Received	23 Aug 2024 21:00:24	MetPolice	Met Police: Your call reference number is: CAD 2823/23Aug24. Hello Simon, I've taken advice on this and have been informed that the courts resulting team is responsible for updating the Police National Computer of convictions. Further to this you can access the UK Gov website to Dispute a mistake on your DBS certificate You can raise a dispute for a standard or enhanced check if you believe there's been a mistake in either: the records provided, like wrong or irrelevant information on convictions personal information, like your name There is a different process for disputing information on a basic check certificate. The police may ask for fingerprints to prove your identity if there's a mistake in the records. How to raise a dispute Report the mistake within 3 months of the date on the certificate. For mistakes in records Fill in the certificate dispute form. (This on the online uk gov website)
Received	23 Aug 2024 11:59:35	MetPolice	Met Police: Regarding your complaint to us on reference: CAD 2823/23Aug24. Your complaint has been received by the Metropolitan Police and has been passed to a senior officer to review. We aim to contact you within 48 hours, but first we need to review the full circumstances into what occurred and this may take some time. You will be contacted by a senior officer on a withheld telephone number who will update you with an outcome of your complaint. If you have not heard back from us after 48 hours, please call us on 101 (select option 9) and quote the reference number and we will see what is happening with your complaint and advise you further. Thank you for your patience.
Received	23 Aug 2024 11:35:41	MetPolice	Met Police: Your call reference number is: CHS 28314/23Aug24. We have received numerous 999 calls from you. If you continue to dial 999 unnecessarily we can, and will, take steps to trace you and can block you from calling the police on 999. You are committing an offence under section 127 Communications Act 2003 and you could be arrested or fined for wasting police time. You should only call 999 if a crime is in progress or has just happened, someone is in immediate danger or harm or property is in danger of being damaged. Please call us on 101 for non-emergency matters or report online here http://bit.ly/3kByiMX .
