal or otherwise, for the use in a rave as defined in s.63(1) of the Criminal Justice Order Act 1994. The order was made for a duration of 5 years. A copy of the Order is at page 27 of the exhibit bundle.

11. I had meetings with Mr. George Quinton, one of the Defendant's neighbours on 16th December 2016 and 11th January 2017. He reported that he was experiencing problems with the Defendant's behaviour, and that on 4th October 2016, the Defendant aggressively banged on his ceiling and accused him of making noise. The Defendant then went to the neighbour's flat upstairs and started kicking and banging on the front door and was swearing and shouting at. him. The Defendant later went downstairs, dragged the neighbour's motorbike from where it was parked and started to hit it with a piece of wood. A file note of the report is at pages 32-34 of the exhibit bundle.

12. On 22nd November 2016, during a telephone conversation with my former colleague Ms. Sarah Fletcher, the Defendant was heard saying to his mother, who was present with him, 'I'm goanna do her over, I'm goanna take her job just for fun' referring to Ms. Fletcher. A file note of the incident is at page 34A of the exhibit bundle.

13. I hereby attach a case history detailing incidents of reports from Mr. Mathiyalagan about the abuse, threats and persistent intimidation by the Defendant. The case history is at pages 35 to 40 of the exhibit bundle LN1. It shows that Mr. Mathiyalagan reported incidents too numerous to set out in this statement about abuse, threats, attempts to extort money and intimidation by the Defendant. Examples are that the Defendant banged on his front door while his wife was alone at home with their young daughter and shouted abuse at his wife and asked her to turn off the bathroom taps. He also removed his electricity fuse thereby cutting off their power supply. Mr. Mathiyalagan reported the incident to the police and was given CAD 5753/23 December 2016. A file note of this incident is at page 37 of the exhibit bundle.

14. Other examples of aggressive and anti-social behaviour reported by Mr. Mathiyalagan were that on 21st January 2017, the Defendant aggressively banged on his door, swore and shouted abuse and threats at him and his family and accused them of making noise.

15. On 9th June 2017, the Defendant attacked Mr. Mathiyalagan's cousin in the communal hallway as he returned from work late at night by grabbing him on the arm and neck thereby causing bruising to his arm and neck. The Defendant also snatched his mobile phone from him as he tried to record the incident.

16. On 16th June 2017, the Defendant confronted Mr. Mathiyalagan's wife as she was exiting the main entrance at 11:55am and said to her that he had her bank and personal details. He also reported that the Defendant told his wife that he wanted her and her husband to pay him some money.

17. On 23rd June 2017, the Defendant came out of his flat with his dog and attacked Mr. Mathiyalagan's cousin as he returned from work at 11:35pm. He reported that the Defendant punched his cousin twice on the chest, tried to push him out of the block and snatched his mobile phone as he tried to record the incident.

18. On 28th June 2017, the Defendant confronted Mr. Mathiyalagan's wife as she was leaving the block at 11:45am, swore at her, shouted abuse and accused her of making noise inside her flat. He said to her that he knows all her personal details and that of her husband including their full names, date of birth, phone numbers and bank details. The Defendant demanded that they pay him some money and asked her to tell Mr. Mathiyalagan to come and see him.

19. On 2nd July 2017, Mr. Mathiyalagan reported that the Defendant confronted him with his dog barking and without a lead as he was going out with his family at

5:18pm and asked him when he was going to hand over the money. He also reported that as they left the block, the Defendant ran after them swearing and shouting abuse and demanded that he must pay him money if he wants him to leave him alone. The Defendant also said to him that he has all their personal details. A report of the incident is at page 40 of the case history.

20. Case history notes exhibited at pages 41-46 show reports of similar aggressive and intimidating behaviour displayed to Mr. Mathiyalagan was being experienced by another tenant who wishes to remain anonymous because of fear of reprisal from the Defendant.

21. Similarly, further case notes exhibited at pages 47-52 show that another tenant who wishes to remain anonymous was being subjected to the Defendant's antisocial behaviour. She had to be moved from the block because of the harassment from the Defendant and because she suffered from mental health problems and was particularly vulnerable and unable to deal with the threats and harassment from the Defendant.

22. On 7th February 2017, the Defendant approached the leaseholder of 117 Bumcroft Avenue and his plumber outside the block as they were attempting to resolve low water pressure issues affecting the flat. The Defendant informed the leaseholder that there were problems between him and his tenants but did not give specific details. The leaseholder explained to the Defendant that his tenants were experiencing low water pressure in their flat and that they were trying to fix the problem. The Defendant said to the leaseholder, "you will not resolve the problem as I am restricting their water supply". The leaseholder later asked the Defendant to increase the water pressure and the Defendant stated, "I cannot do anything at the moment, I will sort it out later". A report of this incident is at page 55 of the exhibit bundle.

flats above his. While inside his flat they noticed that the Defendant have installed a metal security gate inside his front door. It also appeared that the Defendant may have removed the wall between his kitchen and living room thereby creating an open plan living space. A copy of the file note is pages 56-57 of the exhibit bundle.

24. On 8th May 2017, the Claimant's officers, Ms. Fletcher, a Neighbourhood officer who has since left the Council and Mr. Steve Stirk, a Surveyor visited the Defendant's block of flats following reports of low water pressure to flats 109, 113 and 117 Bumcroft Avenue. While the Claimant's officers were outside flat 113, the Defendant came up to them and started to complain about his perceived victimization by his neighbours, the police and the council. While the Defendant was talking to the officers, Mr. Mathiyalagan came down the stairs and the Defendant said to him, "I'm going to the police station now with my evidence about you and I'm going to ruin your life". A file note of this report is exhibited at page 58 of the exhibit bundle and an email from Steve Stirk is at page 59.

25. On 14th May 2017, yet another neighbour who wishes to remain anonymous reported that the Defendant aggressively banged on her door, shouted abuse and threats at her and falsely accused her of making noise and coming into his flat to attack him. The neighbour stated that the Defendant later followed her to her car as she was leaving the block shouting abuse and wanting to know where she was going. The neighbour also reported that the Defendant allowed his dog to roam freely in the communal area of the block without a lead. A file note of the report is at page 60 of the exhibit bundle LN1.

26. On 28th May 2017, the Defendant was issued with a first instance Harassment letter by the police following allegations of harassment and threatening behaviour made to the police by his neighbour. A copy of the letter and the PC's statement are at pages 61-62 of the exhibit bundle LN1.

27. On 12th July 2017, Mr. Neville Gray, the Claimants repairs surveyor attended the Defendant's flat to investigate reports of low water pressure to the flats above the Defendant's flat but the Defendant refused him access. Mr. Neville Gray attended the Defendant's flat again at about 5:39pm following reports from the leaseholder of flat 117 Burncroft House that the water supply had stopped completely, but the Defendant also refused him access. The Defendant later shouted abuse and swear words at Mr. Gray and would not allow him to approach his car. Mr. Gray has provided a witness statement in relation to this incident.

A. The Defendant is in breach of the following conditions of his tenancy agreement;

B. Condition 10 - "You must not act in any way which causes, or is likely to cause, a nuisance or annoyance or is anti-social."

C. Condition 21 - "You must not abuse, harass, make offensive comments and/or malicious allegations, use or threaten to use violence against any of our officers or agents, or against a councillor. This applies at any time and in any place. We may report the matter.to the Police".

D. Condition 31 - "You must take care not to cause damage to your property or the property of your neighbours".

E. Condition 33 - "You must keep the inside of your property clean and in reasonable decorative order".

G. Condition 53 - "You must keep the inside of the property, the fixtures and fittings and glass in the property in good repair during the tenancy"

I have corresponded with the Defendant regarding the reports of anti-social behaviour made against him by his neighbours and invited him to meetings with his mother Lorraine Cordell, but he declined to attend. January 2017 inviting him for a meeting on 9th February 2017, 16th February 2017 for a meeting on 22 February 2016 and 16th March 2017 for a meeting on 22nd March 2017. These letters are exhibited at pages 63-70 of the exhibit bundle.
30.1 have enquired with the Mental Health Team whether the Defendant is currently known to the team and was informed that he is no longer under their care.

35. The Claimant's operatives have had difficulties in accessing the Defendant's flat to inspect the state of the property and the unauthorised works and modifications which the Defendant is purported to have carried out without a written consent from the Claimant. The Claimant has also been unable to check whether the Defendant Is restricting water supply/pressure to the properties above his since December 2016. The Defendant has admitted to restricting the water supply but has refused to allow the Claimant's maintenance operatives access to his property to investigate and rectify the problem.

36. The Defendant has intimidated the residents in the entire block and because of his behaviour, we have received numerous complaints from residents, requests to be transferred from the block and we have had to move a vulnerable tenant from the block.

37. I have made attempts to engage with the Defendant, but he has not been cooperative and has continuously displayed abusive and threatening behaviour towards the Claimant's members of staff and his neighbours. A Notice of Seeking Possession has been served on him and possession action is being considered. However, in the meantime, this injunction is required to ensure that the other residents are not subjected to further intimidation and harassment by the Defendant. This application is being made without notice because if the Defendant were given notice, he would intimidate the witnesses in an attempt to prevent the order being made.

Response to the Judge's Ruling: --
On the 04/08/2015 the District Judge at High bury Comer Magistrates' Court made an antisocial behaviour order, an ASBO, against Simon Cordell. It is a clear fact that the appellant has disputed that the two-part test in section 1(1) of the 1998 Crime and disorder Act has been satisfied correctly in law. He continues to contest his innocents in any Anti-Social Behaviour acts. He states that he was not intentionally or otherwise involved neither was he part responsible for any harassment, alarm or distress that was or is said to have been caused. The prosecution explains that they have belief of some form of direct evidence and a lot of hearsay evidence to obtain a fair guilty verdict against Mr. Simon Cordell, This is not the case as for fact the evidenced in the case is circumstantial and does not give any relevance towards the true on goings of incidents being accused upon the appellant as sighted in the Asbo application, I find it difficult to apprehend because the case as stated in the Asbo application is based solely on hearsay evidence at page number (000) and the rest of my findings below in this official document and therefore question the reliability of the prosecution supported evidence.

