

Share

% 2 comments

your Email addresses

Vandals have "completely wrecked" an abandoned building by painting graffiti on the front and squatting inside.

The NAN building, in Crown Road, on the junction with Southbury Road, Enfield, has also been used for illegal raves and parties in the last few months.

Formerly used as a car factory, the Grade II listed building closed down more than a year ago and Enfield Borough Council is now looking for a new owner.

David Cockle, the chairman of the Enfield Society, has been left concerned by the way the way the building has fallen into disrepair.

He said: 'It once had a very nice, manicured garden - but now it's just been completely wrecked. It's a huge shame.

"I recently discovered that squatters have been on site and It's generally in a deplorable state, ft doesn't give a good impression to people visiting the area for the first time.

"It's such a high-profile site and one we should be proud of, but now it just looks awful.'

Earlier this year, people in nearby Anglesey Road, said their houses were "shaking like an

The party included loud music and continued until 3pm the next afternoon - a total of 15 hours.

Graffiti tags have now been emblazoned on the front of the building, which has been boarded up.

Mr Cockle, 62, added: "For a listed building to be left like that, it's terrible.

"The plants and shrubs are overgrown too - it's sad to see it so run down.

"ft used to be such an attractive building.'

Share article

The Enfield Independent is awaiting comment from Enfield Borough Council

Promoted Stories

to stop eviction by bailiffs (Shelter Advice)

These 30 Mugshots Will Scare You Forever - Especially the Last One {Time To Break}

300

PRE-WINTER SALE
10% OFF LIFT

thesnowcentre.com

SNOW CENTRE
BRITISH WINTERLANDS

Most Popular

- 1 Image released of man found dead in Enfield
- 2 'It is my desire to make my parents proud* - Owner's joy at new Fish and Chips shop
- 3 Man charged with Enfield murder
- 4 Footbridge reopening "a long time coming"
- 5 Double stabbing leads to loss of dub's licence
- 6 Two woman and man charged with murder after flat death
- 7 Headteacher pays tribute to "fantastic student" hit by train at Enfield Chase station
- 3 Mew horror film shot in Enfield
- 9 Missing schoolgirl has links to Enfield
- 10 Fraudster jailed after conning £135,000 on upkeep of one-run horse

287