And everything that has happened about over two hundred and twenty-four. There's over two hundred fifty-six days that the doctors have attempted to come and breach my human rights and try to cause target malice which is a twelve-year offence it is a criminal offense targeted malice's is when you're are trying to help a colleague avoid prosecution and you're doing something against the person that you should be representing in in a constructive way rather than unipositive or unfair processing a breach of trust. And then there's a lady called Julia Cranach who is the head director at St. Ann's Hospital one of the directors or chief executives as you may explain and she I have videos of her and I have recordings of her.