When applying the bill of acts of law referring to section 63, illegal raves govern under the raves act 1994.
Any person must be confident that when applying for part (1A part a) “on private Land” “It is a gathering on land of 20 persons who are trespassing on the land” and or part (1A part b) “on private land” “It would be a gathering of a kind mentioned in subsection (1) if it took place on land in open air.”
Part 1A was introduced to include buildings, in laymen terms this would mean that any fixed a bow of residence or private dwelling is private unless trespass is present when introducing buildings into the equation and this means that the key elements to section 63 of the raves bill 1994-part b has not been complied with in this instance.
One would have to argue against the fact being that there is no difference between in private air and in open air and even further have to debate of there being any truth in this not being relevant towards the ongoing of this case.
It has been said that it is obvious that, the organization of large-scale raves does fall within the definition of antisocial behaviour.
Whether within or outside the scope or parameters of section 6(3) of the Criminal Justice and Public Order Act 1994, this would leave any person confused if this were true when hiring out any entertainment equipment in good faith, when any person(s) hiring out entertainment equipment to private homes and therefore putting company owners, home tenants and landlords at risk of being prosecutable for good intentions and liable for other people’s actions when they are not at fault with knowledge or intent, this is to be inclusive of not forgetting that all people living and residing in the United Kingdom should be treated equal and are entitled to their own private party’s which may include the provision of generators, or a generator and sound system equipment.
It has also been said that it is obvious that, the organization of large-scale raves does also fall within the definition of antisocial behaviour, whether on private property or common land and It has been explained that the prosecution take no belief in The appellants defence, what doe’s refer to respect of various properties and occasions to what he described as LASPO notices, which were affixed to fences or doors.
The prosecution have said that the references as to section 144 of the Legal Aid, Sentencing and Punishment of Offenders Act 2012, in our view, “the prosecution view” has no relevance whatsoever to the issues raised by this Asbo case and provides no sort of protection to the occupants of those buildings in the event of antisocial behaviour taking place and they continue to say that the appellant has used it in order to justify an event taking place by describing it as a private party held by the squatters who were occupying the premises and that this is merely a smokescreen and not a defence of any sort whatsoever, the applicant disputes this and states it not to be true and he continues to express that any person should query the accuracy of the truth of this statement as for fact the word in private air was omitted out of the guidelines for making a successful Asbo so for the police to have powers of arrest and to prevent a breach of the peace on and in private land, if a member of the public issues a truthful complaint that can be proved beyond reasonable doubt, then the council and police can work in collaboration with them or that victim(s) and create a successful Asbo application governed under Asbo legal guidance, as seems to not of happened in this case.

It is also questionable whether a gathering of 20 or more people in private air can be classed as a rave as for in private air was never omitted out of the raves bill 1994, giving the people the power to their own freedom of rights when not in the public domain and providing entertainment to themselves or guest.
As noted on page (420 and 000, 000 in the applicant's response bundle) it has also been noted that it is for the police to prove that when dealing with issues of concerns relating to entertainment when in private dwellings it is for them to follow the right line of investigation and in this instance that would have been to find a breach under the licensing act 2003.

The district Judge: --

On the

04/08/2015

The district Judge was in error in her point of law at the hearing of the Asbo application at the trial of the applicant, this is in respect to the licensing act 2003 regarding in private air and in public air as she does not mention profit to which is the only requirement to be restricted as stated in a copy of the court transcripts provided.
Quoted;
District Judge States; "are you aware that music is a licensed activity and believes you need a music license to play music?"
Mr. Simon Cordell states; "I would need a license for both premises."
District Judge States; Yes
Mr. Simon Cordell States; "I would not check if lending equipment to a private party."
What does clearly state as follows;

REGULATED ENTERTAINMENT

'PROVIDED FOR THE PURPOSE OF ENTERTAINMENT'

Venue	Licensable Entertainment	Not Licensable	Special Considerations
Private Homes and Gardens		Private parties and weddings will not be licensable unless the host takes the unusual step of charging the guests to attend with a view to making a profit	Charging simply to recover costs is not licensable
Churches, Synagogues, Mosques, and other places of worship		1. If incidental to, a religious meeting or service 2. Engagement by any faith in worship or any form of religious meeting 3. Rave held in a Church providing no alcohol is sold 4. Classical concerts 5. Singing of hymns or other religious material
Sports Clubs	1. Where there is public admittance 2. If those attending are charged with the aim of making a profit including raising funds for charity	Private events
Music and Dance Studios	1. Studio is being used to provide entertainment to the public 2. People take part in the entertainment 3. A dress rehearsal is provided for the public	1. Performances in a rehearsal studio or broadcasting studio where there is no audience /spectators present 2. A broadcasting studio recording a programme without an audience/spectators

Contained in the licensing act at page Appendix 4 of that act it states; - is not illegal or an offence for any person to provide entertainment in a private back garden or private residence unless they have the intentions to make profit.
We do not accept that a person who helps, organizes or supplies equipment for a rave where there is loud music late at night has obviously done an act in contravention of section I (1) (a) of the 1998 Act, but we do accept that if this was to take place out doors in a public place or not on a private self-contained premises then playing music with 20 or more person(s) may constitute to the legal definition of the word "Rave" being implied.
If there is 20 or more person(s) on private land with dwelling listening to music then trespass must take place and or a breach of the licensing act 2003 to constitute to the word Rave being used.
On 20/08/2015 the Applicant appealed to this court against the making of the Asbo order. Mr. Simon Cordell agrees that he did set out various grounds in support of his appeal in a document entitled "Re Simon Cordell v The Commissioner of Police," which is to be found at page 406 of the appellant's bundle, appeal against the imposition of an ASBO. In the response to judge PARLAKS requested letter dated the 22/02/2016 what is an eight-page document, which is contained at pages 397 to 404 of the appeal bundle.
The ASBO was ordered by the District Judge to last for five years and this did not run conclusive with the two-year time period of the injunction, totalling to seven years.
The Applicant feels that he has continually been supporting evidence to satisfy the court to the criminal standard that the he has not acted in a manner that caused or was likely to cause harassment, alarm or distress on the dates contained within the Asbo application by way of organizing illegal raves under the raves bill 1994 section 63 of that act.
The Applicant understands that the second limb of the test, as the authorities should provide has not been met to the criminal standards of proof needed to obtain a guilty verdict.
It has been said that the fact that an unoccupied or deserted building is taken over by squatters, who treat it or claim to be treating it as their home, is, in our view ("the prosecution view"), irrelevant to the issue of the case in respect to whether an event which takes place at a occupied squat building, be it a so-called rave or not, there is a clear difference between a rave and private party, the case being brought in motion against the appellant is for the organization of illegal "RAVES" the key word being raves, if a rave cannot be proven to have taken place, then there should by law, be no case to answer towards and under the guidance of section 63 (1A OF A and B) the law states that trespass must be present The fact of whether or not antisocial behaviour was created at a private party without no victim bringing charges forward and no witnesses to anti-social behaviour highlights the misjudgement of a guilty verdict Whether or not antisocial behaviour was created by a private party without the organizers intention to cause Anti-Social Behaviour also raises concerns to the guilty verdict Contained in the applicants response bundle in his first opportunity to defend himself against the accusation he faces he created a statement contained in pages (1 to 7) he disputes being the occupier to any of the occupied buildings. The applicant has provided to the police, courts and prosecution a copy of his company hires terms and conditions of hire also contained in his response bundle on pages (253,254,256,) which clearly shows that he lives in a council flat as a secure tenant and therefore would not be occupying a warehouse.
It seems that the prosecution have attempted to explain why they are able to come to the wrong conclusion and quotes the following; "that because the appellant appears to be under the impression, and indeed his mother, who has made various submissions on his behalf in writing in this case, that hearsay evidence is not admissible," in court that would be to say, this would be incorrect to come to that conclusion, as for fact the truth being that the appellant and his mother both have different believes in this point of law, as they have both are not trained to be solicitors and only have a self-trained understanding, as explained in court from the beginning of the proceedings.

The appellant strongly believes that without a solicitor in place he may never be 100% confident of such facts but has the understanding that in the circumstance of hearsay he takes reference to his response in his bundle (page number 420 and as importantly page 421) that states some of the key following elements; Also the capacity the court sits in as for the Asbo proceeding sit in there civil capacity, but the respondent's application states an offence of a criminal nature such as the organization of illegal rave, so for any person to understand what rules the case should really be imposed to so that the Applicant could stand a legal and justified fair trail cannot clearly be established, this is for the reasons as listed below.:-
Magistrates and crown courts have different regulations when the court houses are sitting in a true and fair civil capacity when at trial and appeal. A criminal case as the respondent application clearly states it is, has a different views towards the rules of hearsay, than a civil case does and requires a section 9 or 10 to be educed into the case proceedings, if the section 9 or 10 requirements are not agreed by the Judge, or challenged by any applicant, due to a witness not given oral evidence in court, then the context of their statement holds less weight and may not be read out in court verbally aloud that is to say on its own, by any members of the prosecution and in turn becomes inadmissible in criminal cases. Under civil proceeding where there is no criminal element, then them hearsay rule do not comply and the Civil Evidence Act 1995 will in fact apply, in any ongoing proceedings that are in pursuit of an Anti-social Behaviour Order, the Civil Evidence Act 1995 rules should come into force and will allow the admissibility of hearsay without an exception other than a hearsay notice, because of the clear difference that is allowed in the proceeding of criminal and civil law relating to hearsay and the respondent's case being of a mixture of both laws, this leads me to the understanding that I could not stand, what must be a speedy and fair trial in respect to, The Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR) 1948, the Human Rights Act 1998 (the Act or the HRA) and the European Convention on Human Rights (ECHR) 1953.
It has been said as quoted "that the impact of raves generally can be judged from the appellant's own documents, as he has included a report of a rave in local newspapers at pages (279) and specifically (282) of his bundle at premises in or adjacent to Southbury Road, the so-called MAN Building.
The appellant cannot say whether this did in fact contribute to the legal definition of a rave as he was not present, neither can he say whether or not this was a house party that went wrong and he surely cannot say whether some body was arrested for the organization of illegal raves on this date.
The prosecution states the following: - (Answer 1 of 2) "This is not a rave in which he is alleged to have been involved in, (Answer 2 of 2) and it took place on a date other than the dates relied upon in evidence in this case.
These two statements are also not true to their facts.
(Response 1 of 2) please read the snip lit of the Magistrates transcripts of Inspector Hamill page number (438) of the applicants response bundle and take note to the witness statement, what shows that while under oath he lied to the judge, he done this to gain a guilty verdict because when asked while under oath by my barrister, whether he was sure that all the events contained in the application are in fact progress way or not he replied by stating:-
There was a rave on an adjourning Rd but not on that day.
(Phone calls received were not relating to Crown Rd Rave on that day.
On the day in question phone calls related to this particular rave.

