Hello, how are you doing? My name's Mr Simon Paul-Cordell and I'm a tenant, a secure tenant at 109 Burncroft Avenue. I believe my house and estate manager is Sarah Fletcher. And now the reason that I am calling is I have many issues that I've been calling yourselves over. First being in regards that I, being a tenant and a secure tenant, I pay Enfield Council rent, even if it is paid by DWPS, yeah? No matter what, I'm paying my rent on this premises or I'll be on rent arrears. Now, I understood that in 2013, I got set up by the Metropolitan Police. I know people might say, "Oh, set up's a strong word," but this does happen in today's society. Now, what they actually done is they put me on a year's curfew. I was riding the year's curfew. I had an eight o'clock tag on my leg, so I had to be indoors by eight o'clock every day. I had to sign on at the police station at four o'clock every day at the police station. I had to hand them my passport So I couldn't leave the country, even if I got banned or anything like this, I couldn't leave the country because the Metropolitan Police actually had my passport. Now, I won the case after a year anyway, and it destroyed half of my life and the good working contracts and the things that I was committing myself to. The second I won this case, the Metropolitan Police went to Enfield Council and asked Enfield Council to support them in an application for an antisocial behaviour order against myself. Mind you, I've been on curfew for one year in my house, stringent bowel conditions. Now all of a sudden I get an ASBO for this time that I'm on curfew. Now, I'm looking through the paperwork and it accuses me of being three people that I know of the same age group of me and a load of youngers that I don't even know. Now, rather than shoot, I felt like I got put in a situation by Enfield Council and by Metropolitan Police to be a super grass. Against half of the citizens in London who just like to listen to music and enjoy their life and can't pay a million pounds to Enfield Council to go above 500 people to have an event in the local parks. And to the rest of the people that need it. Because that's how much it costs to go above 500 people, about the sum of a million pounds. To have an event. Now this ain't our fault, these adults made these HM01 laws and so forth come into place but my problem is I refuse to be a super gross. I noticed that on what I was being accused of that I hadn't done that they had, the police had accepted that there was a section on each one of these doors meaning that people were treating these premises as their place of residence and their homes. Even if these people ain't me, other people were. Now what happened is I noticed that they accepted that it was on there, so I looked at the Licensing Act 2003, which is when you're in your own private home and entertainment is involved, and it says, unless someone proves a commercial business is being run for profit or for money, then they've got no laws over you. This is what the police have to do. Now at no point in this whole application does anyone talk about any money. So that's a big concern and they accept that all these places are private homes. So I went to court, tried to win the case and I did win the case. But what happened, I went there and said look, this says the organisation of illegal raves, I've never been arrested for something that must be illegal. So I lost my temper, I went there and explained to them that I know my rights and what I represent and I'm not going to be your super grass. Now they started getting my personal life and entwining my personal life into this matter because they realised how much trouble they were in. Now 15 police officers went to court and not one person, one true victim who said that they got kept up overnight attended court. They all refused to sign their statements and they refused to attend court. They refused to give any evidence to the police. So I don't understand how the Kenfield Council are in support of the Metropolitan Police's application for an ASBO against me if there is no true victims and there is no true people. Because I've got it all in writing. No one wanted to give evidence to these cops. And there is not a problem. It's just the cops victimising me and then Phil Cancel in support. Now somehow I'm riding eight years of my life. I've got five years for the ASBO. I've got two years injunctional for the ASBO prior non-concurrent, which is seven years. Plus I've done the year for the case that I won before, which is eight years of my life. And the best years of my life, 30 years old. I've been thrown in Enfield Council and explained to them I have this evidence. Yeah, the criminal standards ain't met and I would like them to release me. I'm paying them rent. I can't walk up at 10 o'clock. I'm on a 10 o'clock curfew. I'm not allowed to go to, I'm not allowed to go to Warehouse nightclub, for instance. There ain't no other nightclubs in this area no more. They've all been shut down. So I'd like to go to a warehouse nightclub and enjoy my birthday or enjoy my friend's birthday. I'm not even allowed to legally do this. These conditions are that much of a breach of my human rights. Now, I keep warning the council and explaining to them I'm not happy paying rent and being held in my house because even though the curfew ain't 10 o'clock... Yeah. And now that I noticed all these problems in the cases, I put a complaint in against the police and against Enfield Council officials. Yeah, because they've not only done this, there is on the witness statements, there is no signatures at the bottoms of them because the public wouldn't sign them. Yeah, so there's no signatures. I noticed that the timestamps were all wrong to the call centres. Now, this is another criminal offence. Yeah. Now, I noticed lots of different things. All you have to be able to do is prove in a jury's head just the slightest bit And they can't convict you of any case. Let alone for getting to arrest you in the beginning. So I'll screw him. Now I've wrote over 400 letters since this happened to Enfield Council asking them to protect me. I've got the whole letters in a diary here. Now Enfield Council asked me to keep a diary.
