Transcription

Is this Hugh Gill's solicitor, fam? Sorry? Is this anything to do with Hugh Gill? 0208 780 4575. Yeah, that's right. And it's Hugh Gill. It's Hugh Gill's partner here, and Hugh Gill's himself. Okay. Yeah. How can I help you? Who am I speaking to, may I ask? Hugh Giles, is that how you pronounce your name? I apologise. And you were the Metropolitan Police, you were in charge of the Executive Director of Hugh Gill Solicitors and I'm Mr Simon Paul Cordell. Do you understand who I am? My name and the case file that was handled by one of your Executive Directors, Miss Sally Gilhurst. Yeah, this is related to the Pettigrew Police Service. I understand that, but when you were in charge of that, you're in charge of litigation and your senior party, your persons upheld in this community. And I've been trying to contact you since 2014 in regards to Sally Gilhurst falsifying paperwork under the fraudulent company Act 2006. She's got me seven years in my house, yeah, right now, holding me hostage for, under civil proceedings when the case, when there was not enough for criminal conviction, which I would have only got six months under criminal convictions. I noticed that there's no signatures at the bottom of the MG11 forms, yeah? And on the MG11 form, there's no victims, yeah, signatures, which is a massive problem. And she understood this, yeah? I've got loads of recordings of what she's been doing and explaining it to her through the months. I made an official report, and you was in charge of her, and I'm still being held hostage under my human rights, which is a breach of my human rights right now.

Yeah, and she understood. I put in a right to a fair trial, NMG 6E, under the prosecution files, in the request. And she knew that the barrister she had hired, Taylor Robinson, had been done for sexual assault and holding somebody else and doing all these things.

Do you have a pen available to you that you can just write one thing down?

Yeah, but you was in charge of the company at that time. It's like, you understand litigation, you're Hugh Gill... Why has he put the phone down on me?