(Progress Way): - so by explaining this to the district judge and the applicant's barrister, he manipulated the truth in knowing that there was an event that took place at Crown Rd on the 08/06/2014 while developing the Asbo so to conceal the true facts in doing this Steve Elsmore deliberately imputed incorrect evidence within the main Asbo application bundle.
At page 278A of the appellant's response bundle there is reference to the MAN Building. This reference does have a huge amount of relevance to the on goings of the Asbo application or Steve Elermore would not have applied them CADS to be present in the Asbo folder, any person can also see that the CADS relating to Crown Road the old man Building, were added as a true smoke screen to aid in deceiving any person of interest into believing that they are in fact Progress Way.
(Response 2 of 2) as can also be cross referenced at the cad page numbers of 164 to 166, 230 to 232, 272 to 275, 276 to 279, 280 to 284, 285 to 289, 290 to 294, 295 to 298, 314 to 316, which is the date an event took place on the 8th of June 2014 what is the same date as the other CADS contained in the same section of the Asbo application relating to Progress Way on the 6th 7th 8TH June 2014 so, for any person to say these are different dates they would be wrong in saying this also, this has clearly been placed in the Asbo to be that of misleading evidence.
The original Asbo application files page numbers have been changed since the prosecution updated their files.
There are seven cad that are not relating to progress way and seven of them are for Crown Road and are believed to have been imputed in the development of the Asbo application to deceive the judge and applicant.
The prosecution since the start of the case have implied that they have witness and them witness do not want to attend court to give evidence so to be questioned by the applicant's barrister on the day of trial, they further explained in a copy of the official court transcripts of the days at trial at Highbury Magistrates court dated and also, in the following: -
3.
But it is a pity of course that none of the people whose sleep in particular was disturbed during this three-day or two-day event felt able to give evidence.
They all wanted anonymity.
They all refused to give evidence,
It has been said that in August 2014
various police officers went to the makers of them cad 999 calls in order to obtain further evidence as to what they had been complaining about.
As I said before, none of the complainants wanted to or have given evidence, but the police took hearsay, as it were, evidence from them by way of more detail as to what had been going on.
All of that is contained in divider 20 of the respondent's bundle and again it paints an entirely convincing picture of what was going on during this rave.

The prosecution state that there is an area of the case where there is some direct evidence which comes from the CADS, which recorded complaints made by various members of the public and that they were given a map of the area around Progress Way. To the disbelieve of logic the prosecution continues to explain: - "that It is quite obvious that the complaints which were made were coming from various roads in a cluster of roads mainly to the south side of the premises where the music was coming from and from this belief, they make this observation" I find it hard extremely difficult to come to the same conclusion with the evidence supporting the distances of location from Progress Way below.

The above table lists some of the locations that are from the CADS giving distance in mileage, the appellant's contention in relation to the 999 calls made to police by members of the public is that those calls, cad numbers are of fabricated evidence.

Either the police have been making calls from different various locations, with one location in particular, "outside of the gates to Progress Way.

The proposition advanced by the appellant, in response to part of his submission to the court is that the material contained in the CADS has been fabricated by police officers.

In the prosecutions view, patently they have explained that this would be absurd behaviour of police officers while on duty, for this reason.

There is such a large volume of material contained in the Asbo application created by Steve Elsmore and other officers that this would require an extraordinary conspiracy on the part of the police to achieve.

In the applicant's defence this is not something that is likely to be impossible and with the proportionality of evidence that the applicant has showed in the balance of justice to be of this nature that is to say corrupt practice of members of the Metropolises Police force Constabulary his statements are more than likely to be 100% correct.

The prosecution also wanted to deal with another theme which they say seems to surfaces repeatedly in the submissions made by or on behalf of the appellant in this case, namely that there are errors in the police national computer record, which was produced at some stage in these proceedings, and continue to say that this "certainly does not and we are totally disinterested in whether he has any previous convictions for any sort of offence." Why has the applicant not adduced and removed cases that when the Asbo application was in development was clearly added incorrectly?

Relating to incident's that can and have been proved to be in error in the defendant's response bundle.

I feel strongly that this does have a huge relevance in the ongoing of this case at present as for sure the prosecution surely understands that a bad character application should have been made under the Criminal Justice Act 2003 and must be submitted to the judge beforehand so for any person(s) copy of their criminal record to be contained within any case files such as the Asbo application, as the case must be met to the criminal standard of law as has not happened here from the start of proceedings.

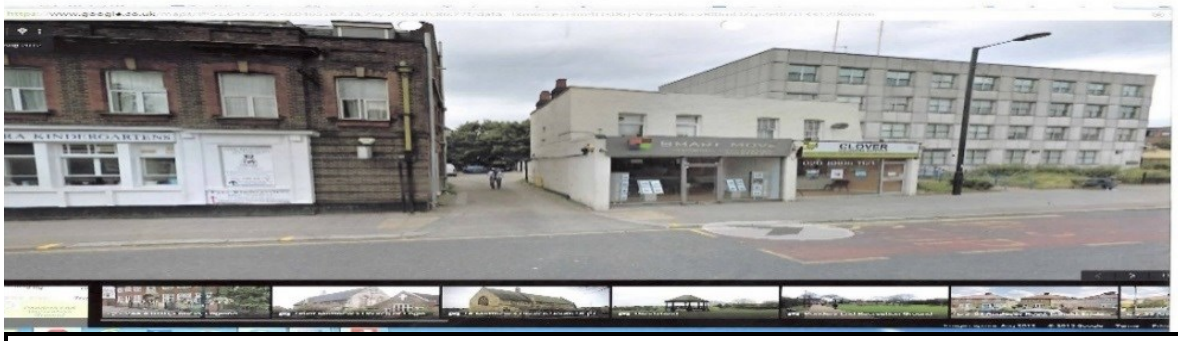
The prosecution also states that they would like to deal with the fact that the applicant has no previous convictions in particular for drug offences and state: "that this seems to be something that he brings up of his concern with no relevance in this Asbo case."

The reasons that the appellant has brought this up is because on the day of trial at the Magistrates court dated 00/00/2014 his barrister put forward a line of investigation to officers involved in the case and asked the following as noted in the court transcripts; - "this is another example of doings put in statements to blacken Mr. Cordell's evidence in statement @ point 12, (No evidence of convictions that of class A drugs) unlike what's written in Statements – another example of untrue cut and paste.

DJ: - Ill ignore that, because there is no convections of class A drugs or supplying present on the criminal record.

The prosecution claim: - that "what matters in this case is whether the respondent has made out the grounds for obtaining the ASBO.

The existence of previous convictions, whether correctly recorded or incorrectly recorded, is, I repeat again, totally irrelevant.



In response the applicant does not feel that the grounds for obtaining an Asbo have been met and a bad character application should have been made under the Criminal Justice Act 2003 in any sense and feels that this wrongfully paints him to be a person of bad character, there is the worry issue that the prosecution claim that on the 07/06/2014 when the applicant was not present at Progress Way that there were suggestions made that antisocial activity, such as the sale and taking of drugs were also taking place this.

The applicant contest that he took no part in any drug related activities.
The appellant would like to confirm that Included in the bundle there is a copy of the transcript of a case heard by way of appeal at Kingston Crown Court, on 05/03/2015 this does appear at page (204 to 000) and it has been given for two reasons and them reasons being as follows; -
This is an example of what the appellant knows to be victimization by the police to his person to prove that he did not act in an Anti-social manner on this date to conclude that this day had nothing to do with the respondent's application for the organization of Illegal raves.
It was a wrongful conviction for no insurance at the Magistrates court against which he appealed, after a police officer gave false information to gain a guilty verdict, this was later proved at crown court on appeal, due to a recording of the police officer setting the appellant up.
It would be correct to say that the prosecution was advanced not on the basis that he was not insured; but that he was not insured for work and therefore he had no insurance and the court allowed the appeal, because the prosecution was not justified. The prosecution relies in particular on certain core incidents, namely the event from 6th to 8th June, the 19th July and 9th to 10th August.
In relation to those occasions and: -
In reference to the 12/01/2013 Canary Wharf
This date in question has been add to the applicants bundle as a reference as to the Limitation Act 1980.
Which states a case must be applied within six months from the date of the incident.
Please take note to the Applicants last statement dated the 24/02/2015; he was in fact taken to the Royal London Hospital.
It was said by his honour himself that a lot of the evidence in this case is circumstantial evidence and while the Asbo was under his observation he took note that particular events or incidents relied on in the case were on more than one occasion or perhaps the case would be hard to reach to the criminal standard of proof.
Judge Palck continues to explain that he partly based his verdict on evidence found at page 153 PC Purcell reports Canary Wharf reporting that they had a rave at Wood Wharf and supplying information relating to vehicles involved in gaining entry and carrying equipment, one of the vehicles was MA57 LDY, a Ford Focus, which was registered to Simon Cordell at 109 Burncroft Avenue, Enfield, Middlesex.
The prosecution state that this evidence simply demonstrates that the applicant's car was there.
The applicant does not dispute that his car was there on this date as can be read in his first statement contained at page number (0000) and he mealy explains that he was there to visit one of the occupiers of many, the occupier who he was meeting was living at this address and that he had an accident and went to hospital not to return to his friend after.
The applicant takes disbelief in the article contained at page 317 and believes this file it to be forged and that Officer Steve Elsmore created it to aid in his own wrongful self-gain.
Officer Steve Elsmore states; that he found in the police Nation Computer: - "a cad refined to an incident report from Canary Wharf relating to this date, 12th January 2013, "Trespassers on site, illegal rave, forced entry, shed 4, police tasked, no action, group left site.

The evidence the applicant put forward in regards to this claim is contained at page (0000) and Page (0000) And this should be very easy to prove as for fact when the applicant was first said to have been served he disputed this fact, as can clearly be seen by the letter of complaint made to the police contained at page (000) His mother in fact hand delivered the folder to Edmonton police station to lost property and collect a receipt contained at page number (000) Contained in this folder first said to have been served by official police officers was an Asbo application which had inside of it some of the following:
1. 4 x Members of the publics witness statements.
4.
Since the on goings of the case have proceeded the prosecutions have allowed for additional information to be made and then sneaked into the application.
The list below has now been included within the Asbo application an additional: -
1. Twelve more members of the publics witness statements."
wrongfully added" and not signed by member of the public.
2.
4.
When the applicant noticed this, he phoned the police and questioned them in regards to why this had happened, he also requested to reclaim the folder that was handed in to the Edmonton police stations lost property room, he received a reply as can be seen in a copy of the audio voice recording transcripts provided in the applicant's response bundle now at page numbers (000) The Asbo bundle that was handed to the police stations lost property has now been stolen and not returned.
Appellant will also state that the police did not exercise any powers under section165A of the Road Traffic Act 1988.
The Appellant will state that his vehicle was not seized under section 64 of the Criminal Procedure and Public Order Act 1994 because this was not an illegal rave as defined under section 63(1).
Mr. Simon Cordell inserts and instates his legal Rights of the Freedom of Movement, as expressed in article 13 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, it quotes; that a citizen of a state in which that Citizen is present has the liberty to travel, reside in, and/ or work in any part of that state where one pleases within the limits of respect for the liberty and rights of others.
At no point of time within the dates that the applicant rests its case upon does the applicant use his vehicle to organize or take part in an illegal rave knowingly.
The Appellant will state that his vehicle was not seized, under Section 62 which provides the power for the police to seize vehicles of persons failing to comply with a direction under s6 1.
The Appellant will state that on (page141 Respondent bundle) the police wrongly entered in an intelligence report that there was no insurance for his vehicle.
2. In reference to the 07th April 2013, Blake's House: --
07/04/2013
= In Steve Elsmore Statement that is dated 11/08/2014 In regards to 07/04/2013
= Please read the Applicants last statement dated the 24/02/2015
he states that he did not attend any premises on this date to rave, Mr. Cordell did not involve himself in the organization of any illegal rave this was his friend's housing estate and was on a Sunday, nor did he supply equipment on said date.

