Hello madam, I'm just waiting to ask a question. Basically, I've got documentation off of Enfield Council and it says that a police officer, whose name is Stephen Ellsmore, it says that he's attached to Enfield Council, he's attached to the... Enfield Safer Unit which I think is the Neighbourhood Office Team and he's based at Enfield Council now I'm basically in the middle of writing a complaint into the council in regards to my treatment of them and this Stephen Ellsmore is the one that's made the ASBO application, his name's on the top of every page, now what my point is, I'm trying to get information and some help is if he says in his own statement which he does, he is attached to the Enfield Safer Unit and based at Enfield Civic Centre B block and is a police officer does that mean that he's paid by the council because his office is in Enfield Civic Centre, does Enfield Civic Centre have police officers? It doesn't sound like he's a police officer as you said he's a police safety officer and an officer Police officers are based at the police station.

- So if he's a safer unit officer, he'd be based where?

- He would work for the council.

- And he'd be--

- Let me just have a check, sir. Hold on a moment, please. - Thank you, madam.

- Community safety officers is what you mean, sir?

- Yeah, I believe so, yeah. Because that's what I thought, the Neighbourhood Office team belongs to the council, and that basically the council are the ones that would be paying his salary, and not the Metropolitan Police. But I believe that, because I was disputing this with my mother, and my mother was saying, no, it's the Metropolitan Police that should be served this complaint. And I'm saying, well, no, it's both parties, the Metropolitan Police and the council. Because I believe that Stephen Ellsmore has used the Safer Neighbourhood Officers computers, had remote access to the police computers and he's used information of police officer statements which has then brought the Metropolitan Police involved and what's not...

And my mother was disputing this with me saying, "Well, no, this police officer belongs to the Metropolitan Police." He says he's a police officer. I said, "No, these safety officers don't have to do the codes of alliance. They just belong to the council's neighbour officers." If he no longer works for the company, for Enfield Council, if I give you his name, can you still check on whether he was once So community safety officers, no, community safety unit works to improve quality of life for everyone in Enfield, focusing on antisocial behaviour, domestic violence, hate crimes. They monitor CCTV cameras in Enfield to the safer and stronger neighbourhoods. The team is working with other key bodies such as the police, fire service, probation service and this is a lot to address, improve Okay, um, opening hours Monday to Friday night at 5:00, address Civic Centre. And the external links are Enfield Police, Metropolitan Police, Crime Stoppers, London Fire Brigade. Okay. Um, so if he's part of the Community Safety Unit and he works for, he works Yes, correct. Thank you. I think you've been more than helpful enough today, madam. Is that okay? I hope you have a good day or a good evening. You too. Thank you. Bye. Thank you. Bye.
