Speaker 2 (Mr Cordell):
Hello, how are you doing?
Is it possible to speak to DC Razak, please?

Speaker 1:
Er, he's not in today. Can I ask who's calling?

Speaker 2 (Mr Cordell):
It's Mr Cordell.
I got told he was going to be in today and he wasn't in yesterday.
Do you know when he's actually in next?

Speaker 1:
Er, I'm not entirely sure, to be honest with you.
Is there anything I can help with?

Speaker 2 (Mr Cordell):
I was wondering.
He had a case that he was trying to put against me for threats to kill, and he said that he was sending that off to CPS for a case disposal decision.
I was wondering, it's been a little bit of time and it's still on me.
Is there any update?

Speaker 1:
Okay.

Speaker 2 (Mr Cordell):
Well, I also have lots of evidence here in regard to the whole matter.
I'd like to be able to come down to Edmonton Police Station and file a report regarding everything that's been going on.
I've been making lots of calls to the call centre and recording everything that's been going on.
I'm recording this conversation now.
I've been transcribing everything, so I've made a full record of what's really happened throughout and everyone's mistakes.
I'd just like to be able to sit down with someone official and go through it all.

Speaker 1:
If it's a report of crime against yourself, then the front office at Edmonton is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Speaker 2 (Mr Cordell):
Yeah, so if I want to bring my report down regarding everything that's going on, someone will file that report if I walk into Edmonton Police Station?

Speaker 1:

Well, if there's a report of crime, or what you believe to be a reportable crime, then you're free to attend and make that report.

Speaker 2 (Mr Cordell):
Okay, that's perfect.

Speaker 1:
Alright.
You have a good day, sir.

Speaker 2 (Mr Cordell):
You too.

Speaker 1:
Okay, bye.

Speaker 2 (Mr Cordell):
Bye.