The Applicant will State; “that he was not rude to police, but he did feel like he could not even go out for the day with some of his friends, without getting stopped and searched by members of the police.
It is also noted that the caller was very clear that they saw a flat screen TV being put into Mr. Cordell’s van, which is confusing to why when the police searched the van they found no TV, but did in fact find two of his off-road motor bikes, which is not included in Steve Elsmore statement.
The police did checks on the Applicant Off Road Motor Bikes but this is also not stated, but should show up on the seizer notice, as the Applicant did ask the police office to take careful note of the two off road motor bikes, as due to the high value of them.
Mr. Simon Cordell will state; “that he did get a bit upset when the police said they were going to seize his van, as he did have insurance in place to be able to drive the van in question, but there was an error on the MID database.
Miss Cordell had been trying to help her son resolve the issue concerning his insurance policy not showing on the mid data base alongside with members of their local police force and his insurance company KGM too, together they had tried to work out why the Applicant was showing as uninsured.
There was information noted as intelligence on the police National Computer stating this asking the police to check on their systems due to this, but they would not they just wanted to seize the Applicant van without checking, so he knew he was being wrongfully accused at this point, as he had done nothing wrong and he did have insurance to be driving and had paid a lot of money for his insurance.
He states he did not get upset in the manner that the police have said he did and that he does not mean to come across as rude to police.
In this case he was just trying to explain the error on the system.
In addition, the prosecution offered no evidence in respect of the charges that were brought even though they were reliant on police witnesses.
The Applicant had been wrongfully arrested for not having insurance when he was insured to drive.
He also did not cause any Anti-Social Behaviour on this date in question.
There are no CADS for this date, but yet they were meant to be, a CAD referring to the pacific details that should be relating to a person stating, that they believed a burglary was in progress and that of the 999-caller stating that they had seen a person who was putting a flat screen TV into the Applicant van.

3. In reference to 24th May 2013 police station: --

Please take note to the picture above and that of the building on the far right being the old police station, you cannot see the front vehicle entrance as it is in the far right of the picture and is the only entrance.
The alley way in the middle is where the applicant drove his car down on this date in question and he parked his vehicle, there is no rear entrance to the police station from the ally as there is two other running companies in-between and to the far right is another running company.

24/05/2013 = the prosecution accuses the Applicant of looking for venues to set up an illegal rave.
The Applicant will state; on the 24/05/2013
"That he did not attend any premises on this date to rave neither was he in evolved in the organization of any illegal raves, nor did he supply equipment.
This case was only added as a reference as the limitation Act 1980 which states that a case must be applied 6 months from the date of the incident, to which it was not.
Please read the applicant's last statement dated the 24/02/2015
It is alleged that the Applicant was looking for venues in which illegal raves could be held, the Applicant disputes this.
He states that he had been contacted by a friend called Joshua, who was living at 204 High Street Ponders End EN3 4EZ, also known as the Old Police Station at Ponders End, as he and some others were homeless, so was living and residing under section 144 as the Applicant was driving towards 204 High Street, he drove his car down the alleyway so that he could park the vehicle he was in, He parked between two well-known land marks, Which is where many people who do live in an around the surrounding areas would be able to remember as the old ponders End police station next to the Kinder Garden Centre.
Mr. Cordell states he knows the area very well as this is where he has lived all of his life, so he knew about the car park at the back of the two well-known landmarks, as he states you cannot park on the high road, because of the double yellow lines or other restrictions.
He had parked there before, he states he believes and knows that the police saw his car as he began to take a right turn to be able to drive down to where he intended to stop, he knew the police had followed him, as he had seen them pay attention to himself as he had driven past.
The applicant does remember clearly that of himself locking his vehicle as the police approached him and now was standing by his side.
He states that this is normal for him and over the years of his life he has become use to the police approaching him on numerous accusations this has made him used to their presents.
The Applicant states that the police pulling him over are normal days for him, on this occasion he got ready for the police procedures as they said they wanted to search him and his car because the police believed that the car he was driving smelt strongly of cannabis, the Applicant sates that he always consents to this.
The Applicant is sure of his statements of facts and that the police cannot dispute this, that of the police officers that had approached him and who had stopped him as he had just got out of his car, or how would they have said his car smelt strongly of cannabis, which is the reason that the police officers gave him the conditions of search and their consent form due to a search of himself and that of his vehicle that he was driving.
The Applicant will state; "that he had not done anything wrong and nothing was found on his person or in his car."
The Applicant will dispute making any comments about being able to attract people to illegal raves and illegal three-day events, what reason would he have had to say this.
The Applicant will state that he was a visitor to the location of interest, due to a call from a friend who asked if the Applicant could loan him some money for food.
The Applicant does not know what Joshua said to the police, as he was never with Joshua.
The Applicant does not know why Joshua would have said to the police that he was his lawyer, or if Joshua said this at all to police.
The Applicant has tried to get hold of Joshua to make a statement for this case, but due to him being homeless, it has been very hard.

As far as he is aware the building was being occupied by people to live in, he states he does not know anything Joshua said to police about know any think about a rave.
The Applicant did not manage to visit him on this day.
The prosecution seems to have come to another conclusion wrong also and think that possibly members of the public or at any rate someone reporting to the police that something suspicious was happening at what was the old Ponders End Police Station, a deserted, unoccupied, vacant building.
This is incorrect There was an information report by PC Jackson, which is to be found at pages 118 to 120 in relation to that occasion.
That report indicates at page 119 that on arrival police contained the area and Simon Cordell was seen exiting an alleyway to the side of the police station at the rear of the Kindergarten Centre this does not permit a fair reason for an Anti-Social Behaviour Order.
At no point is the Applicant being accused of acting in an anti-social manner on this date, or by any members of the public inclusive of members of the police, neither was he arrested.

3. Hyde Park

20/04/2014

This applicant was hired out to this event by the organizers and has supported evidence in the form of a confirmation email between himself and the organizers in his response bundle please see page number (000)
He arrived at the sites location as agreed and was turned away by police officers to latter be informed latter by the organizer that the applicant had let him down.

4. In reference to 5 St George's Industrial Estate, Pages 2l3 - pages 98 to 100 created by Steve Hoodless yr. contained within the applicant's first bundle.
It is said that on

the Applicant was involved in the organization of and / or supplied equipment for and or attended an illegal rave at unit 5, St George's Industrial Estate, Whit Heart Lane.
The Applicant states; "that he did not attend any premises on this date to rave neither was he involved in the organization off any raves, nor did he supply equipment for an illegal rave at unit 5, St George's Industrial Estate, White Hart Lane, N17.
It is also noted that on page (98) of the main applicant's bundle) that the report was created on the

for criminal damage, the event date, is noted at:

25/05/2014

but was last updated on the 19/06/2014

why would there be a need to update this report.
In respect of the Applicant presence at Unit 5 St George's Industrial Estate, White Hart Lane on 25/05/2014

25th May 2014

He attended a commercial building that the occupiers were residing in, having displayed section 144 LASPO notices and in turn treating the premises as their home.
Nothing was said to the Applicant about a rave by any of the 20 occupiers.
He states that he was visiting friends and they were just sitting and chatting while having a laugh.
He remembers taking about ways to better life for himself and his friends as well as others.
There was no music being played or about to be set up.

He was not involved in the organization of an illegal rave of any sort and no Acts of the licensing Bill 2013 was being broken.
There is a report from a PC Hoodlass at page 112 of the appellant's bundle which relates to this occasion. A security guard had called the police to the location, and that cad states: - "there were twenty young men and women there, who ran out.
Some people remained inside, claiming to be squatters.
The Applicant state; "that his friend called him earlier in the day and explained to him that they were living at Unit 5 St. Georges Industrial Estate White Hart Lane N17; and that he had gone to meet them, he continues to explain that he did not hear any alarMs. while he was present, nor would he be on any CCTV cameras committing any offence on this date in question.
That he did in fact arrive and had ordered food.
He used his van to travel from his home to where his friends were staying.
The prosecution explains that in the rear of the Transit van contained a set of large speakers and music equipment, but Mr. Cordell insisted he used the equipment for festival work and was not setting up for a rave. He also says, interestingly enough, that the speaker cases that he had in his van were in fact empty.
The other curiosity in relation to his assertions at page 397 is that at page 4 of the same appellant's bundle he accepts that he had two speakers in the van, but not, as he says, a full sound system.
The Applicant states; that he could not have the intentions to "have used the speaker box's to play sound, as they were not operational due to no drivers being present and amps or any other similar need equipment to constitute to a sound system, he did ask the police too note this down, as he was only using the van as storage, this is why the police officers who were in attendance allowed him to leave, while talking to the current occupiers of the premises."
The applicant does accept that he did drive there in his van VRM CX52JRZ, and explains that he was not rude to the police, that he allowed his van to be searched by members of the police and nothing was seized, and he then went home it was also explained by the prosecution that he produced his insurance documents.
Mr. Cordell will state that he did not cause any anti-social behaviour on the 25/05/2014 or any other behaviour that might have caused alarm harm or distress to others."
Since this ASBO application was served on the Applicant, he has moved the speakers out of his van and they are still in the (open air), at his mother's address and are in the back garden still to date, as if in the first day that off when he had taken them out of his van, with no drivers in them because he felt uncomfortable because of the terms of the ASBO application. the Applicant states yes at the time it would have been better to keep them in his van due to the weather, but when he does intend to go for a drive that he does not feel safe any longer travelling with any sound equipment.
The applicant states that it was proven that he did nothing wrong on the date and this is why he was allowed to leave after the CCTV had been checked.
Neither is the applicant sure if the occupiers were still allowed to stay in their current home by the police and he would like to highlight that that the "Police state that they have footage of several suspects causing damage to the security cameras and door locks.
The Applicant will state that was not one of them people.
The prosecution rest there evidence in this instance on speculation such as the quoted: - "At the time the applicant explained that he was delivering food to his friends while visiting them," if the police officers at the location believed this then the applicant should have been arrested but was not in fact the applicant questions why this incident was noted on the police pnc and then was further updated (333) days later, this date of amendment was once the Asbo application was in development then inputted in to it context.

The prosecution persisted that the squatters would not have had time to become squatters or friends who needed food, because they had only just entered the premises.
The applicant proclaims his innocents and is sure that the residents of the occupation were residing at 5 St George's Industrial Estate from the

24th May 2014
In Reference to the 6th 7th 8th JUNE 2014; Progress Way in relation to the Asbo: --
In relation to the 06/07/08th June 2014 Mr. Simon Cordell will state that he was not involved in the organization of and or supplied equipment for and or attended an illegal rave at an empty ware house on Progress way Enfield.
In the prosecutions bundle there are 93 incident numbers relating to the 06th 7th 8th June 2014 that the applicant is being accused of and only 34 complete cad files in the bundle.
The Applicants has requested disclosure so to receive all of the related missing documentation to the missing 59 cads, 999 calls.
This missing information has been requested so that the applicant will be able to defend himself from all accusation creating the bases of the ASBO application.
Around 2:00am on the 08th Mr. Simon Cordell states that he was just arriving at progress way and was said to have been seen by police.
On page 37 A/ Inspector Hamill 01566 states; Saturday the 7th June he was again on duty and that he did in fact see the applicant for the first time, on the 3rd line from the last sentence of his statement.
This is incorrect as this was on the 08th June 2014 at around 200 hours am
CAD 1047 Name PC239YE Shinnick (pages 186 to 190) at 1:59 on 7th June 2014, made a 999 call while on duty outside of the gates of Progress way grid location X, 534380 to Y, 195513 stating that he is a police officer calling the Enfield Patrol Site, call name is of a PC Shinnick, "please allow an officer to call on duty."
When checking all 999 calls cad numbers expected to relate to Progress Way, any person checking would notice that all the 999 calls were made from the same grid reference location that Pc Shinnick made cad 1047 from or from locations to far to have any relevance.
When taking a closer inspection of the rest of the CADS and keeping this knowledge of pc Shinnick making a 999 call from location X, 534380 to Y, 195513 the time of cad 1047 is of a high relevance (cad opening time 1:59 on the 7th June)
Then looking at cad number 1012-page number 155 to 158 with an opening time stamp of 01:53 to 01:56 with the same grid reference number as cad 1047 a X, 534380 to Y, 195513 with this information there is no other options other than three minutes before PC239YE Shinnick made the call creating cad 1047 he made cad 1012 from the same location unless another person was standing on his toes.
This leaves many more concerns as it seems that all 16 residents who lived at wood grange gardens, all so seemed to have left their homes and made their 999 calls for services from the same location grid reference number X, 534380 to Y, 195513 to where pc Shinnick had been standing and made his call for services while on duty.
This is clear corruption that the applicant should never have to suffer for also taking into count that the 16-witness statement are not signed by members of the public.
The first cad contained within the Asbo application in relation to Progress Way is a 999-call made to the Esso petrol station on the other side of the rd. to Progress Way the name of the road in between is named the Great Cambridge Road and has a hedge in the centre of the lanes causing none visibility in see the Esso petrol station from Progress way this is also to include the distance of the alley way about (000) meters in length.

A/Insp Hamill states; "that the officers that he had sent, had reported back that Mr. Simon Cordell and Mr. Tyrone Benjamin were present, and goes on to state that officers were not allowed access into the occupied building, due to the demand during the shift and low policing numbers.
A/Insp Hamill continues to state; them officers in attendance who could not gain entry, somehow managed to see Mr. Simon Cordell and his brother Mr. Tyrone Benjamin earlier in the day.
The applicant states; this is incorrect as he had only arrived to visit a friend, and this was on the 8th at around 2am and that this was his first time at the location of progress way including police contact.
Another true fact of the matter is that of Tyrone Benjamin had a serous Atr and was hospitalized shortly before this date and therefore would not have been able to attended.
Evidence of this is contained in the response bundle at pages (000)
The next call made for to obtain police 999 services is cad:

1012	7 June 14	01:53	01:56	534380,195513	Outside Progress Way Esso	155 to 158

A/Insp Hamill states; "that the officers that he had sent, had reported back that Mr. Simon Cordell and Mr. Tyrone Benjamin were present, and goes on to state that officers were not allowed access into the occupied building, due to the demand during the shift and low policing numbers.
A/Insp Hamill continues to state; them officers in attendance who could not gain entry, somehow managed to see Mr. Simon Cordell and his brother Mr. Tyrone Benjamin earlier in the day.
The applicant states; this is incorrect as he had only arrived to visit a friend, and this was on the
at around 2am and that this was his first time at the location of progress way including police contact.
Another true fact of the matter is that of Tyrone Benjamin had a serous Atr and was hospitalized shortly before this date and therefore would not have been able to attended.
Evidence of this is contained in the response bundle at pages (000)
The next call made for to obtain police 999 services is cad:

1047	7 June 14	01:59	02:03	534380,195513	Inside Progress Way "Pc Shinnick"	186 to 190

This cad clearly stats the same grid location as the majority of the other calls made for services to Progress Way from Pc Shinnick location outside of the gates.
The prosecution state that there is some direct evidence of involvement of the appellant and that this is because Inspector Hamill went to the premises at 2 a.m. on the 07th June with Acting Police Sergeant civilizes and two Environmental Officers and that this evidence relates not only to the loud noise, but also to the involvement of the appellant, because when she arrived, she asked for the event organizer and the event organizer, or a man, came from within the venue.
The applicant does prosiest that he was not the organizer of the event neither was he a residing occupier of the land.
As A/Insp Hamill 01566 states; "at 0200hrs on Sunday the 07th of June 2014 the applicant did in fact arrive,"

This is incorrect and can be understood because of the times he states in his statement and in fact was the 8th of June 2014 Inspector Hamill say in her evidence, "I'd asked for the organizer," and that was who presented himself to her.
No-one else did.
(On page 33) An Insp Hamill 201566 states that she sees the applicant, at the gates but believed that the applicant was coming from inside the premises.
The applicant will state due to the large number of people at the location and due to the time of night causing insufficient lighting source to the alley of Progress Way and the clear fact that he was approaching Progress Way from the great Cambridge Road that the inspectors is mistaken.
A/Insp Hamill 01566 Could not be sure of the fact of the person that she is stating was at the gate did in fact bring Mr. Simon Cordell back to the gate, she does not state that she wrote down or took the name of the person whom is said to have come back with Mr. Cordell.
A/Insp Hamill states: - the person she had asked to find the organizer, said to her that the applicant was in fact the person she had gone to collect. When A/Insp Hamill asked for assistance from the people at the entrance of progress way it seem strange that no police name checks took place and neither that being of any name(s) or personal details of the gate assistances being taken as stranded police procedure, this refusal of signature and response should be noted within the police officers note books that have been requested by the applicant.
He also states that the applicant would not in fact speak to him, so if this was true then why would the applicant have approached him to speak to him as the event organizer and not speak, the truth is that the applicant was just arriving.
This would be proved by a copy of A/Insp Hamill Police note book that has been requested as disclosure.
No police officers did in fact see the applicant, on the 06 + 07/06/2014
06th 7th Jun 2014
because he was not the organizer neither was, he presents on them date mentioned.
The Applicant states: - that he did not talk to any police or council as he felt intimidated on the 8th June 2014 and that he was not given any noise abating order from the local council as seems to have been confirmed on page 34 by A/Insp Hamill 01566 as he was not in fact the organizer.
The prosecution them self's say that Mr. Cordell refused to provide his name and it was explained that without a name the Environmental Officers would not be able to serve the noise abatement notice.
The applicant is also adamant that he never spoke to any official person(s) on this date in question.
To create even further confusion of the prosecution's evidence they continue to state: - "For what it is worth I add in the light of Mr. Johnson's email response to Mr.. Cordell.
I asked him to turn the music down and it was turned down.
So there again is a demonstration the influence which Mr. Cordell had on the event.
The loud noise was, as she said, certainly not Kylie Minogue.
In the applicant's defence this would not have been possible due to the already agreed fact that the Applicant refused to speak to A Insp Hamill inclusive of Mr. Johnson's and co and after being confronted outside of the gates of Progress Way by Police and Environment officer he left for home as can be read in his first statement at page (000)
(On page 33) A Insp Hamill 201566 states that he see Mr. Simon Cordell, at the gates but believed that Mr. Simon Cordell was coming from inside the premises, the applicant contests that due to the large number of people at the location and due to the true facts contained in his first statement that the only possibility is inspectors is mistaken or being deceitful.

The applicant remembers clearly, that of the police approaching him, as he was walking towards the gates, when he was arriving from the Great Cambridge Road, and that of the police asking him questions in regards to illegal raves.
A Inspector Hamill states that he ask Mr. Simon Cordell his name and that he gave him a reply, such as to the answer of "yes" verbally and then An Inspector Hamill states that he asked Mr. Cordell the same question again but Mr. Cordell would not reply, (chapter one of An Inspector Hamill statement page 33 the 5th line down;)
An Inspector Hamill states then states the 3rd time when Mr. Simon Cordell was asked again, but this time by the council officers with inspector Hamill present his name, that he would not reply again.
The applicant did not speak to anybody, he just listened to what was being said to him and complied when he was asked to walk back to where he had just parked his vehicle.
The police officer is incorrect in saying that Mr. Cordell was the person that the gate assistant went and collected, as the event organizer, as Mr. Simon Cordell was in fact approaching the occupied building and was visiting his friend.
He did state this in his first statement dated 24/02/2015
24th/02/2015
Mr. Cordell does remember the police trying to speak to him and that he felt that the police was accusing him of being an organizer, to which he was not, so he would not to say any think, without a solicitor being present.
The Police and council let the applicant go and he walked across the road to the petrol station, while waiting for his friend to turn up, which he had to give a set of keys back too.
The prosecution rests the bases of their case with undignified evidence also in written form from Police Sergeant Chiles Miles in relation to 07/07/2014 That's to be found at page 36, a report at page 109 of the Asbo bundle, which goes on till page 111, the applicant was not present on the 07th June 2014 neither was the appellant the organizer to this event.
The evidence from Sergeant Skinner, who attended Progress Way at 11 a.m. on 07th June and quoted the following: -
He said that loud music was coming from the area.
This is not evidence of the appellants involvement for the accusations that he faces and to conclude the fact he was not present at progress way on the 07/07/2014 but did attend on the 08/06/2014 at around 2am.
There is evidence also contained in the applicant's response bundle which clearly proves that he was not the organizer to this event
To name one at page 23, that on 7th June he and his mother were at a party for a Dwayne Edwards, who was going abroad.
The defendant does not dispute that he attended to the site of Progress Way on the 08/07/2014 but is adamant that he was not present on the 06th and 7th of June 2014 and with this said in his defence that it clearly shows that he was not the organizer as to the lack of his presence and diligence towards the ongoing on the days in mention. This is even further straightened by the additional supported evidence of a Jamie Duffy at page 260 of the appellant's response bundle
At Alma Road on Thursday 24/07/2014 The true accuracies that did take place at Alma Road on the 24th July 2014 have been referred to in the appellant's documents at page 6 and page 400 of his bundle.

At page 400 in relation to Alma Road, 24/07/2014 he disputes the conversation with PC Edgoose regarding raves, but did discuss with him his entertainment company and his dream of hosting a local festival at Pickets Lock for the benefit of the community.
The prosecution state: - "Quite frankly, all of this is no more than boasting on the part of the appellant and, even if he said all that PC Edgoose recorded - and there is no reason to suppose that he didn't – again it is quite possible that he was saying this to PC Edgoose just to wind him up. We ignore this evidence as, in our view, it amounts to nothing."
The prosecution referred the courts to PC Edgoose evidence, which was unable to attended court, which is to be found at page 48 of the respondent's bundle. In that statement he records that he and other officers had stopped the appellant's Ford Focus, MA57 LOY, due to the manner of driving.
Were Officer Pc Edgoose States; "On Thursday 24/07/2014 I was on duty in plain clothes as operator of an unmarked police vehicle in company with APS 212YE Martin, PC Robertson, and PC 229YE O'NEILL.
At around 16:25 hours on Alma Road EN3, we had cause to stop a silver Ford Focus VRM MA57LDY due to the manner of its driving.
The driver was a male I know to be Simon Cordell dob21/01/1981.
The applicant states that he has no disputes with reference to statement made by pc Edgoose above, apart from the manner to which Mr. Simon Cordell is being accused of driving and that at no point was he acting in an Anti-Social Manner.
Officer Pc Edgoose stated that: - the applicant had stated that he is staying out of trouble and that he has not caused any offence since he was much younger; and that he just gets pulled over and accused and harassed by members of the metropolitan police a lot.
Officer Pc Edgoose States; He stated that he has four brand new speakers at home which are suitable for use at raves, but he does not use them and has offered to lend them to any "youngsters" to use also that he had been on curfew for one year for a case he proved his innocents in and had been working hard in his Local community trying to make a positive effect towards himself and other that he could help, so he had been spending his time building his company and would not link himself to illegal raves,
Mr. Simon Cordell did say he had been getting his equipment ready and proposals for pickets lock including barley lands ready and had been in contact with both venues and that he had also been working at his local community hall as well as Muswell Hill festival ponders end festival lock to lock festival and Enfield town festival and would have been talking about such on goings that he had been working on that he was prod of at the time such as working with the youngsters from Kemp Hall Community Hall.
Officer Pc Edgoose States; "he said he gets inundated with requests to run raves all the time, but he doesn't get involved now. He claims to have 20,000 followers on one social media site, and 70,000 on another. He said he could organize a rave and get 20,000 people at it with no problems whatsoever.
On this day the applicant did not use the word Rave on this day so he does not see how this relates to the true conversation on the day or his activities as he was talking about the hard work, he had been committing himself to, constrictive legal work and for the term Rave to be used without the key elements it is an injustice."
Officer Pc Edgoose States; He gets requests from anarchist type groups to run raves for them.
He went on to say that he had been asked by Occupy London, Black Block and other anarchist type groups to run a rave at Noting Hill Carnival for them so that they could cause carnage and mayhem, but he had refused.
Mr. Simon Cordell states; "that he disputes" that he would say this as he knows that he is not black neither is he white and this is for the reason that he is mixed race of British Nationality and that he has neither heard of a group called Black Block, neither would he promote verbally of such a group the same as he would not verbally promote such anarchist type groups such as the kkk because he has been created by both.

Officer Pc Edgoose States; “Whilst on public order duty at Notting Hill Carnival Officer Pc Edgoose States that he saw Mr. Cordell walking through the area as he was deployed around Tavi Stock Road.
He was pushing a wheelie bin, and he was approached by members of a group of around 10 - 20 people who had been waiting at a junction near our location.
This group had been playing drum and bass music and had told officers they were heading to an event but were awaiting the location.
It was somewhere between 2200 and 2300 hours when I had seen the group, and Mr. Cordell.
The applicant is confident that at no point did he cause any Anti-Social Behaviours or Alarm harm or distress on the dates in question.
On the 20/-21/06/2014 at 1 Falcon Park, Neasden Lane, N W l 0.
On this occasion the defendant's vehicle, CX52 JRZ was seized. He was not there himself, but at page 399 of the appellant's bundle he agrees he provided sound systems for the event. The sound system was seized, but on some subsequent date after it was returned to him. At page 5 of his bundle, he states that he agreed to hire out a sound system for a party, although he asserts that he did not know that it was a rave.
On 19/07/2014 at the Carpet right showroom off the A l O
Doglas Skinner made his official Statement on the dated of the 15/08/2014 this first statement totalled to a full 29 days after the 7th June and has made additions to his statements 3 months 4 days after. In total 4 month 5 days a total of 70 days after said incident, why would there be such a need.
The applicant contends in relation to this event at page 6 that he did not attend the occupied premises to rave. In fact, he pulled over because he sees a friend being detained outside carpet right and at this time he had been helping with food and washing clothes with a lot of homeless people in and around London.” At page 400 he says that he never entered the premises.
At the time of 22:21 page 307 cad 10635 police states: - occupiers have placed a section 144 up.
At 22:50 page number 309 police state that they had arrested the organizer and at 23:18 page 310 police requested space for that detainee.
Then on page 310 at time 03:50 INSP skinner arrested outside on his arrival Mr. Simon Cordell releasing the true organizer to the applicants understanding a Mr. Antony Haris as noted in Mr. Moses howl statement contained at page (000) of the applicant’s response bundle, whom was on bail condition set by police for the organization of illegal raves. The sad death of the deceased Mr. Andrew Rio”
Skinner states: “That he sent officers to the scene to stop any one else gaining entry to the premises at the time of(22:07) ”This was the 1st set of officers sent to the old carpet right 198 Great Cambridge Road Enfield Town Enl LUJ, after the first police officers arrival pc Doglas Skinner at the time of (22:10) Made his way to the scene and the Doglas Skinner states: “There was a metal gate across the entry to the car park but this had a thick chain and a padlock around it so that it could not be opened.
At no point had the applicant been to this location before, neither did he put any lock, chain or padlock on any gate and at no point did he instruct any other person to do so and that on his arrival seven hours after police arrival he was not allowed access onto the occupied site because when he approached carpet right the police had it contained stopping access to any person(s) other than police officers gaining entry.

"Please take note to pc Doglas Skinner statement paragraph two dated 15/08/2014 1st line down page 36 of the applicants first bundle, Doglas Skinner states: I saw a male I knew to be Simon Cordell who came out of the building.
Now please take note to witness statement Doglas Skinner dated 15/08/2014 paragraph three, 1st line page 36
"Outside Carpet right I spoke to Cordell.
The prosecution state that police went there and Sergeant Skinner also dealt with this and arrived at the time of 2210hrs. There had been a 999 call that people were setting up a rave in the Carpet right building
(The time of the 999 call was 22:11pm) and the CAD number of the call that came in referred to in his statement to 20 people pulling into an estate, the caller states 20 males and females all white people.
The appellant is mixed race in colour otherwise known as an ic3 male and at no point was he one of the 20 white females or males referred to.
If the building had not been occupied under section 144 LASPO and being lived in as a place of residence the 20 people seen and contained in the premises then would have been arrested for trespassing or burglary and was not in fact arrested as they were all de released.
The prosecution in their own words explain that: - “the defendant was not there, but there was a Mr. Laidler who was there.
The music system was loaded into a vehicle which does not belong to the appellant, PE52 UHW.”
The applicant state; “that he was arrested outside the old carpet right and had taking no part in any activity that happened in the premises of the old carpet right 198 Great Cambridge Road Enfield Town Enl Luj.
At no point was the appellant one of the people or vans referred to on the land of carpet right or was he attending a rave, neither was he acting in an Anti-Social Manner in reference to pages 295 to 296 of the Asbo applicants bundle and to prove this even further, all of the address that are listed in the CAD at pages (000), with the names of the people occupying carpet right and the DVLA records of the vehicles of the white females and males the 999 callers had spoken about.
At page 258 the applicant has adduced a statement of a Mr. Moses Howe, who is the director of Every Decibel Matters, in which Mr. Moses Howe asserts that he had hired out his sound system to the people who were living at the old Carpet right Showroom.
It is not the applicant that brings the case into motion against himself and therefore it is for the prosecution to prove the applicant guilty beyond reasonable dought and it is them who should have to follow all lines of investigation to obtained Mr. Moses Howe to supply evidence otherwise to prove the applicant’s statement or suggested statement fraudulent evidence, of the company director of Every Decibel Matters.
His company is registered at company house as are his personal details.
"At no point did the applicant go on the land or in the premises, as stated by Doglas skinner;” “the police had contained all occupiers and sound system and vehicles on the land and in the premises hours before his arrival as the time stamps clearly proves by the start and time of Mr. Simon Cordell’s detention as well as having police officers being at the front gates stopping people gaining entry to the premises.

Doglas Skinner explained to the applicant that he was holding him responsible, Him referring to Simon Cordell."
The applicant should not have been held responsible under these circumstances for any offence that he has been accused of and as a result not committed.
He was not involved in organizing or hiring out of any equipment on the

Mr. Simon Cordell was arrested and detained, he continued to try and state his points that he had nothing to do with the event and also stated that it was unjustified that he had been detained and only himself.
As stated in the statement provided by police officers stating that people were detained in the land and building six hours before he had arrived.
Doglas Skinner stats that the main organizer was spoken to by police and that the applicant was that person this is not correct.
Doglas Skinner states; "It is said that Mr. Simon Cordell admitted to police that he was an organizing to the party and said he was expecting several hundred people."
Mr. Simon Cordell will state; "that this is not correct as stated the keys were found on the premises and he never was on the premises, Mr. Simon Cordell will state that he was arrested outside on the pavement as shown in Inspector Douglas Skinner statement and that he could not have left the premises as said by Inspector Douglas Skinner the police had secured the premises 7 hours before he had arrived."
Doglas Skinner states; "As a result the people inside the venue all left."
Mr. Simon Cordell will state; "that he feels this shows the way he has been treated over the years and discriminated by police. He states that the facts are the police had secured the premises, they had a sound system contained in the premises, and occupiers on the land, one of these people was arrested then de arrested (Mr. Simon Cordell will state that he has found this out since he has contacted the director at company house of every decibel matter, who has provided a statement as he was one of the people detained inside the premises, by the police to then latter be released.)
It is the prosecution's case that whilst Mr. Sergeant Skinner was dealing with Cordell, police were told that crowds were gathering outside Southbury Road Train Station waiting to be told where the rave was and that there is a CAD which relates to the disturbance at the railway station where people were gathering in order to receive further instructions.
That is at page 315 This intelligence could not be correct because the applicant was not at carpet right from the first 999 cad call Page 303 with a time stamp of (22:07) he arrived at 03:50 when he first arrives and INSP skinner arrested him on his arrival.
The time of the cad relating to people arriving at the train station was at (23:44) page number 214 a total of four and six minutes earlier.

It was wrong for the appellant to be detained on the 8th June 2014 by members of the metropolitan police force, without charge or interview and an even further misplace of justice that he has had an Asbo application put against him with un reliable evidence as he was outside and arrested for an incorrect reason."
The applicant does not know who a Mr. Laidler is, so does not understand why any person who does not know him would say otherwise to Sergeant Skinner as he would not know his name and would have no reason to say so.
The
02/07/2014
02nd July 2014
is the next event at Millmarsh Lane, Enfield?
What is noteworthy about this event is that there was a stack of speakers at the event which were powered by the appellant 's van, which he was also seen to drive.
His assertion was that this was a twentieth birthday party.
At page 401 he asserted that he was there as a guest.
It was a private house party.
On page 7 of his bundle, he asserted this was a twentieth birthday party.
I did not have a sound system.
There was no event.
The owners of the equipment were the occupiers.
I had no hand in it.
In the respondent's bundle at page 83 there is a report relation to this incident.
The police had received information that a rave would be taking place that evening and it appeared to be on a piece of land between Gregg's factory and Pugh Charles Glass.
The police were let in and, on open land; there was a stack of speakers being powered by a van belonging to Simon Cordell.
The police saw the van drive out with Simon Cordell driving it.
In reference to the ADR bill relating to the carriage of dangerous goods; it is not against the law to carry nitro's oxide or any co2 gas when having the correct signage on the vehicle transporting the cylinders.
Again, we are satisfied so as to be sure that Mr. Cordell was involved in the organization of what clearly was a rave or to be a rave.
The final date relevant to this case relates to an event again at Millmarsh Lane, next to the Gregg's factory.
This is another event which was nipped in the bud, but then followed by general disorder, which took the police about three hours to clear.
The appellant was on the gate.
His Ford Focus, MA57 LOY, was there.
Inside the Ford Focus there were three nitrous oxide canisters.
There was a sound system there.
In relation to that event, we had evidence from Officer King, who went on 9th August to Millmarsh Lane, because intelligence had been received, probably in the form of adve1tisements by Every Decibel Matters. He went there with Sergeant Ames, whose evidence we also had given to us. When they arrived in uniform and in a marked police car, the gate suddenly closed. "The music was audible, but not what I would expect," he said, "coming from a plot of land.
I saw Simon Cordell, whom I'd seen at another event.
He was only a few feet behind the gate.
He expressed concern, Simon Cordell, that the squatters would be evicted and I reassured him that we would not be doing so.

He then showed me around the site.
Once I'd seen a rave had not started, I took the decision I could close it down.
He tried to convince me it wasn't a rave, that it was a birthday party, or a conference.
He then in his evidence refers to the three large, industrial-sized gas cylinders containing nitrous oxide.
At page 7 of the appellant's bundle, he refers to that as "three empty C02 gas canisters I had in my vehicle.
At page 401 he describes this as a private house party.
At page 258, again there is a statement from the same Moses Howe asserting that he had hired out "my sound system" to a party.
In fact, said Officer King, the people on the premises became agitated and aggressive - rather, the people who came to the premises were agitated and aggressive.
There were shouts of, "Let's storm them.
Let's get in.
These were the people who were coming to the rave.
The evidence of this officer is that Simon D Cordell, who was initially inside, shouted out, "Come on.
There's more of you than there is of them," encouraging those who were outside to in fact storm the premises.
This was quite a major incident in the end and, despite limited resources, the officer called for the Senatorial Support Group to attend and for dog units to attend, which they did.
In the event, thirty to forty officers turned up and he said that they were able ultimately to push the attendees, hopeful of attending the rave, back to the railway station, or back on to trains.
Mr. Ames, another police officer, gave evidence in relation to that.
He said that he had dealt with Simon Cordell a number of times before.
Simon Cordell was trying to say we couldn't shut his rave down and he started arguing the toss as to what is a rave and what isn't a rave, but eventually he decided whether we would be allowed access and he gave the orders and everyone seemed to respond to what he told them to do.
All of that evidence we accept.
We have endeavoured to test it by reference to the appellant's bundle and his assertion as to what he says was in fact going on.
We have rejected his explanations as advanced in his documents, mindful of the fact that he has not been here as a matter of his own choice to present his case to this court.
Having been satisfied so as to be sure of the first part of the test, the second part of the test is whether an order is necessary to protect relevant persons from further antisocial acts by Mr. Cordell.
That is the ASBO notice, which was made by the District Judge and which is to be found at page 13 of the respondent's bundle.
We have concluded that the making of the antisocial behaviour order was necessary and our only concern is as to the language of the antisocial behaviour order as to the prohibitions contained in it.
Now, so far as the following are concerned there can be no objection to them.
They do not in any way interfere with the running of a business supplying sound equipment by Mr. Cordell, or generators, to organizations that wish to hold licensed or legitimate events. These are as follows: (b) being concerned in the organization of a rave, as defined by section 63(1) of the Criminal Justice and Public Order Act 1994; (c) knowingly using or supplying property, personal or otherwise, for use in a rave as defined in section 63(1) of the Criminal Justice and Public Order Act 1 994; (d) entering or remaining in any disused or abandoned building unless invited to do so in writing by a registered charitable organization or local authority.

Unless some charitable organization or local authority is planning some event and he is invited to help in the organization of it, there is no reason why he or indeed anyone else should be inside a disused or abandoned building.
The caveat that one might impose there in relation to that - and this is for discussion after hearing submissions from Counsel for the Respondent: - is whether that should say a commercial factory or some other qualification of the word “building," because otherwise this could also relate to residential property.
If it remains as it is, the appellant would not be able to enter a disused or abandoned residential property unless invited to do so in writing by a registered charitable organization or local authority.
So, it might be necessary to widen the scope of the potential investors.
Enter or remain on non-residential private property on an industrial estate between the hours of 10 p.m. and 7 a.m. without written permission from the owner and/or leaseholder of the property.
This does require some qualification and more than what was originally ordered, because, as the appellant himself rightly said when he was here on the first day of the appeal, or his mother may have said, and has been said on his behalf on previous occasions, this provision would prevent him from, for example, taking petrol or diesel from a service station which is on an industrial estate, or indeed going to an a11-night food supplier, or alcohol suppliers, for example such as McDonald 's, who may be open all through the night.
So, it requires more attention.
Then, finally, (f), engage in any licensable activity in any unlicensed premises.
Self-evidently, that is appropriate and there is nothing wrong with that.
Finally, the antisocial behaviour order provides, for the sake of clarity, nothing in this order prevents the defendant from assisting, preparing or engaging in licensed/licensable activities and it's obvious that that, as we have already said, is what the situation is to be.
There are amendments which were proposed by the respondent to this order.
At paragraph 21 of the respondent's skeleton argument the amendment which the respondent seeks is that the words "or section 63(lA)" be added after the words "63(1)" in prohibitions (a), (b) and (c) of the ASBO.
Speaking for myself, I can see no reason why that should not be done.
As the skeleton rightly points out, the terms of the ASBO need to be necessary and propionate, so that they have minimal impact on the appellant’s life and legitimate business activities.
So, I would now invite submissions by Counsel for the Respondent: as to what changes should be made to the antisocial behaviour order and then we will retire in order to address that in discussion.
(There followed further submissions) (The Bench retired)
JUDGE PAWLAK: We have to have regard to the order being necessary to protect relevant persons and we have discussed it extensively.
I 'm afraid our conclusion is that (a) should go altogether, (b) obviously becomes (a) and that can stand as it is, subject to adding the amendment that you wanted to again subject to the amendment, can stand as it is.
Enter or remain in any disused or abandoned building unless invited to do so in writing by a registered charitable organization or local authority, "or the owners of the property" should be added, or the owners of the property.
Enter or remain on non-residential private property on an industrial estate between the hours of 10 p.m. and 7 a.m. without written permission from the owner and/or leaseholder of the property, unless the purpose of his entry on such property is to purchase goods or services from any shop or garage premises which are open to the public at such times.

Then (f): we don't like "engage in.
It's a very broad, meaningless word, so we would like to change it to "provide any service in respect of any licensable activity in unlicensed premises.
It's more specific.
Engage" is such a nebulous word.
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: Yes, your Honour.
JUDGE PAWLAK: You wouldn't be able to prove a breach probably, because the court would say --- COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: Lack of clarity, yes. Your Honour, may I just address you? You've made you r decision. I don't seek to try to --- JUDG E PAWLAK: Go behind it, yes.
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: Seek you to make it again. Just in respect of the amendment to (e), "Unless the purpose of his entry on such property," can I make two submissions as to that?
JUDGE PAWLAK: Yes.

COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: The first is as to the word "services.
I don't think there was ever any suggestion that he would need a service; it would be goods.
Also ---
JUDGE PAWLAK: What if his car has broken down?
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: Yes, okay.
The second submission I would make is in respect of that is "garage premises" is perhaps again a little undefined.
If it's petrol station, then that's one thing, but garage premises is much wider than that.
JUDGE PAWLAK: I think we all know what a garage is and it has to be open and providing a service. If you like, "garage or petrol, shop or garage or petrol premises," but I don't see why "garage" should come out, "shop or garage or petrol premises.
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: The only other submission I would make in respect of (e) --- JUDGE PAWLAK: Actually, we ought to change it to "fuel.
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: Yes, in case he drives a diesel.
The only other submission I would make in respect of (e) ---
JUDGE PAWLAK: Can we say "shop or garage or fuel supplying premises."
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: In terms of its practicability, I would submit this perhaps gives Mr. Cordell an ace in the hole if this were ever to come up again and he says, "Oh, no, no, no, I was just on this estate because three hundred yards that way is a corner shop that happens to be open.
JUDGE PAWLAK: Well, no-one would believe him.
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: You're Honour, yes, that may well be the case, but in terms again of the practicability of the order, if every time he had an open-ended excuse such as that we'd have to go to comment and it would have to be proven, he would offer this excuse.
I wonder whether it is necessary to give him such a wide and open-ended opportunity.
JUDGE PAWLAK: He would have to find an industrial estate which, between 10 p.m. and 7 a.m., has a shop or a garage or a petrol station open.
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: Yes, but, as I said earlier, your Honour, Mr. Cordell is a clever man and so, were he to find one, set up a rave at one corner and his excuse was, "No, I'm just passing through.

I'm going to the other corner to buy a burger," then that is an excuse which would plainly undermine the efficacy of the order.
That's my concern.
JUDGE PAWLAK: It might be true.
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: It might be, your Honour, but then one has to balance, in my submission, the -JUDGE PAWLAK: The purpose of providing this let-out is so that his ordinary life, his permissible life, is not inhibited unreasonably.
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: Your Honour, quiet, but that does not necessarily mean that every potential, hypothetical scenario might have to be catered for by the terms of the order. An ASBO will by definition restrict someone's rights often.
JUDGE PAWLAK: Yes, I can see that.
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: It will restrict their rights under Article 8, or whatever it might be, but that doesn't make it inappropriate or unnecessary. I would submit that --- JUDGE PAWLAK: Well, what about "unless he can demonstrate that the purpose of his entry on such property is to purchase goods or services"?
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: That's certainly tighter, you're Honour. My primary submission still stands.
JUDGE PAWLAK: Yes.
A MEMBER OF THE BENCH: Well, it does contain the two elements, "enter" and "remain."
JUDGE PAWLAK: Yes.
A MEMBER OF THE BENCH: Maybe they should be separated out if the issue is whether he's going to remain there.
JUDGE PAWLAK: Yes.
A MEMBER OF THE BENCH: You can enter for the purpose of purchasing, but you cannot remain there for an extended period of time.
JUDGE PAWLAK: Right.
Actually, what is the point of "remain"? It's "enter," A isn't it?
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: Well, you put "enter" and "remain" to belt and brace it.
Sometimes you only see him when he's there.
JUDGE PAWLAK: I know, but in fact it's suggesting that he could remain there.
Enter or be present on.
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: Yes.
JUDGE PAWLAK: Is that better?
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: I' m not sure, your Honour.
Your learned colleague was suggesting breaking I t down, so that you have him entering solely for the purpose, demonstrably the purpose, of X, Y or Z.
JUDGE PAWLAK: Yes.
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: And remaining for no longer than.
In any event, he shall remain on for no longer than a period of time.
That. perhaps would deal with it. One doesn't need more than fifteen minutes to buy a burger or fill up your car.
JUDGE PAWLAK: Look, can I ask you - we agree with that.
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: Yes.
JUDGE PAWLAK: Could' I ask you to draw up the antisocial behaviour order in the way that we've accepted it or indicated it should be drawn and to provide a copy for me tomorrow?
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: Yes.

JUDGE PAWLAK: I'll check it to make sure that it fits in with what we have agreed and assume that, if it does, I can then tell the court to seal it.
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPON DENT: Yes, your Honour
PAWLAK: Is that alright?
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: Yes, your Honour. Can I get an email address to send it to, please?
JUDGE PAWLAK: Yes, the comic clerk will give you an email address.
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: Yes. I can do that this evening or tomorrow morning.
JUDGE PAWLAK: I don't want to give you mine.
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: No of course
JUDGE PAWLAK: Because if Mr. Cordell gets mine somehow, then gets my address and l start receiving post
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: Yes, your Honour.
I'11 have that done for you.
JUDGE PAWLAK: Yes.
Is there anything else?
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPON DENT: Nothing further, your Honour, thank you JUDGE PAWLAK: Nothing at all?
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: No.
He is legally aided and there is no other issue that we would seek to bring to the court's attention.
Thank you for your patience and your colleagues.
JUDGE PAWLAK: Not at all.
I 'm going to stay here to tidy up.
You're free to go; as is everyone else.
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: Your Honour, I do apologies. There was one other issue.
JUDGE PAWLAK: Yes.
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPON DENT: In fairness to Mr. Cordell, he raises the question of the duration of the order as well.
JUDGE PAWLAK: We have discussed this and our conclusion was that, since the order is non-restrictive except for the sort of activities he ought not to be undertaking anyway, we thought five years was acceptable. COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: I'm grateful.
JUDGE PAWLAK: We did discuss it.
COUNSEL FOR THE RESPONDENT: Yes.

DIRECTIONS ORDER

. I make this Witness Statement in support of the Claimant's application for an injunction to stop the Defendant from causing Intimidation, harassment to me and other residents.

BACKGROUND

. The problem with the Defendant started a few months after we moved into the property, after the Defendant approached me asking me to write a letter of support in relation to a problem, he was having with the lady that used to live at Flat 113 Bumcroft Avenue. I refused to write the letter and told the Defendant that I do not want to get involved as I did not have any problems with the lady. Since then the Defendant has made living in this block difficult for me and my family. He has been very aggressive to my family and I and has continuously intimidated, threatened and harassed my wife, cousin and me.

. The Defendant have repeatedly accused us of making noise inside our flat even though our flat is situated two floors above his and the person living directly below us have never complained to us about noise. He has shouted abuse at us, damaged our properties and aggressively demanded money from me. My family and I are constantly living in fear and my wife are frightened to stay at home and has had to accompany me to work on several occasions and stayed in the car with our young daughter until I finish work.

. The Defendant has slashed my car tyres, damaged my fuse box and has physically threatened to hit me with a piece of wood. He has a big dog that he brings out with him without a lead when he approaches us, and he has used the dog to intimidate us. He also allows the dog to bark and run freely inside the communal hallway and staircase without a lead. I have reported

The Defendant then attacked my cousin by punching him twice on the chest and tried to push my cousin out of the block. The Defendant snatched my cousin's mobile phone as he tried to record the incident, but he managed to get the phone back. My wife heard the commotion and woke me up and as we came out of my flat shouting at my cousin and wanting to know what was happening, the Defendant went back into his flat. We then called the police, they attended, and we explained what happened. The police then went and knocked on the Defendant's door, but he refused to let them in.

19. On 28th June 2017 at 11:45am, the Defendant confronted my wife outside the main entrance door as she was going to pick up our daughter from school and demanded to talk to her. My wife told him that she cannot stop to speak with him as she was on her way to collect her daughter from school, but the Defendant ran after my wife, stood in front of her and started to shout at her. The Defendant told my wife that he knows all our personal details including our full names, date of birth and bank details. The Defendant demanded that we should pay him some money and that my wife should tell me to come and talk to him. The Defendant also accused my wife of making noises inside our flat.

20. On 30th June 2017 at 11:45am, the Defendant confronted my wife as she was leaving the block to go and pick up our daughter from school and accused her of slamming the door. My wife denied slamming the door and the Defendant called her a liar and proceeded to swear and shout abuse at her.

21. On 2nd July 2017 at 5:18pm, my family and I was going out to visit some friends and as we were about to exit the block, the Defendant popped his head out of his front door and asked me when I was going to hand over the money to him. I told him that I was not going to give him any money and that he should go and work so that he could earn some money. As we left the block, the Defendant came running after us and was shouting abuse and swearing at me and said to me that I should pay him some money if I want him to leave me and my family alone. The Defendant also said to me that he has all our personal details including phone numbers, date of birth and bank details and that I must pay him to have them back. I told him that I will not pay him and to do whatever he likes with the details.

22. The constant verbal abuse, swearing, intimidation and aggressive behaviour from the Defendant towards my family and I have made it difficult for us to live in our own home. The fear of not knowing when we will be confronted with vile and aggressive behaviour as my wife and I go out or return to our home has caused us severe stress and anxiety. My wife is afraid of leaving our flat on her own due to fear that the Defendant will confront and shout abuse at her. We are having to tip-toe inside our flat for fear of being accused of making noise even though we live two floors above the Defendant. The Defendant has caused us immense hardship by vandalising my property and although I cannot prove it, I am certain that the Defendant was responsible for slashing my car tyres, damaging my meter cupboard and removing my electricity fuse several times and restricting water flow to my flat, Also, I no longer park my car outside my block in Bumcroft Avenue because of the car being vandalized. I now park a few streets away, about ten or fifteen minutes from my home instead of outside my block which is about a minute from my flat. I do not see why we should have to live this way.

I visited Mr. Mathiyalagan at 117 Burncroft Avenue to day to look at the flooring following email from Mr. Cordell concerning noise as a result of wood flooring in the flat. I noticed that there is laminate flooring in the whole flat and ceramic tiles in the kitchen. Mr. Mathiyalagan stated that the flooring was already in the flat when they moved in. He stated that they do not make noise deliberately and that any noise from his flat is household noise. He also stated that as far as he is aware that the person living below them-), we not complained of noise and that he will be the one that will be affected if there are excessive issues from his flat. He also stated that he has asked the man- if they are causing noise disturbances arid he said they are not. He also requested that Mr. Cordell should contact the council if he is being disturbed by noise from his flat instead of harassing him and his family by banging on his front door, shouting abuse at him and his wife, threatening them and confronting them when they come into the block.
I informed him that laminate flooring can generate some noise and to be mindful of his neighbours while walking around inside his flat-
I then went and knocked at flat 113 but there was no response.

I visited 109 Burncroft Avenue on 17/03/2017 to hand deliver to post a letter through Mr. Cordell's door and as I got into my car to drive off after posting the letter, Mr. Cordell ran after me shouting and screaming abuse. I did not stop to speak to him, and he ran after me until I turned left into Green Street. As he was running after my car, he was shouting at people passing by to stop the car.
By the time I returned to the office, Mr. Cordell had telephoned me several times. I telephoned him back and he wanted to know whether I was the person that posted a letter through his letterbox and I said yes. He asked why I did not stop when he ran after me and I told him that I had another visit and did not have the time to stop and talk to him. He stated that he will not attend the meeting at the Civic Centre or any of the council and that I should come to his flat. I offered to have the meeting at a neutral venue like the local library or even at his mother's house, but he refused and shouted to shout abuse and accuse me of taking sides with his neighbours. He denied doing the things that he is accused of doing and stated that he is the victim and that the council have refused to deal with his complaints against his neighbours. He stated that he has been suffering noise disturbances from his neighbours since he moved into his flat and that the council have refused to deal with it. He alleged that the council is conniving with the police to victimise him and threatened to put in a complaint - against me, He continued shouting abuse and will not let me say a word, I then advised him that I will have to terminate the conversation as we were getting nowhere.

FILE NOTE

I telephoned MISS|U^£to discuss her complaints against Mr. Cordell and agree an action plan. MISS^L^^p stated that she has lived in the block since April 2015 and that the problems with Mr. Cordell started about a year ago. She stated that he bangs on her door when she is sleeping at night and also follows her to her car asking her where is going or where she is coming from. She alleged that on 14th May 2017 Mr. Cordell came and aggressively banged on her door, shouted abuse and threats at her and falsely accused her of making noise inside her flat. She stated that she does not make noise and that her flat is on the opposite side of Mr. Cordell flat and therefore he should not hear any noise from her flat. She stated that Mr. Cordell came up to her face in a very aggressive and intimidating manner to accuse her of coming into his flat to attack him and asking her why she comes into his flat. She denied going into flat and stated that he does everything to try and intimidate her.

She also complained that she feels scared every time she is going out or returning to her flat as Mr. Cordell allows his dog to run freely inside the block.
She stated that Mr. Cordell has banged on her door about 4 times in the past 2 months. She also alleged that he has followed her to her car twice in the past 1 month accusing her of coming into his flat to attack him and also kept asking her where she was going or coming from. She alleged that on one occasion, Mr. Cordell stood in front of her car and will not let her drive away. She stated that he has been verbally aggressive and intimidating but has not been physically aggressive towards her. She stated that she suffers from mental illness and that this has exacerbated her problems and that she no longer feels safe living in her property. She stated that she has asked her neighbourhood officer to rehouse her as a result of the harassment from Mr. Cordell. She stated that she is unable to complete incident diaries as a result of her illness but will telephone to report any further incidences. She stated that she has reported the matter to the police several times and believes that they are dealing with it. She stated that she has been staying with friends and family as she no longer feels safe to stay in her property on her own.

and bank details and that I must pay him to have them back. I told him that I would not pay him and to do whatever he likes with the details.
27. The constant verbal abuse, swearing, intimidation and aggressive Behaviour from the Defendant towards my family and I have made & difficult for us to live in our own home. The fear of not knowing when we will be confronted with vile and aggressive Behaviour as my wife and 1 go out or return to our home has caused us sever stress and anxiety. My wife is afraid of leaving Our flat on her own due to fear that the Defendant will confront and shout abuse at her. We are having to tip-toe inside our flat, for fear of being accused of making noise even though we Dive too floors above the Defendant. The Defendant has caused us immense hardship by vandalizing my property and although I cannot prove If, I am certain that the Defendant was responsible for slashing my oar tires, damaging my meter cupboard, and removing my electricity fuse several times and restricting water flow to my flat. Also, I no longer park my oar outside my block In Burncroft Avenue because of the car being vandalized I now park a few streets away, about ten or fifteen minutes from my home Instead of outside my block which is about a minute from my flat. I do not as to why we should have to live this way.
